FLEETS IN SEA FIGHT OFF PT. ARTHUR?

Makaroff Went Out to Meet the Enemy's Squadron and a Battle is Said to Have Occured--Czar's Troops Said to Have Withdrawn Across the Tumen as well as Across the Yalu River and are Not Opposing the Japanese Advance--Korea has been Deliberately Evacuated by the Russians

London, April 9.—There is nothing confirming the rumored Russian reverse on the Yalu River. The Tokio correspondent of the Chronicle transmits a rumor that a battle has occurred at Kiu-Lien-Chang, but no details are given. Several correspondents at Tokio and Seoul concur in saying that there has been no engagement. The Russians have withdrawn across the Tumen River as well as across the Yalu, not opposing the Japanese advance. According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard, such a move would coincide with Gen. Kouropatkin's known plans, and it seems to be taken for granted in the Russian capital that Corea has been deliberately evacuated as part of the Commander-in-Chief's strategy.

There is no reliable news of the fleets. The Temps' St. Petersburg correspondent locates six Japanese ships at Wei-Hai-Wei, and says the remainder are at Saebo. This is not confirmed, and even less trustworthy is a rumor from Rome that the Russian Vladivostock squadron has been seriously engaged in a storm.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris Echo de Paris says that Vice-Admiral Makaroff went out from Port Arthur this morning a Japanese squadron having been signaled as being in the offing. It is rumored, the correspondent says, that a sea fight took place, but nothing concerning it is officially known

ANGLO-FRENCH COLONIAL TREATY NOW SIGNED

France Gets Right to Guard Tranquility in Morrocco and Britain Has Free Hand in Egypt

London, April 9.—The Anglo-French colonial treaty was signed in the Foreign Office in London today. It comprises three separate instruments. The first deals with Egypt and Morocco, the second with Newfoundland, and the third with Siam, the New Hebrides, and Madagascar.

By the terms of the treaty the present political situation in Morocco and Egypt remains unchanged, and a full agreement is reached regarding Egyptian finances. It recognises the right of France to guard the tranquility of Morocco, while France will not impede the action of Great Britain in Egypt, and Great Britain adheres to the convention of 1888 for the neutrality of the Suez Canal. The freedom of trade in Egypt and Morocco is guaranteed for thirty years, and if the convention shall not be denounced before the expiration of that period, it is to remain in force for four years more.

In order to assure the freedom of the Straits of Gibraltar, it is agreed that no fortification can be erected on the Moroccan coast between Melilla and the mouth of the Sebu River.

The two Governments promise mutual assistance for the execution of these arrangements.

In Newfoundland France foregoes exclusive fishing rights on the French Shore, though retaining her right to fish. The Bait Bill of 1886 is modified so as to give Newfoundlanders the right to sell bait to the French fishermen. Indemnities will be given the owners and employes of French establishments on the French Shore in exchange for the abandoned fishing rights.

France obtains three concessions regarding territory in West Africa. Under the terms of the first there is to be a territorial readjustment on the Zambesi, giving France access to the portion of the river navigable to ocean-going ships; under the second, France secures Sios Island, and under the third, there is to be a readjustment of the frontier line between the River Niger and Lake Tchad, giving France a route through the fertile country.

In the case of Siam, the two countries confirm the declaration of 1896, determining its precise meaning with regard to pre-existing differences.

With regard to the New Hebrides, the governments agree to appoint a commission, which will decide the land disputes between the inhabitants.

Concerning Madagascar, Great Britain withdraws the protests made at various periods against the French economic regime there.

The Government has long been a stranger to such a chorus of universal approval and congratulations as that exhibited editorially this morning in all the London newspapers, because of the happy conclusion of Anglo-French negotiations to a colonial treaty. This approval is none the less whole-hearted because it is recognized that France has obtained substantial concessions, while surrendering little of real value. King Edward is again hailed as a successful diplomatist, and the greater portion of thanks is accorded him for having initiated the rapprochement, and to President Loubet for having received the overtures in a corresponding spirit. Lord Lansdowne and M. Delcasse are equally complimented for their notable services to the cause of peace between the two countries.

The Times, referring to the Newfoundland settlement, says; "The French shore question bristled with irritating technicalities and restrictions, had involved Newfoundland in an Imperial problem of a particularly baffling kind. The disappearance of this difficulty, so petty in itself, yet so full of inflammable materials is something we can all congratulate ourselves upon."

The News says; "Over one hundred years ago Napoleon was crouching in Boulonge for a spring on England; one hundred years later France and England sign a treaty affecting four continents, and mingle the Union Jack and the Tricolor from Newfoundland to the New Hebrides. England is well out of the tiresome and dangerous disputes concerning Newfoundland."

The Standard says an obvious solution has at last been brought into play.

The Chronicle is not at all sure that Lord Lansdowne has not paid rather too much and received too little. As regards Newfoundland, France parts only with the power to inflict pin-pricks.

EXPECT AN ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR SHORTLY

A Despatch Says That Japanese Fleet Has Been Seen in That Vicinity

St. Petersburg, April 10.—A telegram from Port Arthur, dated to-day says that all is quiet there, but that as there is no moon the nights are dark and so an attack is expected at any time, as the enemy's ships have appeared in the vicinity.

A despatch to the Express from New-Chwang says that reports continue to arrive there of incessant Japanese activity at the mouth of the Yalu. Light draught transports are reaching Yongampho where the disembarkation of troops and stores is constantly progressing. Surprise is expressed that nothing is done to harass the landing of the Japanese, the southern bank of the river being within range of a Russian artillery fire from Antung. The doubt increases that the Japanese intend to advance from the Yalu, the movements there being regarded as a subterfuge to detract attention from more important movements elsewhere. It is still strongly believed that the chief attack will be in the neighborhood of Port Arthur.

According to the New-Chwang correspondent of the Chronicle, a demonstration by the Japanese fleet, either at Port Arthur or New-Chwang, is expected on Sunday.

The Tokio correspondent of the Chronicle says that the Russians have dug a most four miles long north of Port Arthur, containing barbed wire entanglements concealed in mud.

FIGHT ON THE YALU?

London, April 10.—A news agency despatch says it is rumored there that there has been another engagement on the Yalu and that the Russians were defeated with heavy loss. There is no confirmation of the story.

HAVE FAITH IN THE COSSACKS

Not Much to Look at But Very Formidable Warriors

THE TROOPS IN GOOD SHAPE

Japanese Issue Statement Giving the List of Killed and Wounded at Port Arthur

Copenhagen, April 11.—Private letters from Imperial sources in St. Petersburg speak in glowing language of the temper and fitness of the Russian officers and men arriving at Harbin. It is stated that the majority of the men, on account of the improved conditions of the Trans-Siberian Railway, have been able to bear the hardships of the journey and to continue southward full of good-natured willingness to meet the Japanese.

Among these troops are considerable bodies of Cossacks. They are less attractive than the foot soldiers, but are formidable warriors. They sit on their high saddles as if born there, and manage their shaggy horses with a skill that excites the wonder and envy of the infantry. The Cossacks of South-western Russia mingle with the Cossacks of Siberia, Trans-Baikal at Pri-Amur and Usuri. The work of organizing these mounted forces is being prosecuted with energy, and it is thought that 50,000 of these troopers will drive the Japanese to despair.

JAPANESE LOSSES

Tokio, April 11.—Official returns of the Japanese casualties in the various engagements at Port Arthur, since February 8, show 114 killed and wounded.

Fourteen of this number were killed outright; five died before reaching the hospital, four died in the hospital; four have recovered, and fifty-one are still in the hospital. The publication of this list has given great satisfaction here as it shows the untrustworthiness of the reports published in St. Petersburg of large Japanese losses.

DISTURBANCE AMONG CONVICTS.

Nagasaki, April 10.—Mr. Denbigh, a naturalized Russian, proprietor of the fishing monopoly on the coast of Saghalien Island received news this morning of a serious disturbance among the convicts in that Russian penal settlement. Denbigh, when he came south some months ago, left his property in Saghalien in charge of 200 Japanese. The buildings and plant are worth $50,000. He fears his Japanese servants have been murdered, because the Russians, since the outbreak of the war, armed the convicts.

MINE'S TO BE OPENED

Marmora Mines said to Contain Rich Gold deposits

Mr. Arthur Reid, of Marmora, was in town the other day and talked to the Watchman-Warder about the mines and mining prospects of his section of the province.

"There is no doubt but that there are very rich gold deposits over there," said Mr. Reid. "The Cordova Exploration Company of Spain, owns their chief mines. Their biggest ones are the Cordova and Delora mines. They are both closed down now; but merely while the manager is away to Europe. On his return it is intended to block out a lot of ore and run at full blast.

"I have seen big blocks of quartz come out of these mines speckled thickly with free gold. The last day and a half the mills ran $1,500 was cleaned up. The company is delighted with the property, but it is a very wealthy concern with big enterprises elsewhere, and is in no hurry about the Marmora property.

"The chief reason for closing down was that the fine new machinery was installed before the underground work had been far enough advanced. You know that until large quantities of ore have been 'blocked out' enough cannot be got to the surface to keep a mill going. By 'blocking out' is meant tunneling around blocks so that the blasts will be effective. A block that has been dug around will blast out ten times as fast as the solid walls of a shaft. That tunneling process had not been done sufficiently before the 30-stamp mill was completed and for lack of ore at the surface, the mines had to be closed; but when the underground work is completed they will open up again."

Hunting Muskrats

The ice is now well out of East and West Cross Creeks, and McLaren's Creek, and in many parts of the river there is clear water close to the banks. This is the spring signal to the muskrat hunters, and already about 30 have been scattered along the upper creeks and main channel to the mouth of the lake, while about 20 are operating below at McLaren's and other favorite spots. The animals are said to be very numerous and some good catches are being made.—Lindsay Post.

SOUTH AFRICAN VETERANS

Bearer Corps Men at $30 Per Month Engaged Through a Secret Service Agency

Montreal, April 10.—Despite the statement of Consul-General Nosse to the contrary, Canadians are said to be week by week quietly leaving Canada to take part in the Russo-Japanese war.

For some time past great efforts have been made by the Japanese Government to secure the services of Canadians who acted in the various bearer companies during the South African campaign.

About two hundred, it is stated, throughout the length and breadth of Canada, have engaged themselves to the Japanese Government. Three of these it appears, come from Montreal.

The Japanese seem to have a very complete knowledge concerning the Canadians, who took part in the various bearer companies operating in South Africa for it is stated that every one of those who took part there have received an offer from the Japanese Government to proceed at once to Japan.

The offer is one which has attracted a great many of those who saw service in South Africa. Thirty dollars a month is promised, and all expenses guaranteed during the campaign. The moment the Canadian volunteers sets sail from Canada across the Pacific for Tokio he has six months salary in advance put in his hand to bind the agreement.

It is stated that the negotiations on behalf of the Japanese Government have been conducted through a secret service agency which is quite independent of the Bureau of the Japanese General.

Understands the Industry

Mr. D. A. Gordon who has been here in connection with the proposed beet sugar factory, left for other parts on Friday evening. Mr. Gordon is a most affable gentleman, of fine physique and a striking personality. What he doesn't know of the sugar beet industry wouldn't be considered important. During his remarks to the Council his explanations were clear and to the point, and the general consensus of opinion is that if he can't make the thing go, no one can.

THE BEET SUGAR PROJECT

Some Industrial Opinions on the Sugar Proposition

It was decided at Friday's meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council that a bylaw would be submitted to the people on May 5th. Upon the people's vote will depend whether or not a sugar beet factory will commence here. The Council for the most part are favorable to the introduction of the industry, and consider it will be a paying one and a benefit to the community.

"Of course, the success of the enterprise will not be guaranteed by the carrying of the bylaw by a popular vote. The farmers on the outskirts of the city will have to be favorable to the proposition," remarked a Peterborough county farmer, Saturday afternoon. But this is hardly logic either. "If the bylaw carries, and if the farmers in the surrounding district do not agree to cultivate beets, it will be an easy matter for the company to lease large tracts of land and engage help to cultivate them," remarked another well-to-do farmer.

"For my part," the latter farmer continued, "I think it will prove a success. The soil here in Peterborough is suitably adapted for the growth of sugar beets. As I myself know from experience. I have grown them, and when taken proper care of, they should bring no high as $60 and $65 an acre. But they require attention."

Several other farmers, on being interviewed by the Times on Saturday, were of the opinion that the industry would prove a source of great benefit to the farming community. Some few spoke disparagingly of the project, but intimated that they were willing to try it again, on a small scale at least.

"At anyrate, the Town cannot lose much," remarked another farmer. "We get all the machinery right here on the ground before a cent is paid over, and then only $50,000 is to be paid, while the machinery is really worth three times that much. Even when the other $50,000 is paid, when the factory commences operations, we cannot lose if she does go flat. We have the machinery and building to fall back on, and they will be worth far more than the $100,000 we loan them," was his final remark as he walked over to his load of hay.

THE NOTORIOUS ARMSTRONG

Was Very Anxious to Engage Ottawa Young Ladies

The Ottawa Free Press contains the following item concerning Wm. Armstrong, who was arrested here on charge of fraud;

William Armstrong, the smooth Peterborough chap, whose alleged fake advertisements appeared a short time ago in a local contemporary for young ladies to work in connection with a Canadian exhibit at the St. Louis world's fair, is on trial in that town, charged by Chief Rossel with misusing the mails.

"The ad. in question read as follows:—

"Wanted.—One hundred young ladies to go to St. Louis during the exhibition, to take charge of an exhibit; salary $35 per month, and board. Enclose $5 with applications. If too many applications are received money will be refunded.

"The alluring offer to refund the five dollars led to an apparently well founded suspicion on the part of Chief Powell and Inspector Hogan, of the Dominion Police, that there was something wrong, and a telegraph message to Peterborough landed the young man in the cells. About thirty young ladies from the capital answered the advertisement and enclosed the necessary money, and quite a correspondence sprung up as to the particulars of the engagement.

"Armstrong was very nice about the affair and offered the applicants their choice of American or Canadian exhibits, besides asking their advice as to board, lodgings, salary, etc. Most of the young ladies in question of course considered the offer a good proposition—but none so far as can be ascertained have received any 'refund.'"

The Free Press assumes much when it describes Armstrong as a "Peterborough chap." Fact is he was only a visitor, as it were, to this city, and he apparently chose the Electric City as an easy mark, but our police, who are ever on the alert, assisted by Detective Parkinson soon nipped his game in the bud.

DIED AT NICHOLS HOSPITAL

Mr. John Nurse Passed Away on Friday Evening

On Friday evening last the death of Mr. John Nurse, a well known Peterborough County resident, occurred at Nichols Hospital, after an illness of short duration. The late Mr. Nurse was seventy-four years of age, and was taken to the hospital about a week ago to undergo special treatment. Born in Yorkshire, England, deceased, when a young man, came to Canada, and for about five years was engaged in farming in South Monaghan. He then removed to Ennismore, where he resided up to the time of his demise. In municipal affairs he took a special interest, and for a number of years occupied a seat in the Ennismore Council. He married Miss Margaret Smithson, of South Monaghan, who died about four years ago, and five daughters and four sons are left to mourn his loss;—M. a. McWilliams, of Bridgenorth; Mrs. Jas. Franks, and Mrs. Thos. Franks, of Moore Jaw; Mrs. Jas. Reid, of Young's Point; Miss Eliza H., of Ennismore; Messrs. Richard, of Ennismore; William, of Emily; Robert, of Fowler's Corners, and John, of Ennismore. The late Mr. Nurse was a staunch member of the Episcopalish Church, and his many friends sincerely regret his sudden demise.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, Robert, of Fowler's Corners, Smith, this afternoon, at 1 o'clock, and will proceed the the Emily cemetery.

FRUIT FAMINE EXPECTED

So Says Picton Grower, Peterborough Farmers Expect Fair Crop

A Picton fruit grower claims that there will be a fruit famine this year, the equal of which Canada has not experienced for many years. He has been a close observer of the formation of blossoms ever since boyhood, and he says that at the present time the buds when squeezed with the fingers are black and perfectly dead. He also remarks that apples cannot be successfully grown in Manitoba, and the past winter here has been a Manitoba winter.

In speaking of this matter a prominent Peterborough farmer on Saturday remarked that he considered the Picton man's statement rather an exaggeration. "I have been looking over my fruit trees," he said, "and, although I think the severe winter will prove a drawback to the fruit growers, I expect a pretty fair crop."

EVERYBODY READS THE TIMES.

MANY TOURISTS EXPECTED

Great Influx of Visitors Expected this Summer

Owners of small craft are busily engaged in sandpapering and otherwise getting their boats in readiness to be put into the water as soon as the ice disappears and the weather permits. The local boat-builders are as busy as the busiest bee, building new boats and repairing old ones, and all state that this has been the liveliest spring they have had for some years. Another evidence which points towards the prosperity of the coming season is the increased demand for cottages at the neighboring summer resorts, and the demand from tourists for accomodation at the summer hotels. The demands are mostly from residents from the larger cities, which is an evidence that the popularity of our Peterborough county resorts is fast increasing.

The Kawartha Lakes are becoming household words throughout the continent, and the distribution of literature at the Pan-American Exhibition did much to make the lakes known, and the display of advertising that will be made this summer at the St. Louis Exhibition will further aid in the work of making known to the holiday public the beauties of these places of resort.

An Advertising business tour through the United States was recently made by Mr. H. Garlick of Bobcaygeon, representing the Trent Valley Navigation Company line of steamers, and he reports that the prospects of a large volume of summer tourist traffic are particularly bright. The expectations of big business from points west of Toronto are also excellent.

GUESTS TURNED AWAY

The Peterborough hotels are for the most part taxed to their utmost capacity at present, and it is difficult to obtain permanent board at the larger hostelries. Many who apply for board and lodging have to be turned away, the above being the reason. A similar condition of affairs existed in Paris recently, although the hotel keeper who turned his guests away had a very different motive for doing so. He kept a good-sized hotel and attracted the attention of the police by turning away all guests on the excuse that his house was full. The officers searched the place and found that four burglars lived there and had been stealing travellers' baggage, which they sent to the hotel. The hotel keeper sold the goods for them, and what could not be sold was packed away in the different rooms. Over $100 worth of stuff was seized.

HAS BEEN DISARMED

The following article from the Havelock Standard is reminiscent of the trial of Jas. Moloney, on the charge of illegally selling liquor, recently held at Peterborough;

"As a sequel to the prosecution and conviction of Jas. Moloney, at Cordova, for dealing in intoxicating liquors without a license, a conviction that indicated that there was failure on the part of the official appointed to enforce the law, Mr. Thomas McLaughlin has been removed from the office of Provincial officer.

"Two years ago Mr. McLaughlin was appointed Provincial officer under the provisions of the License Act, for its enforcement at Cordova Mines and vicinity, in the eastern part of East Peterborough. On Thursday last an order-in-council was passed approving of his removal from his position. The policy of the Department in regard to the enforcement of the license law, must be respected, especially by officials who must be prepared to accept the consequences of failure to discharge their duties efficiently."

About Our Streets

The heavy rain on Friday evening, although inconvenienced many for the time, was instrumental in washing off our streets to a great extent. On Saturday morning the scrapers were again used and the refuse matter placed in piles along each side of the street. This made driving much pleasanter, and the appearance of the street was much improved

WHAT BECOMES OF WATER THAT SHOULD BE IN SCUGOG

Mr. Culverwell says it is Being Wasted at Peterboro—The Trent Canal

(From Lindsay Watchman-Warder.)

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of Peterborough, the apostle of the Burleigh Falls power scheme, was a visitor in Lindsay on Monday.

Mr. Culverwell is an enthusiast. He enthuses on two subjects at once—a rather unusual performance. But that is likely because these two subjects are so closely related that the success of one is involved in the other.

"I want to see the Trent Valley Canal completed, because I am interested in the Burleigh Falls power, and the completion of the canal is what is required to make the power useful."

By these words Mr. Culverwell disclosed the reason for his recent anniversary of the canal proposition. But there you have it. Mr. Culverwell's operations are run by power from Burleigh Falls, and that cataract is still his chief temptation to idolatry. The strenuous life seems to agree with him, however, and alert and affable, he made some observations about the Trent waters in general that are of interest to this locality, and should be of value to the Government in its management of those waters.

"The fact is," said Mr. Culverwell, "that a few Peterborough grafters are getting the benefit of the Trent waters at everybody else's expense. There was more water running under the dam of the Cereal Works than that concern is using. About 36,000 cubic feet per minute pass through their wheels and 43,000 under the dam. That may seem to be of little interest to you up here, but it makes a lot of difference, because when the water gets low in Peterborough those fellows down there order the stop-logs taken out at Bobcaygeon, and it is done, without any Government authority at all. The result is that the water you need to float your passenger boats in the Scugog River and Sturgeon Lake is taken down there to stop that big hole in the dam of a private corporation.

"This scheme being pushed in Peterborough for spending $100,000 of Government money on the dams in the north country is only a plot of those same grafters. The object is not to rebuild dams. They are in a very good condition, as the official reports show. The object is to buy control of the water of other lakes and build dams as reservoirs for those private Peterborough concerns. If that is undertaken there will no doubt be a good many times $100,000 needed to pay the claims for damages by flooding, etc.; and those fellows are anxious for the Government to spend it for their benefit.

"What you folks in Lindsay need is for the Government to make the dam and locks at Bobcaygeon watertight, and keep any private individuals from tampering with the stop-logs. Then you would have plenty of water in your lake and river."

THE TRENT CANAL.

But Mr. Culverwell's chief anxiety is that the Trent Valley Canal shall be completed.

"Why," said he, "with that waterway completed there would come a great boom in manufacture at the chief points along its route. Low freight rates on iron and coal would be the result and that would insure the industries. At Peterborough we lost two big concerns that we could have got if the canal had been completed. One was the Singer Company that uses 130 tons of iron a week. I am satisfied that Lindsay would greatly benefit by the canal."

GOOD MINING PROPOSITION

Pyramid Gold and Copper Mining Company A Progressive Concern—Capital Stock $1,500,000

Mining is one of the most paying industries in the world to-day, and money invested in this pursuit, when the standing of the company is of the best, cannot fail but produce most satisfactory results. One of the most substantial and progressive financial corporations in America is that widely known as The Pyramid Gold and Copper Mining Company, of Arizona. Incorporated under the laws of that state, and carrying on extensive operations in the great Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, this promising company owns 21 claims, 600x1500 feet each, and containing nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the great southwest, and the entire property is paid for and free from any indebtedness whatever.

The officers and directors have borne the entire expense of a large amount of development work, which has proved beyond a doubt that the property contains an almost inexhaustible supply of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the different shafts average $331.52 per ton, and our shaft in sulphide of copper is declared by experts to average as high as $75 and $100 per ton. This sulphide ore is much in evidence on the property and immense profits are expected from its development.

The valuable Pyramid property is situated four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Santa Fe Phoenix and Prescott Railroad, and thirty-five miles from the Val Verde smelter. Improvements are at present being made on the property, and a stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day is being erected, and is expected to be completed and in running order by May 15th next. As mining operations are carried on 360 days during the year it may be readily seen that a 100-ton mill will enable the company to pay substantial dividends, especially since the work will be carried on on such rich property. The company will increase its present plant until it has a capacity of 600 tons or more per day and then a large smelter will be built.

The capital stock of this growing company is $1,200,000, and the par value of each share is $1.00. 500,000 shares are in the treasury, and the proceeds of these will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, for equipping the mines with the latest modern appliances, etc. No salaries will be paid any officer of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis, and every dollar received from the sale of stock will be expended in a judicious manner for the equipment and further development of the property. A limited number of shares will be disposed of at 50 cents each, and as soon as sufficient funds are obtained to pay for the mill, now in course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

This rich property of the Pyramid Company is situated about 25 miles from the rich United Verde mines, owned by Senator Clark, and which pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. According to the most expert engineers and assayists, the Pyramid property will prove, as the work of development progresses, to be, if not richer than that of Senator Clark, one of the richest in the State of Arizona.

The Pyramid property has proved itself to be the best of all investments, and about $130,000,000 has already been paid in dividends from mines in this county. Many thousands of dollars in cold cash have already been spent, so that it is close to a producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage. The work at the mine is under the supervision of Mr. W. W. Munds, the president of the company, a practical mining man of 25 years' experience. All reports of the company's property would indicate that it is prospectively valuable and being developed systematically. The management seems to be careful and conservative and to understand the mines of Arizona thoroughly.

Statistics prove that the percentage of successful enterprises in mining is much greater than in any other branch of business. Government reports and other authorities that cannot be doubted, show that losses in mining are 40 per cent. less than in any one of four other of our leading industries—commercial, manufacturing, trading and banking. The late Cecil Rhodes claimed that less money is lost proportionately in mining than in any other business in the world, and that larger fortunes are made in mining and in the investment of mining stocks than in any other business on earth. This is the opinion of one who made mining a study, and who has been eminently successful in its pursuit.

When all the above facts are considered carefully, by the intending investor, it may easily be seen that the inducements offered by the Pyramid Gold and Copper Mining Company, are well worthy of consideration, and that money invested with them will produce most satisfactory results. Further information and details may be obtained on application to any of the following Canadian agents of this promising concern:—The Peterborough Brokerage Company, Peterborough; J. J. Brandon, Fenelon Falls; Roland Kidd, Temperance street, Toronto; W. Gallon, Apsley; Geo. Hilliard, Lakefield, or H. Thornton, Omemee.

Unmistakable signs of "the change" a Headache, Sleepless Nights, Nervousness, Hysteria and Melancholia—Watch for these Symptoms if past Forty five.

When the turn or change of life makes its appearance you will suffer severe pains shooting through the loins. As a rule the change is gradual. In most cases it is marked by irregularity of the menstrual flow. It is most important to maintain as high a degree of vigor as possible. All strength should be conserved, and Ferrozone should be taken three times daily until the crisis is past. Ferrozone not only acts on the blood giving it purity and richness, but acts directly on the womanly organs in such a way as to lessen the strain and severity of this trying time.

Mrs. Martha M. Macadam, of St. George, writes: "About two years ago I was greatly run down and felt as if I was going to die. I was in a nervous excited state, and had the most dreadful pains every month. Irregularities that I never had before commenced, and I didn't know what was wrong. I consulted the doctor and learned I was approaching a very critical time. I started on a course of Ferrozone, and took one tablet along with every meal for about six months. Ferrozone had a direct action, and helped me immensely. My nervousness went away, and so did all the other worrying symptoms. Ferrozone is a remedy that all women should use, because it insures regularity, freedom from pain and headache. It is a remarkable re-builder and tonic, and saw me safely through my trouble."

Ferrozone is exactly the remedy you need. Don't believe an unscrupulous dealer who may try to sell you a base substitute that affords him more profit. Insist on Ferrozone. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists or by mail, from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being located on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district, The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply where property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honour and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangon, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 7-26-03.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 23, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit.

Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz., July 20th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz, 7-26-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is coming on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 21, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

FIGHT NOT EXPECTED WITHIN TWO WEEKS

OPERATIONS OF RUSSIA AROUSING SERIOUS THOUGHT IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, April 9.—Advices from Chefoo and other places in the Far East indicate a battle on the Yalu in about a fortnight, and a probable attack on New Chwang, with a daily chance of a naval engagement in the vicinity of Port Arthur, where the Russians are making occasional cruises. The censorship probably will be less strict after the coming battle on the Yalu has been decided.

The London Daily Telegraph's Seoul correspondent says he learns from a Japanese sailor who participated in the attacks on Port Arthur that the Japanese fleet is divided into seven squadrons. Four of these are watching Port Arthur, the fifth patrols the Corean coast, and the sixth and seventh cruise between Vladivostok and North Japan. Two torpedo boats were much damaged in the engagements, but otherwise the fleet was little injured. The damages to the Japanese cruiser Iwate and Yoshima have been repaired, and the vessels have joined the fleet.

The Daily Telegraph's Wei-Hai-Wei correspondent, under date of April 6, says Russian warships are patrolling the Gulf Pechili.

KUROPATKIN'S MOVES.

General Kuropatkin, commander-in-chief of the Russian military forces in the Far East, arrived at New Chwang yesterday and reviewed about four thousand troops on the parade grounds outside of the fort. One battery of horse artillery, several batteries of field artillery, parts of four regiments of Siberian rifles and detachments of Cossacks and regular cavalry participated in the review.

Russian secret service agents reported that the Japanese intended to attack New Chwang yesterday.

ALONG THE YALU RIVER.

It is not believed that the Russian troops between Antung and Chiu Tien Cheleng (about ten miles north of Antung) comprise the main Russian force and consequently the engagement which is looked for at or near these places probably will not be decisive, but only a forerunner of larger operations.

The Russians are constructing entrenchments at several points on the Yalu and Tumen Rivers. These entrenchments, however, are not yet completed, and if the Japanese succeed in forcing their way past one line of defense it would give them a distinct advantage and make it more difficult for the Russians to concentrate to oppose them.

The ice on the Yalu is melting rapidly, and the muddy roads make promptness in military operations most difficult.

London, April 9.—Russia's military proceedings are arousing serious thought in Great Britain. King Edward, his Ministers and educated circles generally, feel that the Muscovites are preparing a military advance that may finally prove perilous to the interests of many states, particularly the British Empire. The slave are conceived to face an ordeal which will show what position they are destined to occupy in the world. It is admitted that they began the struggle handicapped in almost every respect, except that of a lavish supply of men. It is taken for granted that Russia's civil administration is corrupt and its army disorganized, while the transport problem it has to solve is regarded as the most difficult that ever faced a nation in war. Not only is the Trans-Siberian Railway a single line, lying across interminable wastes and menaced at many points by bandits, but it is also broken in two by Lake Baikal, where troops and supplies must cross miles of ice on sleighs. When the ice breaks up, a few men and some goods can be carried across in boats, but most of the traffic must perforce go round the lake part of the way by rail and the remainder on foot or by waggon. This section of the railway will not be completed before August, and possibly not till much later. Furthermore the Russian army like the Russian navy, is not homogeneous. The officers are often strangers to each other. The ordinary basis of discipline and operation has been shattered, and time must elapse before the army can become thoroughly cohesive and capable of quick action. Finally it is doubtful whether more than half the Russian artillery is of the modern quick-firing type.

ANTI-RUSSIAN FEELINGS IN CHINA

Berlin, April 9.—Well grounded reports from the Far East each certain members of the Berlin diplomatic corps to the effect that China is on the verge of throwing in her lot with Japan. They affirm that the coalition will be deferred only until the first decisive defeat of Russia but that. Anti-Russian feeling is described as having reached an uncontrollable pitch in Pekin where the authorities are gradually permitting themselves to be convinced that now is the time to cast off the Russian yoke. Japan is not enthusiastic with regard to China's support, realizing that it will entail embarrassing international complications. At the German Foreign Office no credence is given the report of the likelihood of a yellow alliance against Russia.

TREACHEROUS FIRE ON THE BRITISH

Invited Them to Parley and Then Fired Volley

BRITISH ARE ADVANCING

Times from Kalaang, Tibet, dated yesterday, reports that the Tibetans at the Village of Samanda, in treacherously firing a volley at a party of British officers whom they invited to parley with them, armed badly. No one was injured, but the action is supposed to indicate the tactics which the Tibetans intend to employ at Guru. The correspondents adds that reinforcements are arriving at Gyangtse to oppose the British advance.

Dr. Younghusband was last reported 9 miles from Gyangtse and expected to reach there this week. The British is still marching on.

These Mines are Located near Pittsburg, Colorado.

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00.
Par value $1.00. Full Paid and non-assessable

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 700 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 800 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Selling at 7½ cents

Like its sister Company is today giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 800 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $100,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 100 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 500 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

C. L. ARZENO, General Manager. 603-604 Exchange Bldg., Denver, Colorado

ROLAND KIDD, Fiscal Agent, Peterborough and Lindsay.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of Consumers' Coal Company Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $500,000 with shares at $1 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Barrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $500,000 capitalization, 70 shares of $1 each, $10,000 worth in all, the first allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns, clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R.R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 321 acres under old with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6 feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 169 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 330 feet and the third at 661 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we use as a sump, makes our shaft a total depth 861 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a break down we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 250 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not mean more than 50c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers round town and town people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.25 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine, up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase the output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each. we predict that this stock will be worth not less than $3 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends, kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it hopelessly certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely covetous. No matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

RUSSIANS SEEK AID FROM THE CHINESE

It Is Rumored That the Japanese Have Made Another Attack on Port Arthur

London, Friday, April 8, 4 a.m.—Despatches from Shanghai and Chefoo say it is rumored in those places that the Japanese have made another attack on Port Arthur, but the reports are apparently only based on statements made by Chinese fishermen. Nevertheless, Admiral Togo's ships are reliably reported to be again hovering off the coast of the Liao-Tung peninsula, either seeking an engagement with any Russian ships that are at sea, or preparing to renew their attention to Port Arthur. A despatch to the Express from Wei-Hai-Wei reports mysterious movements by vessels of both fleets in the straits between Wei-Hai-Wei and Port Arthur.

It is stated from St. Petersburg that Admiral Reitzenstein, lately commanding the Vladivostock squadron, is now at Port Arthur, where it is reported he will take over the command of the torpedo boat flotilla.

There is little to be reported regarding the land movements, beyond conjectures based upon the fact that transports are unloading at the mouth of the Yalu River. There are no indications that fighting has occurred, indeed it cannot be learned that there are any Russians in touch with the Japanese on the Yalu.

Telegrams from Tokio report that the fighting lines of the Japanese columns moving north from Ping-Yang have reached the left bank of the Yalu. News of operations all round were never scarcer.

Again at Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, April 7.—The Admiralty has received information that a Japanese squadron has been cruising off Port Arthur since yesterday.

Japs Advance to the Yalu.

Tokio, April 7.—Information has been received that Japanese transports with stores have entered the estuary of the Yalu, and that troops are landing at various points on the Corean shore. Presumably gunboats are covering the movement. If this be true, the Russian force erected on the other side of the river must be ineffective.

The Seoul correspondent of the Kokumin telegraphs, on what he says is reliable authority, that the Japanese lines have advanced to the Yalu, thus proving that there is no considerable Russian force on the left bank of the river.

Many Transports Sighted.

Seoul, April 7.—It is said at the Japanese Legation that three Japanese merchantmen were murdered during the recent disorders at Chung-Chong. An American missionary, returning from the north reports that forty transports, some of the largest size, were seen off Haiju, which is fifty miles north of Chemulpo. It is believed that they were carrying the first and third divisions of the army corps, and that they were on their way to land at Yongampho.

Is the Estuary Mined?

Shanghai, April 7.—It has been learned here that the Russians have planted submarine mines off the coast of Takushan (about 60 miles west of the mouth of the Yalu River) as well as in the estuary of the Yalu.

Washington, April 7.—According to the Nichi Nichi Shimbun, a Tokio newspaper, copies of which have been received at the Japanese Legation, an interesting and impressive scene preceded the departure from the Japanese battleship Asama of the five men of that vessel who were selected from among an overwhelming number of volunteers to take part in the attempt to close the entrance of Port Arthur by sinking merchant vessels. A translation of the Nichi Nichi Shimbun's account follows:—

"After the second attack on Port Arthur, on the morning of February 14, Admiral Togo perfected the plan of closing the entrance of the harbor, and called for volunteers to man the five merchant vessels which were to be employed in the attempt. An overwhelming number of officers and seamen offered their services, and from among them the necessary number was selected, seventy-seven officers and men in all.

"On the night of Feb. 19, when the volunteers were about to embark on the vessels to which they had been assigned enthusiastic ovations were given to them by their comrades on board the vessels of the fleet, from which they had been selected. Among others a solemn scene was witnessed on the battleship Asama. In the presence of all the crew, who were collected on the upper deck, Capt. Yamashiro brought out a large silver bowl presented to him by the Crown Prince. He filled it with water, drank with each of the five volunteers who had been selected from the Asama.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1 00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a stock of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h.p. Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft, built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. sraft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing.

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United Stateswhenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail. We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $25,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day-one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until about July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The Monarch Consolidated Gold & Copper Mining and Smelting Company of BOULDER, COLORADO

Solicits the co-operation of reputable men in providing means for the thorough and rapid development of two large gold and copper mining estates, which are second to none in intrinsic value, and to this end intends every opportunity for determination as to whether statements made by the company are true or false.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 30 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for them unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than ratify every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of the property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 30 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $10 to $200 per ton, and the Company owns 9,000 feet on this vein.

Ore running from $18 to $30 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold property, and 16 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $26.25 per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,720 acres of placer and timber land. water power of 800 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary, Ore easily reached on Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

DIVIDENDS—To begin earning and paying large dividends it is only necessary to [illegible] on each property. To obtain funds for this purpose a limited amount of stock is offered at

SANE BUT ARE LOCKED UP

LUNACY IS QUITE OFTEN VOLUNTARY

Perfectly Rational Persons are Inmates of Asylums Says a Doctor

"Few people," said a medical officer of a large private asylum, 'have any idea that hundreds of the people confined in mad-houses are every bit as sane as themselves, and yet it is a fact that cannot be disputed.

"I do not refer to inmates who are sanity itself on all points but one—the victims of monomania. No; quite apart from these unfortunates there are hundreds who live and die in lunatic asylums and yet are no more mad than their keepers. I myself have known several cases where men and women have voluntarily immured themselves in asylums simply out of fear that they might go mad. They are neurotics, people who are always getting strange fancies into their heads—chiefly the result of laziness—and are haunted by the fear that some day they will lose their reason. I know one such man who has voluntarily made a "lunatic" of himself for over thirty years, without showing the least sign of insanity.

RETREAT FOR DRUNKARDS.

"Then there are others—and these cases are numerous—whom drink has driven out of their senses at one time or another, and who have committed deeds of violence. A few weeks' retreat and treatment has put them all right again, but, although they are as sane as possible in confinement, it is not safe to give them their freedom for fear of relapse under temptation outside.

"In numbers of cases patients who have been cured and discharged return to us of their own free will. And there are others who might go back into the world, but have become so attached to their environment that they elect to spend the rest of their days in it.

"There can be no doubt that many of the sane inmates of asylums are much safer here than outside, and it is this knowledge which sends many of them to us and keeps them with us. Among my own people here is a very clever doctor who a few years ago had a practice bringing him in a large income. He was, however, the victim of a strong periodic impulse to introduce poison in his patients' medicine, and the fear that some day he would yield to it and thus become a murderer grew so strong that he sold his practice and became an inmate here.

TO BE NEAR RELATIVES.

"The most remarkable cases, though, are those who become inmates of asylums rather than part from those they love. We have two sisters here, one hopelessly insane, the other as right as any woman living. They have always been devoted to each other, and when it was found necessary, twenty odd years ago, to confine the former her sister, who was on the eve of marriage, broke off her engagement and decided to spend the rest of her life with her relative.

"There are also scores of people in the criminal asylums who are of perfectly sound mind—in fact, many of them have never been anything else. They have, however, contrived to simulate madness and thus escape the hangman or a long term of penal servitude."

Muskrat Hunting Up North

The lateness of the present spring will prove disastrous to muskrat hunters and the skins of the little animals may come quite high when cheapness time comes around again. The open season for muskrat hunting is from Jan. 1st to April 30th inclusive, but the only time they can be properly hunted is generally in the month of April after the ice moves out of the bays, but at present it looks as if the season will be over before the ice has entirely gone out. It was reported around Peterborough yesterday that several trappers in the country were destroying their houses and shooting the animals, but these trappers had better beware, as the law is very strict on that point and entails a heavy fine.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty-five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

Catarrh Leads to Consumption

he Experience of a Lady in Sydney Who was Cured of Consumption by Inhaling Catarrhozone — This Case Should Warn Others.

"The beginning of my trouble was cold, just a single cold," writes Mrs. S. V. Thorlure, of Sydney. "I neglected this cold and then I got catarrh. When it became troublesome I took some medicine but it didn't help me. I began to cough a great deal and then consulted a doctor. I was horrified to find I must have had tubercular irritation in my lungs for a year or more. A friend strongly urged me to use Catarrhozone. I conferred with my doctor and he said that lots of fresh air and the frequent use of Catarrhozone would be the proper treatment. I used to cough for at least half an hour in the morning but after using Catarrhozone a few days my cough was much easier. The irritation gradually left my throat and I commenced to get better. I kept up the Catarrhozone treatment and inhaled the medicated air five minutes every hour. I believe this was the means of staying my disease, for I got quite well again in a few months. I have since advised other sufferers from catarrh and lung trouble to use Catarrhozone, and in each case good results were obtained. I attribute my recovery entirely to Catarrhozone, which I can honestly recommend in the strongest way."

The foregoing experience should convince everybody of the evil of allowing colds to develop. To neglect catarrh is even worse. Carry a Catarrhozone inhaler in your pocket and use it occasionally. It prevents colds, permanently cures every type of catarrh, and is known to be the only remedy that actually kills the germs of consumption.

Catarrhozone is used by all intelligent physicians and is endorsed by thousands of doctors, because it can be relied upon to absolutely cure catarrh, bronchitis, throat and lung trouble. Catarrhozone is simplest, surest and best remedy. Two months' treatment guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00, trial size 25c., at druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Bartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhozone and insist on getting it when you ask for Catarrhozone.

A Good Proposition

The La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, are offering special inducements to intending investors. The opportunities offered are bound to give large returns, and an idea of the progressiveness and excellent prospects of this company may be obtained by a careful scrutiny of their advertisement, which appears in another column of this issue.

A Word to the Girls

This is leap year, and if the young of otherwise fallen do their duty they will most assuredly secure a man, a silk dress, or have proof afforded them that all the mean people are not dead yet. Procrastination is the thief of time, so the sooner the campaign is entered upon the better, for some of the old bachelors are so impregnable it may take some coaxing to reach their hearts. The magazines, who will not be subdued in this year of grace and with so many charming maids and maidens to woo them, should have just crowded on their forelocks to mark them for all time as incorrigibles.

AN APPEAL TO THE PASSIONABLE SET IN CANADA.

"Lally Bernard," the Well-known Toronto Journalist, Writes from England of the Battle Against Consumption in Muskoka.

Lally Bernard, of the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, writing to that paper from London, England, where she is now a resident, shows most clearly that the battle against the great white plague is one that should interest all classes of the community. It will be remembered that this writer entered incog. as a patient in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, and afterwards in the Globe told of real life in that institution. In her present article she says:

"To-day I have found a letter at the club which nearly missed me, having been addressed 'Lally Bernard.' May I express to my unknown correspondent my warmest thanks for the kindly appreciation for the little I have been able to do in the battle being waged against tuberculosis in Canada. The need of sympathy and interest is a tremendous one, and I am always puzzled when I find really well educated and intelligent people in Canada so criminally ignorant of the extent of the danger, and the means which are being taken to combat it.

"It may be of some interest to those who feel as I do in regard to the responsibility which rests upon each and all to aid in this fight against a most insidious foe, when I tell them, that here in London, where I have been for only a few days, I have already come across the dread enemy four times. First of all, in the back garden of our humble quarters in Kensington I espied, when morning dawned, a tent with two beds in it. I enquired of our landlord why the tent was there, and was told a long story about the coronation and quarters for some boys coming up from the country, and that he, the landlord, had subsequently found it more agreeable to sleep in the tent than in the basement bedroom he had formerly occupied. A little later, in conversation with the lady who secured the lodgings, I learned that the landlord's son was obliged to sleep in a tent! Comment was needless.

"In looking for quarters I found a charming home of a young doctor and his wife, where extraordinarily moderate terms were asked for really exceptionally good accommodation. The doctor in question had been 'ordered south,' and his wife had to keep the house going by accepting 'paying guests.'

"Yet again, in the third place, I found that the lady who was at the head of the establishment had not only lost her husband from the dread disease, but had managed one of the most fashionable sanitariums in England, and her knowledge of the treatment and the extent of the problem in England showed me how tremendous was the need for care and watchfulness in our own country.

"May I ask my correspondent to use all possible influence to make the question of combating tuberculosis one of interest in the 'fashionable set' to which she evidently belongs. I know full well, from the little experience I have had, how tremendously a little genuine interest and help might lighten the burden now resting on the shoulders of the authorities of the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst. It is, of course, far away from wealthy centres, and out of sight is to be out of mind.

"I can quite understand that until people have seen forty or fifty patients together in different stages of consumption they do not realise what an immense amount of aid might be given by those who are fortunate enough to be free from the disease and by those who have little else to do than to invent or learn some new form of recreation.

"Mrs. Torrington has kindly promised me to try and get musical societies and people interested in music to provide a pianola for the Hospital, and I feel sure it will be of immense benefit to the patients. Surely my correspondent who evinces such sympathy with the cause could make that sympathy take a practical form and organize a hospital library where books worth reading might be supplied, with some system similar to that of the Aberdeen Association, which has done such excellent work."

[Note.—Readers—and may their number be many—who desire to assist in the work of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives may send their gifts to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Vice-President, National Sanitarium Association, Toronto, or Mr. W. J. Gage, Chairman of the Executive Committee.]

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH

When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret of strength in those magnificent muscles. But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or, what is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fail. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased, digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion. He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. E. Wells, of Willard, N.C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and hygienic rules. I carried out these as best I could, bought six bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and commenced taking it. A few days after I noticed a great change. Felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I suffered greatly with pain in stomach, my nerves seemed all run-down. I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Foiled in an Attempt to Surprise Port Arthur

BOUND FOR THE PORT

Attack That was Expected Saturday Delayed

London, April 11.—A despatch from Chefoo says that 17 battleships and cruisers, 20 steamers and 12 torpedoboat destroyers have passed Chefoo, apparently bound for Port Arthur.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says Admiral Makaroff telegraphs that an attempt to surprise Port Arthur was foiled Saturday night. A number of Japanese vessels suddenly appeared within the range of the searchlights, but they withdrew after reconnoitering.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris says that the members of the naval general staff believe that Admiral Makaroff, perceiving the Japanese squadron returned to Port Arthur, has idea being to try to induce Admiral Togo to follow him under the guns of the forts.

The correspondent adds—"The military censors did not sit later than 10 o'clock to-night (Sunday), and no news of fighting was received up to that hour."

FEARS NEXT BLOW.

London, April 10.—There can be little doubt that the period of suspense over the Far East is almost at an end and that the next few days will bring news of important war operations. It is significant that the aggressive talk from has been followed by pessimistic forebodings in military circles in St. Petersburg.

The writer learns that grave fears are entertained at Russian headquarters that the fall of Port Arthur is imminent.

New Chwang, April 11.—An official explanation was issued to-day of the firing of guns from the forts here last night which caused a certain amount of excitement and the killing of two Chinese. It appears from the official statement that owing to the fact that the officers of the garrison did not understand the system of flash signals in use at the mouth of the river for the purpose of signalling the depth of the water on the bar so as to enable ships to put to sea, fire was opened at midnight on some pilot boats and outward bound merchantmen.

Twenty-four shots were fired, including projectiles from large guns. The effect of the fire had not been reported up to noon to-day, but the firing caused a certain amount of excitement among the troops, during which a sentry fired on and killed two Chinese, Sampan men, opposite the foreign settlement and three miles from the forts. The two Chinese had become a sentry fired one would make an attack on this place two Chinese had become alarmed at the firing and endeavored to cross the river.

In view of the reports received here of Japanese activity in Korea, and of the arrival of Japanese troops on the Yalu River, it is understood that the troops of the garrison had been fully warned that it was possible the Japanese would make an attack on this place, and the citizens, on hearing the firing, naturally supposed that the attempt was being made last night.

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY

THE TERRITORIAL CLAIMS OF FRANCE TO NEWFOUNDLAND ABANDONED

London, April 9.—A letter on the theory and practice of musketry in Broad Arrow, signed "Trapper," says "from all over Canada officers and non-commissioned officers must go to the Ottawa school of musketry, and spend three months learning God knows what, while we have eight or ten schools of military instruction scattered over the country, from which they turn out qualified candidates who never during the course fired a shot."

Broad Arrow, commenting, says "the letter of our Canadian correspondent is interesting as exposing the absurdity surrounding what is officially known as musketry instruction.

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY.

The Liverpool Daily Post says, "the territorial claims of France in Newfoundland have apparently been abandoned. We should like to be assured that the fishing rights conceded do not contain the germs of future trouble."

MR. BRADLEY'S FEARS.

A. G. Gradley, writing on "some trans-Atlantic myths," in the Saturday Review, says: "Canadians have given, not forgotten, the Alaska fiasco. Rightly or wrongly, there are many sensible and patriotic Canadians who believe the question of purchase from France by the United States of Miquelon and St. Pierre is looming not remote in the future, and the possibility of depending upon the backbone of the home Government appeals, for such a transfer would be unthinkable."

London, April 9.—The "desert cure," supplemented by the "color cure," is the latest thing that is to be tried to restore neurotic women to health and strength. The nub of the former is rest, fresh air, quit, and the novelty of strange surroundings. The "color cure" is an extension of the experiments of Flammarion, the French scientist on flowers.

A party of English women is now on its way to the sandy expanse of Egypt. This desert cure is the idea of a woman, who has gained a reputation as a masseuse. Among her clientele are several society leaders suffering from absurdity and its attendant ills, and they have been benefited greatly by the particular form of Swedish massage practised by the woman.

Something, however, was wanted to complete this perfect restoration to health, and the idea struck the masseuse that the pure and beautiful air of the Nubian desert was the one thing necessary to bring back the elasticity of youth.

Acquainted as she is with the desert, the masseuse made arrangements to take her patients to a suitable spot far enough removed from the regular caravan routes to avoid publicity. Tents are to be erected when they arrive, and each tent is to be inhabited by a patient.

A certain number of fellaheen women have been engaged as servants, and once the camp has been formed no man will be allowed within its lines. Neither are letters or papers to be permitted to enter the reserved enclosure. The diet is to be of the simplest and will consist of fruits and cereals.

The great cure is to be the air, the pure air of the desert. The clothing will be of the lightest and most ethereal description, so that the patients may enjoy the air and sun baths with little trouble. Simplicity is also to be the keynote of the furnishings of the camp.

No amusement, except perhaps a little painting for the artistic, no fine dressing no distractions such as are found in the foreign spas and health resorts will be permitted. All day long they will be breathing in the life-giving air, which in its very very elasticity will prevent any feeling of ennui from gaining ascendency over their minds.

The directress of the cure will see that her patients have just enough to soothe their tired out brains, and will herself superintend all the arrangements. One of her ideas is to carry out the color cure in the desert, and, having ascertained what particular shade is likely to exercise a beneficia influence over each individual patient, she will see that the sunlight streams in through a special hue of glass. Or if the pane of colored glass cannot be affixed in the tent itself the manager will contrive that some arrangement is made to permit colored light. Thus the patients will have one form of distraction to interest them, and the novelty of the cure is expected to assits materially in the benefit to be derived from the pure air.

In the case of using the glass in the desert, the patients will be able to undergo the course at stated times only—in the early morning and evening—for the heat of the midday sun beating down on the fair invalids would do more harm than good.

Rest, fresh air, and quiet are the panaceas offered by the originator of the movement, who firmly believes that there is a great future for the desert cure for women of nervous and highly strung natures. The women of the present expedition intend to spend some seven weeks far from the madding crowd, and their leader has assured them that by that time they will be restored to perfect health.

BASEBALL.

The Port Hope Guide gives us the following words of advice: "Two teams from Peterborough are desirous of entering the Midland League, but it is not likely that the both of them will be admitted. We would like to see Peterborough in the league but with two teams entered from one town it would only incur unnecessary expenses for the other teams interested. The easiest way of it would be to let these teams play off and yet admit the winner.

LACROSSE.

Two weeks from to-day and the meeting for the purpose of forming a Trent Valley League will be held in Peterborough. It will be necessary to send representatives from here, but unless some definite answer is received from the Ontario Lacrosse Club in reference to their equipment it is quite probable that the matter will be dropped. All that is necessary is a definite answer from the Ontarios and surely they can grant the term that much.—Port Hope Guide.

RUSSIA BEGINS BEGINNING TO FEAR A NEW DANGER

Friendship of England is More to be Feared than Her Hatred

London, April 11.—Russia is beginning to fear a new danger, which the signature of the Anglo-French agreement will promptly intensify. The Novoe Vremya expresses it frankly enough in the following passages—

"Everybody knows that Russia will win her war with Japan, even of China takes arms against her, England, although she poses as the friend of France, ready aims to localize the war and isolate Russia from France.

"We hear already of intervention. Will the war end with armed peace and all the social misfortunes connected therewith? No, we shall not have another Berlin Congress. We have suffered physically and morally for 24 years from a bad peace. Better have a good quarrel than a bad peace. The people of Russia are sacrificing themselves for this war and when the European diplomatists call them to court they will reply, 'We will have none of it.'"

"England is attacking Russia from two sides. She has sent against us an enemy from the East. Now she attempts to corrupt the friends of Russia in the West. If she succeeds she will attain two ends at once, the weakening of Russia and Japan and the destruction of the Franco-Russian alliance.

"Hands off! The friendship of England is more to be feared than her hatred.

"The moment England considers favorable for friendly intervention in the morrow when Russia must consider armed intervention imperative. That moment also we believe will be considered opportune for—Germany to range herself on the side of Russia and France. Then on the shores of the Pacific will appear a new Triple Alliance which will put an end to the fellow and Anglo-Saxon danger and alone will give Europe and Asia pe—"

LOCAL POLICE NOTIFIED

To be on Lookout for Notorious "Texas."—A Desperate Character

The local police have received notice from W. T. Williams, Chief of Police, London, Ont., to be on the lookout for Harry Burdell, alias McCrimmon, alias F. Dowie, alias Vance, alias Texas, prisoner No. 17526, who broke jail on April 5th last, while waiting for trial on several charges of burglary and housebreaking.

The following description is given of Him:—

Age 27 years; 5 feet 9 inches in height; 150 lbs in weight; wiry build, fair complexion; dark brown hair; which he generally wears long and parts in middle; one inch long on front of right elbow; vaccination scar on left arm near shoulder; ball mark back or left knee; several small scars on right cheek; small scar on little finger of right hand; small scar on first finger of right hand.

The circular goes on to say: We hold warrant for his arrest on the above charges. Great care should be taken in arresting this man, as he will stop at nothing to effect his escape. He has served several terms in prison. He has already been convicted in various parts under different names in each case, and if arrested for any fresh offence will give a new alias.

NOTORIOUS CRIMINAL

Local Police Capture George Sheldon on Rubidge Street Yesterday

"On October 29th, 1903, a man giving his name as Frank Sheldon forged a check for $621.00 and passed the same at the State Bank, of Bradshaw, York County, Nebraska. He received $421.00 cash, and a Certificate of Deposit for $200.

"All persons are warned not to cash such certificate.

"Sheldon is about 26 years old, weighs 172 pounds, dark hair and eyes, medium height. When last seen was smooth shaven, stands erect and is rather good-looking. He has a very deep dimple on the point of his chin. This is his distinguishing mark."

The above description was received by Chief of Police Rossel about the 20th of March. Accompanying the card containing these details, and a photograph of the party sought, was a letter which stated that the fugitive went by different names, amongst which were, Willis Ledeau, Fred Larson, and Frank Sheldon.

Word was received yesterday that a man going by one of these names was getting his mail from Post Office Box 535, Peterborough, and in the afternoon, about four o'clock, he was arrested on the corner of Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets.

It has also been learned that the prisoner has a long criminal record behind him, and it is likely that he will be sent to the States. He will appear before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning.

An Exciting Runaway

On Sunday evening, while driving along Hunter street, Messrs. Jack Duncan, a horse dealer, and Harry Gibbs, met with an experience which they are not likely to soon forget. They were driving a spirited animal, and when in the vicinity of the Oriental Hotel, the horse suddenly became frightened and dashed off madly down the street. The buggy suddenly turned slightly to one side, and Mr. Duncan was thrown out, but his injuries only resulted in a bad shaking up. The horse was soon under control, owing to the superior horsemanship of Mr. Gibbs, and no further damage was done.

It was moved by Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the first reading re the Beet Sugar bylaw be submitted.—Carried.

BEET SUGAR BYLAW.

Ald. McWilliams reviewed the discussion of last Friday's meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council. The matter had been fully discussed with the representatives of the Sugar Company. It was argued by the Council that, as the bylaw was at first proposed, it would not meet with the popular approval. If it would have a chance to carry it would have to be modified considerably. It was thought by the Council that $100,000 was too much to grant the Sugar Company, as the Town's sinking fund would be increased too much, and it was suggested that a grant of $50,000 would be more likely to meet with the people's support. The date when the advance was to be made was also a matter of the greatest importance, and would be a matter for the Council's serious consideration. The primary object was that the Town should obtain this industry, but not at any risk. It was finally decided that if $50,000 was paid on the arrival of the machinery at Peterborough it should prove satisfactory to all parties concerned. The remaining $50,000 was to be handed over when the business was in operation. At the last meeting the appointment of a special committee to confer with the solicitors was omitted and the Mayor had called a committee of three or four to perform this duty.

Ald. Best then spoke at some length in opposition to the proposed bylaw. He urged that the industry was to be outside of the municipality, and it was not reasonable to ask the people to vote for an industry that was to be located in another municipality. Unless that portion of North Monaghan, upon which the company's property is located, can be annexed before May 5th, the people should not be asked to exercise their franchise. So far as guarantee was concerned, supposing the company does put up $100,000 before they called upon the town, according to Mr. Gordon, it would take at least $350,000 to put them in good working order. "Where is the guarantee to our taxpayers for this $100,000?" asked Ald. Best. "You have no right to put that bylaw until that portion of North Monaghan is annexed, and so far as our municipality is concerned that portion does not exist at present."

Ald. McWilliams thought Ald. Best's point of order was taken at the right time. It was a question of law whether or not the bylaw could be submitted. On careful consideration and consultation with the solicitors he had concluded that the Council had no authority to submit a bylaw to assist any other municipality. This legal objection did not stand in the passing of the first and second readings of the bylaw.

Ald. Best again spoke. "Just as soon as the Beet Sugar Company can take in this portion of land, then put your bylaw to the people. Otherwise you are asking them to vote for the passing of a bylaw that benefits another municipality." He went on to state that never in his time had a similar bylaw been submitted.

His Worship Mayor Roger did not interpret the reading of the bylaw as did Ald Best. "The bylaw reads 'within the Town of Peterborough,'" he explained. At the time of the submission of the other bylaws in the town's history, the manufactures had not been in existence. He further made it clear that as the bylaw read, "within the Town of Peterborough," that, unless the company established their business within the limits of this town, then the bylaw would not be effective.

Ald. Adams then remarked that the feeling in North Monaghan was unfavorable to annexation, unless the bylaw passed.

But still Ald. Best was not convinced, and his objection was for the time being overruled by the Mayor.

At this juncture the following communication was read by the Clerk, from the Board of Education:

S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk;

At a meeting of Special committee of the Board of Education held this evening, the following resolution was passed:

"That the Council be asked to submit the bylaw for the Collegiate Institute on the 5th of May." It is the wish of the Board that the bylaw be submitted separate from any other.

Yours truly,

W. G. MORROW,
Sec.-Treasurer.

Ald. Best—"They're afraid the two bylaws will kill both."

SECOND READING MOVED.

It was then moved by Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Rush, that the Council go into a Committee of the Whole for the first and second reading of the bylaw. Ald. Best emphasized the fact that he opposed every clause of the bylaw. The first, second and third clauses were passed with little comment, but at the reading of the fourth, Ald. McWilliams inquired why the premium was so high as 4 1-2 per cent.

Mr. Garvin explained that they were installment bonds, of short date, and could not sell easily, hence the 4 1-2 per cent.

Ald. Adams explained that a committee had been investigating at what rate $50,000 for the Collegiate Institute could be raised, and the result was that they had ascertained that 4 1-4 per cent. bonds would not yield par for short term bonds.

A lengthy discussion then ensued re the advisability of having the Collegiate Institute bylaw and the Beet Sugar bylaw submitted on the same date.

Ald. Johnston argues that the School Board should have the preference, as they had asked for an early date.

The Mayor expressed himself as of the opinion that the Council should submit both bylaws, unless one party agreed to pay its own expenses, in which case the School Board should have the preference, and he would submit the bylaws according to the wishes of the Council.

Ald. Adams and Ald. Best thought the Sugar Company should bear the expense of submitting their bylaw.

Ald. McWilliams then remarked that in his opinion the School bylaw should precede that of the company, but Mr. Garvin explained that May 5th was the latest convenient date for the latter, as they had an option on the machinery they intended purchasing, and this would expire shortly after the above date.

A resolution was then moved by the Mayor that both bylaws be voted on on May 5th, the School Board having the option of asking for another date, in which case the Sugar Company shall be called upon to pay the expenses of submitting its bylaw, and that in the event of such happening, no further action be taken until the company place in the hands of the Town Treasurer sufficient funds to cover the expense of submitting the bylaw.

It was finally decided that both bylaws be submitted to the people on May 5, and a motion by Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Adams, that steps be taken to advertise the bylaw in the Morning Times newspaper, was carried.

The first and second readings of the bylaw were then declared passed.

MORE MONEY FOR PARKS

Mr. D. W. Dumble, on behalf of the Horticultural Society, asked the Council for a larger grant than that of last year, which amounted to $550. He explained that more gains would be taken in the planting of the ground, and in the choice of plants. The parks were a source of great pleasure to our citizens and attracted visitors. The result of the past year were most encouraging, and the money was well spent. The contract for this year's plants had been let at $500, but the expenditure in other respects would be greater than usual. The matter was referred to the Finance committee.

The meeting then adjourned.

DEATH OF REV. JOS. KILGOUR

Passed Away Yesterday Morning at the Ripe Old Age of 72

Sad we are to have to chronicle the sudden death of the Rev. Joseph Kilgour, who passed quietly away at the family residence, No. 6 Weller street, yesterday morning, at the advanced age of 72. Deceased has not been in the best of health for some time, but up to a week ago had been able to move around. About six days ago he was obliged to take to his bed, and yesterday morning heart failure caused his demise. A bereaved widow is left to mourn the loss of a beloved husband.

The late Mr. Kilgour was one of our most highly respected citizens, and was a superannuated Methodist clergyman. His great interest was centered in church work, and his strict application to duty and his upright, honest, Christian life, won for him many lasting friends. "He was one of God's noblest, most God-fearing, workers," remarked a clergyman yesterday, and to this many friends bow assent. His first church was at Queenstown, Quebec, which he took charge of in 1856. Since that time he has preached at Hudson, Lachute and Aylmer, in the Province of Quebec, and his Ontario stations were, Shannonville, Morrisburg, Cannifftown, Tweed, Cavanville, Fraserville, Welcome, Baltimore, and Smithfield. Since his coming to Peterborough, after his superannuation in 1890, he has been a consistent member of Charlotte street Methodist church, where his noble, Christian life endeared him to the members and adherents. Occasionally he occupied the pulpit himself and he took great delight in assisting at meetings of the young people.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence on Weller street, and services will be conducted at Charlotte street church at three o'clock. The remains will be interred in the Little Lake cemetery.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 16 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 16 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says. Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, exhaustion of parts, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like cures all the complications, such as rheumatism bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. I would mean, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 16 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him direct:

Dr. S. Goldberg, 268 Woodward Ave, Room Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once.

WHAT TO DO WITH GREAT WEALTH

There is something almost pathetic in a recent chat of John D. Rockefeller, the richest man in the world, in regard to his charities. He estimates that he has given away, first and last, over $35,000,000, and of that $7,000,000 which he gave away before 1896 not over 5 per cent. accomplished any good results.

Still Mr. Rockefeller feels impelled to get rid of his money the best he can. He stands ready to give away from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000 every year personally, and for the more important part of the work he employs two skilled assistants. Rev. Fred. T. Gates passes on the religious benefactions and a lawyer named Starr J. Murphy has just been employed to consider all applications that are not strictly religious. With all three of them working hard Mr. Rockefeller hopes to be able to make a hold in his wealth without his gifts doing more harm that good.

Nothing is more common than to hear people say: "If I had a great fortune how much good I would do!" and "I have no desire for money except to good with it," but if these same people had Rockefeller's wealth they would, inside of a year, feel as he does, that it is almost impossible to give away large sums of money without doing more harm than good.

One reason is that as soon as it is known that there is a great sum of money to be had for good objects universal society resolves itself into a band of sharpers to put up a job on the possessor and get the money. Plans will be laid that will cover two continents with lying schemes and at last an appeal is made which would deceive an archangel, but which is after all only an elaborate lie. This is equally true, however, of diminutive charities. If there is a person who never refuses $5 to a really deserving case thousands of people lie awake all night contriving some way to get that amount on false pretenses.

The charitable man, therefore, whether a millionaire or a person in moderate circumstances, soon begins to realize that his charities manufacture ten times as many hypocrites and swindlers as they relieve of deserving poor people. At last he gets sick at heart and stops giving, unless like Rockefeller he has so much money that it is a nuisance and he must get rid of it some way.

This is the reason that rich men give their money to the cause of education. They get swindled to some extent in that sort of swindling also, but less than in any other sort of charity perhaps. Whatever may happen, they reason, if people are educated they can take care of themselves better than if they were given money.

It is singular that men like Rockefeller and Carnegie have never thought of the immense amount of good that might be done by men in their circumstances if they would use their wealth to put down lawlessness. How is it that such an example as Samuel J. Tilden set in breaking down the Tweed ring is never followed? What a blessing such a man would be to Chicago at the present time!

It will be observed that to do good in this way not only required a good deal of money for expenses but a mint of money behind it for self-defense of pure motives.

To a man who can furnish these conditions there is not such a noble field of usefulness open to any American as the work of expurging and disinfecting the government of a city like Chicago and a state like Illinois. Who will undertake it?

A PROGRESSIVE COMPANY

La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company has Excellent Prospects.

It is an established fact that the majorities of millionaires have obtained their immense wealth through careful investment in mining, and they are to-day the largest investors in the gold producing enterprises which are the foundation of the world's commerce. The gold mining of America is its greatest production, and during the year 1902 the Government of the United States received over $202,000,000 worth of gold. The smallest investor as well as the largest, is deriving his just income from the amount of gold produced yearly, and a careful examination of the inducements offered by the La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company will disclose an excellent opportunity to intending investors.

The stock of this progressive and promising company should earn 100 per cent. yearly and stocks will in all likelihood pay 50 per cent. yearly. The Don Estrella Gold Mining Company, located in the same camp as the La Alexandria Company, has paid as high as $440 in dividends on every share, a total of $44,000 to the stockholder holding one hundred shares, in seventeen months.

The stock of this corporation is absolutely guaranteed by the reserve of 2760 acres of property, in addition to the claims known as the La Alexandria, for which thousands of dollars have been refused, as this corporation holds the property in reserve, as an absolute guarantee to the investor. The claims held in reserve are located in the famous camp known as "Fialpujahua, Mexico. All of the above properties are held by this corporation until this company becomes a dividend payer. In this Camp seventy companies have begun operations within the last ten months and seventeen of them are to-day dividend paying companies, paying thousands of dollars in monthly dividends to their large and small stockholders.

Cured Painful Irregularities

Strong Testimony From a Lady Resident of Clarksburg, Proving that Ferrozone Surpasses All Other Remedies For Diseases Peculiar to Women.

If the thousands of women who silently suffer from functional derangements were to tell their sad story, it would make a book of countless pages. The health of many women is constantly imperilled through failure of certain organs to work according to nature's requirements. Where this condition occurs there is no safer remedy to employ than Ferrozone, which has a specific action in female troubles. Not only does it act directly on the organs, ensuring regularity and freedom from pain, but by forming rich, red blood, fortifies the system against weakening drains.

Every young girl and woman will find a true friend in Ferrozone. It is a specific remedy for their troubles that offsets the deadening influence of ill health by restoring order and regularity. Ferrozone possesses a volume of merit to every atom in the ordinary medicine and its superiority is proclaimed by thousands of women it has restored to vigorous health. From Mrs. F. G. Caldwell comes the following endorsement, written from her home in Clarksburg. "I went through a most trying experience with what is commonly known as "Female Trouble." It isn't necessary to state my symptoms but I suffered a great deal. My health was well nigh ruined, and I got into such a condition that I couldn't even sleep. I was dreadfully nervous, weak and pale. Different prescriptions were recommended, and I tried them. But Ferrozone was the first to help. I improved steadily under Ferrozone and normal conditions were finally established. I gained weight, my color and spirits improved, and my former health was restored. Ferrozone cured me, and with a full heart I recommend this good medicine to all other women.

No greater blessing ever came to suffering woman than Ferrozone. It deserves a trial because it is the best medicine, tonic and rebuilder money can buy. Beware of imitations. Don't allow a druggist to palm off anything else for Ferrozone, which costs 50c. per cent or six boxes for ($2.50), at druggists or by mail from The Ferrozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

High Class Investment

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $200,000 with shares at $1each.

The officers of the Company are C. F Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Iverson, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $200,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $100,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at per, $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns, clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chemeo, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R.R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 321 acres under and with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 320 feet and the third at 403 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which so vessa sump, makes our shafts total depth 503 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hoisting in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 250 tons per day within two or three weeks, his very highest agreements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 50c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and towns people, and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.25 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine, up to the present time is about $500 per day and we hope to soon increase this so we increase the output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $600 each, we predict that this stock will be worth not less than $2 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends, kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

EXPECT AN ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR SHORTLY

A Despatch Says That Japanese Fleet Has Been Seen in That Vicinity

St Petersburg, April 10—A telegram from Port Arthur, dated to-day says that all is quiet there, but that as there is no moon the nights are dark and so an attack is expected at any time, as the enemy's ships have appeared in the vicinity.

A despatch to the Express from New-Chwang says that reports continue to arrive there of incessant Japanese activity at the mouth of the Yalu. Light draught transports are reaching Yongampo where the disembarkation of troops and stores is constantly progressing. Surprise is expressed that nothing is done to harass the landing of the Japanese, the southern bank of the river being within range of a Russian artillery fire from Antung. The doubt increases that the Japanese intend to advance from the Yalu, the movements there being regarded as a subterfuge to detract attention from more important movements elsewhere. It is still strongly believed that the chief attack will be in the neighborhood of Port Arthur.

According to the New-Chwang correspondent of the Chronicle, a demonstration by the Japanese fleet, either at Port Arthur or New-Chwang, is expected on Sunday.

The Tokio correspondent of the Chronicle says that the Russians have dug a moat four miles long north of Port Arthur, containing barbed wire entanglements concealed in mud.

FIGHT ON THE YALU?

London, April 10.—A news agency despatch says it is rumored there that there has been another engagement on the Yalu and that the Russians were defeated with heavy loss. There is no confirmation of the story.

ANGLO-FRENCH COLONIAL TREATY NOW SIGNED

London, April 9.—The Anglo-French colonial treaty was signed in the Foreign Office in London today. It comprises three separate instruments. The first deals with Egypt and Morocco, the second with Newfoundland, and the third with Siam, the New Hebrides, and Madagascar.

By the terms of the treaty the present political situation in Morocco and Egypt remains unchanged, and a full agreement is reached regarding Egyptian finances. It recognizes the right of France to guard the tranquility of Morocco, while France will not impede the action of Great Britain in Egypt, and Great Britain adheres to the convention of 1888 for the neutrality of the Suez Canal. The freedom of trade in Egypt and Morocco is guaranteed for thirty years, and if the convention shall not be denounced before the expiration of that period, it is to remain in force for four years more.

In order to assure the freedom of the Straits of Gibraltar, it is agreed that no fortification can be erected on the Moroccan coast between Melilla and the mouth of the Sebu River.

The two Governments promise mutual assistance for the execution of these arrangements.

In Newfoundland France foregoes exclusive fishing rights on the French Shore, though retaining her right to fish. The Bait Bill of 1898 is modified so as to give Newfoundlanders the right to sell bait to the French fishermen. Indemnities will be given the owners and employes of French establishments on the French Shore in exchange for the abandoned fishing rights.

France obtains three concessions regarding territory in West Africa. Under the terms of the first there is to be a territorial readjustment on the Zambesi, giving France access to the portion of the river navigable to ocean-going ships; under the second, France secures Sios Island, and under the third, there is to be a readjustment of the frontier line between the River Niger and Lake Tchad, giving France a route through the fertile country.

In the case of Siam, the two countries confirm the declaration of 1896, determining its precise meaning with regard to pre-existing differences.

With regard to the New Hebrides, the Governments agree to appoint a commission, which will decide the land disputes between the inhabitants.

Concerning Madagascar, Great Britain withdraws the protests made at various periods against the French economic regime there.

The Government has long been a stranger to such a chorus of universal approval and congratulations as that exhibited editorially this morning in all the London newspapers, because of the happy conclusion of Anglo-French negotiations for a colonial treaty. This approval is none the less whole-hearted because it is recognized that France has obtained substantial concessions, while surrendering little of real value. King Edward is again hailed as a successful diplomatist, and the greater portion of thanks is accorded him for having initiated the rapprochement, and to President Loubet for having received the overtures in a corresponding spirit. Lord Lansdowne and M. Delcasse are equally complimented for their notable services to the cause of peace between the two countries.

The Times, referring to the Newfoundland settlement, says; "The French shore question bristled with irritating technicalities and restrictions, and involved Newfoundland in an Imperial problem of a particularly baffling kind. The disappearance of this difficulty, so petty in itself, yet so full of inflammable materials is something we can all congratulate ourselves upon."

The News says; "Over one hundred years ago Napoleon was crouching in Boulogne for a spring on England; one hundred years later France and England sign a treaty affecting four continents, and mingle the Union Jack and the Tricolor from Newfoundland to the New Hebrides. England is well out of the tiresome and dangerous disputes concerning Newfoundland."

The Standard says an obvious solution has at last been brought into play.

The Chronicle is not at all sure that Lord Lansdowne has not paid rather too much and received too little. As regards Newfoundland, France parts only with the power to inflict pin-pricks.

THE NOTORIOUS ARMSTRONG

Was Very Anxious to Engage Ottawa Young Ladies

The Ottawa Free Press contains the following item concerning Wm. Armstrong, who was arrested here on charge of fraud;

William Armstrong, the smooth Peterborough chap, whose alleged fake advertisements appeared a short time ago in a local contemporary for young ladies to work in connection with a Canadian exhibit at the St. Louis world's fair, is on trial in that town, charged by Chief Rosael with misusing the mails.

"The ad. in question read as follows;—

"Wanted.—One hundred young ladies to go to St. Louis during the exhibition, to take charge of an exhibit; salary $35 per month, and board. Enclose $5 with applications. If too many applications are received money will be refunded.

"The alluring offer to refund the five dollars led to an apparently well founded suspicion of the part of Chief Powell and Inspector Hogan, of the Dominion Police, that there was something wrong, and a telegraph message to Peterborough landed the young man in the cells. About thirty young ladies from the capital answered the advertisement and enclosed the necessary money, and quite a correspondence sprung up as to the particulars of the engagement.

"Armstrong was very nice about the affair and offered the applicants their choice of American or Canadian exhibits, besides asking their advice as to board, lodgings, salary, etc. Most of the young ladies in question of course considered the offer a good proposition—but none so far as can be ascertained have received any 'refund.'"

The Free Press assumes much when it describes Armstrong as a "Peterborough chap." Fact is he was only a visitor, as it were, to this city, and he apparently chose the Electric City as an easy mark, but our police, who are ever on the alert, assisted by Detective Parkinson, soon nipped his game in the bud.

About Our Streets

The heavy rain on Friday evening, although it inconvenienced many for the time, was instrumental in washing off our streets to a great extent. On Saturday morning the scrapers were again used and the refuse matter placed in piles along each side of the street. This made driving much pleasanter, and the appearance of the street [illegible] improved.

This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore, which cannot be exhausted in five years, already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above, named with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 175 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1140 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 600 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

THE BEET SUGAR PROJECT

Some Interesting Opinions on the Sugar Proposition

It was decided at Friday's meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council that a bylaw would be submitted to the people on May 5th. Upon the people's vote will depend whether or not a sugar beet factory will commence here. The Council for the most part are favorable to the introduction of the industry, and consider it will be a paying one and a benefit to the community.

"Of course, the success of the enterprise will not be guaranteed by the carrying of the bylaw by a popular vote. The farmers on the outskirts of the city will have to be favorable to the proposition," remarked a Peterborough county farmer, Saturday afternoon. But this is hardly logic either. "If the bylaw carries, and if the farmers in the surrounding district do not agree to cultivate beets, it will be an easy matter for the company to lease large tracts of land and engage help to cultivate them,' remarked another well-to-do farmer.

"For my part," the latter farmer continued, "I think it will prove a success. The soil here in Peterborough is suitably adapted for the growth of sugar beets, as I myself know from experience. I have grown them, and when taken proper care of, they should bring as high as $60 and $65 an acre. But they require attention."

Several other farmers, on being interviewed by the Times on Saturday, were of the opinion that the industry would prove a source of great benefit to the farming community. Some few spoke disparagingly of the project, but intimated that they were willing to try it again, on a small scale at least.

"At anyrate, the Town cannot lose much," remarked another farmer. "We get all the machinery right here on the ground before a cent is paid over, and then only $50,000 is to be paid, while the machinery is really worth three times that much. Even when the other $50 000 is paid, when the factory commences operations, we cannot lose if she does go flat. We have the machinery and building to fall back on, and they will be worth far more than the $100,000 we loan them," was his final remark as he walked over to his load of hay.

HAS BEEN DOWNGRADED

The following article from the Havelock Standard is reminiscent of the trial of Jas. Moloney, on the charge of illegally selling liquor, recently held at Peterborough;

"As a sequel to the prosecution and conviction of Jas. Moloney, at Cordova, for dealing in intoxicating liquors without a license, a conviction that indicated that there was failure on the part of the official appointed to enforce the law, Mr. Thomas McLaughlin has been removed from the office of Provincial officer.

"Two years ago Mr. McLaughlin was appointed Provincial officer under the provisions of the License Act, for its enforcement at Cordova Mines and vicinity, in the eastern part of East Peterborough. On Thursday last an order-in-council was passed approving of his removal from his position. The policy of the Department in regard to the enforcement of the license law, must be respected, especially by officials, who must be prepared to accept the consequences of failure to discharge their duties efficiently."

—Mr. Percy Pearson, of Montreal, is in the city, and has purchased another consignment of fine horses.

—The old town hall at Emmamore has been sold to Mr. John Flood, and will be remodelled and used as a butter factory.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely co-others, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

MANY TOURISTS EXPECTED

Great Influx of Visitors Expected This Summer

Owners of small craft are busily engaged in sandpapering and otherwise getting their boats in readiness to be put into the water as soon as the ice disappears and the weather permits. The local boat-builders are as busy as the busiest bee, building new boats and repairing old ones, and all state that this has been the liveliest spring they have had for some years. Another evidence which points towards the prosperity of the coming season is the increased demand for cottages at the neighboring summer resorts, and the demand from tourists for accomodation at the summer hotels. The demands are mostly from residents from the larger cities, which is an evidence that the popularity of our Peterborough county resorts is fast increasing.

The Kawartha Lakes are becoming household words throughout the continent, and the distribution of literature at the Pan-American Exhibition did much to make the lakes known, and the display of advertising that will be made this summer at the St. Louis Exhibition will further aid in the work of making known to the holiday public the beauties of these places of resort.

An Advertising business tour through the United States was recently made by Mr. H. Garlick, of Bobcaygeon, representing the Trent Valley Navigation Company line of steamers, and he reports that the prospects of a large volume of summer tourist traffic are particularly bright. The expectations of big business from points west of Toronto are also excellent.

A Word to the Girls

This is leap year, and if the young or otherwise ladies do their duty they will most assuredly secure a man, a silk dress, or have proof afforded them that all the mean people are not dead yet. Organization is the chief of time, so the sooner the campaign is entered upon the better, for some of the old bachelors are so impenetrable it may take some months to reach their hearts. The masculines who will not be subdued in this year of grace and with so many charming maids and maidens to woo them, should have 1904 tatooed on their foreheads to mark them for all time as incorrigibles.

FRUIT FAMINE EXPECTED

So Says Picton Grower, Peterborough Farmers Expect Fair Crop

A Picton fruit grower claims that there will be a fruit famine this year, the equal of which Canada has not experienced for many years. He has been a close observer of the formation of blossoms ever since boyhood, and he says that at the present time the buds when squeezed with the fingers are black and perfectly dead. He also remarks that apples cannot be successfully grown in Manitoba, and the past winter here has been a Manitoba winter.

In speaking of this matter a prominent Peterborough farmer on Saturday remarked that he considered the Picton man's statement rather an exaggeration. "I have been looking over my fruit trees," he said, "and, although I think the severe winter will prove a drawback to the fruit growers, I expect a pretty fair crops."

GUESTS THINNED AWAY

The Peterborough hotels are for the most part taxed to their utmost capacity at present, and it is difficult to obtain permanent board at the larger hostelries. Many who apply for board and lodging have to be turned away, the above being the reason. A similar condition of affairs existed in Paris recently, although the hotel keeper who turned his guests away had a very different motive for doing so. He kept a good-sized hotel and attracted the attention of the police by turning away all guests on the excuse that his house was full. The officers searched the place and found that four burglars lived there and had been stealing travellers' baggage, which they sent to the hotel. The hotel keeper sold the goods for them, and what could not be sold was packed away in the different rooms. Over $500 worth of stuff was seized.

The ice is now well out of East and West Cross Creeks, and McLaren's Creek, and in many parts of the river there is clear water close to the banks. This is the spring signal to the muskrat hunters, and already about 30 have traps scattered along the upper creeks and main channel to the mouth of the lake, while about 20 are operating below at McLaren's and other favorite spots. The animals are said to be very numerous and some good catches are being made.—Lindsay Post.

PEOPLE OF PANAMA.

Official Pronouncement Fixes the Name by Which They Shall Be Known.

"Panama" and "Panamans," then, it is to be; to which we cordially add, so let it be, says the New York Tribune. Ever since the establishment of the independent isthmian republic there has been some uncertainty as to what its people were to be called, together with an ocean maxim.

Though carefully nursed, the chronometer meets with many adventures. It may go through fire, shipwreck and other perils of the sea, but rarely does the regular, distinct ticking ever stop forever. If a captain dies or his vessel is condemned it finds another owner or another berth and this it shifts about from ship to ship, changing hands continually and traveling at odd times all the seven seas.

The manufacturing of marine chronometers in this country is confined to four firms, three of which are located in New York, and probably the whole output for a year amounts to 250 or even fewer. As with other articles, the price of chronometers varies according to quality and workmanship. The cheapest cost about $200 each, while the United States government, which naturally buys the best, pays sometimes as much as $375.

The movements of chronometers are usually imported "blank" from England—that is, only the plates and wheels are brought over. The manufacturer here provides the balance, springs, pivots, jewels and other parts needed to complete the whole, together with the brass-bound box in which the clock is placed. Being set in gimbals within the box, the chronometer will remain in a horizontal position when the vessel rolls or pitches, and by this means the poise of the balance is not disturbed.

It takes about three months to manufacture a chronometer and another three months to adjust it, though makers declare that the timepiece should not be sent to sea for two years after completion, as the delicate mechanism must be tested in various ways to obtain a perfect regulation. This adjustment, as the regulation is called, is something that requires the utmost skill and really is the most important feature of the maker's art. Sudden changes of temperature, humidity and electric currents will affect the speed, balance and hairspring, and therefore all the running parts must be so compensated and regulated that whatever contingency may arise there will still be the steadiness which allows no capricious variations. Old-fashioned chronometers were built to run eight days without winding, but these have been superseded by the 56-hour timepiece. Fifty years ago the chronometer was brought to its present state of perfection, and since that time, despite modern ingenuity, makers have found no reason to make any alteration in the principal parts of its mechanism.

LIGHTHOUSE HEROINES.

Wherever Women Have Been Put They Have Done Their Work in Satisfactory Manner.

The history of the lighthouse service shows that women are thoroughly reliable and efficient as lightkeepers. As a rule they are not appointed to the care of lights of the first importance, because the work would be too arduous; but wherever they have been put they have done their duty most satisfactorily. The Boston Herald tells of many notable feats of heroism performed by women lighthouse-keepers.

On Lake Michigan, at the north end of Milwaukee bay, stands a tall red tower, which is under the charge of Mrs. Georgia Stebbins. Its light is 132 feet above the water, and may be seen for 20 miles. Ten years ago there was a frightful storm, and three men, upset from sailboat, were in imminent danger of drowning. Mrs. Stebbins went to their assistance, and rescued them at the risk of her own life.

Twenty-five miles out in the ocean, in the pathway of the steamers from Boston to Halifax, is a barren and rugged island of small area, which in stormy weather is often swept by the waves. It is called Matinicus Rock, and the lighthouse was formally kept by a man named Sam Burgess.

On one occasion in winter he had gone away to the mainland to procure provisions, when the weather turned bad and prevented him from returning. Meanwhile, his wife, who was an invalid, and her four daughters lived for three weeks on one cup of corn meal and one egg apiece per day. The sea swept everything off the rock, driving the family to the light tower; yet the lights during all that dreadful period were as carefully tended as usual, and never failed.

The wife of a lighthouse-keeper often acts as his assistant and performs all his duties when he happens to be away. Thus it chanced that once, during a storm, Mrs. Fowler, whose husband had charge of North Dumpling light, on the Rhode Island coast, found herself in serious trouble. There was a thick fog and the machine for ringing the fog bell broke. It was an accident that might have cost many lives and more than one ship; but the woman was equal to the emergency. Scaling the outside of the tower, she fastened a rope to the bell, and rang it until the weather cleared.

Scientific Possibility.

A magnificent experiment awaits only an appropriation from some capitalist's wealth. Sir Oliver Lodge mentions that 30 years ago he proved that fog could be dissipated electrically, and in a dense fog he cleared a space of 30 to 60 yards' radius by means of the discharges from a Wimshurst machine. Only lack of means prevented an attempt to give London a clear atmosphere. Recent advances make possible the desired kind of dynamo for a continuous current, and it is believed that an excessive amount of machinery would not be necessary, for the fogs occur in a still atmosphere, and are seldom of considerable height. Sir Oliver suggests also that rain might be electrically produced, as in India, where the dark monsoon clouds pass over without discharging.

Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangon, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 7-30-03.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,
DENNIS A. CLARK, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,
R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,
KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 30th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,
D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 7-30-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,
SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,
ED. BLOCK.

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h.p. Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft, built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft. It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in looses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing.

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendrys.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United Stateswhenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day; one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for them unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than ratify every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of the property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 20 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $10 to $160 per ton, and the Company owns 9,000 feet on the vein.

Ore running from $16 to $90 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold property, and 16 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $46.15 per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,720 acres of placer and timber land, water power of 800 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary. Ore easily reached on Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

DIVIDENDS—To begin earning and paying large dividends it is only necessary to develop its mines, ore of rich property. To obtain funds for this purpose a limited amount of stock is offered at

75 Cents Per Share, Par Value $1.00

INVESTORS are afforded every opportunity for the strictest investigation regarding the property and the reputation of the officers and directors. Highest banking references.

ARTIFICIAL PUMICE.

New Product Being Introduced to Take the Place of the Natural Stone.

Natural pumice is so common to volcanic eruptions that after such outbursts the surface of the adjacent sea have been covered for miles with a mass of the floating stones. The material is a kind of glass (obsidian) which, while in a molten state, has been rendered porous by the expansion of gas or steam in its substance. This familiar stone, says the London Chamber of Commerce Journal, has always been useful in the arts; but it is not a reliable compound, for it will vary both in grain and hardness sometimes in the same piece. This has suggested the introduction of an artificial stone which is designed to answer the same purposes as natural pumice without its faults, and the new product is now being made for the markets of the world at Biebigheim, in the valley of the Ems. Its constituents are sandstone and clay, and there are no fewer than ten different grades of the stone manufactured. There is a hard and a soft kind designed for the leather, waxcloth, felt and wood industries; another kind for stucco workers and sculptors; a soft, fine-grained variety for polishing woods and for tin goods; another kind suitable for the treatment of lithographic stones; while other varieties of the new product are fitted for various duties.

PARTNERS IN A CONTINENT.

The United States and Canada as Joint Owners of the Upper New World.

Canadian progress has recently begun to keep step with that of the United States, the southern partner in the ownership of a continent. The Dominion has about one-fourteenth the population of this country. About 80,000 immigrants settled there during the fiscal year recently closed, or one-tenth as many as came to the United States.

The smaller number, says Youth's Companion, means more to our northern neighbor than the larger one does to the United States, for the immigrants to Canada are occupying practically new country and blazing the way—if one may use the figure of the forest in writing of a treeless region—for the thousands who are to come after them to make the prairies of the north blossom as the plantations of the south.

The new population is settling in the wheat-growing and cattle-raising regions, where land is cheap and plentiful enough to supply adjoining farms for the sons of the largest family in Europe or America. Between five and ten million acres of land have been sold by private companies within the past three years, and many thousand acres more have been disposed of by the government under the homestead laws.

The effect of the influx of population is shown in the crop reports. The farmers of Manitoba produced more than 80,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1901, whereas the yield of the province ten years before was only 23,000,000 bushels. The increase in the wheat production of the Dominion, from 61,000,000 bushels to 125,000,000 bushels, is due to the growth of this province.

American farmers need not fear the competition of Canadian wheat. There will be a market for all that can be raised. American producers of all kinds ought rather to feel an interest in the development of the resources of this continent, the Canadian half of it as well as the American.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100.00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty-five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be suffigient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

The Catarrhozone Dry Air Treatment

THE ONLY RATIONAL, SURE CURE FOR CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE NOSE, THROAT AND LUNGS.

The only natural cure for catarrh is the dry air treatment which effects startling cures without resorting to drugs, dangerous snuff and cocaine mixtures.

Catarrhozone kills the catarrh germs, soothes and heals the sore mucous membrane, clears the air passages of the nose and throat, cures chronic catarrh that has resisted all other treatments.

The reason why Catarrhozone cures is because it really gets at the cause of the disease. No matter how remote or long standing your catarrh may be you can place perfect faith in Ferrozone. It is Nature's Cure composed of the most healing balsamic antiseptics known to medical science. Read the following;

MR. L. MURPHY, well known in West Medford, Mass., writes; "Catarrhozone cured my catarrh, after a score of doctors failed. I used to hawk and spit, my nose was continually stuffed up, and often I was sick at my stomach. Catarrhozone has removed every trace of catarrh from my system."

MISS EMMA PETERS, Highland Grove, N.S., writes; "I am more than pleased with the results from Catarrhozone. It cured me of the worst kind of nose and throat catarrh. Other friends using Catarrhozone are greatly pleased with it and agree that it is the only sure remedy for catarrh they ever used."

Mr. LAWRENCE KENNEDY, of West New Annan, says; "For three years I suffered from catarrh and throat trouble. I tried many remedies but they were of no avail. I got no relief till I tried Catarrhozone. Too much cannot be said of so valuable a medicine. I shall always recommend Catarrhozone to anyone troubled with catarrh; it is a positive cure."

MR. W. W. BEACH, of Chapman, Ont., who suffered for years from "systematic catarrh" says; "Catarrhozone is the best remedy I have ever used for catarrh and I have used a lot of them. Catarrhozone was exactly suited to my case."

No intelligent person can doubt the merit of Catarrhozone which receives more praise from Medical Journals, doctors and the public than any other remedy; it is certain to cure every type of catarrh, lung and throat trouble. Two months' treatment, $1.00; sample size 25c. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S., and Kingston, Ont. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhozone.

Schools Re-Opened

The Public and High schools re-opened yesterday, after the Easter vacations. Two new teachers appear on the public school staff, Miss Weir, of Port Hope, who succeeds Miss Richardson, and Mr. T. J. Wallace, of Keene, who takes the position recently vacated by Mr. Roddick.

Special Services

The first of a series of special services was held at the Charlotte street Methodist church last evening. The pastor Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, had charge of the services, and the meeting was well attended. These meetings will be continued each evening during the week. All are cordially invited to attend, and the pastor will conduct each service.

Joseph Graham's Experience

Mr. Joseph Graham, of the Fifth Ward, met with an exciting experience yesterday afternoon, and the wonder is that Joe lives to tell the tale of his thrilling adventure. He was engaged in running boom timber down the Otonabee River and when rounding Buchanan's Point, the water washed over the boom sticks and Joe lost his footing. He also lost his pike pole, but he was plucky, and although the logs were under water, he was soon standing on one of the logs again, and succeeded in placing his unsteady craft where he wanted it.

BY-LAW NO.

A By-Law to provide for borrowing the Sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars for the purchase of a site and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough.

Passed this day of 1904.

WHEREAS the Board of Education for the Town of Peterborough has represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough, that it is necessary for the said board to expend the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purchase of a site, and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough, and the said Council has refused to issue debentures of the said Municipality for the said amount without the assent of the duly qualified electors of the said Town, and the said Board of Education has by resolution requested the said Council to submit such application to the vote of the said electors.

AND WHEREAS, under the provisions of the High Schools Act, the said Council is required to comply with such request, it is therefore necessary for the said Council to pass this By-law, to be submitted to the vote of the duly qualified electors of the said Town of Peterborough, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law.

AND WHEREAS, in order to raise the said sum of fifty thousand dollars, it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being for the year 1903, is the sum of five million two hundred and sixty-five thousand nine hundred and forty-nine dollars ($5,265,949).

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvements debts, but including the debt of $230,000 incurred for the purchase of the Waterworks, is the sum of five hundred and fifty-eight thousand and forty dollars and seven cents ($558,040.07), and there is no part of the principal or interest in arrear.

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable to make the principal of the said debt of fifty thousand dollars and the interest thereon, repayable in thirty equal yearly instalments, and it will require the sum of two thousand nine hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-two cents to be raised each year for a period of thirty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the instalments of principal and interest, thereon at the rate of four and one-quarter per cent. per annum, which sum will be sufficient to discharge the several yearly sums of principal and interest accruing due on the debentures to be issued thereunder, as the same respectively become payable according to the terms of this By-law, as shown on the schedule hereto.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF PETERBORCUGH, BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF, THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:—

1. THAT this By-law shall take effect on the date of the final passing thereof.

2. THAT it shall be lawful for the Council of the said Town of Peterborough to borrow the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purchase of a site, and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the said Town of Peterborough, and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum and the interest thereof; such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough, and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, to be payable within thirty years after the issue thereof in equal yearly instalments, one of such debentures, or one for each series of debentures, to be payable on the 31st day of December, of the year in which the same are issued, and one of such debentures or series of debentures on the 31st day of December in each of the succeeding twenty-nine years—all such debentures to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, in the Town of Peterborough—such debentures to include the interest on the same at the rate of four and one-quarter per centum per annum, on the amount payable thereunder in lieu of interest being paid annually in respect of each debenture, and each debenture to be for such amount, not less than one hundred dollars, as the Finance Committee of the Council of the said Town may by resolution determine, but so that each debenture shall be of such amount that the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in any year in respect of the instalment of the debt shall be equal as nearly as may be to what is payable for principal and interest during each of the other years of said period of thirty years.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by special rate upon all the rateable property in the Town of Peterborough, the sum of two thousand nine hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-two cents ($2,979.91), for payment of the instalments of the said debt and interest, as the debentures respectively become due.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures, when sold, shall be handed over to the Board of Education for the said Town of Peterborough, to be applied in paying for the said site and the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough.

VERY SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

Was That Given in the Opera House Last Night by Otonabee Lodge Oddfellows

The first Annual Concert under the auspices of Otonabee Lodge, I.O. O.F., No. 13, given in the Opera House last night, was an exceedingly pleasing event, and has laid the foundation for many future successes of a similar nature under the direction of this enterprising Lodge of Oddfellows. As a high class entertainment this concert ranks as one of the best given in Peterborough, the combination of talent being very acceptably balanced, and the numbers selected such as could not fail to please even the most fastidious audience. Every number was enthusiastically encored, which met with a ready response.

Mr. H Ruthven McDonald is an exceptionally strong baritone, equally at home in sentiment or humor, and the prolonged applause his initial appearance in last night's programme elicited stamps him as a favorite with Peterborough audiences. He has been here before, and will undoubtedly be warmly welcomed again and again in the future. A pleasing characteristic of Mr. McDonald is that he is an entertainer who takes pleasure in entertaining, and does not stint his audience. His enunciation is very distinct, and he sings his parts with a depth of feeling quite contagious. Last evening he sang as a last number, by special request, "Alone in the Desert," which brought down the house in a perfect storm of applause.

Miss Mariette LaDell appeared before a Peterborough audience for the first time last night, and fully sustained the reputation which had preceded her of being one of America's greatest elocutionists. She is wonderfully versatile, and her impersonation of the many difficult parts she undertakes is true-to-life. This was specially marked last night in her number, "The Old Days and the New," a delineation of modern and ancient customs, in which she charmingly exemplified the stately minuet of olden times in contrast with the (to use her own words) "get a gait on" whirl of modern dancing. In this number, an extremely difficult one to attempt, Miss LaDell was simply irresistible, and amply demonstrated that she is a thorough master in elocution. for a return number to this she gave, by special request, "A Little Girl's Talk to Her Dead Kitten," an extremely pathetic little piece, in which a child's sorrow over the loss of her little plaything was so faithfully portrayed as to hold breathless in sympathy the large audience. Miss LaDell's masterly presentation of "Jamie" brought tears to many an eye, and in that stirring and thrilling piece from Ben Hur, the 'Chariot Race," she has a style strictly her own, and one which is refreshingly pleasing and carries her audience with her from start to finish. A return visit from this talented entertainer will undoubtedly be looked forward to with pleasure by all who heard her last night.

Master Harold Rich created a very favorable impression as a boy vocalist and pianist already very acceptable and promising to develope into a concert entertainer in the front ranks.

Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald's accompaniment to the several numbers left nothing to be desired in this respect.

The house was crowded, and the Otonabee Lodge are to be congratulated on the big success of their first venture in the concert arena. The Committee of Management were: Messrs. Jas Dawson, chairman. W. R. G. Higgins, M. Comstock, R. Matchett, J. Sharpe, T. Armstrong, and Jas. Tully. The stage was tastefully draped with flags and buntin by Messrs. J. J Turner & Sons, and effectively adorned with stately palms and beautiful Easter lillies kindly loaned by Messrs. Wise and Jordan Bros. The piano used was a Martin-Stanley.

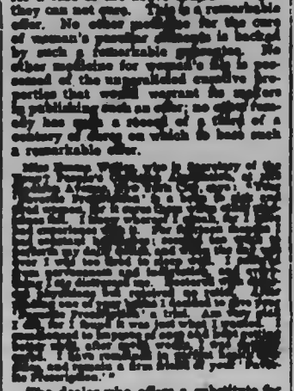
If Stands Alone.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription stands alone, as the one and only remedy for leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, so absolutely specific and sure in curing those common ailments of women, as to warrant its makers in offering to pay, as they hereby do, the sum of $500 reward for a case of the above maladies which they can not cure. This is a remarkable offer. No other proprietor for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee. No other medicine for women is the possessor of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant the makers in publishing such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures or a history of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.



The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" is only seeking to make the little more profit afforded by a less meritorious medicine. His profit is your loss. Therefore, turn your back on him as unworthy of your patronage.

If constipated use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation, biliousness and dark headache. They do not produce the "pill habit."

Collision on George St. Yesterday

Last evening two local doctors had a most exciting experience on George street, just opposite the residence of Mr. Alex. Gibson. Both physicians were driving fast in opposite directions when they suddenly collided. One medical man turned somersault out of his vehicle, and the shafts of his vehicle, and the shafts of both buggies were broken. They finally picked themselves up and we trust their "patience" are none the worse for the medical men's experience.

Got Drunk, Paid Fine.

A great number of shantymen makes the Electric City their home during the summer, and when winter draws nigh again, they leave for the camps again. While here they usually figure prominently on several "sprees," and Ed. O'Brien, who appeared yesterday was no exception to the general rule. In fact Ed. is a good customer. At Christmas he called around and was fined $5 for absorbing too much whiskey, and yesterday morning he was called upon to hand over another five.

Death of Mrs. Goacher

On Sunday morning the death of Mrs. Thos. Goacher occurred at the family residence, corner of Smith and Downie streets. Deceased was a daughter of the late Wm. Robinson, formerly of the Township of Cramahe, and was forty-one years of age. The late Mrs. Goacher has been ill during the past year, and her many friends all join in their expressions of sincere sympathy with the bereaved husband in this his hour of sorrow. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

A Good Proposition

The La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, are offering special inducements to intending investors. The opportunities offered are bound to give large returns, and an idea of the progressiveness and excellent prospects of this company may be obtained by a careful scrutiny of their advertisement, which appears in another column of this issue.

DEATHS.

KILGOUR.—In Peterborough, on Monday, April 11th, Rev. Jos. Kilgour, aged 72 years.

The funeral will take place from the late place of residence, 6 Weller street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and proceed to the Charlotte street church, where service will be held at three o'clock. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

Or you will not get a block of the Huffman Mining & Milling Co.'s stock. They are offering only a limited amount of it at 75 cents per share with BANK GUARANTY to return money, or 35 cents per share without the guarantee

This company has 40 acres of ground with more than 500 feet of development work done, and 30 days more will put them into a three foot vein at 140 foot depth. In a winze they have taken out ore that run $2324.00 per ton They also took from the winze about 600 sacks of ore which sold for over $5,000.00.

They want money now to develope the property properly and install a mill to treat the ore on the ground. You cannot miss on this. We expect it to pay dividends within six months. Your dividends will be clear profit The money will be paid back in full. You must get 100 per cent. dividends from other mines before you have any profit; with us the 100 per cent. will be all profit.

Result of King Edward's Visit to Copenhagen

WILL CONCLUDE TREATY

King Edward is Still in Copenhagen

London, Tuesday April 12.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Mail says he learns that important political negotiations have proceeded during the visit there of King Edward, with the result that Denmark's neutrality in the event of a war between Great Britain and Russia is assured. The existing Russo-Danish conventions will be cancelled, and a new treaty between Great Britain, Denmark and Russia will be concluded one point of which will be the establishment of the neutrality of the Great Belt and the Sound, the two waterways dividing Denmark and Sweden from Zealand, in the event of war. It is understood that the Czar has already agreed to this, King Edward is still in Copenhagen.

It has been quite the fad on the part of certain newspapers and unnamed "high officials" in Russia during the last week or ten days to descant on the development of a new friendly feeling between England and Russia. King Edward's personal activity for the maintenance of peace is taken as one indication of this friendly feeling; the progress of the French-English understanding is said to have encouraged it, and, strange as it may seem, even England's activity in Thibet is in some Russian quarters interpreted as making an opening for a better Russo-English entente.

While it is much pleasanter to hear talk of this kind from Russia than the railing attacks on England and the United States to which we have been accustomed, it is nevertheless true that the new point of view is just as unwarranted and just as hysterical in its essence as the old. There is a bedrock of fact underlying the antagonism between England and Russia, which ought not to be emphasised unduly, but which on the other hand can never be ignored.

England is, for one thing, the treaty ally of Japan. The treaty has still three years to run, and in no case will it terminate during the progress of a war in which either ally is actually engaged. Therefore at least until after peace between Russia and Japan has been concluded England must clearly remain the potential if not the actual enemy of Russia.

Nor is that all. England's colonies put her in what may be called a geographical antagonism to Russia. This appears at point after point through the heart of Asia from the Mediterranean to the Pacific. Starting with Russia in the Black Sea set over against England at Suez, we find Russia in Northern Persia and England on the Persian Gulf; Russia in Turkestan and England in bordering India, with Afghanistan for a buffer state; Russia dominating Chinese Turkestan and England in the valley of the Ganges, with Thibet for a buffer state, and last but not least Russia in Manchuria and England in Hongkong and Wei-Hai-Wei on the Pacific.

Sentiment may shift like a weathercock, and sympathy between nations may wax and wane, but hard facts such as these remain unaffected all the while. They are the factors that in the last resort determine friendship and enmity between nations.

An Interesting Despatch From Japs Headquarters

Must Evade Manchuria--Development of Big Movement Now Progressing.

London, April 12.—The Times today has the following:—With the Japanese headquarters, April 11, by wireless telegraphy via Weihaiwei.—At present information from the land front must be belated owing to the distance from existing sea base from the advance guard, but this will be remedied shortly. The Japanese occupied Wiju last week, their cavalry entering the town without resistance, the Russian observation force south of the Yalu River falling back before them. This places the Japanese in possession of the left bank of the river, and, as they already hold the sea approaches, they may be said to be now complete masters of the mouth of the Yalu.

GOLD MINING PROPOSITION

Slocan Republic Mining and Development Co. Ltd., a progressive concern—Capital Stock $2,500,000.

It is generally conceded that British Columbia is on the eve of a boom in mining that will outrival any similar movement in the history of the province, and one of the richest properties that has yet been partially developed is that of the Slocan-Republic Mining and Development Co., Ltd. The property of this promising company is known as the "Republic Group," situated on Erin Mountain, near Slocan, B.C., and is an ideal location for a mining camp. A careful examination of the rich surface outcroppings, and a look over the ground would at once pronounce it one of the richest mining properties in the world.

The timber supply is ample for all time, and there is an ideal water power on the claim. The ore is known as "dry ore," containing less than 10 per cent. of lead, and the silver occurs as native, argentite, sulphide and chloride. The gold is free and also alloyed or mixed with iron pyrites, a little copper and galena. The rich character of this ore and the accessibility of the mines combine to insure large returns to investors in this magnificent property in the near future.

Five and one-quarter miles of wagon road have been build at a cost of $11,695, and this has been pronounced by expert engineers to be the best of its kind in the Slocan Mining Division. This road connects with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and has stood the test of unprecedented snows and floods of the past winter and spring. A blacksmith shop, one shed and 5 large tool, ware and powder house have also been erected and all the necessary mining tools have been purchased. Five hundred and fifty-four feet of tunnel have been driven in the Republic and 253 feet in the Bell, a total of 807 feet in both claims. Eighty-three tons of ore taken from these two shafts, have brought $4,407.40, inclusive of all freight and smelter charges, which makes an average of $53.10 per ton net. These receipts has been used for development purposes, and the general improvement of the property. With the above encouraging reports taken into consideration and also the experience of other mines in this division and province, it may readily be seen that the Republic bears promise of a future great mine.

The capital stock of this progressive mining corporation consists of 15,000,000 shares, of $1.00 each par value, and 900,000 shares represent the treasury stock, to be used for development purposes only. For the purpose of erecting a cyanide mill and for the purchase of other mining machinery, a small allotment of stock is offered at 40 cents per share, and any intelligent investor will quickly recognize the fact that this property is of the richest yet discovered.

All that this enterprising company requires at present is more funds to aid in getting out the precious metal. There is every indication of a large reserve of rich ore, on which point experts are unanimously agreed. Undoubtedly before very long the Republic will develop into one of the bonanzas of the mining world, and those who avail themselves of obtaining any of the first issue of stock may safely congratulate themselves on its possession, while those who are fortunate enough to obtain shares in the additional small issue will be adding to their list of safe investments. Mr. Joseph Mills, of Peterborough, the local fiscal agent, will be pleased to furnish fuller details concerning this progressive concern.

BOERS REFUSE THE OATH

Two Score of Them Still Detained in Bermuda

London, April 133.—It is now two years since the Boer war ended. The world has been of the impression that the rancor of that conflict has largely disappeared. England has announced the successive steps of large schemes of registration and the world has given her the credit of playing in all respects the part of a generous conqueror. Even Colonel Lynch, who stirred the fiercest resentment of the English people, has, it is said, through the social influence of Sir Thomas Lipton with the king, been set free. One would expect this to be the last act of pardon, the very end of the passion of intemperate resentment which England could not help but feel for an enemy which had to bear not only the expected punishment of the conquered but the added rancor which came of England's realization of her own army's incompetence, and of the fact that the overwhelming sympathy of the world was with her small antagonist.

It is surprising, therefore, at this late date, to receive an appeal from forty-three Boer soldiers who are still detained on the Bermuda Islands, under circumstances which one hopes the British government may be able to present in a better light than does their appeal. The prisoners are not criminals. They are not of those Dutch subjects of England who joined their brothers in the Transvaal and whom England saw fit to treat as traitors. They are not among those whom the English excluded from the general amnesty because of alleged breaches of the rules of war. They are Boer soldiers whose status differs in no way from that of the 4,000 others who were captured with Cronje at the Modder river.

FRANK SHELDON REMANDED.

Will Not Fight Extradition—Two Cases of Neglect of Children

A week or so ago a Mrs. Fields, that is an occupant of 34 Charlotte street, appeared in the local police court on the double charge of keeping a house of ill-repute and of neglecting her two children, who have since been under the care of the Children's Aid Society. The case was discussed in yesterday's court again, and it was learned that the heartless mother had left town, without even going to see her two little ones. The only course left was to commit them to the future care of the Aid Society.

OTHER CHILDREN NEGLECTED.

Richard Frances Burns had been on the sick list all winter and had only recently been able to follow his former occupation as coachman. His wife Margaret Mary had been the sole support of her husband and their two children, aged 5 and 7 respectively, and by way of livening the duller hours too much stimulant was used. As a result of this over-indulgence, the children were neglected, and the police investigated the matter, with the result that the two little ones are are present in the House of Providence. Michael and his spouse were represented and after promising to "swear off," and work for the support of their children, they were allowed an opportunity to live better lives.

FORGER REMANDED.

George Sheldon, alias Ludeau, alias Loisin, alias, etc., who was arrested by the local police on Monday evening, appeared at yesterday morning's police court, and was remanded for a week. He will not fight extradition, but presumes his innocence. He did not show any marked signs of nervousness, although to a careful scrutiny of the prisoner betokened that he was making an effort to appear calm.

"How are you feeling this morning?" was asked by a Times reporter as the notorious prisoner peered through the bars.

"Fine and dandy. How would you expect me to feel?" was his ready reply.

As was noted in yesterday's issue the accused under the name of Frank Sheldon, is supposed to have forged a cheque for $421.66, in Nebraska, U.S.A. In payment he received $421.66 in cash and a certificate of deposit for $300.00. This certificate Frank carried with him after his arrival in Canada, and displayed it to a Peterborough gentleman, whom he met in Toronto.

Last fall, in Toronto, he married a Peterborough lady who has since remained with him here, where Sheldon has worked as a carpenter and builder. His wife still considers him innocent, but alas, it is another sad instance of a young girl marrying a man about whose earlier life she knows nothing.

MOST SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

St. John's Girl's Guild Entertainment Last Evening

A most successful entertainment was held in St. John's school-room last evening, under the auspices of the Girls' Guild. About forty people took part in the entertaining play "Aunt Jerusha Dow's Family Album," by Miss Alma F. Metcalfum, who, suitably dressed to represent an aged lady, made a brief introductory speech in which she announced that she was about to display some of her many photographs. This she did and in a clear, expressive voice, which showed careful training and thoughtful study, she related many humorous stories concerning each of the pictures presented. A large screen was placed across the stage of the schoolroom and elevated in the centre was a large square representing a book on which was engraved "Album." Lights were carefully arranged behind, and when the "lid" or cover was raised the face of the character was revealed. In many cases the "photo" was exceedingly natural and the "character" remained perfectly motionless, but a few of the young men smiled, which seemed rather superfluous in an album.

Aunt Jerusha's grandmother was the first picture shown, and the character was ably represented by Miss Pratt, while Miss Ida Wesley was "mother." Mr. Goodacre represented father's photo, and Miss McKee was an excellent Aunt Pauline. Then came Mr. Jas. Bell as Mr. John Doolittle, but when Aunt Jerush remarked that John "was the man with whom Mary Ann ran away, the photo fell to the floor, but was soon replaced by that of John Dow alias Stanley Canniff. Mr. Herbert was an elderly gandson, and Miss L. Wesley was pretty Lucinda. Misses S. and L. Hillier represented twins, and Miss Canniff was introduced as Carolina. Then came Mary Bell, otherwise Miss Ella Ray, and the next page revealed Aunt Jerusha's soldier boy, R. Harris. He had been through many a skirmish and we might remark that he is better known at home as Mr. Bert Canniff. Cousin Samuel was one of Aunt Jerusha's former lovers. His face had become twisted from gazing upon her, and so it appeared in the picture. An onlooker, who did not know the circumstances might have thought Sam had been struck by a hockey stick, but Obris says not. Then followed a couple of blank leaves and lo! Jerusha and John in their younger days appeared, both in the prime of youth—as they really are—Miss Roberts and Mr. S. Canniff. Miss Morris, as Vinie, was on the next page, and directly opposite was Dorothy, represented by Miss Rhea Boddy. Tim Flint looked anywhere between the picture of an ash barrel and a red haired Irishman— for all three photos were enlarged and retouched. This part was ably taken by Mr. Hutchinson. On the next page was Nancy Gray, otherwise Miss Ritchie, and then came Olivia, acted by Miss Gould. Silas Brown had his photo taken in the day when they wore stovepipes and looked as if he had crawled out of a bandbox fifty years ago and had never seen one since. When Si's decorations were removed he was known by his friends as Mr. Allison. Evelyn Dow, a pretty relative of Aunt Jerusha's, was a part well taken by Miss Whitecroft. Ruth, by Miss Head, was on the next leaf, and across the page was a photo of Cissie Maule, alias Mr. Petty. Elsie appeared on the second to last page, and was represented by Miss Lillian Dean. On the last page Elsie and Gracie's pictures were presented, and the parts were taken by Misses Edith Lount and Rebena Elliott. Then Aunt Jerusha closed the album, and all present were unanimous in their opinion that never before had they ever been so interested in looking through an album.

Interspersed with the display of photographs, solos were rendered by Miss Dawson Mr. Lount, Mrs. Clarke and Mr. Sawyers. Mr. Halpany and family rendered the following selections: "My Little Love Bird," "While the Moon Shines Brightly," and "The Sentry March."

THE SUGAR BOWLS

To the Editor of The Times:

Peterborough, April 13.—On the streets for the past few days the burning question of the hour is, "What's the Aldermen going to do in regard to the guaranteeing of the $100,000 Bonded Debt of the Beet Sugar Company?"

This is a progressive town, and a town which should become one of the greatest manufacturing centres in Canada, and it should be the duty of our City Fathers to see to it that no opportunity should be allowed to pass whereby they should miss a single step in the grand procession of prosperity in which we are now marching. $100,000 is a paltry sum for so grand an undertaking — why should there be any hesitation?

I understand the basis of the trouble that the present company met with was due to there being unable to sell the stock, for the reason that they had not the necessary acreage.

That condition does not any longer exist, as under a new process they can utilise other beets than the vegetable ones, and in this town there will easily be a surplus. Now that this principal obstruction is removed, let us have the factory by all means.

Japanese will be Driven Out in That Month

Paris Tuesday, April 12.—The Echo de Paris this morning publishes the following despatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent:

"The first, second, third and fourth army corps have taken up positions in Manchuria, and the fifth army corps is in Western Siberia, advancing toward designated positions. These, with the tenth and seventeenth army corps the Cossacks actually in the Far East and the Caucasian cavalry now being mobilized, will bring the total number of men in the army at the seat of war up to 460,000 by the end of May.

"Gen. Kouropatkin intends to have the Caucasian mountaineers operate in Corea which they will enter when it is considered what a decisive moment has arrived to drive out the Japanese, which will not be before August 1.

"I learn that fifteen batteries of eight guns each are now between Liao-Yang and Harbin. The engineers are doubling the line between Kuikuk and Duko.

"A large order for mountain batteries has been given to Russian firms."

HOW THE LABEL DOES IT'S WORK

JAMES E. BOYLE, of the University of Wisconsin, says that the members of labor unions demanding shorter hours, better pay and better conditions of work as laborers do not cling to this standard as purchasers. When the laborer buys it is said, he consults his pocketbook and prefers the non-union articles at low price to the union-made goods at a higher price.

Milwaukee was chosen as a field for this investigation, and it was carried in to all lines of mercantile industry there. Mr. Boyle tells of the results of his investigation in the American Journal of Sociology. Two hundred and five different establishments were visited, and in each the question was asked:

"What demand is there for uniou label goods.

This label on an article is a proof that the making of it has been under conditions such as labor indorses. The union label represents the stamp of sanction given by the Federation of Labor. It means that conditions demanded by the labor men have been met. It is declared to be "organized labor's most powerful weapon."

In five department stores it was found that two had some demand for the label and three none at all. Of twenty-five clothing stores there were three in which there was a strong demand for the label, sixteen in which there was a small demand, and six in which none at all.

Of seventeen shoe stores two reported a strong demand, twelve a small demand, and three none at all. No cigar stores were found where there was a strong demand for the label, and twenty in which there was none at all. Two shops were found in which union label goods alone were sold. In bakery shops there was no strong demand whatever for the union label and a small demand in only one. The attitude of the merchants themselves towards the label was expressed in a number of interviews.

A GROWING BUSINESS

The Central Milling Company Has Another Successful Year

Yesterday The Times had a pleasant call from Mr. D. Carlaw, of Warkworth, President of the Central Milling Company, town, who was up on business connected with the local mill. Mr. Carlaw said that the company has had a very successful year, paying eight per cent. dividend to the stockholders and carrying over a substantial balance to the credit of the profit and loss account for next year. Mr. Carlaw, and the local manager, Mr. A. H. Mulbern, as well as the stockholders, are to be congratulated on the very successful result of the year's operations.

DEATH OF MRS. DAVIDSON

Aged Otonabee Citizen Passed Away Yesterday Morning

Sad we are to learn of the death of Mrs. George Davidson, formerly of Otonabee, who passed away yesterday morning after a lingering illness. Deceased had been ailing about a year from dropsy, which dread disease eventually caused her death. She was a daughter of the late William Learmouth, and was 60 years of age. For the past 11 years deceased and her husband had lived in Otonabee. Thomas Learmouth, of Hastings, and Gabriel, of Peterborough, are brothers of deceased.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence, lot 30, concession 10, of Otonabee, to the Norwood cemetery.

EXCELLENT GUILD CONCERT

Young Men's and Girls' Guilds Entertain Last Evening

An interesting entertainment under the joint auspices of the Young Men's and Girls' Guilds was held in the school-room of the George street church last evening, and an excellent program was furnished by the young people. The chair was occupied by Mr. M. J. Hutchinson in his usual acceptable manner, and the program opened with a hymn. Then followed an excellently rendered solo by Mr. W. F. Skitch, which was well received. Miss Wilhelmena Gumpricht played a piano solo, which was well rendered, and Miss Alice Whitten's rendition of that difficult selection, "The Whistling Regiment," showed more than ordinary elocutionary ability. Then followed a short intermission, when a most interesting program was enacted. The young people were handed slips of paper, the men receiving "Questions" and the ladies "Answers." Each gentleman had to search for the young lady who held the answer to his question, and in some cases the hunt was not an easy one. Mr. Skitch then rendered another solo.

The first edition of the new Guild paper, "The Evening Lover," was read by the chairman, and its humorous contents created much amusement. Mr. Sam Moore has been appointed editor-in-chief, but he evidently did not make very minute examination of his manuscript, as there were numerous references to himself. A discussion as to the advisability of holding a Guild concert in the near future resulted in the following committee of the Girls' Guild being appointed to meet with the Executive of the Young Men's Guild to make final arrangements; Misses Falas, Ackerman and Gumpricht. The committees will meet at Mr. Wm. Ward's office, George street, on Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

—Mr. John Richards, of Picton, a brother-in-law of the late Rev. Joseph Kilgour's wife, is in the city, and will attend the funeral this afternoon.

A SUCCESSFUL MUSICALE

Held Under Auspices of St. Andrews Ladies Aid Society

A musicale under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was held at the residence of Mrs. Andrew McFarlane last evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent. Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large number of friends assembled, and those who were unfortunately prevented from being present missed a rare musical treat. The excellent program was introduced by an instrumental duet, ably rendered by Mrs. Peter Kerr and Mrs. Charles McClelland, Miss F. Miller then sang most acceptably, "Life's Lullaby," (Lane). Mr. Sidney Glass rendered on his usual excellent style, "Past and Future," (De Koven), and "A Song of Spring," (Neidlinger). Mr. A. E. Young sang that beautiful solo, "True Till Death," and responded to an encore with "Barney O'Brien," which was equally well received. Miss Violet B. Smith pleased her audience with "Ein Obdach Gegen Sturm" (Kalbe), which was much appreciated, and immediately after she sang "I Cannot Help Loving Thee" (Johns). A vocal duet, entitled "Sing Me to Sleep," was artistically rendered by Miss Miller and Mr. Glass. Rev. J. G. Potter rendered an excellent solo "The Pilgrim Fathers," and also pleased his hearers with an interesting reading, entitled, "Uncle Zackie's Carpet," from the current number of Everybody's Magazine.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the programme, and before leaving for home all united in expressions of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane for their hospitality, provided, and immediately after the o'clock.

MISSIONARY WORK IN INDIA

Miss Nichols Delivered Interesting Address at George St. Church Yesterday

The anniversary of the Woman's Missionary Society of George street church was held yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. About 100 members and visitors were in attendance, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Mrs. Kendry, the Honorary President of the Society, occupied the chair, and Miss Parnell sang that pleasing and appropriate solo, "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go." Miss Kendrey also sang a beautiful solo, and Mrs. Mowat was a most acceptable accompanist.

Miss Nicholls, for many years a missionary in Western India, and stationed at Bombay, was the speaker of the afternoon, and all present listened intently to her vivid portrayal of life in the Far East, and of the hardships undergone by those who sacrifice the pleasures and comforts of home to aid in the spread of the Gospel in that far off land. Miss Nicholls is a speaker of great fluency, and her clear expression at once appeals to the hearts of her hearers. Owing to ill health she was obliged to take a short rest, but her heart is in the noble work, and it is her intention to again take up her missionary work as soon as she recuperates.

The speaker related many interesting incidents of life in Bombay, during the terrible plague and famine. She was engaged in her work in the midst of the greatest of suffering and danger. Her work was that of an educational and evangelistic nature, teaching the young, and endeavoring to lead them to Christ. The speaker also dealt with the founding of schools for Hindu girls, and described in an interesting manner the Indian Zenanas.

At the conclusion of one of the most interesting missionary pictures heard here for some time, refreshments were served in the basement of the church.

The annual meeting for the election of officers will be held in the near future.

—Owing to the concert in George street church on Thursday evening St. Andrew's church choir will not practise till Friday evening at 7.45

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and hospitals, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have strictures that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like wise all the complications, such as rheumatism bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

Dr. S. Goldberg, 268 Woodward Ave., Room
Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once.

RUSSIA, ENGLAND AND FRIENDSHIP

It has been quite the fad on the part of certain newspapers and unnamed "high officials" in Russia during the last week or ten days to descant on the development of a new friendly feeling between England and Russia. King Edward's personal activity for the maintenance of peace is, taken as one indication of this friendly feeling; the progress of the French-English understanding is said to have encouraged it, and, strange as it may seem, even England's activity in Thibet is in some Russian quarters interpreted as making an opening for a better Russo-English entente.

While it is much pleasanter to hear talk of this kind from Russia than the railing attacks on England and the United States to which we have been accustomed, it is nevertheless true that the new point of view is just as unwarranted and just as hysterical in its essence as the old. There is a bedrock of fact underlying the antagonism between England and Russia, which ought not to be emphasized unduly, but which on the other hand can never be ignored.

England is, for one thing, the treaty ally of Japan. The treaty has still three years to run, and in no case will it terminate during the progress of a war in which either ally is actually engaged. Therefore at least until after peace between Russia and Japan has been concluded England must clearly remain the potential if not the actual enemy of Russia.

Nor is that all. England's colonies put her in what may be called a geographical antagonism to Russia. This appears at point after point through the heart of Asia from the Mediterranean to the Pacific. Starting with Russia in the Black Sea set over against England at Suez, we find Russia in Northern Persia and England on the Persian Gulf; Russia in Turkestan and England in northwestern India, with Afghanistan for a buffer state; Russia dominating Chinese Turkestan and England in the valley of the Ganges, with Thibet for a buffer state, and last but not least Russia in Manchuria and England in Hongkong and Wei-Hai-Wei on the Pacific.

Sentiment may shift like a weathercock, and sympathy between nations may wax and wane, but hard facts such as these remain unaffected all the while. They are the factors that in the last resort determine friendship and enmity between nations.

BY-LAW NO. ____

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to guarantee the Bonds of the Peterborough Sugar Company, Limited, to the Extent of $100,000.

Passed the day of May, 1904.

WHEREAS, one D. A. Gordon has proposed, with associates, to subscribe for one thousand shares ($100,000), in the capital stock of The Peterborough Sugar Company, Limited, with a view to the erection of a beet sugar Factory, of the capacity hereinafter mentioned, within the limits of the Town of Peterborough, on condition that the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough guarantee the bonds of the said Company to the extent of $100,000.

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable and in the public interest to aid the erection of said factory by guaranteeing the said bonds to the extent mentioned.

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the whole rateable property of the municipality, according to the last revised assessment roll being for the year 1903, is the sum of $3,350,949.

3. The assessment of so much of the real and personal property of the said company, their successors and assigns, situated within the limits of the Town of Peterborough, as shall be used for the manufacturing purposes of the company, and so long as the same shall be so used, is hereby fixed for the period of ten years from the first day of January, 1905, at the sum of $10,000, and the return and oath of the assessor in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly, but the said company shall be liable for all local improvement rates, taxes and assessments.

Miss Nellie Balsalous Gives Interesting Interview

Tells How she Was Cured of Kidney Disease After Doctors Failed—Ferrozone Alone Responsible For Her Cure —It Cured Permanently.

Miss Nellie M. Barsalous is well known in her native city of Wilmington, where every doctor of reputation tried to cure her. But they didn't succeed. This proves conclusively that Ferrozone must certainly be an absolute cure for kidney trouble.

"Six months ago I noticed lameness and dragging pains across the small of my back," writes Miss Barsalous, "I felt weary and completely worn out. It wasn't work that made me so tired, nothing but defective kidneys. I took the doctors' treatment, and used dozens of articles I read of for the kidneys. But in spite of this I kept getting worse. Then I used Ferrozone. It was three weeks before I was perfectly satisfied it was helping me, but after that I improved steadily and got well. I know of no better remedy than Ferrozone daily and saved me from Bright's Disease, and saved me frm Bright's Disease."

Next to consumption, kidney disease is the most fatal. Many a life has been lost simply because the unfortunate victim of deranged kidneys wasn't aware of his perilous condition in time.

Here is a simple test. Put some urine in a glass and let it stand for twenty-four hours. If it shows germs gloating about, looks milky or cloudy, if it contains any sediment, your kidneys are diseased. Don't risk your life with doubtful remedies, use Ferrozone, which doctors admit is the quickest and most certain cure. Ferrozone contains in scientific combination the most valuable agents known for the kidneys. This explains its marvelous cures and universal success. Ferrozone is guaranteed and sold at 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by all druggists. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district, The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $250,000 with shares at $1 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. J. Burrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $250,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $110,000 worth is to-ued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 60c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at per, $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns, clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Western and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line cross-es five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a prairie basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 321 acres under and with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 4½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 325 feet and the third at 1,063 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we use as a sump, makes our shaft's total depth 525 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a break down we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 250 tons per day within two or three weeks, And with my hi arrangements, I know this to be possible.

All cash it should cost more than 75c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease. As our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and town people, therefore, we have no freight or carriage to pay. We receive from $2.75 to $3.50 for Mine Run and $3.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine, up to the present time is about three per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase the output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $2 per share before another year is over and by that time our Mines will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends, kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY

THE TERRITORIAL CLAIMS OF FRANCE TO NEWFOUNDLAND ABANDONED

London, April 9.—A letter on the theory and practice of musketry in Broad Arrow, signed "Trapper," says: "From all over Canada officers and non-commissioned officers must go to the Ottawa school of musketry, and spend three months learning God knows what, while we have eight or ten schools of military instruction scattered over the country, from which they turn out qualified candidates who never fire the course fired a shot."

Broad Arrow, commenting, says: "The letter of our Canadian correspondent is interesting as exposing the absurdity surrounding what is officially known as musketry instruction.

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY.

The Liverpool Daily Post says, "the territorial claims of France in Newfoundland have apparently been abandoned. We should like to be assured that the fishing rights conceded do not contain the germs of future trouble."

A. G. Gradley, writing on "some trans-Atlantic myths," in the Saturday Review, says: "Canadians have given, not forgotten, the Alaska fiasco. Rightly or wrongly, there are many sensible and patriotic Canadians who believe the question of purchase from France by the United States of Miquelon and St. Pierre is looming not remote in the future, and the possibility of depending upon the backbone of the home Government appeals, for such a transfer would be unthinkable."

London, April 9.—The "desert cure," supplemented by the "color cure," is the latest thing that ist o be tried to restore neurotic women to health and strength. The nub of the former is rest, fresh air, quit, and the novelty of strange surroundings. The "color cure" is an extension of the experiments of Flammarion, the French scientist on flowers.

A party of English women is now on its way to the sandy expanse of Egypt. This desert cure is the idea of a woman who has gained reputation as a masseuse. Among her clientele are several society leaders suffering from neuritis and its attendant ills, and they have been benefited greatly by the particular form of Swedish massage practised by the woman.

Something, however, was wanted to complete this perfect restoration to health, and the idea struck the masseuse that the pure and beautiful air of the Nubian desert was the one thing necessary to bring back the elasticity of youth.

Acquainted as she is with the desert, the masseuse made arrangements to take her patients to a suitable spot far enough removed from the regular caravan routes to avoid publicity. Tents are to be erected when they arrive, and each tent is to be inhabited by a patient:

A certain number of fellaheen women have been engaged as servants, and once the camp has been formed no man will be allowed within its lines. Neither are letters or papers to be permitted to enter the reserved enclosure. The diet is to be of the simplest and will consist of fruits and cereals.

The great cure is to be the air, the pure air of the desert. The clothing will be of the lightest and most ethereal description, so that the patients may enjoy the air and sun baths with little trouble. Simplicity is also to be the keynote of the furnishings of the camp.

No amusement, except perhaps a little painting for the artistic, no fine dressing no distractions such as are found in the foreign seas and health resorts will be permitted. All day long they will be breathing in the life-giving air, which in its very elasticity will prevent any feeling of ennui from gaining ascendency over their minds.

The directress of the cure will see that her patients have just enough to soothe their tired out brains, and will herself superintend all the arrangements. One of her ideas is to carry out the color cure in the desert, and, having ascertained what particular shade is likely to exercise a beneficial influence over each individual patient, she will see that the sunlight streams in through a special hue of glass. Or if the pane of colored glass cannot be affixed in the tent itself the manager will contrive that some arrangement is made to permit colored light. Thus the patients will have one form of distraction to interest them, and the novelty of the cure is expected to assits materially in the benefit to be derived from the pure air.

In the case of using the glass in the desert, the patients will be able to undergo the course at stated times only—in the early morning and evening—for the heat of the midday sun beating down on the fair invalids would do more harm than good.

Rest, fresh air, and quiet are the panaceas offered by the originator of the movement, who firmly believes that there is a great future for the desert cure for women of nervous and highly strung natures. The women of the present expedition intend to spend some seven weeks far from the madding crowd, and their leader has assured them that by that time they will be restored to perfect health.

The Climax of Savagery.

Never have the natives of a State been treated with more hideous cruelty than those of the Congo Free State. It is under the personal rule of King Leopold, whose idea is that it should furnish him with money for his private purse, and money he is determined to make out of it, no matter how. Amongst other devices, vast areas are farmed out to companies, in which, unless greatly maligned, he is a large shareholder. These companies collect India-rubber. The system is to force the natives to deliver a certain fixed amount. If a village does not do this, the hands of the men are cut off, the village is burnt, and the women and children given over to the tender mercies of some neighboring tribe of savages. This procedure is defended by the worthy monarch, in his reply to the English note protesting against such a regime, by the following economic doctrine:

"Natives cannot be exempted from all taxation when they benefit by the material and moral advantages introduced into their country. If they have no money, they must pay in manual labor."
—London "Truth."

Anecdotal.

A Western Congressman was asked if he did not think President Roosevelt certain to be re-elected, barring any "big mistake" the candidate might make. "Yes," was the reply, "but let me tell you that the biggest mistake he possibly could make would be to allow the crops to fail next year."

A friend of Edward MacDowell attended a recital given by a mediocre teacher's pupils, and when he met the American composer he remarked: "I heard one of the pupils, a little girl of eight, play 'Four To a Wild Rose.'" The composer sighed dejectedly. "I suppose," MacDowell remarked, "that she pulled it up by the roots."

During the protracted sessions of the Parnell commission, Justice Day habitually sat with closed eyes. It was commonly supposed that his lordship was sleeping, and the late Sir Frank Lockwood, observing that the learned judge was very much awakened by a little tiff between the president and Sir Charles Russell, exclaimed, quite audibly: "This is the dawn of Day!"

Chauncey M. Depew declares that when King Edward, as Prince of Wales, visited the United States, the old Duke of Newcastle used to scan the accounts of expenditure. At the end of one hotel bill he one day found a charge which he couldn't make out. "What's that charge for?" asked the Duke of the hotel proprietor. "For making such a damned fuss," was the immediate reply.

General Nelson A. Miles says that during the Civil War there was one conscription fakir who made thousands of dollars before the authorities restrained him. This rascal would send letters broadcast, wherein he said he would communicate for two dollars a sure means of escaping the conscription. Letters, enclosing two-dollar notes, poured in on him, and in reply to each letter he would send a printed slip reading: "Join the nearest volunteer regiment."

An old negro living in Carrollton was taken ill recently, and called in a physician of his race to prescribe for him. But the old man did not seem to be getting any better, and finally a white physician was called. Soon after arriving, Dr. S.—felt the darkey's pulse for a moment, and then examined his tongue. "Did your other doctor take your temperature?" he asked.—"I don't know, sah," he answered, feebly; "I hain't missed anything but my watch as yit, boss."

One of Pere Ollivier's flock, a very beautiful and handsomely dressed woman, coming very late to church one Sunday morning, caused some disturbance and stir among the worshippers by her entrance, and interrupted the flow of eloquence of the worthy father, who, very irritable and easily put out, said: "Madame perhaps waited to take her chocolate before coming to church?" To this, madame, by no means abashed, graciously replied: "Yes, mon pere; and two rolls with it."

It is related that the American commissioner of fine arts at a Paris exposition once wrote to several artists—to Whistler among them—saying that he would be in Paris shortly, and mentioning the time at which, and the place where he would like them to call upon him. Whistler was asked to call at four-thirty precisely. He wrote: "Dear Sir — I have received your letter announcing that you will be in Paris on the —th. I congratulate you. I have never been able and never shall be able to be anywhere at 'four-thirty precisely.' Yours most faithfully, J. McN. Whistler."

By his tact and amiability Sir Thomas Lipton has made thousands of friends during his visit in New York City. One day recently on the "Erin" he was watching the "Shamrock" from the bridge, and his guests, among whom were some pretty girls, were on the deck below, screened from the sun by awnings. Sir Thomas went down to chat with them for a few minutes, and then said: "I think I'll have the awning taken down." "Don't, Sir Thomas," the women all exclaimed in chorus, "we'll roast here." "But," tactfully replied the baronet, "I'm lonely on the bridge, and I miss your pretty faces." No one objected to the awning coming in after that.

Here is one of Lew Dockstader's latest stories: Two brothers had more or less trouble with the boy next door, and hadn't always come out victors. In fact, the boy next door was so much bigger that he seemed to have the best of it invariably. So it wasn't an unusual thing when one of the boys came into the house with a badly bruised eye. Moreover, he was crying when his aunt stopped him in the hall. "Hush, Willie," she said; "you mustn't make any noise." "What — what's the ma-matter?" he asked, between his sobs. "You may disturb your new brother," said his aunt, soothingly. He dried his eyes in a minute. "Have I got a new brother?" he asked. His aunt nodded. "One besides Jim?" She nodded again. "Bully!" he exclaimed. "You're glad of it?" she asked. "You bet!" Willie fairly shouted; "if Jim and me and the new one can't lick that feller next door, we'd better move."

A pretty story, illustrative of the change of feeling which has come over the Irish peasant toward King Edward since the recent royal visit, appears in the English press. Two London journalists, on their way from Dublin to Cork, accosted a shaggy, farmer-looking native at a Queen's County station with the words: "Well, Pat, what do you think of the King of England now?" "King of England, is it?" replied the Irishman, and there stole over his face an inimitable expression of drollery as he went on in a stage whisper: "Sure, avic, ye'll want a viceroy over there, I'm thinkin', Himself an' herself are not goin' back to yez at all!" An old dame in Galway who had spoken with the King was questioned as to what she thought of his Majesty. She delivered herself of a long and enthusiastic eulogy, to the effect that "Edward the First of Ireland" was "a grand man entirely," closing with the remark that she had "only wan thrifling fault to find with him," and that was that "they keep the poor man so long in the Phaynix Park beyant that they have him talkin' with a strong Dublin accent."

—A teacher of a primary class in a Peterborough county school told some of her boys of the Russian-Japanese conflict, and asked all who were interested to hold up their hands. Up went every hand, except Jack's, a boy of eight. "Why, Jack, why are you not interested in the war?" asked the teacher. "Cause, Miss Stopkin, war makes history, and there's more of that already than I can ever learn."

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00. Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over two feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 200 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years, already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Investigate to your heart's content, and quickly, then let us hear from you.

The Black Queen Gold Mining Co.

1,500,000 Shares. Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

Selling at 7½ cents

Like its sister Company is to-day giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Mercenior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 175 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporaed Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share held, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds thereof from. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1 00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient foods to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

Are you aware of the fact that $75,000 in gold, known to be produced in addition to the Three Hundred and Two Millions, is all outstanding?

Are you still doubting (?) the millionaires who have made their fortunes through mining, and who are to-day the largest investors in the gold producing enterprises, which is the foundation of the commerce of the world?

Are you doubting our gold standard which this government has adopted, because the gold mining of this country is its greatest production?

Are you aware of the fact that the small investor as well as the large, is deriving his just income from the amount of gold produced yearly? Are you one of them? If not, we want you to read our offer, which is sure to give the investor an income for life.

Come and Let Us Remove Your Doubts.

Let us tell you the number of companies only in operation for the last two years which have paid as high as $440 in dividends on every share, a total to the stockholder holding one hundred shares of $44,000 in seventeen months. Stop and figure what the dividends amount to to the one holding a thousand shares. The above was paid by the "Dos Estrellas" Gold Mining Company, located in the same camp where we are now in operation.

If you make an investment and you find that you have made a mistake within thirty days, your money will be returned to you with 6 per cent. interest. 4 El Davider	5 Porfirio Diaz	6 La Sonanza located in the famous mining camp known as Tlalpojahua, Mexico. All of the above properties are held by this corporation until this company becomes a dividend payer. With properties like the ones mentioned failure is out of the question. This is the camp where 70 companies have been operations within the last ten months and seventeen of them are to-day dividend paying companies, paying thousands of dollars in monthly dividends to their large and small stockholders. Our operations will soon result in dividends which are bound to come, as the assays of our property run as high as $300 to the ton, a sample of which will be forwarded to any prospective stock buyer.

MR. BRADLEY'S FEARS,

BOUND FOR THE PORT

Attack That was Expected Saturday Delayed

London, April 11.—A despatch from Chefoo says that 17 battleships and cruisers, 20 steamers and 12 torpedo-boat destroyers have passed Chefoo, apparently bound for Port Arthur.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says Admiral Makaroff telegraphs that an attempt to surprise Port Arthur was foiled Saturday night. A number of Japanese vessels suddenly appeared within the range of the searchlights, but they withdrew after reconnoitering.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris says that the members of the naval general staff believe that Admiral Makaroff, perceiving the Japanese squadron returned to Port Arthur, has idea being to try to induce Admiral Togo to follow him under the guns of the forts.

The correspondent adds—"The military censor did not sit later than 10 o'clock to-night (Sunday), and no news of fighting was received up to that hour."

FEARS NEXT BLOW.

London, April 10.—There can be little doubt that the period of suspense over the Far East is almost at an end and that also the few days will bring news of important war operations. It is significant that the aggressive talk from Tokio has been followed by pessimistic forebodings in military circles in St. Petersburg.

The writer learns that grave fears are entertained at Russian headquarters that the fall of Port Arthur is imminent.

New Chwang, April 11.—An official declaration was issued to-day of the firing of guns from the forts here last night which caused a certain amount of excitement and the killing of two Chinese. It appears from the official statement that owing to the fact that the officers of the garrison did not understand the system of flash signals in use at the mouth of the river for the purpose of signalling the depth of the water on the bar so as to enable ships to put to sea, fire was opened at midnight on some pilot boats and outward bound merchantmen.

Twenty-four shots were fired, including projectiles from large guns. The effect of the fire had not been reported up to noon to-day, but the firing caused a certain amount of excitement among the troops, during which a sentry fired on and killed two Chinese, Sampan men, opposite the foreign settlement and three miles from the forts. The two Chinese had become a sentry fired can would make an attack on this place two Chinese had become alarmed at the firing and endeavored to cross the river

In view of the reports received here of Japanese activity in Korea, and of the arrival of Japanese troops on the Yalu River, it is understood that the troops of the garrison had been fully warned that it was possible the Japanese would make an attack on this place, and the citizens, on hearing the firing, naturally supposed that the attempt was being made last night.

UNCLE SAM FEARS INFLUX OF PEOPLE

Philadelphia, April 12.—Samuel McCune Lindsay, Commissioner of Education at Puerto Rico, presided at Saturday's session of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

The immigration problem in its various phases was the subject for discussion, and two of the principal addresses were by Frank P. Sargent, Commissioner of Immigration, and Franklin P. Giddings, LL.D., professor of sociology at Columbia University. The former pointed out the dangers of the immigration at the present day, and the latter showed the remedy in assimilation.

Mr. Sargent said in part:

The total number of arrivals for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, was 857,046. This is the greatest number that ever applied for admission in a single year. The nearest approach to this was in 1882, when 789,000 were admitted.

The character of the arriving aliens, however, during the last year differs greatly from that of 1882 and the years previous. Since the foundation of our Government until within the last 15 years practically all of the immigrants came from Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, and the Scandinavian countries, and was very largely of Teutonic stock, with a large percentage of Celtic. Fifteen millions of them have made their homes with us. In fact they have been the pathfinders in the West and North-West. They are intelligent, industrious, and sturdy people. They have contributed largely to the development of our country and its resources, and to them are due, in a great measure, the high standard of American citizenship.

"The character of our immigration has now changed. During the last 15 years we have been receiving a livery undesirable class from Southern and Eastern Europe, which has taken the place of the Teutons and Celts. During the last fiscal year nearly 600,000 of these have been landed on our shores, constituting nearly 70 per cent. of the entire immigration for that year.

"The question that individually and vitally affects the interests of our people is, What shall we do with the thousands what are admitted? Shall they be allowed to form alien colonies in our great cities, there to maintain the false ideas and to propagate lawless views born thereof as the result of their experience, foreign not alone geographically, but foreign as well to this country in their ideas of human liberty and individual rights?

"It is necessary as a measure of public security to devise and put in force some means by which alien arrivals may be distributed throughout this country and thus be afforded the opportunities by honest industry of securing homes for themselves and their children."

Schools Re-Opened

The Public and High schools reopened yesterday, after the Easter vacations. Two new teachers appear on the public school staff, Miss Weir, of Port Hope, who succeeds Miss Richardson, and Mr. T. J. Walton, of Keene, who takes the position recently vacated by Mr. Reddick.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangen, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-23-04.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 30th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz, 9-22-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock. The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo. bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet. This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet of shaft. At the 100 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15 000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to install a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day; one electric lighting plant with 120 16 candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until about July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for them unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than verify every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of the property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 30 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $10 to $160 per ton, and the Company owns 9,000 feet on this vein.

Ore running from $18 to $60 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold property, and 24 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $26 per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,720 acres of placer and timber land, water power of 800 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary, Ore easily reached. Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

No trouble to give estimates.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 500,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

Fine Weather Gives Relief from Catarrh

But Never Cures it Because the Germs are Still Alive. Though Inactive. First Kill the Germs Then You'll be Really Cured.

Catarrh germs are carried into the throat and lungs by the air we breathe. In the same way the remedy must be applied. To be effectual the cure must be breathed, for otherwise it can't get where the germs really are.

Mix your germ-killing medicine with air, breathe it right into all the little air cells where the catarrh really is, then you'll get cured quickly. This is exactly the way Catarrhozone acts. You inhale its medicated vapor to the very source of the disease. It destroys the cause of the inflammation, kills all the microbes that develop when the living membranes become diseased. Besides this Catarrhozone is a wonderful healer. Every sore spot is rebuilt with new healthy tissue. All the poisonous secretions that have been putrifying the system are driven out. No trace of catarrh remains after Catarrhozone has been used.

Why don't you use Catarrhozone? Its the simplest thing in the world to use, and so sure to cure permanently that you really can't afford to be without it.

MISS E. M. PETERS is known by every resident in the pretty town of Highland Grove. She was cured by Catarrhozone of systematic catarrh and says; "For three years before I commenced using Catarrhozone I was continually bothered by a congested condition of my nose and throat. I was sneezing and coughing all the time and really never felt well. I persevered with Catarrhozone and was rewarded by being entirely cured. My recovery prompted others in this locality to use Catarrhozone, and many of them have had remarkable cures from using it."

MISS LOUISE MURPHY a well known society belle residing at 22 Monument St., Medford, writes; "Kindly forward me three outfits of Catarrhozone which I have found most valuable for catarrhal affections of the nose and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of weak lungs and really saved me from consumption. I am recommending Catarrhozone above all other treatments, knowing what great curative powers it possesses. I know others who have also benefited by Catarrhozone."

Catarrhozone is perfectly harmless and may be used with perfect safety by the most delicate infant. Instead of deadening the stomach with drugs, it sends the healing vapor along with the air you breathe into every air cell and passage of the nose, throat, lungs and bronchial tubes. Catarrhozone can't fail, it's sure to cure. If not satisfied you can have your money back for the asking. Two months' treatment, hard rubber inhaler and extra bottle of inhalent costs $1.00, sample size 25c. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont., Can.

BREEZY LOCAL BREVITIES.

By The Times Reporters on Their Daily Rounds

—No news is good news—except to reporters.

—Now clean up your premises and save doctor's bills.

—The muskrat trappers report some good catches.

—The grass in the town parks is becoming quite green.

—More smiles and fewer tears from April would please the farmers.

—River driving has commenced in earnest and many "drivers" left town yesterday.

—The parks this year will be more attractive than ever, according to the plans laid out by the Horticultural Society.

—The Times "Wants, Lost and Found column" is read by thousands every morning. See the point? Then act accordingly.

—None better than the Parker "Lucky Curve" fountain pen sold at the Times Bookstore. A guarantee with every pen.

—The Turf Club expect that the track at the driving park will be in fine condition by the 24th, when they will hold a monster celebration.

—The improvements being made in the George street church primary class room are expected to be completed before Sunday.

—The Hydraulic Power Company's new power house is now in running order, and some of the machinery in the old power house will be moved into the new one.

—A walk along some of our river banks will convince every citizen that dead fish are numerous. The fact will not tend to reassure water drinkers.

—Nearly all the city merchants have their awnings in place again, and many new ones decorate the fronts of several of the leading stores.

—The T.A.S. grounds will be fixed up better than ever this season, and with the completion of the grand stand this should prove an attractive place of resort.

—The Chief of Police of Hamilton is not allowed to talk to reporters.

The people of Peterborough have too much faith in the judgment of Chief Rowel to place such a restriction upon him.

—A great many men in town consider that the assessor always discriminates against him in the assessment. We never saw people so unanimous about anything before. It's funny but it is true.

—Big bargains in stationery at Times Bookstore. Don't fail to get an Empress package containing twelve sheets of good paper with envelopes to match, pen handle and pen nib, also a sheet of blotting paper; all for 5 cents.

—The water in the river is rising rapidly, and a great flood is now pouring over the dam and sluiceway. Lockmaster Makins took measurements this morning and found 7 feet of water on the lower sill and 9 feet 11 inches on the upper sill. Last fall the highest levels were 4 ft. 4 in. and 6 ft. 4 in. respectively.—Lindsay Post.

An indignant housekeeper, from a distance puts a puzzler to the editor. She wants to know why it is that when goes up the prices of flour and bread almost immediately goes up, and when wheat goes down, it takes so long for the prices of flour and bread to be lowered? We give it up. It's one of those things, as Lord Dundreary used to say. "We can't understand."

THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY.

The intelligent, progressive farmer is ever ready to assist any new enterprise, especially when it will have a decided tendency to increase and secure his own prosperity. It is the suspicious, pessimistic farmer who causes trouble to his neighbors and hastens the foreclosure of the mortgage on his own property. The gaining of prosperity in any business in the world to-day involves a certain amount of risk. If a man commences a small business, should he be content to continue doing business on a small scale? Not if he is really a man of business, one who realizes the advantages to be gained by enlargement.

Now, the farmers in the vicinity of the Town of Peterborough will, in event of the passing of this Beet Sugar By-law on the fifth of next month, be called upon to take a most important matter into their serious consideration. They will, in short, be required to decide for or against the growing of sugar beets. Those who are suspicious and pessimistic will be a serious drawback to those who are desirous of seeing the industry progress. But this drawback can only be temporary, and the most intelligent of our farmers are firmly of the opinion that the growing of sugar beets will be a paying industry.

Peterborough Farmer, (meditatively);—"Sugar Beets again! Well blowed if I don't think they won't pay me."

"Some of the farmers around my time in his experience, has not had neighbourhood have been unsuccessful poor crops, the result of his own in growing beets," remarked an intelligent farmer yesterday. "And they say they will not attempt again. That, in my estimation, is the height of nonsense, and lacks reason. These very farmers who failed to produce good results did not know how to cultivate their crops. They grow potatoes but their returns are not half what they would be if they properly attended to them. Their barns are leaky, and they complain if they do not get the highest price for their hay. These are the fellows who retard the general progress of a farming community, and these are the fellows who should take advice, rather than be continually uttering complaints."

This we consider good, sound advice. According to the opinion of experts the soil in this county is especially adapted for the growing of sugar beets. If a farmer has had little success in his first venture, surely that is no reason why he should not finally succeed. There is no business man who has not at some time or other met with some slight reverse, and there is no farmer, who at some

"The square peg in the round hole" figuratively expresses the use of means unsuited to the desired end. A great many people who have been cured of dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery say: "We tried many medicines with only temporary benefit. "It is with pleasure that I tell you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' have done for me," writes Mrs. T. M. Palmer, of Pardee, Kaufman Co., Texas. "Two years ago I was taken with stomach and bowel trouble. Everything I ate would put me in distress. I lived two weeks on milk and even that gave me pain. I felt as though I would starve to death. Three doctors attended me—one said I had dyspepsia, two said catarrh of the stomach and bowels. They attended me (one at a time) for one year. I stopped taking their medicine and tried some patent medicine; got no better, and I grew so weak and nervous my heart would flutter. I could not do any kind of work. Now I can do my house work very well; am gaining in flesh and strength, and can eat anything I want."

By Special Arrangement

St. Petersburg, April 14.—Gen. Kouropatkin, in a despatch to the Emperor, bearing to-day's date, says that Gen. Krasnalinski, on the night of April 8, ordered a detachment of sharpshooters to cross to the left bank of the Yalu, opposite Wiju. The sharpshooters landed on the Island of Samalinl and surprised a patrol of 50 Japanese scouts just as the latter were approaching the east side of the island in three boats.

The Russians allowed the Japanese to land and then fired on them. Nearly all the Japanese were shot, bayoneted or drowned, and their boats sunk. The Russians sustained no losses.

"Non-commissioned officers Louthkine and Souhaschonov distinguished themselves in the fight.

"On the following day the Japanese lowered their flag at Wiju and their outposts, which lately have been fell back.

"On the night of April 9, four Russians crossed the Yalu to Yanampo (Yongampho) and made towards a Russian village, where they found a squadron of Japanese cavalry. They remained there twelve hours, when they were betrayed by Coreans and found themselves obliged to swim the river, their boat having struck a sandbank. One soldier lost his life. The Japanese pursued the Russians in a boat, but were in turn attacked by a Russian boat, which had come to the rescue of the swimmers. The Japanese were all killed and their boat sunk."

ADMIRALTY AND WAR OFFICE, ST. PETERSBURG

SUGAR BEETS WILL PAY

Many Interesting Details Concerning their Cultivation

The annual meeting of the Ontario Sugar Company opened in Berlin, Ont., on Tuesday morning, with a large number of growers representatives present. The annual report of the president showed a profit on the year's operations, and a very hopeful outlook for the future was taken. It was also the unanimous opinion that the company had demonstrated beyond a doubt the possibility of manufacturing beet sugar in this country at a profit. The large profits that accrue to farmers who grow sugar beets in this province were shown in a striking manner. Frahk Shuh, a well-to-do farmer near Berlin, had planted seventeen acres of beets. He kept a very accurate account of charges and receipts, and, valuing this land at $70 per acre, charged on that capital 3 per cent. interest, his own work at eleven cents per hour, and his team's at $3 per day. In all he reckoned his expenditure at $728. The crop of beets brought him $1,077, a net profit of $351 on the seventeen acres, or $20.65 per acre.

Mr. Shantz, a Waterloo farmer, had planted twelve acres, and received over $900 for his crop, which he considered much more paying than any other crop on his large farm. Another Berlin farmer received $1,600 from a crop of 25 acres, and the net profit per acre was $30.

It may readily be seen from the above facts that the growing of sugar beets is a paying industry, and every Peterborough farmer should consider the matter seriously. While sugar beets require a great deal of labor in their cultivation, there is always a profitable market for the crop; in fact it is sold before it is ready to be marketed. This is something that cannot be said of any other crop, which is always dependant upon the rise or fall of the market, and, moreover ,the cultivation of beets does not injure the soil, but, on the contrary, improves it, while at the same time it is the best paying crop a farmer can possibly have.

There is no question at all as to the soil in Peterborough county being suitable to the growth of a beet that will yield a large percentage of saccarine matter, and experts have pronounced it equal to the best in Canada. Why then should we not make a success of this industry here? Why should our farmers not enrich themselves when such an excellent opportunity offers itself. It is a chance of a life time and should be taken advantage of by every progressive farmer in this grand old country. When our citizens are called upon to exercise their franchise on May 6th, may they do so wisely, and in the interests of the general community, and mark their ballots in favor of this by-law, the passing of which will mean so much to this progressive Electric City.

Held Cobourg Tramp

On Tuesday last several bold and beastly profane tramps were in town and terrorized residents on George street. One of these travelling loafers called at a house and ordered the lady to furnish him with coffee and a dinner, and refused to leave without it. Although badly frightened the lady managed to get the door closed and then turned the dog on the intruder. His conduct was so vile that the lady telephoned to the police, but up to the present they have failed to appear. Another residence was visited by a "pal" who demanded dinner. He denied that he belonged to the tramp element, but passed as a "bad" man and could clean out the whole universe. He had money to burn and offered to pay for his meal. The terrified lady produced the desired meal, and after partaking to his heart's content, left the name of Zeta, under the plate to pay for his dinner. This tramp is an exception.—Cobourg Post.

JAPAN'S SPLENDID ADVANCE

Even the Russians are Loud in their Praises

St. Petersburg, April 13d.—General Kuropatkin's officers report that the Japanese advance in Northern Corea has been a plucky and clever performance. The roads are inscribably bad, the rivers swollen and the weather of the most trying description; but the Mikado's troops pressed forward without the slightest trace of confusion. The Russians had bridged some of the streams, but the Japanese crossed unfordable waters in their own pontoons brought from Chinampo. It is said that in some instances the currents were so swift that only the highest skill in pontooning could have accomplished the operation.

Apparently the Russians see that nothing is to be gained by minimizing the military capacity of the enemy. These candid reports received by the Czar and transmitted to the Ministry of War. Enlightened members of the general staff express great satisfaction that Kuropatkin's subordinates are not making the mistake of underrating the courage and skill of the advancing Japanese.

SAYS SOUTH WOULD ENSLAVE

Edmonster, to Have Negroes from Pressage, Asserts North Must Interfere

New York, April 14.—In the New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, the sessions being held under the auspices of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, Rev. Dr. C. M. Meldon, of Providence, R. I., formerly president of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., said:

"Unfortunately there are many people in the north who think that the business of solving the negro problem ought to be left to southerners. Do you know what that means? It means that if such work was left to southerners like Senators Tillman and Money and Governor Vardaman the colored man would be reduced to virtual peonage. They threaten to massacre rather than allow the negro his rights under the constitution.

"Senator Money is a man of the same stripe as Tillman, but not such a loud talker. But the men I have mentioned represent a loud mouthed and large class in the south.

"To me it seems to be a national question. It is impossible for America to take a high place among the nations while millions and millions of the colored people are sunken in darkness and like a festering mass are breeding disease that is like moral malaria."

SALE OF WOOLEN MILLS

Canada Woollen Mills Company to Sell Out —Auburn Mills in Flourishing Condition

The properties of the Canada Woollen Mills Company, which include valuable plants at Hespeler, Carleton Place, Waterloo, and Lambton Mills, will be advertised for sale in a few days, but this will not by any means effect the Auburn Company's plant.

The local company has a wide reputation for the manufacture of the finest goods in Canada, and there is an increasing demand for them. The factories mentioned above were engaged in the manufacture of coarse woollens, for which the demand has not been great enough to make the industry a paying one. There is a steadily increasing demand for finer material, so that there need be no apprehension of the cessation of the Auburn Company's operations. Many orders are coming in, and it might be stated as a further indications of continued prosperity that the demand is in excess of the supply.

MRS. UNDERWOOD WRITES OF WAR

Former Peterboroug Lady who is now in Corea

NON-COMBATANTS SAFE

The Rush and Excitement of War Thrillingly Described

The Times was handed the following letter received by Mr. A. S. Harper, of Smith street, from his sister, Mrs. Underwood, who is at present in Corea. She writes.

Seoul, Feb. 29.—I hope you are not worried about us. We hear it has been telegraphed to America that all foreigners in Seoul were massacred. This is not in the least likely to happen. We do not feel ourselves to be in any danger whatever. We do not believe the Russians will reach here during the war, and from former experiences we feel safe in the hands of Japanese.

Prices of provisions have risen very high and ships bringing provisions are not allowed to enter Corean ports yet although we believe they will be in a month or so. We have plenty of groceries at present and I took time by the forelock and canned quite a lot of beef, and am still doing so, a little at a time.

For two years the Japs have been landing stores and soldiers, sending them up to Seoul and on to the north as fast as they can transport them. The officers of the United States steamer Vicksburg say they should think the Japs are landing enough stores for a big army, sufficient for several years. Everything is quiet and orderly and the Japs keep to their own part of the town.

Russian Soldiers Into Corea.

Chemulpo is a lively place just now, bursting with soldiers, ammunition, military stores, etc. Ship after ship arrive crammed with soldiers and the anchor is not down before off drop the launches full of men, puff away to the shore, unload, and go back for more, and the moment the ship is empty away off to Japan for more. It is said they make the trip there and back in a week, whereas it usually takes the passenger steamers about five days to get there.

The trains come up packed with soldiers, and getting back and forth for common folks is no joke, for ordinary trains are at any time put off altogether or pushed on a siding to wait for hours. We found this out to our sorrow. Hollis, Wilber Arison and Mr. Holderoff went down to Chemulpo to see the soldiers and the wrecks of the Russian ships and found when they reached there that the regular 6 o'clock train to Seoul would not come, and the only other was a Military train leaving there at 8.30 p.m. to reach here at 10.30. We of course expected them by 8.30. We waited and waited. I grew more anxious every minute. I knew they were intending to go out on that tumultuous harbor in a sampan, and with all the irregularity of trains there might be a collision or accident of some kind. Hollis went to the American legation and tried to telephone, but couldn't. He sent a telegram to Chemulpo, went to the station to learn about trains and was told there was none until 8.30 in the morning.

Fleet to Sail by Way of Suez.

At 10.30 we received a despatch which they had sent at 6. The Japs guards the wires so it could not come before and at about 10.45 they arrived on the military train. They went to Mr. Kato, the director of things at Chemulpo, and were told that he was in his bath and were politely asked to wait a minute. In a few minutes he appeared in his kimono, smiling and polite, and begged to be excused for appearing in Japanese dress. He at once gave them a pass on the military train, where they had a nice, quiet compartment all to themselves. The train was crowded to suffocation with troops, four soldiers to a seat and ten cars of soldiers, and another ten loaded with supplies.

Fifty Correspondents at Seoul.

Dr. Allin gave Hollis a letter of introduction to the officers of the Vicksburg, and they went out and had a very pleasant visit on the ship. There are fifty newspaper correspondents here. They are all getting horses, saddles, interpreters, etc., in order to follow the Jap army.

Somebody sold Jack London, the famous author, who is here as a correspondent, a totally blind horse, and I, who am not without a taint of superstition, would not be surprised to hear of his meeting more mishaps. I wonder whether he left America on the 13th of the month or on a Friday.

It is feared there is going to be a great naval battle near Ping-Yang and that it will be unsafe for our missionaries, at least the women and children, to be there, so Dr. Allen has ordered the latter down here and will send a transport for them as soon as the ice breaks sufficiently to permit the vessel to reach there.

The dowager queen (the third one) died not long ago and her funeral is to come off with the usual pomp in a short time, I am told. It will be quite a sight for these hungry correspondents, who are prowling around like cormorants for news.

Mails seem to be coming (via gunboats) with fair regularity. I don't know how they go.

FAVOURS THE PORT HOPE ROUTE

Toronto Star Believes this Route is the Best

CANAL MUST BE FINISHED

To Give Outlet to Land Locked Lakes - A Great Works

In discussing the Trent Valley Canal the Toronto Star says that it must soon be decided whether the canal will make its connection with Lake Ontario via Port Hope or Trenton, (Cobourg), or by the Trent waters at Trenton on the Bay of Quinte. The question has hitherto been treated largely as a local one, or solely with reference to transportation of grain to Montreal and development of water power along the Trenton route, but it is, as we pointed out in an article a little time ago, a larger question. It should be dealt with by the Government on broad national grounds, and such route to Lake Ontario adopted as will best serve the whole country.

At present the back country in the Peterborough, Lindsay and Hastings districts must depend wholly upon [illegible] for transfer of freight. The consequence is that this great section of country is greatly handicapped compared with more fortunate districts which have the benefit of water competition. The great manufacturing industries of Peterborough import for their purposes great quantities of coal and freights of all kinds. Peterborough is also a great central distributing point for manufactured goods at present imported into that country by rail. Let the Trent Valley Canal route be from Peterborough via Rice Lake to Port Hope or vicinity (Cobourg), and you at once furnish to this at present land-locked district a direct water route to Lake Ontario by which traffic may proceed to the west or to the east, or across the lake to Rochester. Furthermore, by this route the back country can be served during the period of navigation in the carriage to the interior of coal and the thousand and one imports that at present are shipped to the Peterborough district by rail from Toronto, Hamilton and other western points. It seems to the Star that the interests of the Peterborough district and of all western Ontario are that the lake connection of the Trent Canal system should be in the vicinity of Port Hope. Thus, during the period of navigation, the people all along the line of the Trent Valley Canal will receive the benefit of lower freight rates because of the water competition. The same advantage of cheap transportation would accrue in respect of exports from that district to Western Ontario and it seems to us to be due to the great centres of trade of Western Ontario that their interests should also be regarded in the consideration of this question.

Nor can it be shown that the adoption of this route would in the slightest degree injure any interest except it be some owners of water powers upon the line of the Trent waters, but this canal has been undertaken by the country, not for the purpose of promoting the private interests of owners of water powers, but purely for the purpose of transportation, and this, the only reason justifying the construction of the canal, must determine its route, unless the public money is to be diverted towards the promotion of private interests.

Up to the present we have heard practically nothing except arguments manufactured by those in favor of the route by the Trent waters, and we trust that the Transportation Commission will disregard these private considerations, and study the question in its broad national aspect. There has not been a fair examination of the Port Hope route by any disinterested experts enjoying public confidence. We consider it the duty of the Government to have a thoroughly independent examination of all available routes made by able experts having comprehensive views as to Canadian resources, and let the report of all such persons, with all the evidence, be frankly given to the public before any conclusion is reached by those in authority. By such means a serious mistake may be avoided, and the public interest best promoted.

GENERAL ELECTIONS TO BE HELD JUNE 20TH

Premier Ross will Go to the Country--Legislature to be Dissolved in a Few Days--Changes in Cabinet

To the Editor of The Times,

Toronto, April 13.—The greatest interest has been manifested for some time in the condition of the Ontario Government, and it has been quite evident, even to members of the Legislature, that matters were rapidly approaching a crisis. It has been a burning question whether the Government would face the election courts and the by-elections, or ask the Lieutenant-Governor's consent to an exceptional dissolution of the Legislature, and appeal to the country. It has recently been learned that Premier Ross has definitely decided on the latter course and that the general elections will be held in June. Your correspondent learns from undisputed authority that the nominations are likely to be held on June 13th; and the elections will come off on June 20th.

The Premier has exercised the most careful diplomacy since the opening of the House, and has been especially careful in retaining the good will of the great financial interests and the railway corporations. The Grand Trunk is grateful for the assistance rendered to several branches of the Grand Trunk Pacific, while the Canadian Northern has reason to be thankful for the $5,000,000 guarantee of James Railway bonds, and the Canadian Pacific are benefited by the proposed moderate taxation on the railways. According to the opinions around the corridors the Grand Trunk will actively support the Premier, while the other two companies are likely to remain neutral.

THE PREMIER IS PLEDGED.

In conversation with one of the members of the Legislature, who is in close touch with the Premier, he expressed himself quite freely, as of the firm opinion that the Government must be dissolved and an appeal made to the country. "The position of the matter is simply this," he began, "Mr Ross is pledged to bring in a measure sufficiently strenuous to satisfy the demands of the temperance party. This will mean nothing short of a measure for the closing of the bar.

"This bill was to have been presented at the last session, but the inconvenience caused by the Ganey charges gave an excellent excuse for allowing the matter to stand over.

"In the bye-elections Premier Ross assured the temperance party, on several occasions that he would introduce a measure that would satisfy them. This pledge was even given in writing, as well as verbally, and the Premier is now called upon to carry out his promises. He cannot possibly evade it, as several temperance candidates in the bye-elections withdrew from the contest on the strength of these promises, thereby removing a serious menace to the success of the Government candidates."

CHANGES IN THE CABINET.

It is now definitely known that the dissolution of the House is slated, to take place at the conclusion of the present session in a few days. It is further understood here that the Lieutenant-Governor is anxious that this course be pursued, as things in its present condition are not satisfactory.

In regard to the reconstruction of the Cabinet, it is understood that Hon. Latchford will retire, and Mr. John Bertram is mentioned as his successor. The announcement made recently by the Tory press that Hon. J. R Stratton would retire from the Cabinet is decidedly incorrect, as Mr. Stratton is known to be the strongest man in the Government, with the exception of the Premier. Mr. Stratton, during his administration, has succeeded in having the law regarding the Sunday selling of liquor more rigidly enforced than ever before. It is a fact that the license inspectors throughout the province have been repeatedly warned in regard to the strict performance of their duties, and no reflection should be cast upon the earnest efforts put forth by the Provincial Secretary to bring about a most satisfactory condition of affairs in this department. Mr. Dryden is likely to remain if he so desires as he is undoubtedly the best man available for the position of Minister of Agriculture.

TWENTY FIVE NAVAL MEN WERE INSTANTLY KILLED

Special To THE TIMES.

Tenacola, Florida, April 13.—by the explosion of 2 000 pounds of powder in the after 12-inch turret and the handling room of the battleship Missouri, Capt. W. S. Cowles, commander, 25 men were instantly killed and five injured, of whom two will die.

The Missouri was on the target range with the Texas at practice about noon, when a charge of powder from a 12-inch left hand gun ig nited from gasses and exploded dropping below and igniting four charges of powder in the handling room, and all exploded. Only one man of the entire turret and handling crew survived. But for the prompt and efficient work of Capt. Cowles in flooding the handling room and magazines with water one of the magazines would have exploded, and the ship would have been destroyed.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there need no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says. Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, exhaustion of parts, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like wise all the complications, such as rheumatism bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 14 1904

IN VIEW OF GENTLE SPRING.

We are now come upon the most dangerous season of the year in Canada. April and May present extremes of temperature which constitute a constant menace to health.

A range of forty or fifty degrees within twenty-four hours is not uncommon. Meteorologically speaking there is no telling what may happen during the next six weeks. It is a period during which great caution is essential to the preservation of the health.

One thing is particularly vital. Heavy clothing on no account should be discarded because of the false allurements of a few warm days. That way pneumonia lies. It may be uncomfortable to wear winter garments and heavy underwear with the thermometer at 75 or 80 in the shade but it is better temporarily to endure that discomfort than to spend six weeks in bed. More people suffer serious illness in the spring as the result of premature changes of clothing than from any other cause.

The second point of importance is to guard against overheating houses and offices. Not one "cold" in fifty is contracted from cold. The term is a misnomer. People "take cold" by sweltering in superheated rooms and then going into the air with open pores and reeking with perspiration. Nothing short of a special providence can avert illness under such conditions.

People who despise—or affect to despise—overshoes may likewise expect trouble. Something may be said against "galoshes," but more can be said in their favor.

The chief end of man during the spring season is to keep from catching cold, and no one can attain that desirable immunity unless he keeps his feet dry. No leather shoe will totally exclude moisture. The rubber overshoe, though it is unhandsome [illegible] unhandy, certainly will exclude [illegible] act accordingly. [illegible] obvious [illegible] will he will escape the doctor and perchance the undertaker.

Man may not expect to live forever, but he can increase his expectation of life by the exercise of a little horse sense in obvious matters.

Castro is showing more mulishness, and unless he comes down soon he may find a German squadron at La Guayra demanding payment of that overdue bill. The Venezuelans got the notion from U. S. yellow journals and from the mouthings of Mr. Bowen that Uncle Sam would interfere to shield them in their default. They began to violate the conditions of the peace protocol. The British bank protested that a full 30 per cent. of the customs receipts was not being deposited. Bowen complained to Castro, but could get no satisfaction. Now he has recommended that the United States insist that officials of the Belgian Government take over the administration of the customs revenues from the Venezuelan authorities. If Castro refuses to agree to this there may be trouble.

The most important news from the scene of war is that the rival fleets are now in the open sea within easy reach of each other, and a battle that may mean something decisive is among the early probabilities. At Niauchwang the Russians are said to be hauling down British and United States flags hoisted by subjects of these countries over their houses, and diplomatic correspondence is likely to follow in regard to it. There is an impression abroad that something important is about to happen.

An English admiral says that one of the lessons of the Russo-Japanese war is to be found in the fact that of the eighteen Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers were all afloat and in service at Port Arthur. The British as a rule have 10 per cent. undergoing repairs. Of the United States battleships about twenty-five per cent. are in dry dock most of the time as a result of collisions with each other, resulting in all cases from "defective steering gear."

The French government, which almost fell over itself in its haste to deny that it would go to the help of Russia on account of Corea joining Japan, now hastens to make a similar disclaimer in advance concerning the expected alliance of Japan with China. In other words, the French government wants it to be understood that it has no idea of taking up arms for Russia in any circumstances, but nobody ever supposed it would.

Rusty Gold Stampede.

The voyage of the Argonauts, the date of which is uncertain, was professedly a rush for gold, to be collected in fleeces placed in the torrents flowing down the flanks of Mt. Caucasus. But older much was the westward movement, which Chaldean records of 3800 B. C. chronicle, to the gold-bearing land of Melukkha, afterward known as Midian. Later on, but still at a very early period, there was a rush from Egypt to a spot inland from the present Suakim. Long afterward this was described by Diodorus Siculus, who left a map, still extant, showing the wells provided for the gold seekers between the Red sea and the mines. About 1000 B. C. there seems to have been another rush of miners in search of gold into South Africa. Its numbers can only be guessed at from the extensive remains that still exist.—Stray Stories.

The Awful Distress of Irritable Nerves

Can be Overcome by Enriching and Nourishing the Blood, Thereby Rebuilding the Nerve Cells.

Any failure of the nervous system to do its work properly inevitably causes other troubles. Weakened nerve force is almost sure to bring on gloom and depression. Life loses its attractiveness, worry and care quickly furrow the brow of the sufferer who keeps up a brave heart as long as possible, and then completely breaks down.

Nervous wrecks are very sad, pitiful indeed, when a certain cure like Ferrozone is within easy reach. The success of this great nerve restorer has been demonstrated in many cases where other treatment completely failed, so sufferers can with unbounded confidence rely on a lasting recovery if Ferrozone is used.

Hosts of well known people have found health through Ferrozone. Among these might be mentioned Mrs. K. D. Emmerson, of Centreville, who says: "I am glad to think that there is at least one honest remedy for nervous people. No one can imagine what I suffered with my nerves, and I sometimes wonder at the number of useless prescriptions and medicines that I took. But Ferrozone acted differently from all the rest. It built up my system and gradually the irritability left my nerves and I got well. Ferrozone cured me by removing the cause of my trouble and by giving me enough additional strength to overthrow the attack of nervousness. I can recommend Ferrozone strongly."

No expectations are too high to be fulfilled if Ferrozone is used. Many others have been cured of troubles worse than yours. Try Ferrozone. It completely rebuilds the nervous system and establishes a healthy condition throughout the entire body.

Don't let any greedy dealer make you think there is anything so good as Ferrozone. It alone can cure permanently. Insist on having nothing but Ferrozone. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists or by mail, from N. C. Polson, Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

ST. LOUIS GOLD MINING COMPANY.

Property includes six full claims, with a 38 foot ore body extending across 3200 feet of this property, determined by a tunnel 500 feet and open cuts and shafts every one in ore. Why does St. Louis Gold Mining Co. offer the investor a chance for his money.

1. Do you know that its title is free and clear?
2. Do you know that the stock is actually fully paid and non-assessable, therefore no liability?
3. Do you know that our capital is only $150,000?
4. Do you know that 300,000 tons of ore are in sight? This is proof that you are investing in a mine.
5. Do you know—free milling and cyaniding ores are the choicest, and sought by the experienced men in treating ores?
6. Do you know, that we can prove in black and white that our ore can be treated for $1.25 a ton and save 95 per cent. of its value.
7. Do you know that our neighbors produced last year $5,000,000.
8. Do you know that by their experience we profit, and can in one year be listed among them as a paying property.
9. Because of all these points, we rank second to no other prospect and by a continuation of development and erection of a Cyanide plant in the near future, we feel confident of success in the highest degree.
10. Now, therefore avail yourself of the opportunity to investigate before investing by addressing

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almades Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

ANNOUNCEMENT

Are you aware of the fact that the Government received over $302,000,000 worth of gold, produced in the year 1902?

Are you aware of the fact that the greater number of millionaires have received their wealth through mining, rather than from any other investment?

Are you aware of the fact that $75,000 in gold, known to be produced in addition to the Three Hundred and Two Millions, is all outstanding?

Are you still doubting (?) the millionaires who have made their fortunes through mining, and who are to-day the largest investors in the gold producing enterprises, which is the foundation of the commerce of the world?

Are you doubting our gold standard which this government has adopted, because the gold mines of this country is its greatest production?

Are you aware of the fact that the small investor as well as the large, is deriving his just income from the amount of gold produced yearly? Are you one of them? If not, we want you to read our offer, which is sure to give the investor an income for life.

No Assessments, No Stock Manipulations, No Syndicate Graft

If you have faith in Mexican Gold Mining, do not overlook the opportunity offered herein, which is bound to give large returns to every investor.

An Income For Life.

How some people secure those two very desirable provisions an income for life and a comfortable old age, by shrewd investments. More money has been made from gold mining than from any other product that mother earth produces. An investment at the present time and the present price of stock to make you a fortune.

Estimated Income.

Stock of this corporation should earn 100 per cent. yearly. Stocks should pay at least 50 per cent. yearly.

Come and Let Us Remove Your Doubts.

Let us tell you the number of companies only in operation for the last two years which have paid as high as $440 in dividends on every share, a total to the stockholder holding one hundred shares of $44,000 in seventeen months. Stop and figure what the dividends amount to to the one holding a thousand shares. The above was paid by the "Dos Estrellas" Gold Mining Company, located in the same camp where we are now in operation.

Be Fair With Yourself,

And investigate the offer made by this corporation. If you make an investment and you find that you have made a mistake within thirty days, your money will be returned to you with 6 per cent. interest. We know positively when you become a stockholder in this corporation, after having investigated the property operations, you will not only retain your holdings, but you will secure more stock. The stock of this corporation is absolutely guaranteed by the reserve of 1700 acres of property in addition to the claim known as the La Alexandria, for which thousands of dollars have been refused as this corporation holds the property in reserve, as an absolute guarantee to the investor. The following are the claims held in reserve:—

1 La Paloma	2 La Mexicana	3 El Vivian
4 El Davidor	5 Porfirio Diaz	6 La Bonanza

located in the famous mining camp known as Tlalpujahua, Mexico. All of the above properties are held by this corporation until this company becomes a dividend payer. With properties like the ones mentioned failure is out of the question. This is the camp where 70 companies have begun operations within the last ten months and seventeen of them are to-day dividend paying companies, paying thousands of dollars in monthly dividends to their large and small stockholders. Our operations will soon result in dividends which are bound to come, as the assays of our property ran as high as $320 to the ton, a sample of which will be forwarded to any prospective stock buyer.

Stock Soon to Advance to 50 Cents a Share.

Until then subscriptions will be accepted at the following prices, received in routine order; first come, first served, as this company reserves the right to withdraw the price from the market without notice,

MR. BRADLEY'S FEARS.

Anecdotal.

A Western Congressman was asked if he did not think President Roosevelt certain to be re-elected, barring any "big mistake" the candidate might make. "Yes," was the reply, "but let me tell you that the biggest mistake he possibly could make would be to allow the crops to fail next year."

A friend of Edward MacDowell attended a recital given by a mediocre teacher's pupils, and when he met the American composer he remarked: "I heard one of the pupils, a little girl of eight, play your 'To a Wild Rose.'" The composer sighed dejectedly. "I suppose," MacDowell remarked, "that she pulled it up by the roots."

During the protracted sessions of the Parnell commission, Justice Day habitually sat with closed eyes. It was commonly supposed that his lordship was sleeping, and the late Sir Frank Lockwood, observing that the learned judge was very much awakened by a little tiff between the president and Sir Charles Russell, exclaimed, quite audibly: "This is the dawn of Day!"

Chauncey M. Depew declares that when King Edward, as Prince of Wales, visited the United States, the old Duke of Newcastle used to scan the accounts of expenditure. At the end of one hotel bill he one day found a charge which he couldn't make out. "What's that charge for?" asked the Duke of the hotel proprietor. "For making such a damned fuss," was the immediate reply.

General Nelson A. Miles says that during the Civil War there was one conscription fakir who made thousands of dollars before the authorities restrained him. This rascal would send letters broadcast, wherein he said he would communicate for two dollars a sure means of escaping the conscription. Letters, enclosing two-dollar notes, poured in on him, and in reply to each letter he would send a printed slip reading: "Join the nearest volunteer regiment."

An old negro living in Carrollton was taken ill recently, and called in a physician of his race to prescribe for him. But the old man did not seem to be getting any better, and finally a white physician was called. Soon after arriving, Dr. S.—— felt the darkey's pulse for a moment, and then examined his tongue. "Did your other doctor take your temperature?" he asked. "I don't know, sah," he answered, feebly; "I hain't missed anything but my watch as yit, boss."

One of Pere Ollivier's flock, a very beautiful and handsomely dressed woman, coming very late to church one Sunday morning, caused some disturbance and stir among the worshippers by her entrance, and interrupted the flow of eloquence of the worthy father, who, very irritable and easily put out, said: "Madame perhaps waited to take her chocolate before coming to church?" To this, madame, by no means abashed, graciously replied: "Yes, mon pere; and two rolls with it."

It is related that the American commissioner of fine arts at a Paris exposition once wrote to several artists—to Whistler among them—saying that he would be in Paris shortly, and mentioning the time at which, and the place where he would like them to call upon him. Whistler was asked to call at four-thirty precisely. He wrote: "Dear Sir — I have received your letter announcing that you will be in Paris on the —th. I congratulate you. I have never been able and never shall be able to be anywhere at 'four-thirty precisely.' Yours most faithfully, J. McN. Whistler."

By his tact and amiability Sir Thomas Lipton has made thousands of friends during his visit in New York City. One day recently on the "Erin" he was watching the "Shamrock" from the bridge, and his guests, among whom were some pretty girls, were on the deck below, screened from the sun by awnings. Sir Thomas went down to chat with them for a few minutes, and then said: "I think I'll have the awning taken down." "Don't, Sir Thomas," the women all exclaimed in chorus, "we'll roast here." "But," tactfully replied the baronet, "I'm lonely on the bridge, and I miss your pretty faces." No one objected to the awning coming in after that.

Here is one of Lew Dockstader's latest stories: Two brothers had more or less trouble with the boy next door, and hadn't always some out victors. In fact, the boy next door was so much bigger that he seemed to have the best of it invariably. So it wasn't an unusual thing when one of the boys came into the house with a badly bruised eye. Moreover, he was crying when his aunt stopped him in the hall. "Hush, Willie," she said; "you mustn't make any noise." "What—what's the ma-matter?" he asked, between his sobs. "You may disturb your new brother," said his aunt, soothingly. He dried his eyes in a minute. "Have I got a new brother?" he asked. His aunt nodded. "One besides Jim?" She nodded again. "Bully!" he exclaimed. "You're glad of it?" she asked. "You bet!" Willie fairly shouted; "if Jim and me and the new one can't lick that feller next door, we'd better move."

A pretty story, illustrative of the change of feeling which has come over the Irish peasant toward King Edward since the recent royal visit, appears in the English press. Two London journalists, on their way from Dublin to Cork, accosted a shaggy, farmer-looking native at a Queen's County station with the words: "Well, Pat, what do you think of the King of England now?" "King of England, is it?" replied the Irishman, and there stole over his face an inimitable expression of drollery as he went on in a stage whisper: "Sure, avic, ye'll want a viceroy over there, I'm thinkin'. Himself an' herself are not goin' back to yez at all!" An old dame in Galway who had spoken with the King was questioned as to what she thought of his Majesty. She delivered herself of a long and enthusiastic eulogy, to the effect that "Edward the First of Ireland" was "a grand man entirely," closing with the remark that she had "only wan thrifling fault to find with him," and that was that "they kep the poor man so long in the Phaynix Park beyant that they have him talkin' with a strong Dublin accent."

ARE YOU A PRISONER?

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as completely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or used to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? Are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangon, Black Jack, Star and Red Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-26-03.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,
DENNIS A. DUANE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 20, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit.

Yours very truly,
R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,
KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 25th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 7-28-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is raising on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of Consumers' Coal Company Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $200,000 with shares at $1each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Buman, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Burrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $200,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $110,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 60c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns, clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Western and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 321 acres underlaid with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 44 feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 280 feet. It is this vein which we are now mining, the second one, at a depth of 320 feet and the third at 463 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we use as a sump, makes our shaft a total depth 563 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 200 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 65c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a little over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and town people, and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.25 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine, up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase the output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $600 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $2 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends, kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

URGE CZAR TO SEEK PIECE

Friends of Russia Believe That Power Is Rushing to Defeat

Berlin, April 12.—The Lokal Anzeiger says the situation in Asia is developing most unfavorable to Russia and assert that powerful influences both at home and abroad are being brought to bear on the Czar to seize the first opportunity which a Russian military victory would afford to restore Manchuria to China and conclude peace with Japan.

Mostly Men.

The writer, a Manitoban, and an Anglo-Indian bound for Penang were seated in the smoking-parlor of a Canadian Pacific Pullman car. The Manitoban was a cheery optimist; the Anglo-Indian a pessimist with a liver, who said he believed Canada's future lay with the United States. This my Manitoban resented, and when the Anglo-Indian ended a remark with a pious hope that Manitoba might some day be a desirable country, in spite of her severe winter, my Manitoban did not try to conceal his contempt.

"Huh!" he ejaculated. "I tell you, it's pretty prosperous right now, sir, winters and all, and don't you forget it. A fur coat's a lot cheaper than malarial fever anyway." (The Malay peninsula had been described.)

"Oh, yes! it's prosperous enough I dare say," replied the Anglo-Indian disdainfully; "but really when you talk of the Canadian North-West supplying the British wheat market . . ." and he shook his head pityingly.

"See here," said my Manitoban, "how much wheat did Great Britain import in 1902, anyway?"

The Anglo-Indian shook his head again. "Really," he began, "I'm not able to state offhand——"

"Well, I am," interrupted the other, "Great Britain imported in 1902 one hundred and fifty-one million bushels of wheat. In 1902 Manitoba's crop of all grains was one hundred million bushels, and the total wheat crop was fifty-three million bushels."

"And how much of that fifty-three million bushels found its way to England?" asked the Anglo-Indian sarcastically.

"That's all right," nodded the Manitoban; "little enough, maybe. But I'm coming to that. During the year ending June 30, 1902, the whole Dominion exported to Great Britain twenty-five and one-quarter million bushels of wheat and three-quarters of a million barrels of flour out of a total export of twenty-six million bushels and one million barrels. Now, sir, that fifty-three million bushels was raised on two million acres of land. By 1910 Manitoba may have six million acres of land under wheat cultivation—the land is there all right—and similar conditions to 1902 would mean a crop of one hundred and fifty-nine million bushels, or the total consumption of wheat in Great Britain for last year. And take notice, please, I am not saying a word about the millions of acres of rich soil in the North-West Territories awaiting colonization."

"Why is there so much unoccupied land in Manitoba?" I asked, watching the Anglo-Indian ponder on the figures quoted as I spoke. "Are they 'free' lands?"

"No, sir," replied the Manitoban, "you bet most all the free land that's any good has been taken up in Manitoba. The railways, the land companies, syndicates, private individuals, own thousands of acres of land in Manitoba, and they are selling them every day, cheap, too."

"What do you call cheap?" asked the Anglo-Indian.

"Ten dollars to twenty dollars, £2 to £4 per acre," replied the other. "Why, land which is not nearly so productive in Ontario sells from $40 to $60 per acre. The West is still supposed to be 'wild,' I guess," and he laughed merrily. "Last year the official average of wheat per acre in Manitoba was given at 26 bushels. Take an average price of 50 cents per bushel, and you have a gross return of $13 per acre. Farming by figures is easy—and delusive—so let's cut this return in half (and that provides for every contingency except annihilation) and you have a gross return of $7.50 per acre, which leaves a profit, after expenses, sufficient to warrant the price of good lands going to $50 per acre within a year or two."

"And what is the reverse side of this picture?" asked the Anglo-Indian, interested in spite of himself.

"Oh, that's there all right," laughed the Manitoban. "We've had bad crops, frozen crops, dry seasons. We get a six months' winter, which is gen—u—ine winter, all right. In the early days we had to team our wheat twenty-five to fifty miles to market, and that was no picnic when the thermometer was at 40 degrees below zero. Then the mosquitoes in summer, they worry a tenderfoot some, and . . . oh, dang it! that's about all, I reckon. But still," and he waved his hand out towards the darkness, "I tell you, sire, it's a fine country, whether it's yellow with ripening wheat or white under the bright winter stars. Its men are mostly men—those who count are—and its women know how to make a farmhouse on the prairie a pretty good place for a fellow to get home to. It's a clean, healthy life, gentlemen, and a man keeps young on the prairie a long time after he has passed the 50-mark.

"We're a long way from the center of things up here, I guess, and maybe we are a bit rough, but that doesn't count. I've often watched the twilight steal along so gently it's like a dream, and the Northern Lights shoot across the sky like a mist of flame. And it's good to smell the spring rains when they start the old earth into greenness, and to hear the honk! honk! of the geese overhead, saying they are pleased to get home to the Northland again. You bet, gentlemen, it's a good country to live in and work in, and I guess it's all right to sleep in when the work is well done. Here's my station, and I'll bid you good-night, and I hope I haven't tired you with my talk."

And the Manitoban stepped off the car as we pulled up at a station.

The moving train had resumed its steady thud! thud! thud! before the Anglo-Indian spoke.

"The Canadian Government mayn't know of him," he said, "but that man is the best sort of emigration agent they have got." He rose and yawned. "I think I'll turn in," he said. "Good-night."

But I sat and smoked for a while, thinking of the Manitoban and the life he had sketched. And the train rushed steadily forward through the night, and I thought of the unseen and as yet untilled prairie stretching to the horizon on either hand, and tried to imagine its broad acres peopled with "men who were mostly men."—H. T. Munn in "Outlook."

Anecdotal.

At a circuit dinner in Ireland a barrister was relating some shooting stories, and wound up by stating that he had once shot thirty-one hares before breakfast. "I don't doubt it, sir," remarked Lord Norbury, "but you must have been firing at a wig."

A Maine country doctor tells this story on himself:—He responded one night to a note left at his door by a farmer asking him to go as soon as possible to see his little boy, who was ill with a very bad cold. The doctor gave one look at the child and asked severely: "Don't you know that your boy is coming down with the measles?" "Yes," replied the wife. "I knowed it." "Then what in the world did you mean by saying he had a bad cold?" asked the doctor. The woman hesitated a moment; then, looking at her husband, she said, hesitatingly: "Neither me or him knowed how to spell measles."

A Nottinghamshire clergyman, in baptizing a baby, paused in the midst of the service to inquire the name of the infant, to which the mother, with a profound courtesy, replied, "Shady, sir, if you please." "Shady!" replied the minister. "Then it's a boy, and you mean Shadrach, eh?" "No, please your reverence, it's a girl." "And pray," asked the inquisitive pastor, "how happened you to call the child by such a strange name?" "Why, sir," responded the woman, "if you must know, our name is Bower, and my husband said as how he should like her to be called Shady, because Shady Bower sounds so pretty!"

An amusing story is told of President Loubet's humble brother-in-law, whom an enterprising interviewer called upon directly after the French President's election. "How did you take the news?" asked the interviewer. "Oh, fairly well; without any rejoicings, of course. Now, here am I, for example, an ironmonger; in what way do you suppose it will benefit me that my brother-in-law is President of the republic? Why, this very morning I received three letters from people begging me to get them Government tobacco shops. That is the only advantage that the election will bestow upon me. People fancy that I have influence, and I shall therefore be worried."

Andrew Carnegie tells a story of a Yankee in Scotland that illustrates well the imperturbability of the Scottish temperament. The Yankee, a bicycler, came to the shore of a lonely lake, and saw in a boat a man examining the depths of the water with a water telescope. The man conducted this examination languidly. He would pause every little while to light his pipe and to converse on the weather or some such indifferent subject with a friend who sat upon the bank, now reading a newspaper and now tossing pebbles idly into the stream. The Yankee got off his bicycle to rest, and in an interval of silence he said to the man seated on the bank: "What is your friend looking for? Oysters?" "No. My brother-in-law," was the reply.

Charlemagne Tower, the United States Ambassador to Russia, was talking at Atlantic City about the Russian moujik. "This naive fellow," he said, "is something like a boy and something like an Irishman. He is, as a rule, very simple, very kind. A typical moujik entered one day a railroad station. He approached the agent and asked when a certain train would leave for a certain place. The agent told him distinctly, and, seeming satisfied, he departed. But a moment later he was back again, and again he asked the agent the same question. 'Why,' the agent exclaimed, 'I told you that only a minute ago!' 'You did, truly,' the moujik answered, but it isn't myself that wants to know this time. It's my mate outside!'"

Senator Edmund W. Pettus of Alabama is eighty-two years old. A man called at his law office in Selma one day and wanted to read him a thirty-page abstract of a will. Senator Pettus said: "I am too old to listen to all that. Tell me in a few words the abstract's contents." "I prefer to read it to you," the man insisted. "Ah," said Mr. Pettus, "you have the author's vanity. You are like Barthe, the comedian. Barthe called on a dying man one day with a new comedy. He unrolled it. He said: —'Let me read this to you. You will laugh.' 'But consider,' said the other, 'I am a dying man.' Barthe, ignoring that objection, smiled and cleared his throat to begin. 'Consider,' the victim resumed, 'I have only an hour to live.' But to read my comedy will occupy only a half hour,' said Barthe."

At the Portsmouth luncheon to the United States squadron, United States Consul Swalm of Southampton, who was stationed at Montevideo during the war with Spain, told the following story:—"They were expecting the 'Oregon' during the Spanish-American war, and they also expected that she would be short of coal. He could not buy so much as a pound of fuel, but one evening a Scotsman came to his door and said: 'You want coal?' The Consul replied that he never wanted a drink as badly as he wanted coal at that moment. The Scotsman had no power to sell, but he pointed out that he had eight hundred tons on board, and said he pitied the American captain who could not put his ship alongside, take out the bags of coal and then 'cut the painter.' It so happened that the 'Oregon' did not call, but such an act of friendship which defied law and order touched his heart."

David Belasco was born in San Francisco and educated at Lincoln College. He said recently: "I remember a chum of my boyhood who was a great traveler. He used to entertain me during recitations with tales of his adventures by land and sea. 'Never go by boat,' he said one day 'from New York to San Francisco. They crowd those boats dreadfully. There's no comfort aboard them at all. This will give you some idea, David,' he went on, 'of the way the boats are crowded. In course of my last trip a mild mannered man approached the captain, and, in my hearing, said: "Skipper, can't you rig me up a berth somewhere or other? I have no place to sleep." We had already been two days out, and, therefore, the skipper said in a surly way to the man, "Sleep where you did last night and the night before." "I can't do it, captain," the other answered. "You can't do it? Well, why can't you?" "Because I've been sleeping atop of a seasick man, and he's got well now, and won't stand it any longer."'"

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00.
Par value $1.00. Full Paid and non-Assessable

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 7000 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 200 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years. Already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 15 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Investigate to your heart's content, and quickly, then let us hear from you.

The Black Queen Gold Mining Co.

1,500,000 Shares. Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

Selling at 7½c a Share

Like its sister Company but a day giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 10½ feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 600 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

New York Chief of Police.

Mr. William Devery, whose term as Chief of Police of New York was marked by an administration the evil and shame of which have not yet been eradicated, is a Mayoralty candidate in the big city. A New York Tribune reporter thus records an interview with the "Big Chief," as Devery is familiarly known:

Let Tammany and fusion worry about the Mayoralty campaign!

"No worry in mine," says the Chief Bug. "Bill" Devery. "I've got things cinched; I can't lose."

And so certain is he of this that he will not even consider his future moves in case he doesn't win.

"There's goin' to be a revolution—a revolution by the peepul, an' the peepul are goin' to get in control. The trusts don't realise that, and the newspapers don't seem to be on to the game. An' say, pard, Tammany Hall don't seem to think that the peepul are tired of havin' their votes stole from them, but they are, I tell you, there's things goin' to be doin' this campaign, and I'm goin' to win out on this Mayor-alty fight, as well as at the primaries. I was never in a losin' fight yet."

So said the Big Chief yesterday—said it, and really meant it. He had spent the afternoon in conferences with his henchmen, among them Assemblyman "Dick" Butler and "Sam" Parks and his bodyguard. As a relaxation, Devery surveyed the general political field.

"We're goin' to have a rip-sizzle of a day to-morrow," he began. "Our big meetings will be right here at headquarters, but we'll have another at Tenth avenue and Twenty-eighth street, and one at Eighth avenue and Twenty-first street. If my encyclopaedia holds out, I expect to toddle around to each one. Tammany's spending a lot of money in this district—all it can borrow, I guess. Maybe Croker'll send over some. Will he ever come back? Sure thing! And when he does, you'll see Charlie Murphy (he's no more than a wooden Indian in front of a cigar store) stood on his head, while all the leaders go back to Croker. Now, I'm goin' to do it in the primaries, but I wouldn't take the job of district leader from Tammany Hall. I wouldn't be leader of the Wigwam, but when I'm elected there'll be a house-cleanin' over that way. Murphy'll go back to the gas retorts, and some of the others'll never be heard of again. They say all the Sheehan leaders went over to Goodwin. Well, I'll bet I get more than Goodwin. Sheehan and I was both cheated of our rights by Tammany. Sheehan's men are Democrats, and they're goin' to stand by me. Sheehan and I never had a voice in appointin' the election inspectors. I hear that some of them are goin' to load up the boxes. They might throw 'em in the East River. Let 'em try it! I'll have a lawyer at every pollin' place, and if they try to monkey I'll land 'em in the station house. I hear there'll be floaters from Paterson and the Bowery and the eighteenth district. Well, they'd better stay east of Seventh avenue, 'cause the wind changes often over here, and we're liable to have a equinoxial.

"Take my tip, boys. I'm goin' to win. Are you with us?"

The Most Valuable Knife.

The most valuable knife in the world is to be seen in the collection of a famous firm of cutlers in Sheffield. It is large enough to fit the pocket of none but a giant and contains seventy-five blades, which close up like those of an ordinary knife. Each of the larger blades is elaborately engraved and among the subjects of these strange pictures are views of Sheffield College, the City of York, Windsor Castle, Arundel Castle and a score of other famous scenes. The hafts are of mother of pearl, carved with great skill. On one side the artist has depicted a stag hunt and on the other a boar hunt. When asked as to the value of this knife, the firm replied: "Well, we calculated it up to £30, but that was before it was finished, and then we ceased to estimate what it had cost."

"There is something," he said, "that I have wanted to tell you for a long time, but——"

"Oh, Bertie," she said, blushing sweetly, "not here in the car before all these people. Wait. Come this evening."

"It's merely that you have a streak of soot down the middle of your nose, but I couldn't for the life of me get a word in till just now."—Chicago Record-Herald.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten years of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same care and attention

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co. These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p. Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet. This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. saaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but w e whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this or remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide' We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basi

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day-one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 300 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The Monarch Consolidated Gold & Copper Mining and Smelting Company

of BOULDER, COLORADO

Solicits the co-operation of reputable men in providing means for the thorough and rapid development of two large gold and copper mining estates, which are assured to possess intrinsic value, and to that end extends every opportunity for determination as to whether statements made by the company are true or false.

The properties when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for these unless you really are interested, because on waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than justify every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two items alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 30 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $30 to $160 per ton, and the Company owns 9,000 feet on this vein.

Ore running from $18 to $60 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold property, and 54 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $28.32 per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,720 acres of placer and timber land. Water power of 500 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary. Ore easily reduced on Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

It is related that Sainte-Beuve detested rain. On one occasion, when he had to fight a duel, he appeared with a pistol in one hand and an umbrella in the other. "I am willing to be shot," he exclaimed, "but not to get wet."

George Meredith, the eminent novelist, is as alert and witty in his casual talk as he is in his fiction. Not long ago, in conversation with a friend, Mr. Meredith was asked his opinion of a certain obnoxious person who had lately settled in the neighborhood. "He seems to me," replied the author of "Diana of the Crossways," "to be one of the least of God's mercies."

A characteristic story of the late Sir Hector Macdonald has just reached us. Always a man of few words, when sending his only son to a public school for the first time, he addressed the following brief note to the headmaster: "Herewith boy Hector, to be made a man of"—a sentence worthy of being handed down to posterity as a remarkable example of brevity and sterling common sense.

An Englishman of somewhat questionable reputation, who was criticising the American way of spelling, once turned to Maurice Barrymore, the actor, and said: "I'll leave it to Mr. Barrymore. Is it right to leave out the 'u' in such words as harbor, neighbor, honor, candor, etc?" "Well, about harbor and neighbor I am not sure," replied Barrymore, "but when it comes to honor and candor I leave you out."

The story is told of a Scotch preacher who gave his people long, strong sermons, and delivered them in a remarkably deliberate manner. One Sunday he asked a friend who was visiting him to occupy his pulpit in the morning. "An' were you satisfied wi' my preaching?" asked his friend, as they walked home from the kirk. "Weel," said his host, slowly, "it was a fair discourse, Willie, a fair discourse; but it pained me at the last to see the folk looking sae fresh and wide awake. I mistrust 'twasna sae long nor sae sound as it should hae been."

When Booker T. Washington was asked by a Southerner recently to prove to a Northern audience that that section was really responsible for the introduction of slavery into the American colonies, Mr. Washington said he was reminded of the story of an old colored man who had a pig, which he sold one morning to a white man for three dollars. The white man drove off with his purchase, but on the road the pig escaped, and found its way back to Uncle Zeke's cabin. A little later, another white man came along, and Uncle Zeke sold him the same pig for another three dollars. On his way home with the pig the second purchaser encountered the first returning in search of the escaped animal. After some wrangling they decided to go back and refer the question to the old darkey. "Uncle Zeke" said number one, "didn't you sell me this pig at nine o'clock this morning?" "Sho' I did, maass." "But, Uncle Zeke," said number two, "didn't I pay you three dollars for this pig at twelve o'clock?" "Sho' you did, maass." "Well, then, who does the pig belong to?" "Sakes alive," said Uncle Zeke, "can't you white folks settle dat question between yo'selves?"

Like many Frenchmen, especially those hailing from the south of France, President Loubet is very fond of those national dishes in which garlic forms an important ingredient. Once, in his lawyer days, when he was pleading in court after having partaken of some such dish, his democratic tastes in this respect placed him in a somewhat embarrassing position. The presiding judge happened to be a man of aristocratic origin and breeding, to whom the odor of garlic was absolutely intolerable. M. Loubet rose and began his argument. He had not proceeded very far when the judge was observed to sniff rather uncomfortably and to take out a perfumed handkerchief, refreshening it a few moments later with a smelling-bottle. These measures, however, proved of no avail as a protection from the pungent and penetrating effluvium which emanated from the future President of the republic. At last, his olfactory sense rising in open rebellion, the indignant judge shouted: "Usher, open the windows; open the doors. For heaven's sake, let out this abominable smell!" Since then M. Loubet, it is said, though he still preserves his simplicity of life, has eliminated garlic from his articles of diet.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100.00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Santa Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 500,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

STRYCHNINE POISONING CAUSE OF DEATH.

SUCH WAS VERDICT OF JURY AT CRAIG INQUEST YESTERDAY

Prof. Ellis' Report Considered Strong Evidence—Jury Agreed That Poison Was Administered

"We find that the death of James Craig was caused by strychnine poisoning, but are not from the evidence able to find how or by whom administered. Are of opinion that it was not a case of suicide."

The above verdict was brought in at the inquest on the death of the late James Craig, of Lakefield, and this, no doubt, voiced the sentiments of a greater portion of the community. The case is surrounded with mystery, and no doubt there will be still further trouble, as Detective Murray was present yesterday, evidently in the interests of one or the whole four insurance companies involved. The following is a list of the jurymen; J. F. Lillicrap, foreman; Chas. M. Shannon, John E. Richardson, Wm. Cox, Sr., Thos. Webster, Francis K. Richardson, John English, Geo. Murdoff, John Grylls, William V. Reynolds, Lawrence G. Steele, John C. Baldwin, William Cox, Jr.

DR. FRASER'S EVIDENCE.

Dr. Fraser was the first witness called yesterday, and he testified that after the first adjourned inquest he sent a portion of the deceased's stomach, the vomit, and a portion of the liver, to the Provincial Analyst, Toronto. He received in reply the following letter;

Toronto, April 12, 1904.
J. R. Fraser, Esq., M.D.,
Lakefield, Ont.

Dear Dr. Fraser,—I have examined the articles you sent me and find strychnine in the vomit, and in the stomach of the late James Craig. I find none in the sardines.

The quantity of strychnine in the stomach I estimate at about one quarter of a grain.

I infer that the deceased must have taken a fatal dose of strychnine.

Yours truly,
W. H. ELLIS.

Witness' opinion as to the cause of death was confirmed by the analysis. In his former evidence he did his former evidence he did not state whenhe got the ale. In reply to question of witness, deceased had said he had had one glass of ale, but did not say when he got it. Witness did not know whether the ale had been drunk just before retiring. Strychnine would not make him sleep and would not act until a few minutes after it is taken. It acts rapidly on an empty stomach, such as that of the deceased. Witness thought symptoms of strychnine would appear within half an hour at least, and perhaps as early as fifteen minutes. Some are far more susceptibe to strychnine than others. The first symptoms would be shuddering, spasms, and cramps.

OTHER WITNESSES CALLED.

Mr. Robert P. Davidson was the next witness, and testified as follows;—"I am manager of the Trader's Bank here, and I was at the Craig House on the evening of Mr. Craig's death. I was there all night as I was living there. I saw deceased about 10 o'clock, to the best of my knowledge, when he was lying on the sofa. This was the last I saw of him, but my wife said she heard a noise, and I heart groaning about one o'clock. I put on a dressing gown and went out into the hall, when I saw Mr. John Craig at the bedroom door, and Dr. Fraser in the room. Have been at the hotel since a year ago last October, and have heard disturbances in the kitchen, but cannot say between whom. One evening last June July or August, Mr. Jas. Craig and Mr. Boyea had an altercation. The former was evidently abusing the help in the kitchen, and Mr. Boyea went to the girls assistance. I have heard that Craig and his wife disagreed. I left the hotel because of the trouble between Craig and Boyea. My room is near Jas. Craig's room, but I did not see Mrs. Craig or the daughter retire that night. I heard John Craig call the deceased to bake some bread, after I was in bed, but there were no angry words. I heard someone go into the kitchen."

Charles Shannon had heard no quarrelling between deceased and his wife on the night of his death. He had heard little dispute prior to this but nothing of any serious account.

Mrs. Jas. Craig, wife of deceased, was next called. She testified that deceased had retired about 11 o'clock apparently all right and acting the same as usual. He set his watch as was customary. She did not hear John call him from the sofa, as she was going to bed. She had been told by John Craig that he had called deceased to go into the kitchen. She had no theory in her mind as to how he could have got the strychnine. She did not know prior to coming yesterday that the analysis reported death from strychnine. She did not hear Long say anything about finding strychnine, and she had never seen him with any strychnine.

Irene Craig had gone to bed about 10 o'clock, along with her mother. She was asleep when her father retired, and only awakened when she heard him moaning. She was sitting up in bed when Mr. John Craig came into the room, and her mother woke up about the same time she did. Her mother had made an effort to arouse deceased before leaving the room to summon Mr. John Craig.

JAS. LONG'S TESTIMONY.

Long was the next witness. He at first persisted that he had told all he knew. He had said nothing about any trouble between deceased and others, and he did not say after the last adjournment that he knew more than he had told. He remembered the bottle of strychnine he got in January, and described it as like the one produced. He had found a similar bottle under the rafter, and eight pills were made, six of which Long had taken to the pig yard. He had not noticed how much strychnine Craig had used. Long was quite sure James Craig had not measured the strychnine, but had made it into pills and placed it on cheese for rats. He had no talk with deceased afterwards about strychnine. The second day after his death he had looked for the poison in the meat house, as that was where it had been kept. He could not say why he looked for it, and he had not even heard from cause Craig had died. He had found the strychnine and had returned it to where he had got it. He had got it later on and had given it to Mr. Cochrane. He had found the bottle first on the morning he had given evidence for the first time. He claimed that he had not heard up to that time of the doctor's idea of the cause of death.

LETTER TO CORONER GRAY.

The following is a copy of the letter received by Coroner Gray, from Provincial Analyst Ellis;—

Toronto, April 12, 1904.

Dr. Gray, Coroner, Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—I have examined the contents of a parcel sent in by D. J. R. Fraser, of Lakefield, with the following results;—

In the opened box of sardines I have found no strychnine.

In the bottle labelled "Vomit" I have found strychnine. The quantity contained in the vomit I estimate at about one-eighth of a grain.

In the contents of the stomach I also found strychnine. I estimate the quantity in the stomach at about one-eighth part of a grain. The total amount of strychnine in stomach and vomit I estimate at about one quarter of a grain.

I have not determined the quantity of strychnine in the liver and other viscira.

It is not possible if strychnine be taken to recover from the stomach more than a fraction of the whole quantity taken. I have no doubt, therefore, that the deceased must have a quantity of strychnine sufficient to cause death.

I am, yours truly,
W. H. ELLIS.

DEATH OF MRS. J. G. CHAMBERS

Respected Peterborough Citizen Died from Typhoid Fever

Death is no respecter of persons, it visits alike the homes of rich and poor. Some comfort may be found in the words of the poet.

"Let us be patient; these severe afflictions
Not from the ground arise,
But oftentimes celestial benedictions,
Assume this dark disguise."

But when the mother of a family of little children, too young to really comprehend the loss, too young to realize that they are left to learn life's hard lessons without the guidance of a mother's affectionate hand, the tear of regret falls the more readily.

Yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, death visited the residence of Mr. J. G. Chambers, of 463 Stewart street, and claimed as its victim the beloved wife and affectionate mother, the late Margaret Boyd. The late Mrs. Chambers had been ill only a month, with an attack of typhoid fever, and until a few days ago the brightest hopes were entertained for her recovery. She was born in Hope, Ont., about 45 years ago, and 23 years ago married Mr. J. G. Chambers, also of Hope. About three years ago the family removed to Peterborough, where they have since resided. Besides the bereaved husband, a family of six small children, ranging in years from 4 to 15, four boys and two girls, are left to mourn her loss. The four sons are, Howard, Victor, Stanley and Reginald and the girls are Ethel and Florence. Deceased was a consistent member of George street Methodist church, and her motherly disposition, and exemplary Christian life had won for her many friends, who join in expressions of the sincerest regret at her sudden demise.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, Stewart street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Massachusetts woman, Mrs. Carrie F. Hanaford, of No. 69 Main Street, Beverly, Mass., who is well known socially there, being Treasurer of the Order of the Eastern Star, wrote her experience as follows: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' is, without a doubt, the finest remedy on the market to-day, for female difficulties. I suffered for four years with pains every period, and I dreaded the approach of the time as there it meant two or three days' misery. Tried several different, widely-advertised remedies, and found that they did me no good whatever. One day a friend called, who had learned of I was suffering, and who told me that she had been cured through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as I purchased a bottle. I found that the real value of your medicine was greater even than my expectations, and the first month I had hardly any pain. The following month had none at all, and found that my general health was much better and new life and strength had come to me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

JAPS CLAIM THAT THEY SANK THE PETROPAVIOVSK

Vice-Admiral Sends a Report to Tokio--No Damage to Togo's Ships and Only One Jap was Wounded

Special to THE TIMES.

Tokio, April 14.--A brief report from Rear-Admiral Uriu of Wednesday's fighting off Port Arthur reached the Navy Department this afternoon. It says Vice-Admiral Togo's fleet attacked Port Arthur in the morning and succeeded in sinking a battleship of the Petropavlovsk class and one torpedo-boat destroyer. The Japanese sustained no losses. One Japanese was wounded.

A detailed report of the engagement is expected hourly.

St. Petersburg, April 15.—In view of the disclosures concerning the Japanese endeavors to inspire Sweden with courage to take advantage of Russia's position and occupy Finland the report that Sweden is going to have elaborate naval evolutions in the Baltic is attracting special attention here.

London, April 14.—The Daily Telegraph, discussing the altered tone of the Russian press toward the United States and Great Britain and the possibilities of a rapprochement in an editorial which probably represents the government view, says:—"The object of our foreign office has been for years, ever since Lord Salisbury's first administration, to arrive at a friendly and honorable arrangement with Russia. Heartily as we welcome the symptoms of a better understanding, such friendship must be based upon absolute sincerity.

"We cannot consent to any interference with the independence of Japan, and all attempts to destroy the good feeling between Great Britain and the United States must be abandoned. The further opening of the far eastern markets on equal terms to Anglo-American commerce will be insisted upon.

"If Russia is prepared to limit her demands to those she formulated in her different treaties with China and if she is willing to disarm Port Arthur and Vladivostok which can only be a menace to Japan, she can have peace to-morrow, with the hearty concurrence of Great Britain and the United States."

"In this particular problem Germany's views are not a factor."

Philadelphia, Pa., March 15.—"The Struggle in the Far East, Its Causes and the Issues Involved," was the subject discussed to-night at the meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The principal address was made by William Dudley Foulke of Washington, United States civil commissioner, who came out in favor of Japan. Professor Lindley Miller Keasbey of Bryn Mawr college, former Postmaster General; Charles Emory Smith, United States Minister to Russia during President Harrison's administration, and Brigadier General James H. Wilson, U.S.A., also discussed the subject. President Edmund J. James of Northwestern University presided.

Mr. Foulke traced the diplomatic and military events which led to the present war and then considered the issues involved in the struggle, especially with reference to the future fate of the Chinese Empire. That empire might remain independent, it might fall under the leadership or control of Japan, it might be divided among the great powers, or it might fall under the dominion of Russia. These were the alternatives. How would they affect American commercial interests? So long as Chinese territory remained intact, either independent or under the control of a nation whose policy it was to encourage free competition, America was in a better position than any European power.

Glad Japan Resists Russia.

Mr. Foulke contended that even American commercial interests were not so vital as the far-reaching political questions connected with Russia's aspirations for supremacy in the Chinese empire. He reviewed the history of Russia, its suppression of liberal institutions, the stifling of liberal education, the censorship of the press, the tyranny of the administrative exile. He contended that to all nations that took thought for the future of humanity the duty was imperative to stay the aggressions of the colossal Russian empire, whose contests threatened a lasting calamity to the essentials of modern civilization.

Mr. Foulke considered it fortunate that a new power like Japan should have come to the front, possessing the advantages of a geographical situation, an admirable equipment and a spirit of determination which might enable her to stay, at least for a time, the progress of the Russian advance.

Montreal, April 15.—Captain Ryan, of Halifax, is said to be at the head of a party of Canadians who are going to Japan hoping to serve as scouts in the Japanese army.

When spoken to this morning on the subject, Hon. T. G. Shaughnessy, Consul-General for Japan, reiterated his statement that he had no authority from his government to accept the services of any aliens. Mr. Noase said that Captain Ryan had asked him to accept his services, but the Consul-General had been unable to do so, suggesting that the only way in which the officer could go to the scene of action was as a war correspondent. Captain Ryan was, however, so sanguine that he had already purchased his ticket to Yokohama and it is stated will leave at once with the other Canadians, who also hope to be of some service to the army, when they reach the land of the Rising Sun.

Victoria, B.C., April 15.—Rush work is being done on the British fortifications at Esquimault. This new fort on Signal Hill, commanding the entrance to the harbor, is being pushed with all expedition. Two large 9.2 guns are to be mounted. The work of blasting the rock for installing these is being hurried and the guns are to be placed in September. As soon as these have been installed it is reported that steps will be taken to install one of the new steel and wire guns recently purchased by the British authorities. These are most formidable weapons. The projectile from them will carry a distance of about twenty miles. With one of these in position Signal Hill port would command the Straits of Juan de Fuca. A shot from it would carry to the United States side of the straits.

PIGSKIN GRAFTED ON WOMAN

Unusual Operation is Performed to Save a Life

Richmond, Va., April 15.—Pig's skin has taken the place of the neutral cuticle on the body of Mary Grant, a colored woman who was so badly burned about the body and arms some time ago that her injuries refused to heal. Efforts were made to get her relatives or friends to give sufficient skin to supply her loss, but none was willing. Dr. Trevillian of the city hospital thereupon procured a young pig a few months old, chloroformed the animal, shaved off its bristly hair and removed enough of the skin for his purpose. The operation was performed to-day and the physician is confident of its success.

HAVE NOT STRUCK

Report that G. N. W. Telegraph Strike a Fake

Montreal, April 15.—While steps which might have culminated in a strike has been taken by some employes in the offices of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company of this city they have been abortive.

The report therefore which was given to the press by an officer of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was incorrect, in so far as it stated that the response to a strike call had been general. There has been no strike in Montreal.

Within a short time the Great North-Western Telegraph Company has dismissed from its service in Montreal four or five telegraph operators. It is said they belonged to the Union. This was the reason for the efforts to bring on a strike in Montreal. There is no shortage of telegraphers here.

Mr. W. B. Powell, local manager of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company, stated that there had never been anything approaching strike conditions in the local office.

"At no time during the last few weeks have we had any trouble with our operators and indeed could have considerably increased our staff had we wished to do so. The trouble in Toronto and Ottawa did not amount to anything, and we at no time had any inconvenience in receiving or transmitting messages to either of those points. The trouble at both of those points is entirely ended."

Japs Laid Mines And Enticed Russians Out.

Made Demonstration Before Port Then Retired and Joined the Main Fleet

Special to THE TIMES.

Chefoo, April 14.—It has been learned from a Japanese source here that the attack on the Russian Port Arthur fleet of yesterday morning was planned and put into effect in the following manner;

At daylight the Japanese torpedo boats made a demonstration before the port, and at the same time laid mines across the outer entrance to the harbor. They then retired and joined the main squadron. The squadron then advanced, and as it drew near the Russian ships were seen coming out. The battleship Petropavlovsk struck one of the mines laid by the Japanese torpedo boats and was destroyed.

EXPERIENCED MEN WANTED

Many Merchants Desire Them at Office Boy Prices

Employers who desire experienced men at office boy prices may find something to their interests, and garbage to their education, in the following letter which was actually sent by an experienced young man in answer to a recent advertisement for a stenographer and typewriter at a salary of $5.00 per week:—

"Dear Sir,—I beg to offer myself as an applicant for the position advertised. I am a young man thirty-seven years of age, having had a business experience of twenty-three years, being connected with the United States consular service at Madagascar for some time, and feel confident, if you will give me a trial, I can prove my worth to you. I am not only an expert bookkeeper, proficient stenographer and typewriter, excellent telegraph operator and erudite college professor, but have several other accomplishments which might make me more desirable than ordinary mortals. I am an experienced snow-shoveller, a first-class corn-husker and peanut roaster, have some knowledge of removing superfluous hair and clipping puppy dogs' ears, and a silver medal for reciting 'Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night,' and a skilled chiropodist and practical farmer, can cook, take care of horses, grease trousers, open oysters and repair umbrellas.

"Being possessed of great physical beauty, I would not only be useful but ornamental as well, lending to the sacred precincts of your office that delightful artistic charm that a Satsuma vase or a stuffed billy goat would. My whiskers being quite luxuriant and extensive, my face could be used as a doormat, pen-wiper, or feather duster. I can furnish high recommendations from Chauncey M. Depew, Jacob S. Coxey, Kaiser Wilhelm, Capt. Clark, the prime minister to Dahomy, the dog catcher, general of Timbuctoo and the Ahkoond of Swat. As to salary, my dear man, I would feel I was robbing the widowed of bread and swiping sponge cake from the orphaned if I was to take advantage of your munificence by accepting the fabulous sum of $3 per week. I would be entirely willing to give my service for less, and by accepting $1.37, it would not only give me a clear conscience, but would also give you an opportunity of increasing your donation to the the church, pay your butcher's bill, keep up your life insurance, found a home for indigent flypaper salesmen, and endow a free bed in a 'rest home.' Really, old man, your unheard of charity borders on the super-natural, and to the ordinary mind, appeared like reckless extravagance.

"I can call to see you any Saturday night after eleven, or can be seen any Sunday morning in the choir loft of our church, where I am at present employed as first assistant organ blower and understudy of the janitor. Hopefully yours, M. D.

"P.S.—Now honestly, what kind of a man do you expect for $3 per week? Do you want one made of tin, or would a nice, juicy, pretty gentleman fill the bill?"

ANNUAL MEETING

THE HENDERSON ROLLER BEARING MFG. COMPANY, LIMITED

Highly Satisfactory Report of Directors—Dividend Declared

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Henderson Roller Bearing Manufacturing Company, Limited, was held in the Temple Building on Thursday, April 7th, 1904.

An unusually large number of shareholders had gathered from various parts of the country.

The Report of Directors for the past year showed very satisfactory results of the year's operations. The success of the company was such that the Directors were able to recommend to the shareholders the payment out of the year's profits of a dividend of ten per cent. on the amount paid up on stock.

The shareholders were enthusiastic in their expressions of appreciation of the development of the Company, and a resolution was unanimously adopted, expressing confidence in the Board and thanks for their past services.

The rapid development of this new industry is well illustrated by the fact that the factory, although only nine months in operation, had, at the close of the year, all the departments fully equipped and employing about fifty men.

The Company find it necessary to greatly increase their capacity, and have had several very liberal propositions made to them, offering locations and concessions for this new factory site, which the Company expect to be compelled to provide to meet the rapidly increasing demands of the business.

The concluding paragraph of the Directors' Report embodies very accurately the sentiment of the meeting, when it says:

"The members of the Board pay the result of the year before you for your favorable consideration, conscious that they have used and employed all their energies for the welfare of the shareholders and success of the Company, and believing that they have had the honor and responsibility of laying the foundation of a business, the effect of which will extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and be a revelation to the manufacturing, mechanical and transportation portion of the community, and that will afford great satisfaction to those who are fortunate enough to be holders of stock in the Company."

The election of Directors resulted as follows: Albert Ogden, Toronto; W. Vandusen Toronto Junction; H. Wardell Peterborough; John L. Gibb, St. Catharines; A. D. Watson Toronto; A. E. Henderson Toronto; John J. Main, Toronto; John C. Eaton, Toronto; R. I. Henderson, Toronto; Senator Merner Berlin; P. H. McKenzie, Lucknow.

At a Board meeting, immediately following the shareholders' meeting, the following officers were elected—President, Albert Ogden; Vice-President, A. D. Watson; Secretary-Treasurer, A. E. Henderson; Manager, R. I. Henderson.

PRETTY APRIL WEDDING

Peterborough Couple Married on Wednesday Afternoon

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Charles Griffin, 257 Stewart street, on Wednesday afternoon, when his eldest daughter, Mary, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Fredenburg, also of this city. Rev. J. Bastow conducted the ceremony, and a number of intimate friends were present.

Miss Patton played the wedding march, and Miss Bertha Griffin assisted the bride while the groom was supported by Mr. John Hardwick. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests repaired to the spacious dining-room, where a dainty repast was partaken of. Many useful and beautiful presents were received by the bride, among which might be mentioned, a silver butter dish from the employees of Mrs. Gemmell. The groom also received a handsome present from the Baraca Bible class.

Among the guests present were Mr. B. Griffin, of Detroit, and Mr. E. and Miss Eva Wylie, of Sault Ste. Marie.

AN EXCELLENT CONCERT

Miss Muriel Foster and Emiliano Renaud Furnish an Excellent Program

Seldom has a Peterborough audience ever had the pleasure of listening to such excellent talent as was heard at George street church last evening, when Miss Muriel Foster, the talented contralto, and M. Emiliano Renaud, the world famed pianist, appeared for the first time here.

The church was almost filled to the doors with an appreciative and enthusiastic audience, who listened with the keenest interest to the beautiful selections, so superbly rendered. Owing to an accident on the railway near Gardens Hill, the train was delayed over two hours, and in consequence the opening of the program was somewhat delayed. In the interval, before the arrival of Miss Foster, the celebrated pianist, Emiliano Renaud, rendered several selections. The program opened with a Sonata (Moonlight) Adagio, Sestenuto, Allegretto, Presto Agitato, by Beethoven, when the noted musician immediately captivated his hearers, who recalled him several times. His playing was par excellence, the delicacy and cleanness of his touch being shown up well by the rapid passages. M. Renaud has an amusing habit of searching the keyboard with a close glance which might be looking for inspiration, or a stray fleck of dust. But his work is that of a gifted, well trained musician, and is pleasant, technically, to the ear. His technique is superb, and his wonderful temperament, colossal power, together with his rare poetic coloring, are most noticeable. His runs, trills, staccato, and octave passages, are all amazing exhibitions of the finest pianistic art and development, combined with which he possesses, to a marked degree, a warm personality which at once puts him in touch with his audience.

Beautiful Miss Muriel Foster with her golden contralto voice, charmed her audience throughout each number, and was obliged to respond to repeated encores. The rich timbre of her tones, the full expressiveness of her interpretation, mingled with the effortless cadence, holds her audience spellbound, while her simple, unspoiled unaffectedness, only tends to enhance her art. Her presence is admirable, and her dramatic power, as all the passions seem to vibrate at her will, of a very high order. Her's is a voice for the note of triumph or the defiance of the enemy, and as it rang round the church it stirred the blood of all who heard it. Of all her songs, the "Happy Song," and "My Heart is Weary," were the sweetest and displayed her wonderful ability most perfectly, and it was rather an annoyance to have the efforts of her exquisitely hushed notes in the latter driven away by Emiliano Renaud, with the "Minuet," "Ava Maria" and "Valse Allemande," although his playing of these was marvellous.

Miss Kate Eadie's work as accompanist was most acceptable, and indicated great culture.

A Millbrook Wedding

The Globe contains the following:

At the Manse, Millbrook, the residence of Rev. W. Haig, on Wednesday, the marriage was solemnized of Mr. David James Fleming, Millbrook, and Miss Grace Rose, daughter of Mr. A. Rose, formerly of Peterboro, and sister of Mrs. Haig. The ceremony was conducted by the bride's brother, Rev. A. S. Rose, Foxboro, assisted by her brother-in-law, Rev. W. Hall. The bride wore white mousseline de soie over white silk, and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Agnes C. McEwen, wore white organdie and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Roy Fleming, brother of the groom. About thirty guests were present.

RUSSIANS LOST TORPEDO BOAT, AND BATTLESHIP

Bezstrashni was Cut off from the Rest of the Russian Fleet at Port Arthur,

Special to THE TIMES.

St. Petersburg, April 14.—It was officially announced today that the torpedo-boat destroyer Bezstrashni was cut off from the rest of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur and sunk by the Japanese, that her crew was lost, and that the battleship Pobieda accidentally struck a mine while manoeuvering, but was able to return to the harbor without loss of life.

Special to THE TIMES.

St. Petersburg, April 14.—Rear-Admiral Prince Ouktomsky wires from Port Arthur today that the Bestrashni, one of the Russian torpedo-boat destroyers sent out during the night to reconnoitre, became separated from the rest of the fleet, owing to the bad weather prevailing, was surrounded by Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers, and was sunk in the fight. Five men were saved.

Washington, April 14.—The most powerful fleet of American warships seen in foreign waters will assemble in the Mediterranean this summer. It will be made up of more than forty vessels. The principal reason for sending such a large fleet to Europe is a secret closely guarded. One reason is the president's desire to make good his threat to the Sultan of Turkey at the time the American warships were withdrawn from Turkish waters, at the Sultan's request, after the Alexandretta incident. Mr. Roosevelt then notified the Sultan that the naval force would return in greater strength if some diplomatic differences with Turkey, which are still pending, were not quickly settled.

Fleet to Sail By Way of Suez.

The administration's desire to make the naval display as formidable as possible is shown by the decision to send the south Atlantic squadron, in command of Rear Admiral Chadwick, to Madagascar and points on the east coast of South Africa by way of the Mediterranean and the Suez canal, instead of by the southern route.

Admiral Chadwick will sail from Pensacola about April 25th the flagship Brooklyn. His other ships will be the Atlanta, Castine and Marietta. The squadron will return by the southern route, completing the circle of Africa.

Big Battleships Ordered East.

The battle ship squadron, which will be in command of Rear Admiral Barker, will consist of the Kearsarge, Missouri, Iowa, Maine, Illinois and Alabama. On account of the recent injury to the Illinois she probably will not be able to go with the squadron, but will follow as soon as her repairs are finished.

The European squadron will include the Olympia, Cleveland, Baltimore and Des Moines. Rear Admiral Jewell, with the Olympia as his flagship, will command the squadron. The Mayflower will accompany the battleship fleet as tender and three colliers, the Sterling, Abarenda and Lebanon, will be taken along. One or both of the supply-ships, Culgoa and Glacier, will carry stores for the combined squadrons.

The battle-ships will visit Trieste, Villafranche and other points and will return about Sept. 1.

A PAYING ENTERPRISE

Pelican Land and Development Company Declaring Large Dividends

To the investor the value of any enterprise depends almost wholly upon the business standing of the men who are behind it and in control of its affairs, whether they are honestly contemplating or conducting a legitimate business operation or engineering a stock jobbing scheme for the sole purpose of unloading some of their stock on a credulous public. These are matters of vital importance and should be carefully considered by an investor before intrusting his resources to the control of any corporation. One of the safest and most promising investments that has come to our notice is that of the Pelican Land and Development Company, of New Orleans. The directors of this progressive corporation are men of the highest standing and the connection of their names with the enterprise as sufficient guarantee of honest, conservative and competent business management.

The opportunities for making money in the south have only commenced and the industrial advancement now going on there has no parallel in the history of nations. Thousands of acres in Louisiana are being planted in rice, the land being splendidly adapted to the culture of that staple. Rice lands there that sold for a mere pittance a few years ago yield now from $40 to $50 per acre. Rice requires thorough saturation of the land with water and when this is done by means of irrigating canals and ditches, regular, steady and unfailing crops, each and every year are a certainty, as the state of the weather and its variations do not affect its productiveness. As a consequence all who have been connected with the rice industry have made large profits, while extensive colonies have been formed, important towns built and fortunes have been made by the larger operators.

Realizing all the above named, and even still more favorable conditions, the Pelican Land and Development Company has been organized, under the laws of the State of Louisiana, under the most favorable auspices, primarily for the object of purchasing, reclaiming and developing a tract of 142,147 acres of rich alluvial lands in the parish of Terre Bonne. Briefly told, real estate purchased at one-fifth actual value is the fundamental basis of this company's business and owing to irrigation it will in as many years under irrigation, the development of town sites, establishment of mills, and other industries and up-to-date improvements.

To carry out this plan this progressive company has decided to offer to intending investors, large or small, a ground floor opportunity to participate in the benefits accruing from its operations and share with them the large profits which will be made perpetually, 7 per cent. being the least an investor will receive, each year's profit increasing until fully 50 per cent. per annum on every dollar is sure and certain.

Considerable more in detail might be written concerning this excellent enterprise, but it need only be added that persistent enquiry reveals the legitimacy, high character and profitable nature of the proposition, and these facts being established it is evident that the shares offered by the Pelican Company are worthy of the serious consideration of the most careful and far-sighted investor. Fuller particulars may be had on application to Mr. George Stevens, Peterborough the local fiscal agent of this promising concern.

LACROSSE.

In the country towns it should surely be possible to maintain amateur lacrosse teams even if the players are not picked up all over the country as at present. A home-grown team might not be quite as swift as one that could be got together by a manager with a secret wallet; but it would appeal more strongly to local pride, it would wear better, and do more to develop local athletics.

Tweed lacrosse club have organized and will enter enthusiastically into the national game. With the old stalwart, Mr. Zed Lafountain, for manager, the Tweed team should make a good showing. They will enter a team in the Trent Valley League.

The Athletic Lacrosse Club will be known this year as the "Peterboroughs," and the team will enter the intermediate series of the O.L.A.

David Fife's Experiment

About the year 1842, David Fife, of the Township of Otonabee, procured through a friend in Glasgow, a quantity of wheat which had been obtained from a cargo direct from Dantzic, Prussia. As it came to hand just before spring seed time, and not knowing whether it was a fall or spring variety, Mr. Fife concluded to sow a part of it that spring and wait for the result. It proved to be a fall wheat, as it never ripened except three ears, which grew apparently from a single grain. These were preserved, and although sown next year under unfavorable circumstances, being quite late and in a shady place, it proved at harvest to be entirely free from rust when all wheat in the neighborhood was badly rusted. The produce of this was carefully preserved and from it sprang the variety of wheat known over Canada and the Northern States by the different names of Fife, Scotch and Glasgow.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. WIDOWS, ORPHANS AND "HONOR"

A man's trade may be war and yet he may deplore bloodshed. This is shown in the fact that the most of the military experts are disposed to regret the early successes of the Japanese in the conflict with Russia.

They argue that these initial advantages have so elated the Japanese that they will be encouraged to prolong a war which might otherwise have been ended after a comparatively brief campaign had developed no marked success for either side.

In the present situation it is pointed out with a good deal of reason that Japan has not only formed an unduly favorable opinion of her own prowess, but Russia having sustained a pronounced reverse, is impelled by pride to persevere in the struggle until she has wiped out the stigma of that reverse.

If honors were easy that vague quality known on the dueling ground and on international battlefields as "honor" could easily enough be held to be satisfied by the killing and maiming of relatively few Japanese and Russians. As it is, the desired satisfaction is likely to be deemed lacking until several thousands of combatants shall have given up their lives and both countries are bankrupt of blood and treasure.

It is probable that this prognosis of the conflict will prove to be correct. The situation, unfortunately, is such that no signal advantage is likely to be gained by either combatant. Even if the Japanese were to destroy the remnant of the Russian naval force the conflict would still be capable of indefinite prolongation. It would become an impasse—a deadlock in which neither side could hope for decided triumph.

Though the Japanese might force the Russians to retire from the coast it is certain that the advantage could be followed no farther. It would be madness for the Japanese to dream of pursuing their opponents into the interior, yet unless the Russians were driven back to European Russia they would undoubtedly return again and again to the conflict. The Siberian snows would prove as dangerous to the Japanese troops as were the Russian snows to the soldiers of Napoleon.

On the other hand, if the Russians were to carry the war into Corea driving the Japanese to their ships, it is equally certain that the Russian position would be constantly menaced. Masters of the sea, the Japanese would continually harrass and threaten the Russians with expeditions landed at various points on the coast, the landing being covered by the guns of the Japanese warships. The Russian position in Corea would be as difficult and dangerous as a Japanese movement into Siberia.

In the present circumstances one or the other of the situations outlined seems almost certain to become a reality if the war is prolonged, and the prolongation of the war is unfortunately only too probable. With one side elated and self-confident and the other burning to revenge an unexpected humiliation there is very little ground for the hope that the making od widows and orphans will stop until one or both combatants shall be completely exhausted.

The veneer of civilization is shown to be very thin when nations set to fighting—especially when, as in the present instance, the veneer on neither of the combatants was any too thick to begin with.

THE FASHODA INCIDENT

The story that during the Fashoda crisis, the Russian ambassador to France, Count Mouravieff, visited President Faure and pledged him active Russian support in case of a war with Great Britain, is discredited, as a newspaper interview, by M. de Lanessan, the former French minister of marine, who, of course, must have excellent means of information. He expresses doubt as to whether there is any foundation for the report, and then proceeds to show the immediate perils to which France would have been exposed, if she had elected to fight England. He says, "From the very first moment the British fleet would have been at our ports in the North Sea and in the Mediterranean, a body of troops which was at Malta ready to start would have landed in Tunis or Algeria, or at some point where resistance would have been difficult—for instance at Biserta, which we had not then organized. At the same time our defenceless colonies would have been attacked simultaneously by British naval divisions which we had hardly anywhere the means of opposing. As we were no more in a position to carry on a maritime war in European waters than a colonial war in the Far East or elsewhere, a rupture with England would have been followed by disasters, both prompt and deplorable." As for a diversion on the Indian frontier by Russia, that, adds M. de Lanessan, is not to be effected so easily as some persons seem to suppose. He concludes by expressing curiosity as to the identity of the persons who are circulating reports evidently intended to provoke France to enter upon a conflict which she does not desire.

Does Tobacco Affect the Health?

In a Thousand Ways its Ex.es ves is injurious to the System. Causes Heart and Nerve Troubles.

That tobacco exerts a very decided influence upon the body is unquestionable. Thoughtful physicians prohibit smoking or cigarsmoking just as they do in the formative years of youth, when the system is so susceptible to the action of narcotics.

In functional heart trouble the tobacco habit is often looked for as a cause, and many a smoker wakes up at night feeling all the terrors caused by a fluttering, palpitating heart.

If there is something wrong with your heart that makes you wake up with a start, you ought to take Ferrosone regularly, because it is the best heart medicine made. All the muscles and nerves about the heart are strengthened and given new force by Ferrosone, which is noted for its prompt cures of heart disease.

As a rule weak heart and weak nerves go together, so it is important that Ferrosone should be used until the nervous system is completely restored. From every part of America comes convincing evidence that Ferrosone possesses merit far beyond the ordinary. Its cures are lasting, like that of a well known merchant in St. Johns, Mr. Philip T. Drayton, who writes; "I can give good advice to everyone suffering from heart weakness. I was in a very low condition a few months ago, and was unable to work. Without any apparent cause I would jump and start. I could not sleep more than an hour without being awakened by pain and palpitation of the heart. I used different preparations, but found Ferrosone the best. It improved my general health, strengthened my heart and nerves, and enabled me to go to work again. Nothing else has ever helped my heart like Ferrosone, which has cured me perfectly. I would advise others troubled with either nerve or heart trouble to use Ferrosone also."

No one ever used Ferrosone without lasting benefit. It builds up weak people, nourishes the starved nerves, and tones up the muscles of the heart. Ferrosone is prepared in tablet form, and is simple and convenient to take; it is sure to help you.

Do not allow an unscrupulous dealer to recommend anything in place of Ferrosone, which will be mailed to to any address, price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, by N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FOOTBALL.

Many teams from the surrounding towns and villages have signified their intention of entering the Midland League this year. Omemee is among the latest heard from and a team will also likely enter from the Bay of Quinte District. Many towns which were not represented last year will appear on this season's list. A large and enthusiastic meeting is expected on Saturday next, commencing at 1.30 pm in the Y.M.C.A. Board Room.

BASEBALL.

All the local teams are getting in readiness for the opening of the baseball season, and the first senior practice is billed for Saturday afternoon next. It is rumored that the "Excelsiors" will change their name, and be known as the "Peterboroughs." According to a statement of Manager Whitcroft, there will be a stronger nine on the diamond than last year. Among the players who will likely figure on this year's team are, Pilling, the well known first base man; Simpson, Waram, Sheridan, Miller, Earls and possibly "Chris." Graham and Howell. A meeting will be held this week to make final arrangements for the season's programme.

Lipton's Teas

Among the many interesting exhibits at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., will be the display of Lipton's teas, which will include a very fine collection of photographs of the different estates owned by the Lipton company in sunny Ceylon. The various processes through which the tea passes after it is picked until it is ready for the table will be included in this photographic display, so that the thousands of visitors to the Fair may see for themselves the scientific methods that are employed. Not the least interesting part of the exhibit will be the collection of gold medals awarded to Lipton's "finest teas" at expositions in different parts of the world during the past twenty years. As medals are awarded for the greatest merit the collection proves that the phrase applied to Lipton's teas "finest the world produces" is no misnomer.

The Boys on the Corner Lot

The Peterborough small boys are beginning to search cellar and attic for those base ball gloves and bats which they too carelessly threw aside last fall, as if they would never again be needed. They need them now, for the boy who has a "decker" is somebody on the vacant corner lot, and the one who has a bat or a ball can usually get into a game, even though he cannot play at all. Later on these clumsy players will be despised and will be glad enough to hold the bats and admire the boy wonders who can throw to second, catch flies and knock out hot liners.

Bold Cobourg Tra p

On Tuesday last several bold and basely profane tramps were in town and terrorized residents on George street. One of these travelling loafers called at a house and ordered the lady to furnish him with coffee and a dinner, and refused to leave with out it. Although badly frightened the lady managed to get the door closed and then turned the dog on the intruder. His conduct was so vile that the lady telephoned to the police, but, up to the present they have failed to appear. Another residence was visited by a "pal" who demanded dinner. He denied that he belonged to the tramp element, but posed as a "bad" man and could clean out the whole universe. He had money to burn and offered to pay for his meal. The terrified lady produced the desired meal, and after partaking to his heart's content, left the sum of 25cts. under the plate to pay for his dinner. This seems to be consumption.—Cobourg Post.

Ushering at Opera House

Several complaints have been made from time to time concerning the ushering at the Opera House, on the evenings of large gatherings. Not many weeks ago the place was jammed to the doors and several who had reserve seat tickets could not obtain their seats, owing to their being occupied by others. Then again a few seats had a card lying on them which read "taken." Others that were also "taken" had no placard, hence many in search of seats located themselves in these. This state of affairs is, to say the least, most discouraging. Ushers who thoroughly understand the layout of the hall should be appointed. Then again the reserved seat plan generally used is about as large as a fair-sized envelope and the seats "taken" are marked by the insertion of a small nail. Why not have several large blue prints made, and one used for each entertainment? These would cost but little, look much more businesslike, and prevent any confusion or mistakes. When a seat is taken simply mark an X with a lead pencil or pen, not insert a tack which might easily drop out, thereby causing confusion.

About 20 members were present and considerable business was transacted. Three new members joined and many more were proposed. It was decided to hold a concert in the S.O.E. Hall on Wednesday, April 27th, at which Rev. J. C. Davidson has kindly consented to preside as chairman. An interesting musical and literary program will be provided, consisting of the best local talent.

It was also decided to issue a challenge to the Quaker Football Club to play a match on May 24th at the Driving Park, the prize to be a new ball. A formal challenge will be issued later.

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern mach nery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

TWENTY FIVE NAVAL MEN WERE INSTANTLY KILLED

Special To THE TIMES.

Tennacola, Florida, April 13.—by the explosion of 2 000 pounds of powder in the afte. 12-inch turret and the handling room of the battleship Missouri, Capt. W. S. Cowles, commander, 25 men were instantly killed and five injured, of whom two will die.

The Missouri was on the target range with the Texas at practice about noon, when a charge of powder from a 12-inch left hand gun ig nited from gasses and exploded dropping below and igniting four charges of powder in the handling room, and all exploded. Only one man of the entire turret and handling crew survived. But for the prompt and efficient work of Capt. Cowles in flooding the handling room and magazines with water one of the magazines would have exploded, and the ship would have been destroyed.

GENERAL ELECTIONS TO BE HELD JUNE 20TH

Premier Ross will Go to the Country--Legislature to be Dissolved in a Few Days--Changes in Cabinet

To the Editor of The Times,

Toronto, April 13.—The greatest interest has been manifested for some time in the condition of the Ontario Government, and it has been quite evident, even to members of the Legislature, that matters were rapidly approaching a crisis. It has been a burning question whether the Government would face the election courts and the by-elections, or ask the Lieutenant-Governor's consent to an exceptional dissolution of the Legislature, and appeal to the country. It has recently been learned that Premier Ross has definitely decided on the latter course and that the general elections will be held in June. Your correspondent learns from undisputed authority that the nominations are likely to be held on June 13th, and the elections will come off on June 20th.

The Premier has exercised the most careful diplomacy since the opening of the House, and has been especially careful in retaining the good will of the great financial interests and the railway corporations. The Grand Trunk is grateful for the assistance rendered to several branches of the Grand Trunk Pacific, while the Canadian Northern has reason to be thankful for the $5,000,000 guarantee of James Railway bonds, and the Canadian Pacific are benefited by the proposed moderate taxation on the railways. According to the opinions around the corridors the Grand Trunk will actively support the Premier, while the other two companies are likely to remain neutral.

THE PREMIER IS PLEDGED.

In conversation with one of the members of the Legislature, who is in close touch with the Premier, he expressed himself quite freely, as of the firm opinion that the Government must be dissolved and an appeal made to the country. "The position of the matter is simply this," he began, "Mr Ross is pledged to bring in a measure sufficiently strenuous to satisfy the demands of the temperance party. This will mean nothing short of a measure for the closing of the bar.

"This bill was to have been presented at the last session, but be inconvenience caused by the Gamey charges gave an excellent excuse for allowing the matter to stand over.

"In the bye-elections Premier Ross assured the temperance party, on several occasions that he would introduce a measure that would satisfy them. This pledge was even given in writing, as well as verbally, and the Premier is now called upon to carry out his promises. He cannot possibly evade it, as several temperance candidates in the bye-elections withdrew from the contest on the strength of these promises, thereby removing a serious menace to the success of the Government candidates."

CHANGES IN THE CABINET.

It is now definitely known that the dissolution of the House is slated, to take place at the conclusion of the present session in a few days. It is further understood here that the Lieutenant-Governor is anxious that this course be pursued, as things in its present condition are not satisfactory.

In regard to the reconstruction of the Cabinet, it is understood that Hon. Latchford will retire, and Mr. John Bertram is mentioned as his successor. The announcement made recently by the Toty press that Hon. J. R Stratton would retire from the Cabinet is decidedly incorrect, as Mr. Stratton is known to be the strongest man in the Government, with the exception of the Premier. Mr. Stratton, during his administration, has succeeded in having the law regarding the Sunday selling of liquor more rigidly enforced than ever before. It is a fact that the license inspectors throughout the province have been repeatedly warned in regard to the strict performance of their duties, and no reflection should be cast upon the earnest efforts put forth by the Provincial Secretary to bring about a most satisfactory condition of affairs in this department. Mr. Dryden is likely to remain if he so desires as he is undoubtedly the best man available for the position of Minister of Agriculture.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $250,000 with shares at $10 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. human, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Burrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $250,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $140,000 worth is issued, the first an allotment of this was sold at 60c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at per. $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line cross-es five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres under and with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 220 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 330 feet and the third at 465 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which se ves as a sump, makes our shaft's total depth 581 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a break down we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 200 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 50c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and ten no cost and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.25 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine, up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 50 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $800 each. we predict that this stock will be worth not less than $3 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends, kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

THE CONSUMERS' COAL COMPANY,
C. F. Bumann, President.

SUGAR BEETS WILL PAY

Many Interesting Details Concerning their Cultivation

The annual meeting of the Ontario Sugar Company opened in Berlin, Ont., on Tuesday morning, with a large number of provincial representatives present. The annual report of the president showed a profit on the year's operations, and a very hopeful outlook for the future was taken. It was also the unanimous opinion that the company had demonstrated beyond a doubt the possibility of manufacturing best sugar in this country at a profit. The large profits that accrue to farmers who grow sugar beets in this province were shown in a striking manner. Frank Shute, a well-to-do farmer near Berlin, had planted seventeen acres of beets. He kept a very accurate account of charges and receipts, and valuing this land at $70 per acre, charged on that capital 3 per cent. interest, his own work at eleven cents per hour, and his team's at $4 per day. In all he reckoned his expenditure at $728. The crop of beets brought him $1,079, a net profit of $351 on the seventeen acres, or $20.63 per acre.

Mr. Shantz, a Waterloo farmer, had planted twelve acres and received over $900 for his crop, which he considered much more paying than any other crop on his large farm. Another Berlin farmer received $1,600 from a crop of 28 acres, and the net profit per acre was $30.

It may readily be seen from the above facts that the growing of sugar beets is a paying industry, and every Peterborough farmer should consider the matter seriously. While sugar beets require a great deal of labor in their cultivation, there is always a profitable market for the crop. In fact it is sold before it is ready to be marketed. This is something that cannot be said of any other crop, which is always dependant upon the rise of fall of the market, and, moreover, the cultivation of beets does not injure the soil, but, on the contrary, improves it, while at the same time it is the best paying crop a farmer can possibly have.

There is no question at all as to the soil in Peterborough county being suitable to the growth of a beet that will yield a large percentage of saccarine matter, and experts have pronounced it equal to the best in Canada. Why then should we not make a success of this industry here? Why should our farmers not enrich themselves when such an excellent opportunity offers itself. It is a chance of a life time and should be taken advantage of by every progressive farmer in this grand old country. When our citizens are called upon to exercise their franchise on and large class in the south.

May 5th, may they do so wisely, and in the interests of the general community, and mark their ballots in favor of the by-law, the passing of which will mean so much to this progressive Electric City.

SALE OF WOOLEN MILLS

Canada Woollen Mills Company to Sell Out —Auburn Mills in Flourishing Condition

The properties of the Canada Woollen Mills Company, which include valuable plants at Hespeler, Carleton Place, Waterloo, and Lambton Mills, will be advertised for sale in a few days, but this will not by any means effect the Auburn Company's plant.

The local company has a wide reputation for the manufacture of the finest goods in Canada, and there is an increasing demand for them. The factories mentioned above were engaged in the manufacture of coarse woollens, for which the demand has not been great enough to make the industry a paying one. There is a steadily increasing demand for finer material, so that there need be no apprehension of the cessation of the Auburn Company's operations. Many orders are coming in, and it might be stated as a further indications of continued prosperity that the demand is in excess of the supply.

SAYS SOUTH WOULD ENSLAVE

Edmonton, to Save Negroes from Peonage, Asserts North Must Interfere

New York, April 14.—In the New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, the sessions being held under the auspices of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, Rev. Dr. C. M. Melden, of Providence, R. I., formerly President of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., said:

"Unfortunately there are many people in the north who think that the business of solving the negro problem ought to be be left to southerners. Do you know what that means? It means that if such work was left to southerners like Senators Tillman and Money and Governor Vardaman the colored man would be reduced to virtual peonage. They threaten to massacre rather than allow the negro his rights under the constitution.

"Senator Money is a man of the same stripe as Tillman, but not such a loud talker. But the men I have mentioned represent a loud mouthed and large class in the south.

"To me it seems to be a national question. It is impossible for America to take a high place among the nations while millions and millions of the colored people are sunken in darkness and like a festering mass are breeding disease that is like moral malaria."

JAPAN'S SPLENDID ADVANCE

Even the Russians are Loud in their Praises

St. Petersburg, April 13.—General Kuropatkin's officers report that the Japanese advance in Northern Corea has been a plucky and clever performance. The roads are indescribably bad, the rivers swollen and the weather of the most trying description, but the Mikado's troops pressed forward without the slightest trace of confusion. The Russians had bridged some of the streams, but the Japanese crossed unfordable waters in their own pontoons brought from Chinampo. It is said that in some instances the currents were so swift that only the highest skill in pontooning could have accomplished the operation.

Apparently the Russians see that nothing is to be gained by minimizing the military capacity of the enemy. These candid reports received by the Czar and transmitted to the Ministry of War. Enlightened members of the general staff express great satisfaction that Kuropatkin's subordinates are not making the mistake of underrating the courage and skill of the advancing Japanese.

Five Per Cent. Dividend Declarred

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peterborough Hockey Rink was held in the Council Chambers last evening, with a good representation present. The following officers of last year were re-elected; President, A. H. Stratton; Vice-President, W. H. Hill; Directors, H. R. H. Kenner, Geo. Morrow, Jas. Hamilton, (secretary pro tem), and J. S. Knapman. After paying off $1,000 on the mortgage, a surplus of over $400 was left, and a 5 per cent. dividend was declared.

The Rockland House, Bobcaygeon's fine hotel, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. The following from the Toronto Globe, is an account of the wedding of Rev. D. R. Smith, brother of Mr. W. A. Smith, of Peterborough;

"The marriage took place of Saturday last of Rev. D. Roswell Smith, Rector of Grand Valley, and Miss Ethel Taylor, daughter of Mr. Robt. Taylor. The wedding was very quiet owing to the continued illness of the bride's mother. The Rev. E. C. Cayley, M.A., conducted the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a very handsome brown travelling suit and was attended by Miss Ethel Smith. Mr. A. R. Howitson, presided at the organ."

HIGHCLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share paid, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same care and attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same care and attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time. If applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Property includes six full claims, with a 38 foot ore body extending across 3200 feet of this property, determined by a tunnel 500 feet and open cuts and shafts every one in ore. Why does St. Louis Gold Mining Co. offer the investor a chance for his money.

1. Do you know that its title is free and clear?
2. Do you know that the stock is actually fully paid and non assessable, therefore no liability?
3. Do you know that our capital is only $150,000?
4. Do you know that 300,000 tons of ore are in sight? This is proof that you are investing in a mine.
5. Do you know—free milling and cyaniding ores are the choicest, and sought by the experienced men in treating ores?
6. Do you know, that we can prove in black and white that our ore can be treated for $1.25 a ton and save 95 per cent. of its value.
7. Do you know that our neighbors produced last year $5,000,000.
8. Do you know that by their experience we profit, and can in one year be listed among them as a paying property.
9. Because of all these points, we rank second to no other prospect and by a continuation of development and erection of a Cyanide plant in the near future, we feel confident of success in the highest degree.
10. Now, therefore avail yourself of the opportunity to investigate before investing by addressing

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

ANNOUNCEMENT

Are you aware of the fact that the Government received over $102,000,000 worth of gold, produced in the year 1903?

Are you aware of the fact that the greater number of millionaires have received their wealth through mining, rather than from any other investment?

Are you aware of the fact that $75,000 in gold, known to be produced in addition to the Three Hundred and Two Millions, is all outstanding?

Are you still doubting (?) the millionaires who have made their fortunes through mining, and who are to-day the largest investors in the gold producing enterprises, which is the foundation of the commerce of the world?

Are you doubting our gold standard which this government has adopted, because the gold mining of this country is its greatest production?

Are you aware of the fact that the small investor as well as the large, is deriving his just income from the amount of gold produced yearly? Are you one of them? If not, we want you to read our offer, which is sure to give the investor an income for life.

No Assessments, No Stock Manipulations, No Syndicate Deals

If you have faith in Mexican Gold Mining, do not overlook the opportunity offered herein, which is bound to give large returns to every investor.

An Income For Life.

How some people secure these two very desirable provisions an income for life and a comfortable old age, by shrewd investments. More money has been made from gold mining than from any other product that mother earth produces. An investment at the present time and the present price of stock to make you a fortune.

Estimated Income.

Stock of this corporation should earn 100 per cent. yearly. Stocks should pay at least 50 per cent. yearly.

Come and Let Us Remove Your Doubts.

Let us tell you the number of companies only in operation for the last two years which have paid as high as $440 in dividends on every share, a total to the stockholder holding one hundred shares of $44,000 in seventeen months. Stop and figure what the dividends amount to to the one holding a thousand shares. The above was paid by the "Don Estrellas" Gold Mining Company, located in the same camp where we are now in operation.

Be Fair With Yourself,

And investigate the offer made by this corporation. If you make an investment and you find that you have made a mistake within thirty days, your money will be returned to you with 6 per cent. interest. We know positively when you become a stockholder in this corporation, after having investigated the property operations, you will not only retain your holdings, but you will secure more stock. The stock of this corporation is absolutely guaranteed by the reserve of 2700 acres of property in addition to the claim known as the La Alexandria, for which thousands of dollars have been refused as this corporation holds the property in reserve, as an absolute guarantee to the investor. The following are the claims held in reserve:—

1 La Paloma 2 La Mexicana 3 El Vivian
4 El Davider 5 Porfirio Diaz 6 La Bonanza

located in the famous mining camp known as Tlalpejahua, Mexico. All of the above properties are held by this corporation until this company becomes a dividend payer. With properties like the ones mentioned failure is out of the question. This is the only place where 70 companies have been operations within the last ten months and seventeen of them are to-day dividend paying companies, paying thousands of dollars in monthly dividends to their large and small stockholders. Our operations will soon result in dividends which are bound to come, as the assays of our property run as high as $320 to the ton, a sample of which will be forwarded to any prospective stock buyer.

Stock Soon to Advance to 50 Cents a Share.

Until then subscriptions will be accepted at the following prices, received in routine order; first come, first served, as this company reserves the right to withdraw the price from the market without notice,

Partial Payment Plan.

Act Quickly and Get the Benefit of the Present Allotment Which is Practically the Ground Floor For an Investment in This Company

We are only offering 250,000 shares on the market. This is all this corporation will sell. We are only incorporated for 500 000 shares and that alone will speak for itself, and shows that we are not a corporation merely for the sale of stock but well managed and with the most conservative amount of stock to be placed.

MRS. UNDERWOOD WRITES OF WAR

Former Peterborough Lady who is now in Corea

NON-COMBATANTS SAFE

The Rush and Excitement of War Thrillingly Described

The Times was handed the following letter received by Mr. A. S. Harper, of Smith street, from his sister, Mrs. Underwood, who is at present in Corea. She writes.

Seoul, Feb. 29.—I hope you are not worried about us. We hear it has been telegraphed to America that all foreigners in Seoul were massacred. This is not in the least likely to happen. We do not feel ourselves to be in any danger whatever. We do not believe the Russians will reach here during the war, and from former experiences we feel safe in the hands of Japanese.

Prices of provisions have risen very high and ships bringing provisions are not allowed to enter Corean ports yet although we believe they will be in a month or so. We have plenty of groceries at present and I took time by the forelock and canned quite a lot of beef, and am still doing so, a little at a time.

For two years the Japs have been landing stores and soldiers, sending them up to Seoul and on to the north as fast as they can transport them. The officers of the United States steamer Vicksburg say they should think the Japs are landing enough stores for a big army, sufficient for several years. Everything is quiet and orderly and the Japs keep to their own part of the town.

Russian Soldiers Into Corea.

Chemulpo is a lively place just now, bursting with soldiers, ammunition, military stores, etc. Ship after ship arrive crammed with soldiers and the anchor is not down before off drop the launches full of men, puff away to the shore, unload, and go back for more, and the moment the ship is empty away off to Japan for more. It is said they make the trip there and back in a week, whereas it usually takes the passenger steamers about five days to get there.

The trains come up packed with soldiers, and getting back and forth for common folks is no joke, for ordinary trains are at any time put off altogether or pushed on a siding to wait for hours. We found this out to our sorrow. Hollis, Wilber Arison and Mr. Hölderoff went down to Chemulpo to see the soldiers and the wrecks of the Russian ships and found when they reached there that the regular 6 o'clock train to Seoul would not come, and the only other was a military train leaving there at 8.30 p.m. to reach here at 10.30. We of course expected them by 8.30. We waited and waited. I grew more anxious every minute. I knew they were intending to go out on that tumultuous harbor in a sampan, and with all the irregularity of trains there might be a collision or accident of some kind. Hollis went to the American legation and tried to telephone, but couldn't. He sent a telegram to Chemulpo, went to the station to learn about trains and was told there was none until 8.30 in the morning.

Fleet to Sail by Way of Suez.

At 10.30 we received a despatch which they had sent at 6. The Japs rush the wires so it could not come before and at about 10.45 they arrived on the military train. They went to Mr. Kato, the director of things at Chemulpo, and were told that he was in his bath and were politely asked to wait a minute. In a few minutes he appeared in his kimono, smiling and polite, and begged to be excused for appearing in Japanese dress. He at once gave them a pass on the military train, where they had a nice, quiet compartment all to themselves. The train was crowded to suffocation with troops, four soldiers to a seat and ten cars of soldiers, and another ten loaded with supplies.

Fifty Correspondents at Seoul.

Dr. Allin gave Hollis a letter of introduction to the officers of the Vicksburg, and they went out and had a very pleasant visit on the ship. There are fifty newspaper correspondents here. They are all getting horses, saddles, interpreters, etc., in order to follow the Jap army.

Somebody sold Jack London, the famous author, who is here as a correspondent, a totally blind horse, and I, who am not without a taint of superstition, would not be surprised to hear of his meeting more mishaps. I wonder whether he left America on the 13th of the month or on a Friday.

It is feared there is going to be a great naval battle near Ping-Yang and that it will be unsafe for our missionaries, at least the women and children, to be there, so Dr. Allen has ordered the latter down here and will send a transport for them as soon as the ice breaks sufficiently to permit the vessel to reach there.

The dowager queen (the third one) died not long ago and her funeral is to come off with the usual pomp in a short time, I am told. It will be quite a sight for these hungry correspondents, who are prowling around like cormorants for news.

Mails seem to be coming (via gunboats) with fair regularity. I don't know how they go.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangon, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-30-02

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 30, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit.

Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 28th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres't.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 1-31-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock. The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres't.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

JED. BLOCK.

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h.p. Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet. This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 35 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing.

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide' We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day—one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for them unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 80 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $10 to $160 per ton, and the Company owns 9 000 feet on this vein.

Ore running from $18 to $80 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold property, and 16 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $26.25 per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,760 acres of placer and timber land, water or of 800 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary, Ore easily ac ess Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

FAVOURS THE PORT HOPE ROUTE

Toronto Star Believes this Route is the Best

CANAL MUST BE FINISHED

To Give Outlet to Land Locked Lakes - A Great Works

In discussing the Trent Valley Canal the Toronto Star says that it must soon be decided whether the canal will make its connection with Lake Ontario via Port Hope or vicinity, (Cobourg), or by the Trent waters at Trenton on the Bay of Quinte. The question has hitherto been treated largely as a local one, or solely with reference to transportation of grain to Montreal and development of water power along the Trenton route, but it is, as we pointed out in an article a little time ago, a larger question. It should be dealt with by the Government on broad national grounds, and such route to Lake Ontario adopted as will best serve the whole country.

At present the back country in the Peterborough, Lindsay and Hastings districts must depend wholly upon [illegible] for transportation of freight. The consequence is that this great section of country is greatly handicapped compared with more fortunate districts which have the benefit of water competition. The great manufacturing industries of Peterborough import for their purposes great quantities of coal and freights of all kinds. Peterborough is also a great central distributing point for manufactured goods at present imported into that country by rail. Let the Trent Valley Canal route be from Peterborough via Rice Lake to Port Hope or vicinity (Cobourg), and you at once furnish to this at present land-locked district a direct water route to Lake Ontario by which traffic may proceed to the west or to the east, or across the lake to Rochester. Furthermore, by this route the back country can be served during the period of navigation in the carriage to the interior of coal and the thousand and one imports that at present are shipped to the Peterborough district by rail from Toronto, Hamilton and other western ports. It seems to the Star that the interests of the Peterborough district and of all western Ontario are that the lake connection of the Trent Canal system should be in the vicinity of Port Hope. Thus, during the period of navigation, the people all along the line of the Trent Valley Canal will receive the benefit of lower freight rates because of the water competition. The same advantage of cheap transportation would accrue in respect of exports from that district to Western Ontario, and it seems to us to be due to the great centres of trade of Western Ontario that their interests should also be regarded in the consideration of this question.

Nor can it be shown that the adoption of this route would in the slightest degree injure any interest except it be some owners of water powers upon the line of the Trent waters, but this canal has been undertaken by the country, not for the purpose of promoting the private interests of owners of water powers, but purely for the purpose of transportation, and this, the only reason justifying the construction of the canal, must determine its route, unless the public money is to be diverted towards the promotion of private interests.

Up to the present we have heard practically nothing except arguments manufactured by those in favor of the route by the Trent waters, and we trust that the Transportation Commission will disregard these private considerations, and study the question in its broad national aspect. There has not been a fair examination of the Port Hope route by any disinterested experts enjoying public confidence. We consider it the duty of the Government to have a thoroughly independent examination of all available routes made by able experts having comprehensive views as to Canadian resources, and let the report of all such persons, with all the evidence, be frankly given to the public before any conclusion is reached by those in authority. By such means a serious mistake may be avoided, and the public interest best promoted.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

Consumption Can Be Cured

A Powerful and Effective Destroyer of Disease Germs Discovered Which Cures Consumption.

The ravages of consumption which for years have terrorized the modern world will no longer continue to cut off our population by thousands. Science has at last produced a remedy which not only can be readily applied to the lungs, but also kills every trace of bacilli in the throat, bronchial tubes, and air passages of all the breathing organs.

The name of this marvellous antiseptic about which the doctors are talking so much is Catarrhozone, the atomized air cure. The vapor is more soothing than the air of pine woods, and its healing properties are without limit.

Through a skilfully devised inhaler the sufferer is enabled to breathe this fragrant medicated vapor into the most minute air cells of the lungs. It is so destructive to microbic life that the tubercular germs are rapidly killed and prevented from ever returning. Congestion and inflammation are relieved, coughing stops, all disagreeable symptoms are quickly cured by Catarrhozone.

So simple is Catarrhozone that anyone can use it. So certain to cure lung and throat troubles that it is prescribed by not less than twenty thousand doctors in United States and Canada. One well known authority who has made a life long study of consumption, has the following to say; "Catarrhozone is certainly a true specific for white plague. I find that its healing vapor readily spreads all through all the breathing organs passing over probably not less than one thousand square feet of mucous surface at a single inhalation. It is a perfect germicide and destroys tubercular germs with wonderful certainty. Catarrhozone is entitled to rank among the great medical discoveries of the age."

No matter how often you have been disappointed with other remedies you must not be discouraged. In Catarrhozone you will find new hope. What it has done before it can do again. Your case is not worse than others it has cured. Therefore if properly used you can also be cured by Catarrhozone. Two months treatment $1.00. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont. Refuse any substitute for Catarrhozone—only the genuine can cure.

WHY TAKE SEPARATE VOTE?

In a recent issue of an evening contemporary an article appeared denouncing the proposal to submit the Beet Sugar by-law and the Collegiate Institute by-law on the same day. The writer claims that "if both by-laws are submitted on the same day this would not be to the advantage of either." The Times wishes to take an entirely opposite stand on this matter, and is strongly in favor of both being voted on the same day. The opening up of a Beet Sugar industry in Peterborough is a matter of the greatest import, and it is very necessary that a large majority of the qualified voters of the city should exercise their franchise on that day. Many who would otherwise neglect voting will do so from a greater interest in the Collegiate Institute by-law. Hence the desirability of both being submitted at the same time. There is no valid reason why these two important issues cannot be separately considered on the same day, and a great expense would be saved. Any enterprise that will tend to increase the prosperity of our growing city, should receive general support, and every intelligent citizen, who carefully considers the great advantages to be gained by this proposed industry, cannot but be favorable to the project. Its promotion will encourage an increased circulation of money; the farmers will have occasion to visit our city from outlying points and trade with them will be much greater than before. "It is casting a slur on the intelligence of our ratepayers," an an alderman remarked at a recent council meeting, when referring to the proposal to submit each by-law separately.

Tracks Still Flooded

The Grand Trunk's tracks at Burnt River, on the Haliburton branch, are still flooded owing to the high water in the river, and there has been no communication between Lindsay and Haliburton by rail since Friday last. Almost a mile of track near Burnt River is submerged, the water being two feet deep in places. The I.B.&O.Ry line is also covered with water at several points, and considerable damage has been done by the flood.

Will Appear This Morning

William Armstrong, alias Bradley, alias Steele, will appear at tomorrow morning's police court. The web of evidence is now almost completely woven, and there is every likelihood of a conviction being secured. Mr. D. O'Connell will appear for the prisoner.

Five boys from the Fifth Ward have been summoned to appear tomorrow morning, on the charge of making too free use of a revolver.

Blocked by Freight Tra

The other evening the local brigade was called out to extinguish a blaze near the G. T. R. station, and after this had been done the teams started back by way of Charlotte street. On arriving at the railway crossing they were compelled to stop owing to a freight train blocking the street. They drove back and down Simcoe but the same difficulty again confronted them. If they had been going to a fire it would have been the same thing and many of the firemen are of the opinion that some steps should be taken to remedy this existing inconvenience.

The other events are assault at arms Sergt.-Major Brittain vs. Sergt. Sturgeon, basket ball game, Athletics, city champions, vs. Brownies, the Provincial boys champions, apparatus work by leaders in senior squad. Wrestling — Robert G. Long, vs. A. C. Yokome. C. Graham, referee.

The Delineator for May

In addition to an elaborate portrayal of current fashions and other matter of special interest to women The Delineator for May contains literary and artistic features of the highest excellence. In fiction, there are two short stories; His Fiancee, by Virginia Woodward Cloud, a delightful tale of a girl and her advicefull cousins and awesome mother-in-law, and The Battle to the Strong, by John H. Whitson, a college story also a dramatic chapter of the Evolution of a Club Woman, by Agnes Surbridge. The story of Catherine Sevier, conspicuous in the early history of Tennessee, is the first of a series on Great Women of Pioneer Times. Among the present-day great, Mme. Sembrich, the famous soprano, is teh subject of an interesting article by Gustav Kobbe, the illustrations of which are of special value. In Around the World in Eighty pictures the reader is taken into a field of greatest interest—Japan and Corea. Lillie Hamilton French's remarks on Mothers and Marriageable Sons will be greatly enjoyed, and Dr. Murray's instructions in regard to the care of the mouth and the teeth will be found helpful by everyone. In addition there are engaging stories and pastimes for the little ones, and timely information for almost every department of the home.

A PROGRESSIVE CONCERN

Henderson Roller Bearing Manufacturing Company Limited has Brightest Prospects

One of the most successful and most promising manufacturing concerns in Canada to-day is that widely known as The Henderson Roller Bearing Manufacturing Company, Limited. A recent report of the Directors shows most satisfactory results of the past year's operations. So great were the profits, in fact, that the Directors were able to recommend to the stockholders the payment, out of the year's earnings, of a divident of ten per cent. on the amount paid up on stock.

The rapid development of this new industry is well illustrated by the fact that the factory, although only in operation a short time, had, at the close of last year, all the departments fully equipped and employing a large number of men.

The company has found it necessary to increase their capacity, owing to the rapidly-increasing demands of the business, and several very liberal propositions are under consideration. The foundation of a permanent, paying business has been laid, a business which will prove a revelation to the manufacturing, mechanical and transportation portion of the community, and that will afford great satisfaction to those who are fortunate enough to be holders of stock in the company.

Among the recently appointed Directors of this progressive company is found the name of a Peterborough gentleman, Mr. H. Waddell.

Thrilling Story by Mrs. H. J. Holmes, Commences in Times on Monday

The many readers of The Times will be pleased to learn that final arrangements have been made to reproduce that thrilling story of love and adventure, "Old Hagar's Secret," from the pen of that popular authoress, Mrs. M. J. Holmes. At a great expense this attractive story has been secured, but we feel confident that the satisfaction and pleasure accorded our readers will be most encouraging. Almost every lover of literature is familiar with the works of this world-famed writer, and nearly everyone has read, "For a Woman's Sake," "Loves Triumph," "Purified by suffering," "A Grass Widow," "Woman against Woman," or some other of Mrs. Holmes' interesting books.

The excellent romance, "Old Hagar's Secret," is pronounced by critics as the great authoresses' best work, and the story will be run as a serial in the Morning Times, the first installment appearing on Monday.

Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetites and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

A Blaze Behind the Sign

Last night, about 11 o'clock, as P. C. Stewart was patrolling his beat on George street, a cry of "fire," arose in the vicinity of Frost's jewelry store. He listened to the scene and discovered smoke issuing from behind Mr. Frost's large sign board. With the assistance of several others the fire was soon extinguished and no alarm was sent in.

The Rockland House Fire

Mr. Chas. Fairbairn, County Councillor, who resides near Hobcaygeon, is in town to-day. He states that the general impression in the village is that the burning of the Rockland house was the work of an incendiary. There is plain evidence to show that the fire hall door was forced, and this is believed to account for the removal of the water plug which led to the burning out of the boiler flues. With the engine incapacitated there was no possible chance of saving the hotel. The villagers managed to save most of the contents, but many of the articles of furniture are in a wrecked condition. The insurance is placed at $6,000.—Lindsay Post.

WEDDING BELLS

Miss Sadie Crowe and Mr. Louis Raymond United

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's church last evening, about eight o'clock, when Miss Crowe, of this city, and Mr. Louis Daymond, of Fenelon Falls, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. J. C. Davidson officiated, and the bride was assisted by Miss N. Riley, while Mr. D. Daymond supported the groom. The bride looked charming in a beautiful attire of grey ladies' cloth with white silk trimmings, and black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was similarly attired, and carried white carnations. Many useful and costly presents were received.

The happy couple left on the nine o'clock train last night for Buffalo N.Y., and on their return will take up their residence at 398 Aylmer street.

ENTRANCE TO PT. ARTHUR HARBOR NOW SEALED

Japs Again Bombard the Town Throwing 185 Projectiles Into It--Togo's Fleet Driven Back

London, April 17.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard sends a rumor to the effect that Vice-Admiral Togo's fleet escorted a Japanese landing of troops to the westward of Yalu River. When 12,000 men had been landed the Russian troops, which were lying concealed, suddenly attacked them, driving them back to the ships with heavy losses in men and guns.

The Times this morning prints a despatch from its correspondent at sea off the coast of Corea. The despatch is dated yesterday, and in it the correspondent says he believes the entrance to Port Arthur is now sealed.

RUSS HATES TO ADMIT.

St. Petersburg, April 17—Unofficial despatches received here from Port Arthur repeat that it was the Ihabirashni and not Strashni (as reported in the official despatches) that became separated from the rest of the fleet, and was sunk by the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers. Information which has slowly reached St. Petersburg has modified the opinion at first prevailing concerning the original cause of the destruction of battleship Petropavlovsk. There is gradually developing a disposition to admit the possibility that after all Japanese torpedo boats may have dropped mines at the entrance to Port Arthur harbor. An official remarked to the Associated Press tonight: It would be far better if the ship was actually blown up by the enemies instead of by a Russian mine.

The latter would be the result of inexcusable carelessness and would properly arouse the Emperor's anger. The former, while it would spark volumes for Japanese craftiness, could not really be avoided. On dark nights it would be almost impossible for the searchlights of the batteries to pick up the torpedo boats, however, carefully manipulated.

Even should it be finally established that a Japanese mine destroyed the Petropavlovsk it will not affect the general appreciation of Vice-Admiral Makaroff's high qualities. His policy in putting out in pursuit of an inferior Japanese fleet has been thoroughly approved in St. Petersburg, where it is understood that such action would have an excellent effect on the morale of the Russian fleet. As the admiral's instructions were to conserve his fleet it is pointed out that it was his duty to return directly to the harbor on the appearance of a superior force.

It could hardly be expected that an admiral would look out for mines when he had no reason to believe that they had been laid, especially as only a few hours before he had safely steamed over the spot where the Petropavlovsk was sunk.

FIRE AT SEOUL.

London, April 17—The Japanese legation has received the following account of the fire which destroyed the Imperial Palace at Seoul Thursday night: The fire broke out at 10 o'clock on the evening of April 14. With the exception of the Kinsriken building, which is in the European style, all the other palace buildings were consumed. The emperor took refuge in the library of the Kinsriken building. It is believed that the fire originated in the heating apparatus of the Kagwai palace, which was undergoing repair. "The Japanese soldiers took a most prominent part in guarding the person of the emperor, as well as in extinguishing the fire, and this produced an excellent feeling among the court circles. Our troops also did their best to guard the foreign legations, and the foreign representatives afterwards expressed to us their sincere thanks." Other reports say that all the archives, treasures and jewels were destroyed.

CONFIRMATORY STORY.

New York, April 15.— Expressions from St. Petersburg of a belief that the Japanese are using submarine boats in their Port Arthur attacks are given color by a statement credited to a retired naval officer in this city. He declares it to be the only way in which one can account for the succession of disasters met by the Russian ships. "It is incredible," he said, "that ships which undoubtedly have charts of the mines aboard should be blown up by them. One of the first things Vice-Admiral Makaroff did when he reached Port Arthur was to resurvey the harbor and locate the mines.

"What is the sense of these constant bombardments if they are not feints made in order to entice the Russian ships out?

"The theories that the Petropavlovsk struck her own mines or that the Japanese planted a mine during a night attack are untenable, and we know that the Japanese have submarines.

"A United States naval officer landed at the wrong dock, apparently an unused wharf, in a Japanese town before the war, and saw a submarine, surrounded on three sides by high fences, so that it was visible only from the water side. Before he had an opportunity to examine it Japanese soldiers on guard drove him away with fierce threats. They seemed highly indignant that he should have caught sight of the boat at all.

FORESIGHT OF STATESMEN.

It may be truly said that Russia forced the situation on Japan, but the statesmen of Japan believed that they diplomatically forced the psychological moment on Russia. For many years they have realized far more keenly than western nations that if Russia was ever to develop her eastern dominion successfully she must have a very large slice of China—in fact, all the territory embodied in Manchuria and Corea, land-locking as it does a dozen fine harbors, the southernmost of which are ice free the year round—and these same statesmen have, with great foresight, systematically prepared Japan for the conflict which was sure to come.

Japan's statesmen have outgeneraled their more clumsy diplomatic antagonists in Russia by an exhibition of kindly deference (national characteristic), which has misled Russians into the belief that Japan was really fearful of the chances of war with Russia, while all the time they have been willing and anxious to measure swords with her.

quarters staff to Manchuria.

JAPAN WINS POINT.

This attitude has created the situation earnestly prayed for by Japanese statesmen—that is, the sympathy of nearly every civilized nation and positive and potential allies in the event of national combinations against her have been secured, and at the same time a national enthusiasm and patriotism have been kindled among her own people which would cause them from the highest to the lowest to be willing to give their lives for their country, or, failing this, their fortunes or their daily pittance.

Japanese leaders believe that Russia has "bluffed," and some of them guardedly admit it now. They point out that even assuming Russia could mobilize an immense army in Siberia, after transporting it over 4,000 miles of single track railroad, the result would inevitably be a frightful disaster.

JAPAN'S GREAT RESOURCES.

Japan has at this moment internal resources which will put into the field 300,000 men and support them there for a year and a half and there is little doubt in my mind after witnessing the rapidity with which the popular loan was subscribed five times over—wealthy men actually buying at 145—that she could sustain herself for twice that time without negotiating a loan from abroad.

WAS AN OFFICER UNDER MAKAROFF

Russian Gentleman Living in Montreal Describes His Traits of Character

KIND AND SYMPATHETIC

Equally Popular With Both Men and Officers--A Scientist of no Mean Merit

Montreal, April 17.—Among the members of the Russian colony of Montreal is at present a gentleman who for many years served the Czar as one of the officers of his navy—Mr. C. D. Dublin. Since the outbreak of hostilities he has several times contributed articles to the press on the naval and military situation. In discussing the death of Admiral Makaroff yesterday morning and the loss of the Petropavlovsk, Mr. Dublin said:

"This last disastrous news of the loss of the battleship Petropavlovsk and about 700 men, including Admiral Makaroff, must have a very demoralizing effect on the Russians.

"The battleship Petropavlovsk was one of the most powerful fighting machines in the squadron at Port Arthur. She was launched at the new Admiralty Works in St. Petersburg in 1899, and completed there as late at 1901. Her two batteries of two 12-inch guns were especially well protected by 6-inch armour plates, while her twelve 8-inch guns and numerous others of smaller calibre were also well protected. Her double engines of 14,000 horse power gave her 18 knots of speed on trial, which fact in itself was breaking the record in the construction of so heavy a type of battleship as was the Petropavlovsk.

HIS SQUADRON.

"On the arrival of Vice-Admiral Makaroff at Port Arthur, on the 8th of March and his taking the supreme command of the Russian forces there, his flagship was the first-class cruiser Novik. There were two distinct divisions of the Port Arthur squadron the first under the command of Admiral Stark originally, and of Admiral Makaroff upon his arrival, consisted of the battleship Poltava, Sebastopol, Retvizan and Pereveist, the last being the flagship, and the cruisers Askold, Boyan and Novik. The second division comprised the battleships Pobieda, Czarevitch and Petropavlovsk, and the cruisers Pallada and Diana. The third squadron consisted entirely of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers four of which were attached to each of the former squadrons.

"It is possible that Admiral Makaroff so changed the arrangement of his fleet as to give Rear Admiral Ouklomsky, the command of the first division and to take the second division with a detachment of the torpedo boat flotilla himself. Every one acquainted with the Admiral thought it was his weakness to show special favoritism always to the light cruisers and his nickname "Cossack Admiral," was given him for this reason. But yet it is also possible that in manoeuvring before giving battle to Admiral Togo in the offing of Port Arthur, the battleships were forming the first line and Admiral Makaroff in his hatred of being anywhere except in the forefront of the battle, transferred his flag to the Petropavlovsk.

THE CRIPPLED SQUADRON.

"The loss of this battleship must be severely felt as there will be only four battleships left ready for service at Port Arthur providing this morning's rumor of the accident to the Pobieda turns out to be true. These four are the Retvizan, which we know, was in action on the 27th of March; the Peterviet, the Poltava and the Sebastopol. The loss of battleships so powerful as the Petropavlovsk and the Pobeida must greatly weaken the squadron.

A WELL LOVED MAN.

"But what is a much greater loss and one which may really be considered as having caused the consternation of all Russia is the untimely death of so popular and respected a commander as Vice Admiral Makaroff. His name was well known not only in naval circles, and he, indeed, was most beloved as a man and respected as a scientist. It was he who designed the mines and torpedoes largely used to-day by both navy and army, and he who built the great ice-breakers, of which the Ermak was the first, being finished in 1899.

"Admiral Makaroff was popular for a variety of reasons, his popularity being as well recognized as his justness. All the sailors of the fleet were eager to be under his immediate command. I have served on his flagship, under Admiral Makaroff for six months, and among the many pleasant recollections I have of his personality, is the following incident:—Four of his officers went ashore one day at Portsmouth and were late returning to the ship by about half an hour. By the order of the captain, we were, upon our return, placed under arrest. At supper time, Admiral Makaroff, who frequently made a special point of associating with his officers, instead of dining in the solitary state his rank permitted, learned of our absence and the reasons and immediately requested our release. Great was our gratitude for arrest in the Russian navy may mean serious damage to a young officer's career, and later on he called us into his cabin, and gave us a fatherly lecture, which, I am sure, was a great deal more effective than the punishment originally meted but to us.

"Every officer, in time of need, could be sure of finding a sympathetic and almost fatherly friend in the Admiral, and all the seamen swore by him as one of the best commanding officers the navy had known. He was always kind and considerate and watchful for their needs and wants."

RIOTOUS BURIAL OF GIPSY QUEEN.

Former Peterborough Clergyman Officiates at the Grave

REV. E. VICARS STEVENSON

A Riot at the Grave and Many People Badly Jostled

New York, April 18. — Disgraceful scenes nearly resulting in a riot, occurred at the burial of Sibbie Cooper Riley, better known as "Mother Riley, former queen of the gypsies, in the Hillside cemetery, at Plainfield, N.J. Nearly two thousand persons crowded around the open grave, blocking the way and preventing the pall bearers, mourners and the undertaker's assistants from reaching the place where the body was to be interred. Appeals of clergymen to the people to make way had no effect, the morbid crowd pushing and crowding with each other for a good position where they could view the burial.

Finally the pall bearers, who consisted of the six grandsons of the dead woman, a number of mourners and four undertakers' assistants literally plunged into the obstinate crowd and drove them back. Several persons had narrow escapes from being pushed into the open grave, and not a few women became hysterical.

There were few men in the crowd and those who were there behaved with more decorum than the women. Long before the arrival of the funeral procession the cemetery was filled with people, who sat upon the tombstones and took complete possession of the place. So great were the masses of people who went to the graveyard that the trolley cars were unable to carry them, and hundreds had to walk nearly a mile to the place.

It was expected that the arrival of the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, who read the service, would have an impression on the obstinate ones and cause them to make way for the funeral cortege. His arrival had no effect, however, and he finally addressed the crowd.

"This is not an exhibition," he said. "This is simply a Christian burial. If you are Christians you will show a little consideration for the mourners and allow them to pass to the grave."

The crowd apparently took no notice of the clergyman or his speech and finally he ordered the undertaker's assistants and others to use physical force in making the way clear to the grave.

As there were no policemen there the mourners had to take the law in their own hands, and many a woman suffered bruises and a torn dress in return for her obstinacy in refusing to move from the side of the grave.

Among the mourners were the four children of the former queen and more than half a hundred grandchildren.

It had been planned to have the body of Robert Riley, the "Gypsy King," who died in Buffalo three years ago, buried with that of his wife, but at the last moment it was decided to have the body in the cemetery at Auburn, N.Y., until later in the year, when it will be brought here for burial.

The coffin when it was moved from the vault, where it was placed soon after "Mother" Riley's death, was covered with flowers given by mourning relatives and friends.

Most of the gypsies, with the camp guarded by a few young men, went to the cemetery in cabs hired from local livery stables. Many wore mourning garb, but not a few, the women in particular, followed their traditional fondness for color, appeared beside the grave in clothing of variegated hues.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG RELATES EXPERIENCE

EX-CONVICT SPOKE FREELY TO THE TIMES YESTERDAY MORNING

The Life of a Convict Not an Easy One—Claims He Was Being a Legitimate Line.

"The only thing I like these reminds for," said Wm. Armstrong, ex-convict, yesterday morning in a lengthy interview with a Times reporter is that I can always get some reading matter when I come down here. Up at the jail one has nothing much to do but walk around. Fact is, it's enough to drive a man crazy. There are a few books there but they date back to 1833, and about the first twenty pages are torn out. Then, when you get to page 113 you find ten more pages gone and so on. But they won't even allow us to read these. Yes, police station life for me every time."

Armstrong was exceedingly talkative as he sat in his cell and with crossed legs and folded arms, commenced to relate some of his many exciting and interesting experiences.

"You see, old man," he began, "the life of an ex-convict isn't a path strewn with roses. A fellow, no matter how much he intends to live a better life, never gets a show, when people have the chance to point the finger of scorn at him, and remark, 'Oh, he's a jail bird.' That's been my experience ever since I left Kingston. Yes, I served sixteen years there for shooting a bank clerk in Antigonish, N.S.

"Why did I do it? Well, I don't know, I must have been crazy. I just can't explain it. I'm sorry, but that isn't much use, although I'm glad I didn't kill the poor fellow. When I left Kingston, I was at a loss to know just what to do. I was was an ex-convict without friends near and I finally found employment on the steamer Caspan, which was being repaired, and Captain L——— was one of the squarest heads I ever struck in my life, except perhaps Warden Platt, of the penitentiary.

"After this job was finished I had to look for work again, so I answered an ad. for a drygoods clerk. I was engaged in a Kingston store, and had only been behind the counter about two days when I noticed a guard from the penitentiary walk into the store. He at once eyed me and presently I saw him approach my employer, with whom he held a long conversation. About half an hour afterwards my employer came to me and said, 'You're not the kind of man I want here,' but would explain nothing further. I knew that I had been recognized as an ex-convict. I felt for the first time that I was a marked man. He allowed me to remain till Saturday evening, however, and then I left to search for other employment. I got a job in the G. T. R. shops at Lindsay and boarded on Cambridge street with a Mrs. D———. Everything was going on nicely. I began to feel happy. My landlady was kind to me right along. But suddenly one day I noticed a change in her conduct towards me. I felt that she knew all, so I picked up and left the place, after leaving word for my mail to be sent on to Kingston. I then got a job in Montreal in the machine shops.

"While in Montreal I had quite an experience. I was boarding at a prominent hotel, and had to get up very early to get my breakfast and get to work. One of the servants, a young girl, used to get up early especially to get my meal ready, and I used to often give her sweetmeats for her kind treatment of me. One day she was missing, and on enquiry I learned that she was very ill. I purchased a supply of fruit and other delicacies and sent them to her. A few few days after I saw her down stairs and looking very pale. I asked what was the matter and she informed me that the proprietor had given her notice to get out, and would not even pay her her wages. I told her I had only $1.27 in my pocket but she was welcome to that. Finally I got her to put on her hat and coat and come down with me to see the mayor. He advised that she be taken to the hospital, so I took her there and paid her way until her recovery. This left my funds pretty low, when I lost my job shortly after her recovery.

"I had been answering advertisements right along, however, and had offers of jobs in Stratford and Sault Ste. Marie, and was preparing to go to the Sault when a card came to me saying the vacancies had all been filled. I then went to the warden of the penitentiary, who is one of the noblest of men, and asked him for advice. I told him how I had been turned down because of my being an ex-convict. I remarked that I was going to change my name. Of course he advised me not to do so, as that course was generally looked upon with suspicion by the general public, if it was ever found out. I left Kingston again and went to Montreal, where I learned that men were being hired to go to the woods. Another fellow and I listened to glowing accounts of a happy life in the lumber camps. We were told by the employment agent to bring our bicycles along as there were beautiful roads for wheeling, and every Saturday afternoon was a holiday for playing baseball or running races. Of course I knew this was a pack of lies myself, but the other fellow believed it, and in the end we both left to work in McArthur's camp near Beaverstone. We had to walk about twenty miles with mud to our necks and when we landed at the camp we were sorry looking sights. I stayed there for a while but got sick of it and quit, but the foreman would not give me a cent of my money. I walked into Beaverstone and finally on to Playfair's camps further on.

"On leaving the lumber woods I drifted back here, and all the time I was there I was in communication with friends in the States, who did not know of my imprisonment. I made arrangements with the American firm I have been representing and all I fear now is that I shall lose my position when they find out that I am an ex-convict.

"How do I think this affair will turn out? Why, of course, there is only one way it can turn out. As I said before I was carrying on a legitimate business, but the fact that I have served time will go against me. It's hard lines, old man. Once a man starts down hill it's not much use turning back, because you'll be hunted on all sides, no matter how you try."

The prisoner is a remarkably intelligent chap and has an excellent command of the English language, and is apparently well educated. He looks well and when seen yesterday was quite cheerful. His mild, unassuming manner is not that of the tough criminal, and is apt to arouse sympathy. Armstrong was again remanded for a week, owing to the absence of Mr. O'Connell, his counsel.

ADMIT BIBLE TO SCHOOLS

Kansas' Supreme Court Decides a Reading of Scripture is not Sectarianism

Topeka, Kan., April 18.—The Kansas Supreme Court has given a decision which in effect declares that the bible may be read in the public schools of Kansas. The case was brought by J. B. Billard of the Topeka to compel the city board of education to permit his son Philip to re-enter the public schools, from which he had been suspended because on the advice of his father's attorneys he refused to attend the morning exercise when the bible and selections of the psalms were read to the pupils.

The district court refused to order the board of education to readmit the pupil and this decision has been affirmed.

The Supreme Court says:—"A public school teacher who, for the purpose of quieting the pupils and preparing them for their regular studies repeats the Lord's prayer and the twenty-third psalm as a morning exercise, without comment or remark, in which none of the pupils are required to participate, is not conducting a form of religious worship or teaching sectarian or religious doctrines."

FEAR GENERAL EUROPEAN WAR

Italy and Austria Quarrel Over the Provinces

FEELING IS NOW BITTER

Ministers Reach Agreement, but Popular Indignation May Upset All Plans

Rome, April 18.—The danger of war between Austria and Italy as a result of the dispute over Albania and the Italian provinces, is causing grave concern. Although Signor Tittoni the Italian foreign minister, and Count Goluchowsky, the Austrian foreign minister, reached an agreement yesterday, the rapidly growing anti-Austrian feeling, it is feared, will undo all the work of diplomacy. This feeling has been fanned into high excitement by what practically was an attack on an Italian vessel by the gendarmes at the port of Cattaro while the ministers of the nation were meeting at Abbazia.

NEAR WAR SEVERAL TIMES.

The Independente has received from Vienna a dispatch which has caused a wide sensation here. It follows:

The resurrection of the agitation in Italy, in which the agitators claimed the Italian provinces still under Austria, so strained the relations of the two countries that several times they were on the point of declaring war.

Austria was indignant when Italy protested to the Emperor of Germany who, according to the Triple Alliance, is the arbiter of Austro-Italian disputes. The Emperor decided that Italy was wrong in not repressing the anti-Austrian movement, and that Austria would be wrong if she tried to occupy Albania, and thus conflict with Italian interests. There was no appeal from this decision.

Besides, this meeting at Abbazia, which was held in one of the Italian provinces subject to Austria, is to be understood as Italy's formal renunciation of these provinces.

Although a clash was narrowly averted by diplomacy, the attack on the Italian steamer Molfetta at Cattaro (a fortified seaport in the Austrian province of Dalmatia) may upset all plans for peace. Bitter feeling against Austria has been aroused by the incident, and the government will demand an explanation from Austria. The incident occurred at the time the ministers were meeting at Abbazia.

The Molfetta on entering the harbor was approached by Austrian gendarmes, who demanded that they be permitted to board, in order to inspect the vessel. The captain refused to permit the gendarmes to come aboard if they carried arms and the soldiers threatened to attack the ship. The captain, after a brief parley, repeated his refusal, and displayed the Italian flag over the gangway. The gendarmes were ordered to fire, but before the order could be obeyed the captain yielded to avoid bloodshed.

The conditions, because of the bad feeling engendered by the dispute, is causing concern. In case of actual hostilities the triple alliance will cease, and European diplomatic relations, now running smoothly after years of work, will be thrown into confusion.

JAPS WILL ATTEMPT TO DEAL FINAL BLOW TO RUSSIAN FLEET

Russians Massed on the Yalu River to Oppose the Enemy, Who Expect to Force a Passage without Serious Loss

Tokio, April 16. — Vice-Admiral Togo's report of the seventh attack upon Port Arthur is eagerly awaited here, although no misgivings are felt on account of the delay. It is believed that Vice-Admiral Togo is aware that serious damage was inflicted on the Russians on Wednesday last, and that he has decided to remain and vigorously renew the assault in the hope of dealing a final blow to the Russian fleet. The reason for detaching one torpedo flotilla on Thursday last has not been revealed, but it is probable that it carried orders to Rear-Admiral Uriu to bring up his squadron or to send either colliers or an additional supply of ammunition.

Private advices from Korea confirm the reported massing of 20,000 Russian troops on the right bank of the Yalu River, with the object of opposing the Japanese invasion of Manchuria. Although it is unknown when and where the Japanese will attempt a crossing of the Yalu, it is still believed that when ready they will force a passage without serious loss.

An error was made in translating a cypher telegram giving the number of Russians killed in a skirmish at the Yalu River last Tuesday west of Wiju. The number was given as 23, but the number actually killed was only three.

BASEBALL.

The annual meeting was held Friday evening. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $4.10 on hand. Officers were elected as follows: President, G. W. Taylor; Vice-President, H. M. Harris; Sec-Treasurer, E. J. Broad; Executive Committee, Cleophas Lacombe, J. Cameron, E. W. Boyce, C. Junkin and M. Welsh, Captain J. Cameron. The secretary was instructed to write to Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Peterborough and Omemee, with a view towards establishing a league, to be called the Kawartha Baseball League.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

NOW PRAY FOR A LAND VICTORY

Russians are, Anxious to Restore Confidence in Army

A COLLAPSE THREATENED

Another Big Disaster May Cause Internal Trouble in Russia

St. Petersburg, April 17.—Influential Russians in all parts of the Empire are uniting to avert a complete collapse of national confidence. The feeling in the cities and towns almost amounts to panic, and even the peasants in remote localities are beginning to waken up to a sense of the disasters that have struck the nation. The authorities view with apprehension the movements of political incendiaries, who, quick to discern their opportunity, are speaking and writing against the Government with unexampled boldness. Arrests are numerous and punitive measures are severe, but the agitation appears to gather force and is penetrating sections of the population hitherto entirely passive.

While anxious, the Government is not despondent. The Czar and the Imperial household are exhibiting an excellent example of hope and resolution. It is expected that Admiral Skrydloff will display all the intelligence and dash of Makaroff; but confidence in the navy is almost destroyed.

Russia is now looking almost solely to redeem the reputation of the Czar's arms. The land campaign is impatiently awaited, and the coming of the Japanese is earnestly desired. It is felt that a great victory is indispensable to restore the national equilibrium and remove those dangers to the social order, which every day force themselves more glaringly on public attention.

SPRINTING.

The long talked of Burns-Belland race came off on Saturday afternoon and resulted in a victory for the former. Hundreds of people had congregated around the corner of Hunter and George streets at 2.30 o'clock, but the start was not made until about 3 o'clock. Burns finished about 100 yards ahead of his opponent, and covered the five miles in about 32 minutes.

FOOTBALL.

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Football team was held in the Association parlors on saturday evening, and about fifteen members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Mr. A. Noble, the team's representative at the meeting of the Midland League submitted his report. There are fourteen teams represented on the League, and the first Y.M.C.A. match will be played with Bethany, at Peterborough on May 7th. It was decided that a concert will be held in the near future, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Harding, Campbell, Anderson, Merril, Laing and Williamson, was appointed to arrange for the same. It was decided that two balls, one a league and the other a practice ball, be purchased, and the secretary was authorized to arrange for the purchase of jerseys. On Wednesday evening practice will be held at Central Park, from 6 to 8 o'clock. The regular practice evenings will be Wednesday and Friday, and it is expected the practice will be held at the Oval.

A meeting of the Executive and Concert committees will be held in the Association parlors on Wednesday evening.

A meeting of the Midland League was held at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday afternoon, when the schedule for the coming season was drawn up. Representatives from the surrounding teams were present, and it was decided that the fourteen teams will be divided into five districts.

ST. LUKE'S MINSTRELS

Held Most Successful Concert on Friday Evening Last

On Friday evening a most successful Minstrel Show was held in the Fifth Ward Hall, under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church. A very large audience was in attendance, and the program was intensely interesting throughout. Many funny jokes were presented, and the humorous stories of the "darkies" and their comic songs were much appreciated.

The opening number was an overture, and the following amateur artists appeared in the minstrel circle;

Bones—W. F. Turner, G. G. Pratley, S. Whittaker, G. Butcher, S. Gaskins, D. Curtis and A. W. Turner.

Tambos—J. J. Turner, Jr., A. E. Lucas, C. Calcutt, G. Butcher, C. Crane, H. Bennett, H. McWha, and S. Gibbs.

Interlocutor—W. E. Wesley.

The conductor was well received with his excellent song, "Under the Anheuser Bush," and Mr. John Turner's "Mary Ann," received well merited encore. Mr. W. Andrews rendered the selection, "Wake up, My Dixie Sweetheart," and was encored, and Mr. Albert Lucas brought down the house with "Lucy Bailey," and "Lorna Doone." "Good-bye, Eliza Jane," by Mr. A. G. Pratley, brought forth much applause, and as an encore he rendered "The Wise Old Owl." Mr. Sam Whittaker sang "Barney" acceptably, and was accorded hearty applause. A well deserved encore was received by Mr. W. E. Wesley when he sang "The Clang of the Forge."

A happy farce entitled "The Business Office of Mr. Brown," was given, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the harmonious situation presented.

Mrs. A. W. Turner acted as accompanist in her usual acceptable manner.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there can be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has both the method and the ability to do as he says. Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture, that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotency, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the conditions itself, but like cures all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

THE WAR SITUATION

The Russian admiralty authorizes a denial of Vice Admiral Togo's claim that the Japanese sunk the Petropavlovak in a battle, and declares that there was no naval engagement except that between the torpedo boat destroyers, which took place before the ill-fated battleship went out to meet the Japanese squadron. The Japs are evidently anxious to claim the credit of sinking the ship, and the Russians are equally anxious to attribute their loss generally to their vessels having committed harikari by running over their own mines. Up to the present time the defenders of Port Arthur apparently would have been much better off without mines, for the Japanese vessels have never been near enough to run any risk from them, and according to the Russian versions most of the damage to the Russian squadron must be attributed to them.

After such a succession of disasters the general feeling in Port Arthur may well be one of despondency. Some wonder is expressed that Admiral Togo did not follow up the destruction of the Petropavlovak by an attack upon Port Arthur; but Admiral Togo generally does the unexpected thing, and with all his pluck and dash is exceedingly careful about exposing his fleet to unnecessary risks. Invariably, after getting in a blow the Japanese ships as quickly as possible, either disappear completely or at least get out of range. These tactics, are no doubt, calculated to baffle the Russian gunners, who have hardly time to get the range of the Japanese vessels before they vanish. That Admiral Togo will not lose much time in making another attack on Port Arthur may be taken for granted; the reduction, or complete and permanent bottling up of that port is an urgent necessity of the Japanese campaign.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

No factory on earth ever yet failed when there was a sufficient supply of beets, and Mr. Gordon thinks that this excellent dairying community will provide sufficient beets to guarantee a grand success. As an evidence of Mr. Gordon's financial stability it was stated that he was in close touch with many millionaires in Michigan, and was president and manager of the Wallaceburg factory, managing director of the Sydenham Glass Works, of Wallaceburg, manager of the Wallaceburg Cooperage Company, interested in several Michigan companies, president of a salt company in Detroit, and had $35,000 invested in a tweed industry.

Mr. Dumble in reply to Mr. Garvin remarked that the factory would succeed if the people were interested. The reason of its failure in the initial attempt was explained as due to inexperience. Now that an experienced man was at the wheel there was no reason why it should prove a failure. Beets could be conveyed in barges from twenty miles along Rice Lake direct to the factory. Railways radiate in all directions from the city. It has been proved that sugar beets grown here contain 1 per cent. more sugar than those grown elsewhere. Mr. Dumble considered Mr. Moore's letter unfair.

Mr. Moore spoke in support of the letter referred to. He was strongly of the opinion on general principles a municipal corporation should not be interested in commercial enterprises. He thought the council had made a mistake, but the majority of those present supported the action of the council.

Mr. E. J. Toker was favorable to the proposition. He considered the town was running no risk, and the granting of this bonus was not in the real sense of the word, exhausting our credit.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. Dumble and seconded by Mr. Nugent:

"That this Board of Trade, having carefully considered the by-law now before the public for approval, to authorize the council to guarantee the bonds of the Beet Sugar Company to the extent of $100,000 in terms of getting an indemnity a first mortgage on the lands, buildings and plant of the company, the guarantee to be given as to $50,000 when the buildings are ready for the installment of machinery and the machinery is on the company's grounds and security on the machinery given to the town, and the other $50,000 when the factory is completed and has run for 10 days, hereby approve of the by-law and recommended the approval of the by-law by the ratepayers.—Carried.

President Hugh a Charles remarked that every new industry, that promised to increase the prosperity of the town, should be encouraged. There were two important industries in the town at present, the American Cereal Company and the Matthews Company. The former during the past year had purchased about 500,000 bushels of grain from farmers at their works here, and the money was all paid out here. The latter company had paid out $750,000 last year, and both of these factories encouraged trade in general.

It was moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Toker that the mayor be asked to call a public meeting to discuss the beet sugar proposition.—Carried.

Pale Weak Women Take New Hope

There is a remedy for all your troubles Thousands have been Cured. Why not get back your Strength and Vigor by Using the Food-Tonic Ferrozone

Ever since the world began woman has borne more than her share of suffering. Secret troubles undermine her strength, yet she seldom complains. But because she has suffered in the past is no reason why she should be forever dragged down misery and sleeplessness.

There is no girl or woman who can lift that awful burden and remove the ills from which women suffer. The name of this remedy is Ferrozone which to-day is a household word throughout the length and breadth of the American continent. New hope has been brought into the life of many a downcast woman, a new era of health has dawned for thousands who have tried and proved the merit of Ferrozone.

There is no girl of woman who can afford to miss the benefit that is sure to come from the regular use of this grand remedy. It acts directly on all the organs and insures functional activity upon which health so largely depends. Your days of weakness and headache, your hours of nervousness and despondency will all depart. Life will hold for you many new joys as it does for everyone that uses Ferrozone regularly.

Your whole body will feel the quickening influence of Ferrozone. The blood will be purified and enriched. You will no longer suffer from suppression and interference with the menstrual functions. Ferrozone cures all such ailments and prevent their return.

Mrs. Mary E. Cowan, of Hillsboro, writes, "If half the ailing women in this world would only use Ferrozone regularly they would save a great deal of sickness. Before using Ferrozone I was fatigued and tired out with the least exertion. I spent half my time in bed and was forever bothered with some trouble or other. After using a few boxes of Ferrozone I became more robust, my strength and the irregularities I formerly had have disappeared. Ferrozone is a grand medicine for women."

This is the experience of thousands You really ought to use Ferrozone,—it will do you so much good. Don't listen to the druggist who urges something just as good. No substitute compares with Ferrozone, which does all that is claimed of it. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at druggists or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A clever Peterborough dressmaker says that the chief difference that she notices from the days, twenty-five years ago, when she began her apprenticeship, is the anxiety of every woman now to have something distinctive and quite unlike anybody else's costumes. This infinitude of detail that this desire necessitates is the chief reason for the rise in the price of freaks.

A BIG STRIKE

Good News for the Stock Holders of the La Alexandre Gold Mining and Smelting Co.

The mining industries of Old Mexico are in a most flourishing condition. Late advices from the developed territory that is immediately tributary to the city, "that is, within one hundred miles," indicates the production of an amount of gold bullion for the present year of at least four times the value of that produced in the year 1903. Many prospective developments have become paying, or prospective divident payers. The La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Co., who own the fee simple title to about 3000 acres of the most valuable territory in the mining range, and within 70 miles of the City of Mexico, are reported to have struck ore in paying quantities in their development tunnel that assays in varying values from $100 to $350 per ton, and it is felt to be certain that within a very short time the mother lead will be crossed and when this is reached it is certain to be of the greatest value. The Don Estrelina mine, who immediately adjoin this property, are now for the third month paying a monthly dividend of thirty per cent. Persons who are well versed in the location of the property and its prospects, predict for it the most brilliant success and claim that it will become a dividend payer before development work is completed, as will be seen in our advertising columns. The company is offering a limited amount of stock, "sold for development work only" and it would seem to us that their proposition was well worth the careful consideration of the investigating public.

Lipton's Tea

Among the many interesting exhibits at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., will be the display of Lipton's teas, which will include a very fine collection of photographs of the different estates owned by the Lipton company in sunny Ceylon. The various processes through which the tea passes after it is picked until it is ready for the table will be included in this photographic display, so that the thousands of visitors to the Fair may see for themselves the scientific methods that are employed. Not the least interesting part of the exhibit will be the collection of gold medals awarded to Lipton's "finest teas" at expositions in different parts of the world during the past twenty years. As medals are awarded for the greatest merit the collection proves that the phrase applied to Lipton's teas "finest the world produces" is no misnomer.

BRAIN GROWTH.

Brain development is found by Professor Soggel of Munich to have two periods of acceleration, from ten to eleven and from seventeen to eighteen in girls and from twelve to thirteen and nineteen to twenty in boys. At the period of most rapid increase in height, from twelve to fourteen years, the growth of the brain is less than one-hundredth that of the body, but at seventeen to nineteen it grows one-thirtieth as fast and at twenty reaches one-seventh of the body growth.

High Class Investment

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern mach nery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have so investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

JAPAN DEVELOPS CAMPAIGN PLAN

Believed that Russia is now Comparatively Helpless

A RUSH ON MANCHURIA

An Immense Japanese Force to be Landed in Manchuria

Che Foo, April 16.—It is believed by naval and military men here that Russia cannot recover from the Port Arthur disaster in time to offer successful resistance to Japan's landing programme in Manchuria. It is thought that Admiral Togo will follow up the advantage which either good fortune or good seamanship have given him by further offensive operations. Meanwhile a portion of his fleet, comprising more than 40 vessels will cover the embarkation of large forces in Manchuria. Big events are not expected in the vicinity of the Yalu until the Manchurian campaign begins.

It is regarded as certain that the Japanese, unless the Russians voluntarily withdraw into the interior, will not attempt to cross the Yalu in force until such a movement can be made to coincide with the operations in the Russian rear. The fact that the Japanese are ostentatiously reporting the landing of war correspondents at Chinampho is thought suggestive of the likelihood that the blow will shortly fall elsewhere than in Northern Corea. It is well to note that the military attaches and also a number of war correspondents are not with the army in Corea, but are remaining behind apparently in order to accompany Gen. Kuroki's head-

JAPS NOT TOO HASTY FOR WAR

Did not Strike the First Blow Until She was Fully Prepared

FORESIGHT OG STATESMEN

War With Russia has Been Inevitable--Action has Been Along Those Lines

Tokio, April 16.—Much has been said about Japan's patience in the face of Russia's continuous questionable diplomacy. It is not my intention to take away one iota of the credit deserved by the little civilized nation of the far east for her interesting display of diplomatic forbearance, but it is my desire to point out that Japan, in spite of her diplomacy, struck the initial blow at Russia the very instant she was fully prepared for war and not a moment before.

She did not begin shuffling her diplomatic cards with Russia until she had practically every battleship she needed to put her on an equal footing in eastern waters completed or ready to leave the ways. She did not make a move until she possessed a full complement of artillery, guns and ammunition, sufficient to equip as large an army as she estimated Russia would dare throw into her far distant Siberian territory. She kept her small arm and ammunition factories working for many months on double shifts before the diplomatic war cloud was as large as a speck in the sky.

CRITICAL DAYS FOR RUSSIANS

Japanese Expected to Invade Liaotian Valley by April 20

Yinkow, April 16.—The Russians regard the next few days as critical. If the Japanese intend to dispatch an expedition into the valley of the Liao River it is expected to arrive about April 20. The general idea here however, is that the Japanese landing will be made farther west than the Liao valley, that they may make use of the railway to Sinmintun.

On the other hand, the Sinmintun Line is without ballast and the bridges on it are useless for transportation. The rains that fell were heavier than any remembered at this season of the year. They washed away several miles of Russian railway between Tatachaio and Port Arthur.

The Russians have forbidden the export of grains and other foodstuffs.

St. Petersburg, April 14.—The awful disaster to the battleship Petropavlovsk at Port Arthur, with a loss of almost her entire crew of over 600 men, and the death of Vice-Admiral Makaroff, has been a terrific blow. It would have fallen less heavily if the ship and Commander-in-Chief of the fleet had been lost in battle, but to be the result of another accident, following upon the heels of a succession of tragedies of which the Port Arthur fleet has been the victim, it has created something like consternation.

"Reverses we can endure," said a prominent Russian, "but to have the Petropavlovsk meet the fate of the Yenesei and the Boyarin is heartbreaking."

POLTAVA WAS RAMMED.

Besides, it has just become known weeks ago had a hole rammed in her by the battleship Sevastopol, while the latter was manoeuvring in the harbor of Port Arthur.

—They evidently need some mine-readers in the Russian navy.

—If the head of water now passing over Fenelon Falls could be maintained all season sufficient power could be spared for transmission to Toronto to place the broken down street car system in good working order. The roar of the torrent can be heard all over the village.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangen, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, assaying from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-23-04.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 20, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit.

Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 20th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 1-23-04

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock. The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 21, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

SID. BLOCK.

CHAPTER I.

'Mid the New England hills, and beneath the shadow of their dim old woods, ran a running brook, whose deep waters were not always as merry and frolicsome as now; for years before our story opens, pent up and impeded in their course, they dashed angrily against their prison walls, and turned the creeking wheel of an old saw mill, with a sullen, rebellious roar. The mill has gone to decay, and the sturdy men who fed it with the giant oaks of the forest, are sleeping quietly in the village graveyard. The waters of the mill-pond, too, relieved from their confinement, leap gayly over the ruined dam, tossing for a moment in wanton glee their locks of snow-white foam, and then, flowing on, half fearfully as it were, through the deep gorge overhung with the hemlock and the pine, where the shadows of twilight ever lie, and where the rocks frown gloomily down upon the stream below, which, emerging from the darkness, loses itself at last in the waters of the gracefully winding Chicopee, and leaves far behind the moss-covered walls of what is familiarly known as the "Old House by the Mill."

'Tis a huge, old-fashioned building, distant nearly a mile from the public highway, and surrounded so thickly by forest trees that the bright sunlight, dancing merrily midst the rustling leaves above, falls but seldom on the time-stained walls of dark gray stone, where the damp and dews of more than a century have fallen, and where now the green moss clings with a loving grasp, as if 'twere its rightful resting-place. When the thunders of the Revolution shook the hills of the Bay State, and the royal banner floated in the evening breeze, the house was owned by an old Englishman, who, loyal to his kind and country, denounced as rebels the followers of Washington. Against these, however, he would not raise his hand, for among them were many long-tried friends, who had gathered with him round the festal board; so he chose the only remaining alternative, and went back to his native country, cherishing the hope that he should one day return to the home he loved so well, and listen again to the musical flow of the water-brook, which could be distinctly heard from the door of the mansion. But his wish was vain, for when at last America was free, and the British troops recalled, he slept beneath the sod of England, and the old house was for many years deserted. The Englishman had been greatly beloved, and his property was unmolested, while the weeds and grass grew rail and rank in the garden beds, and the birds of heaven built their nests beneath the projecting roof, or held a holiday in the gloomy, silent rooms.

As time passed on, however, and no one appeared to dispute their right, different families occupied the house at intervals, until at last, when nearly fifty years had elapsed, news was one day received that Madam Conway, a grand-daughter of the old Englishman, having met with reverses at home, had determined to emigrate to the New World, and, remembering the "House by the Mill," of which she had heard so much, she wished to know if peaceable possession of it would be allowed her, in case she decided upon removing thither, and making it her future home. To this plan no objection was made, for the aged people of Hilladale still cherished the memory of the hospitable old man, whose locks were gray while they were yet but children, and the younger portion of the community hoped for a renewal of the gayeties which they had heard were once so common at the old stone house.

But in this they were disappointed, for Madam Conway was a proud, unsocial woman, desiring no acquaintance whatever with her neighbors, who, after many ineffectual attempts at something like friendly intercourse, concluded to leave her entirely alone, and contented themselves with watching the progress of matters at "Mill Farm," as she designated the place which soon began to show visible marks of improvement. The Englishman is a man of taste, and Madam Conway's first work was an attempt to restore the grounds to something of their former beauty. The yard and garden were cleared of weeds, the walks and flower-beds laid out with care, and then the neighbors looked to see her cut away a few of the multitude of trees which had sprung up around her home. But this she had no intention of doing. "They shut her out," she said, "from the prying eyes of the vulgar, and she would rather it should be so." So the trees remained, throwing their long shadows upon the high, narrow windows, and into the large, square rooms, where the morning light and the noonday heat seldom found entrance, and which seemed like so many cold, silent caverns, with their old-fashioned massive furniture, their dark, heavy curtains, and the noiseless footfall of the stately lady, who moved ever with the same measured tread, speaking always softly and low to the household servants, who, having been trained in her service, had followed her across the sea.

From these the neighbors learned that Madam Conway had in London a married daughter, Mrs. Miller; that old Hagar Warren, the strange-looking woman, who, more than any one else, shared her mistress's confidence, had grown up in the family, receiving a very good education, and had nursed their young mistress, Miss Margaret, which, of course, entitled her to more respect than was usually bestowed upon menials like her; that Madam Conway was very aristocratic, very proud of her high English blood; that, though she lived alone, she attended strictly to all the formalities of high life, dressing each day with the utmost precision for her solitary dinner, dining from all a service of solid silver, and residing with great dignity in her straight, high-backed chair. She was fond, too, of the ruby wine, and her cellar was stored with the choicest liquors, some of which she had brought with her from home, while others, it was said, had belonged to her grandfather, and for half a century had remained unseen and unmolested, while the cobwebs of time had woven around them a misty covering, making them still more valuable to the lady, who knew full well how age improved such things.

Regularly each day she rode in her ponderous carriage, sometimes alone, and sometimes accompanied by Hester, the daughter of old Hagar, a handsome, intelligent-looking girl, who, after two or three years of comparative idleness at Mill Farm, went to Meriden, Connecticut, as seamstress in a family which had advertised for such a person. With her departed the only life of the house, and during the following year there ensued a monotonous quiet, which was broken at last for Hagar by the startling announcement that her daughter's young mistress had died four months before, and the husband, a gray-haired, elderly man, had proved conclusively that he was in his dotage by talking of marriage to Hester, who, ere the letter reached her mother, would probably be the third bride of one whose reputed wealth was the only possible inducement to a girl like Hester Warren.

With an immense degree of satisfaction Hagar read the letter through, exulting that fortune had favored her at last. Possessed of many sterling qualities, Hagar Warren had one glaring fault which had embittered her whole life. Why others were rich while she was poor she could not understand, and her heart rebelled at the fate which had made her what she was. But Hester would be wealthy—nay, would, perhaps, one day rival the haughty Mrs. Miller across the water, who had been her playmate; there was comfort in that, and she wrote to her daughter expressing her entire approbation, and hinting vaguely of the possibility that she herself might some time cease to be a servant, and help do the honors of Mr. Hamilton's house! To this there came no reply, and Hagar was thinking seriously of making a visit to Meriden, when one rainy autumnal night, nearly a year after Hester's marriage, there came another letter sealed with black. With a sad foreboding Hagar opened it, and read that Mr. Hamilton had failed; that his house and farm were sold, and that he, overwhelmed with mortification both at his failure and the opposition of his friends to his last marriage, had died suddenly, leaving Hester with no home in the wide world unless Madam Conway received her again into her family.

"Just my luck!" was Hagar's mental comment, as she finished reading the letter, and carried it to her mistress, who had always liked Hester, and who readily consented to give her a home, provided she put on no airs from having been for a time the wife of a reputed wealthy man. "Mustn't put on airs!" muttered Hagar, as she left the room. "Just as if airs wasn't for anybody but high bloods!" And with the canker worm of envy at her heart, she wrote to Hester, who came immediately; and Hagar, when she heard her tell the story of her wrongs—how her husband's sister, indignant at his marriage with a sewing-girl, had removed from him the children, one a step-child and one his own, and how of all his vast fortune there was not left for her a penny — experienced again the old bitterness of feeling, and murmured that fate should thus deal with her and hers.

With the next day's mail there came to Madam Conway a letter, bearing a foreign postmark, and bringing the sad news that her son-in-law had been lost in a storm, while crossing the English Channel, and that her daughter Margaret, utterly crushed and heart-broken, would sail immediately for America, where she wished only to lay her weary head upon her mother's bosom and die.

"So, there is one person that has no respect for blood, and that is Death," said old Hagar to her mistress, when she heard the news. "He has served us both alike—he has taken my son-in-law first and yours next."

Frowning haughtily, Madam Conway bade her be silent, telling her at the same time to see that the rooms in the north part of the building were put in perfect order for Mrs. Miller, who would probably come in the next vessel. In sullen silence Hagar withdrew, and for several days worked half reluctantly in the "north rooms," as Madam Conway termed a comparatively pleasant, airy suit of apartments, with a balcony above, which looked out upon the old mill-dam, and the waterbrook pouring over it.

"There'll be big doings when my lady comes," said Hagar one day to her daughter. "It'll be Hagar here, and Hagar there, and Hagar everywhere; but I shan't hurry myself. I'm getting too old to wait on a chit like her."

"Don't talk so, mother," said Hester. "Margaret was always kind to me. She is not to blame for being rich, while I am poor."

"But somebody's to blame," interrupted old Hagar. "You was always accounted the handsomest and cleverest of the two, and yet for all you'll be nothing but a drudge to wait on her and the little girl."

Hester only sighed in reply, while her thoughts went forward to the future, and what it would probably bring her. Hester Warren and Margaret Conway had been children together, and in spite of the difference of their stations they had loved each other dearly; and when at last the weary traveler came, with her pale sad face and mourning garb, none gave her so heartfelt a welcome as Hester; and during the week when, from exhaustion and excitement, she

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $200,000 with shares at $1each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. L. Burrowes, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $200,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $110,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance a coal mine in Chemung, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 201 acres under and with three distinct veins or layers of coal which are 6 feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 320 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one lies a depth of 380 feet, and the third at 485 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which as we use as a sump, makes our shafts total depth 585 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 150 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 250 tons per day within two or three weeks, however himself wants, I do on this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 85c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and to no one's and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.75 to $2.90 for Mine Run and $3.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each, we predict that this stock will be worth not less than $3 per share before another year over by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends kindly do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

BOYS USED RIFLE

Five Fifth Ward Lads Arraigned at Police Court

Several small boys appeared at yesterday morning's police court, charged with shooting with a rifle in the Fifth Ward. It appears that about forty or fifty boys have been in the habit of congregating in an empty house on Euclid avenue in the afternoons and evenings, and their obscene language, and noise has proved a source of great annoyance to passers-by for some time past. Many juvenile witnesses were heard, but only one lad, named Butherson, was found guilty of discharging the rifle. He was fined $5. The names of the other young miscreants are William Maxwell, David Smith, Bernard Savoy and Vincent Hourigan, all ranging in age from 13 to 15 years.

The magistrate in passing sentence warned the boys that they had better be more careful in the future and he asked that any citizen who is again annoyed by them to at once report the matter to the police.

NEW SITE SELECTED

Where the New Y. W. C. A. Building is to Stand

Yesterday Mr. J. J. McBain, on behalf of the ladies who have charge of the fund of the Young Woman's Christian Association enterprise, closed with Mr. Stevenson for the purchase of the lot on the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets, now used by the Bowling Club. The price is somewhere between $3,000 and $4,000. It has a frontage of 120 feet on Simcoe street and 140 feet on Aylmer street.

The price will not be regarded as high, considering the very central locality of the property.

Work on the new building will be begun as soon as possible. The structure will be a very imposing one, and will be an ornament to the town.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds thereof rom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Full information will be supplied on application to Mr. Roland Kidd, Fiscal Agent for Ontario, or to

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against fire. Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing.

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail. We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day; one electric lighting plant with 120 16 candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The Monarch Consolidated Gold & Copper Mining and Smelting Company of BOULDER, COLORADO

Solicits the co-operation of reputable men in providing means for the thorough and rapid development of two large gold and copper mining estates, which are deemed to possess intrinsic value, and to this end extends every opportunity for determination as to whether statements made by the company are true or false.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for them unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than verify every claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of the property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 20 feet wide, 8 feet of which runs from $10 to $100 per ton, and the Company owns 9 000 feet on this vein.

Ore running from $25 to $60 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold quarry, and 24 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $ gold per ton.

FACILITIES—The Company owns 1,720 acres of placer and timber land. Water power of 800 (minimum) horse power. No expensive shaft work necessary, Ore easily reached on Company's property, thus saving freight and smelter charges.

INVESTMENT—In addition to earning and paying large dividends it is only necessary to [illegible] stock to be sold at

AN INDIAN DUEL.

The Famous Fight Between Chief Carpenter and Price.

"The methods of fighting duels among the Indians," said an old frontiersman, "were varied, each tribe having its own peculiar custom. Some of the tribes learned to fight according to the code of the white man, however, among these the Choctaws or Cherokees, which reminds me of the famous duel in July of 1863, when the celebrated Choctaw chief, Carpenter, fought near the Pine Creek Indian agency with a white man named Price. Chief Carpenter was a splendid type of Indian, tall and straight and comely, and he had been well educated and had natural talents and natural instincts that put him head and shoulders over his Indian associates.

"As usual, this trouble was started by a disagreement over some trivial matter, which caused a dispute and ended in the white man calling his red brother a liar. Throughout the trouble the big Indian had remained perfectly calm, although considerably angered, and as the insult fell he gazed coldly into the eyes of Price and said:

"'Your blood shall wash out that word.'

"'Whenever you're ready, say the word,' cried Price. 'You can do your washing right here and now if you please.'

"'Not now, sir, but tomorrow morning, when the sun peeps over the top of that wild plum tree, you must be here and without fail.'

"The report of the duel spread far and wide, and at an hour considerably before sunrise a large crowd had gathered on the dueling ground to witness the encounter. Price was the first on the field, and for a time it looked as if there would be no Carpenter. But, true to his Indian blood, the chief disdained coming too soon at the appointed place as much as he would have feared coming too late, and it was just as the first rays of the sun stole over the soft green of the tree that the red man stood in place. Not a word was spoken by either man. Both drew their pistols, and, raising the weapons, they fired almost simultaneously. Carpenter reeled, but with a mighty effort checked a tendency to spin round, and, staggering, fired as the crack of his opponent's pistol sounded for the second time. This time Price jumped high in the air and landed on his face stone dead.

"With a wild shout the crowd pressed forward to surround the lucky chief, but before aid could reach him he fell senseless. Price had been shot through the heart, clean as a whistle, a remarkable shot considering the condition of the Indian when he made it, and a shot Carpenter could have made in the first place without a doubt had he been as determined to kill as Price proved himself when his bullet buried itself in the Indian's breast."

The Vice of Nagging.

Nagging may or may not be a vice of the chin, as a famous physician suggests, but that there is some truth in his theory that there is a scientific basis for this ugly habit seems likely. "Perfect health," he says, "has as one of its factors content of mind. A nervous man or woman who is captious, discontented, gloomy, dissatisfied, worried from any cause, cannot enjoy good health. This mental turmoil produces as one of its primary effects on the body an inability to digest food properly. The blood which should supply the force necessary for the function of digestion is continually drawn away from the stomach by excitement in the brain, and the woman who nags suffers. While there be those whose tendency to lay on fat is so great that nothing will stop it a nagging man or woman is generally thin. Their habit of mind has partially starved their bodies."

Accommodating.

The buzzards enjoy the name "accommodating" in the New river district of West Virginia as they do in tropical countries. A breaker boy was brought before a squire in a coal mining town on the charge of having killed one of the only scavengers of that country. After severely reprimanding the boy the old squire, who was a German said: "I fine you $10!"

"I hain't got that much," replied the boy.

"Den I fine you $5!"

"I hain't got $5."

"Vell, how much haf you got?"

"Three dollars and seventy-five cents."

"All right; den I fine you $3.75!"

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property equip the mines, etc No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Lung, Throat and Catarrhal Troubles

A MARVELLOUS DISCOVERY THAT HAS DELIGHTED ALL CANADA BY ITS PROMPT CURES

The method that has proved successful through its enormous advantages of being pleasant and free from the danger of creating the drug habit employs dry air as the carrying agent.

By this method every part of the breathing apparatus is bathed by a medicated air. Germs which excite the trouble are immediately destroyed. Sore and tender spots are healed and the congested surfaces restored to normal condition.

This method of treatment is known as Catarrhosone, and has obtained a footing never attained by any other remedy for the many diseases affecting the respiratory tract.

Catarrhosone is fragrant, healing, balsamic, pleasant as the air of the pine woods and more active as a healing agent than anything hitherto discovered. It contains neither cocaine nor any of those irritating substances which really increase the congestion and add to the difficulty, instead of curing as Catarrhosone so quickly does.

MRS. HINY BROWN, of Tancasqe, N.S., had lung trouble and catarrh. She took cough mixtures but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhosone. "I used Catarrhosone Inhaler," she writes, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized it was going to cure. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhosone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist where Catarrhosone is used."

The complete Catarrhosone outfit contains a large bottle of inhalent, sufficient to keep rechanging the inhaler for two months. It costs $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure; sample size 25c. Sold by all druggists or sent direct to your home by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Deplorable Ignorance

A Dancroft schoolmarm boxed the ears of a pupil a few days ago. The boy told his mother and the next day the teacher received the following note: Nature has provided a proper place for the punishment of a boy, and it is not on his ear. I will thank you to use it hereafter." Having failed to accompany the request with a diagram with cross indicating the proper place the sweet young lady teacher is not able to follow out instructions.

While away Mr. Lord also obtained a substitute for himself during the summer months, as he will be on Mission work in the North West.

Garbage in Back Yards

Now that the snow has all disappeared it largely depends on ourselves whether this may not mean even more sickness than the continued and intense cold has caused. There has been released considerable accumulations of garbage and filth, with which the sanitary authorities cannot deal, but individuals can. All cellars, basements and dark corners of a house should be disinfected daily for the next few weeks; cleanliness is antagonistic to all disease, so is fresh air and daylight. For preference burn all rubbish lying around but disinfect anyway. As effective simple and cheap a disinfectant as can be used is permanganate of potash; it costs about five cents an ounce, and one ounce dissolved in a gallon of water should be used about the house daily; of course use as much more as you like or require; there is absolutely no smell to it, and a cupful put into the water you are washing in will do good, especially if you sponge all over with it. This preventative is within the reach of everybody just now—when we are more less run down and more than usually receptive to unsanitary influences—to do everything possible to head off a not at all improbable outbreak of disease.

LADIES' HATS OFF!

To the Editor of the Times:

Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper for a few remarks.

Why should ladies wear hats in church any more than men? Last night I sat in church behind a lady who wore a hat of such immense proportions that it was only at rare intervals that I could catch a glimpse of the preacher, and the thought occurred to me that the ladies who attend church might very profitably copy the example of their sister who attend theatres in this one respect at least. Now nice it would be if all the ladies should unanimously resolve to remove their hats in church. Of course the builders of most churches do not appear to have provided any places in the pews where the hats could be safely deposited, but for that matter men have always had to put up with a similar inconvenience, except in a few favored instances—one notable one occurring to me at this moment, namely, the Methodist church at Dorchester, Ont., where the seats are constructed similar to those in the theatres.

Lipton's Teas

Among the many interesting exhibits at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., will be the display of Lipton's teas, which will include a very fine collection of photographs of the different estates owned by the Lipton company in sunny Ceylon. The various processes through which the tea passes after it is picked until it is ready for the table will be included in this photographic display, so that the thousands of visitors to the Fair may see for themselves the scientific methods that are employed. Not the least interesting part of the exhibit will be the collection of gold medals awarded to Lipton's "finest teas" at expositions in different parts of the world during the past twenty years. As medals are awarded for the greatest merit the collection proves that the phrase applied to Lipton's teas "finest the world produces" is no misnomer.

HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. No one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life when his digestive and nutritive organs are diseased is equally handicapped. In the one case his strength is overweighted, in the other it is undermined. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

$5,000 FORFEIT will be paid by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James H. Ambrose, Esq., of 1093½ Hilton Street, Huntsville, Ala. "I was taken with what our physicians here said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out, and I did so, and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped, believing cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, sent free on receipt of stamps to cover expense of customs and mailing only. Thirty-one one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

General Gordon's Wife.

Through the entire civil war General Gordon's wife accompanied him, never leaving his side save when the exigencies of campaign made her presence impossible. To the faithful devotion of his wife General Gordon owed his life. In the bloody battle of Sharpesburg, Gordon, while in the midst of the carnage, was shot five times. As soon as he fell his wife rushed to his side and carried him to safety, stanching the flow of blood and attending his wounds until medical aid could be procured. She remained with him in the hospital until he had recovered, and when General Gordon went back to join his command Mrs. Fannie Haralson Gordon followed her husband.

The Annual Bath in the Ganges.

The largest regular assemblage of people in the world is said to be the crowd which gathers annually at Benares, in India, to bathe in the Ganges. A large temple, or rather a series of buildings, is on the shore at this point, while steps reach down to the water's edge. The Hindoos crowd upon this bank in enormous numbers, the crowd at times numbering upward of 50,000. As the natives are dressed in the brightest colors, the crowd gives the impression of an enormous bed of flowers.

Disappointed.

A small miss who had but recently mastered her catechism confessed her disappointment with it thus: "Now, I obey the fifth commandment and honor my papa and mamma, yet my days are not a bit longer in the land, for I'm put to bed every night at 7 o'clock just the same."

The Little Things That Fret.

"My, but the old man's a most unreasonable growler!"

"You think so?"

"I know it. Why, he's growlin' from mornin' till night, an' all on earth he has to do is to pay all the bills for the family."

After a moment's thought Mr. Stormington Barnes replied:

TWO JAPANESE OFFICERS CAUGHT BY RUSSIANS

Were Dressed as Thibetan Lamas and Endeavoring to Blow Up A Bridge

Harbin, Manchuria, April 16.—Two Japanese officers of the general staf have arrived here under strict escort, having been arrested by the railroad guards eighteen miles from this place. They were dressed as Thibetan lamas. In their tents were found sixty pounds of high explosives, a fuse, a string of keys to unscrew railroad nuts, etc. They evidently intended to blow up the bridge over the Nonni River, near Fulhardi. The prisoners displayed great coolness, confessing that it was their intention to destroy the railroad.

MADAM YANGEI SPEAKS

Times Correspondent Relates most Interesting Interview with Chinese Lady

A correspondent of the Times writes the following interesting interview with Madame Sin Yangei, a prominent Chinese lady:

"Tell us a little about you own newspapers, Madame——"

Yangei Sin. It is really Sin Yangei according to your way, for we put the surname first.

"Our Chinese newspapers. They are quite different; but, on the other hand, I doubt if even your press stand for what the government of China has to endure from what we call the organs of the revolutionists, or the reform papers, which are printed in most of the treaty ports—Shanghai, Hong Kong and others.

"The columns of these papers are open to everybody, and anyone who has a grievance against the government usually airs it in them. They are quite rabid, I can assure you.

"They suggest all sorts of reform, even to beheading the Dowager Empress. Pleasant for a government, is fit not? Would you allow your newspapers to suggest that method of getting rid of your President and Cabinet, if they did not please by their methods?

"I believe the editor of the paper who published the article advocating killing the Empress Dowager was punished. He is not editing any more.

"Yes, the government has an official organ of its own. It is called the Pekin Gazette and is the oldest newspaper in the world. It is printed every day, and is published in a yellow cover.

"No, it does not dare to answer these attacks that are constantly made by the revolutionary party. It is really more of a magazine in its scope and purpose than a daily newspaper.

"In it are published the memorials that are made to the throne, petitions and the like, all the edicts, the royal orders of one kind and another, interesting items concerning the doings of the court circle, information concerning the royal family. It contains nothing of what you call news interest, except in case of matters of world-wide interest, like, for example, the present Japanese war."

"What is the difference, physically, between the Chinese woman and the Japanese?" was asked.

Mme. Yangei had been speaking of the wife of the Japanese consul and the other Japanese women in America whom she knew and liked.

"In the first place, the Japanese women are shorter than we are, that is the average Japanese woman. Her features, too, are rounder, more chinky, and the general effect, perhaps, not quite so delicate as our women.

"Of course there are different types of Japanese women. You take the old Kioto type, the nobility type, as we call it. In them the face is narrow, and the line from the cheek bone down is quite straight and most beautiful in effect, but that type does not seem fashionable.

"Is it not strange how women seem to be able to change themselves to suit the fashion of a moment? At present the broad-faced, chunky-figured woman is the fashion in Japan, and that is the type that you see, just as here in America within the last few years the tall, long-limbed girl is the fashion, and you see so many of them on the street, in the cars, everywhere you go."

PEACE THE AIM OF KING

KING EDWARD MAKING HURCULEAN EFFORTS TO END WAR

His Enthusiasm Not Lessened by the Discouragement of His Ministers

London, April 19.—King Edward is making herculean efforts to bring about a settlement of the far eastern crisis. To achieve this result has become his sole ambition for the present, and to it he is devoting almost his entire time. He has met only with discouragement from his ministers, but in spite of their lack of sympathy with his efforts he is pursuing the undertaking with unabated enthusiasm.

The king has frequent interviews with both the Russian and Japanese ministers and keeps himself thoroughly posted on every turn in the war situation, down to the minutest details. He has been frankly informed by the ambassadors of the two warring nations of the aims and intentions of both sides.

CONSULTS WITH OTHERS.

King Edward has also held several consultations with the French ambassador, as well as the representative of the German empire, for he recognizes that the interests of all the European powers must be safeguarded in any proposals put forward for peace, if there is to be any hope of success.

Through these conferences with all the powers most interested the king has obtained an intimate knowledge of what they would be disposed to regard with favor in a proposition looking to a settlement.

An important stage of the king's efforts for peace will come when he goes to Copenhagen for two weeks. There he will meet the dowager empress of Russia and the Russian ambassador, and through them he has great hopes of furthering his amicable project.

RUSSIA THE OBSTACLE.

It is recognized here that Russia, more than Japan, is the obstacle to settlement, for Russia feels that her prestige needs vindication, owing to the naval defeat she has sustained.

King Edward had hoped to induce the Czar to meet him at Fredensburg but this proved to be impossible, as the Russian ministers would not hear of permitting him to leave at this critical stage of the war operations.

The present lull in the fighting is regarded as favorable to King Edward's project, which is warmly supported by the Kaiser, as well as by the French ministry.

—The editor of a local exchange very wisely remarks "We can't expect much warm weather until the ice is out of the lakes, and the ice won't be out of the lakes until we have had some warm weather.

RUSSIAN DESTROYER SOKOL

YET ANOTHER PORT ARTHUR

One in Southern Seas That That is a Veritable Hell Upon Earth

What the place Looked Like When it Was recovering From a Bad System 30 Years Ago

(New York Sun.)

"I see someone has been asking in The Sun how Port Arthur got its name," said an old sea captain who knows the Pacific "as well as the missus knows her own back yard," as he puts it.

"I've known the place by that name for the last thirty-five years, any way, but just when it came to be so put down on the chart I cannot say. It has been stated recently that it was called after a Lieutenant Arthur of H.M.S. Algerine, who called there in 1860. That may or may not be true, but I'll tell you one thing that I've seen no mention of in connection with the place.

"That is, that it wasn't the first or the most widely known place of that name in the Pacific. Port Arthur was a name of mighty sinister sound and import long before it was applied to what, not so long ago, was only the insignificant little fishing village of Lushunkou at the tail end of the Liaotung peninsula. Back in the '40's and '50's, and even in the '60's, there was a Port Arthur known by name to all South Pacific sailors as a regular hell on earth. I had long known its evil reputation, but it was not till along about 1870 that I ever got a chance to see the place.

"I was in the Australian trade in those days and a man could hear mighty queer yarns down there about some of the old Australian and Tasmanian convict settlements. They must have been tough places, every one of 'em, but I reckon there was none that had a worse record than Port Arthur, on the southeast coast of Tasmania, and just at the foot of the Tasman Peninsula.

"I tell you some of the old shellbacks chinning in the fo'c'sle at night would span yarns of queer things that happened in that godforsaken spot. Things of the kind that would give a nervous sailor the creeps. Murder, suicide, mutiny; even cannibalism in cases where gangs of convicts had escaped and then got lost in the bush and ran short of food, all went to make up the ordinary budget of Port Arthur's stories.

"There were lots of the old 'lags,' as they used to call time-expired convicts, knocking about the southern seas in those days, and from listening to their chin I got to be pretty familiar with the routine of prison life as it had been in those old penal settlements like Bottany Bay, Port Macquarie, Norfolk Island and Port Arthur. Once, when I was laying off waiting for a cargo at Hobart Town, along about 1870, I got a chance to go across with a couple of warders who were taking half a dozen prisoners to Port Arthur.

"Now, though the transportation of convicts from England had been stopped by the colonists some years before the British authorities were still very chary of letting strangers see any of the remoter settlements. There were still strange and sad sights to be seen and all sorts of reminders of a horrible state of things that everybody wished to have forgotten. So, though Port Arthur was at that time still in existence as a prison, it was not the sort of place that sightseers were wanted at. But I had heard so many stories of the place from old hands among my various crews that I felt a sort of uncanny interest and so I went.

"A short run by schooner down to the mouth of the Derwent and across Storm Bay brought us to the entrance to Port Arthur, a grim and desolate looking spot, if ever there was one. Almost across the entrance lies the Island of the Dead, where the authorities used to bury those of the convicts who were lucky enough to die, and back of the port was a pile of frowning, gloomy cliffs that ran up into the heavily-banked clouds overhead.

"Round one side of the port ran a huge and splendidly built masonry wharf, and this and a number of solid stone buildings and fine broad roads that ran here and there told of the excellence of the old forced convict labor that, under the gentle stimulus of the lash, had built them.

"There was a crowd of convicts on the wharf when we landed, most of them clad in rough woollen stuff of that peculiar dull grey, drab color that no Tasmanian even today can see without a thrill of memory that recalls, old, never-to-be-forgotten horrors. These were the last remnants of that awful 'system' that will remain one of the foulest blots on England's national memory. Most of them, on whom the lash and leg irons had done their work well were bent and crippled, and most of the older ones showed by their dull, bleared eyes and vacant expressions that in them the light of reason had mercifully gone out forever.

"There were in the whole settlement some five or six hundred convicts, lunatics and paupers—most of them left over remnants of the system. A bit o' 'backy quietly offered never failed to make a friendly impression on these poor human derelicts and to arouse a disposition to talk in those whom there were some glimmerings of reason left.

"Lord, what an appalling record of man's brutality to his helpless fellowman the story of some of those poor wretches' lives would make! We hear a whole lot nowadays about Russia and Siberia, and I've seen things in Russian prisons at Saghalien that were bad enough; but England's treatment of her Australian and Tasmanian convicts in the early years of the nineteenth century would appal the world if it were more widely known today.

"One old fellow that was pathetically grateful for 'baccy didn't look any more criminal or harmful than a child. A weak face, with kindly smile that was blended of childlike innocence and senility, disarmed suspicion in a moment. And yet this poor human wreck had been a prisoner for over forty years, and had been flogged for insubordination—fifty to a hundred lashes at a seance—so many times that he had long forgotten the count; though his back, which he showed me, bore him witness; for it was scarred and corrugated like the bark of a fire-scorched tree. He was beat almost double and scarred and crippled with the weight of arm and leg and neck irons that, during his sentence, he had worn for years. He had been sentenced to flogging and transportation in 1822, being then of the ripe age of ten, for poaching. His actual childish crime was the heinous one of having snared a rabbit on the squire's lands.

"There were hundreds, nay thousands of such cases as his in those old evil days. Mere children were sentenced then flogged and inhumanly ill-treated till they were driven to some trifling act of insubordination, and then their sentences were indefinitely expanded.

"In the palmy days of the system the whole thing was a glorious scheme of graft. In the 30's they had in Port Arthur about 1000 men and from 250 to 300 boys, and their labor for one year was valued at $80,000. The prison officials, who were also in many instances contractors, got the benefit of this forced labor, and hence they saw to it that sentences were extended pretty liberally. Policing the settlement was a cheap and easy job in the old days. And it doesn't cost much to feed and clothe the poor devils consigned to this inferno. As for escape, it was well-night impossible.

"On the landward side was an unknown and inhospitable bush, with a lot of hungry cannibal niggers, while a score or so of big, wicked-looking sharks all day swam lazily round and sunned themselves in the crystal waters of the harbor, grimly waiting for the poor crazed and desperate devils who from time to time were driven to take a chance that way.

"Well, I'm not squeamish, and I've seen some tough sights in my time; but I was glad to say good-by to the Tasmanian Port Arthur. I'm told it's much changed now, and there's little left to be seen there today. Jails have been torn down, prison records have been destroyed, and the leg and neck irons melted down or hidden away at nearly all the sites of the old convict settlements in Australia and Tasmania; and as for the poor human documents, they have been gathered into Death's great dustbin.

"But when this war broke out and I began to read so much about Port Arthur it all brought back to me the day, thirty odd years ago, when for the first and only time I got a glimpse of hell upon earth in that other far-off southern spot of the same name.

ADMIRAL TOGO'S REPORT OF RUSSIAN DISASTER

Tells His Version of the Blowing Up of Makaroff's Flagship.

Washington, April 18.—The Japanese Legation has received the following cablegram, dated Tokio, April 16; Admiral Togo reports that the combined fleet, as previously planned, commenced on the 12th of April the eighth attack on Port Arthur. The fourth and fifth destroyer flotillas, and the fourteenth torpedo flotilla and the Koryo Maru reached the mouth of the Port Arthur harbor at midnight of the 12th and effected the laying of mines at several points outside of the port, defying the enemy's searchlights.

The second destroyer flotilla discovered at dawn on the 13th one one Russian destroyer trying to enter the harbor, and after ten minutes' attack sunk her. Another Russian destroyer was discovered coming from the direction of Liao-Tieshan, and was attacked, but she managed to flee into the harbor. On our side no casualties, except two seamen on the Ikazuchi slightly wounded. There was no time to rescue the enemy's drowning crews, as the Hayan approached.

ST JOHN S VESTRY MEETING

Satisfactory Reports Presented at Last Night's Meeting

The vestry meeting at St. John's church last evening was well attended and the various reports presented were most satisfactory. The Woman's Auxiliary presented a most favorable report, and it was shown that 67 members are now enrolled. The Mission Band, and Girls' Guild's reports were also adopted, but the Sunday School report was not presented, owing to the absence of Mr. Rush. At this point Rev. Mr. Davidson remarked that he had been acting as superintendent of the Sunday school as no person could be obtained to fill the vacancy. This work, together with the Sunday services, don's orchestra furnished music and very generously expressed himself as willing to perform the duties fo superintendent until a suitable man is obatined to fill the position. The success of the school last year was largely due to the excellent staff of teachers who spared neither time nor pains to ensure most successful results. There had also been a marked increase of the Sunday school scholars in attendance at the church services. The reports of the Communion Fund and Rector's Poor Fund were read by the rector and were unanimouusly adopted. Mr. Petty read the report of the Young Men's Guild, which was most satisfactory and Mr. Pousette submitted his report as representative on the Board of Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Pousette moved that all the collections on Easter Sunday be appropriated to the Rectory Fund. It was also decided that the following sidesmen be the Advisory committee; Messrs. Bouchar, Howden, Conway, Long, Belcher, Burnham, Dennistoun, Rush, Fair, Pousette, Stratton, Rogers, Cluxton.

The financial report showed receipts amounting to $1710.91 and expenditures of $727.42, thereby leaving a balance of $335.26, and all other reports submitted were equally satisfactory.

PETERBOROUGH ELOPMENT

Girl of Sixteen Marries Youthful Lover to the Queen City

She was young, about sixteen, and he was two years her senior, just eighteen. She was a typewriter, while he was the son of a gentleman, and had naught to do but enjoy his father's riches. The young man fell in love, as most young men do, but, as is very often the case, his parents objected to their son lavishing his affections on the fair young typewriter. But, notwithstanding parental disapproval John remained true to his sweetheart and soon the plans were laid. They would elope. They would leave the fair Electric City for other climes where they might enjoy each other's company, away from the stern parental eye. He had fifty dollars of his own and both concluded that this was enough to ensure happiness. He, of course, would obtain employment and she would teach music. On Tuesday evening last they left Peterborough, left their happy homes, bound for the Queen City. They were quietly married there, and took up their abode on Jarvis street. Both were happy. But alas! the fifty dollars was now reduced to five dollars and sixty cents, and still the young husband had no employment. Finally all the money went and John was in a quandary. He wrote home with the last postage stamp he had, asking for help. The kind-hearted father was considerate. He forwarded money and the young couple were forgiven and now enjoy the pleasures of life in the midland metropolis.

THE NEW ARTS BUILDING OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OTTAWA.

Tenders for the construction of the new arts building of the University of Ottawa have been called for and a notice of the same appears in this issue of the Times. It is the desire of the university authorities that Canadians, Ottawans if possible, secure the various contracts. As can be seen from the accompanying cut the first authentic one published showing the splendid building as it will stand when fully completed, the main structure of the restored Catholic institution of learning will be an imposing one. Profiting by the costly lesson of Dec. 9th last, every precaution has been taken in the plans to have the building as nearly fireproof as possible. There will be only a minimum amount of wood and other inflammable material used in the construction. The style of architecture will be pure classical Greek with monolithic columns with Ionic capitals. The material used is to be white Indiana stone on a granite base. An idea of the beauty of the same can be had from the fact that it was selected and used in the new eight story home of the Citizen on Sparks street. In the interior construction of the new arts buildings ferro concrete fireproof will be used in the floors, walls, etc.

As already announced, first in the Citizen, the new arts building will have its main entrance on Laurier avenue, the accompanying cut showing the view from that thoroughfare. The building will occupy part of the site of the old university and the square on all sides will be laid out as a park dotted with ornamental trees, fountains and flower pots, and traversed by walks. The students' entrance will face on Cumberland street directly opposite St. Joseph's church, with a park in front. The statute of the founder of the university, Mgr. Tabert, will be removed from its present position facing Wilbrod street, to a central spot in the park facing Cumberland street and St. Joseph's church.

The new arts building will be surmounted at its central part by a dome after the style of St. Peter's at Rome. It will be adorned with statues of the twelve apostles, and surmounted by a cross, while the parapets will be ornamented with statues of Canada's great men, symbolizing respectively religion and country.

It is the intention to rush work on the main part of the arts building so as to have it ready for occupation before the end of the year. The wings on either side will be completed later on. Accommodation will be provided for 500 students. All the walls of the old buildings have been razed to the ground, and men are now at work clearing away the debris. As the new building will differ in size and shape from the old one, the debris will be used to fill in the exposed foundations of the former university.

The university authorities expect to be able to lay the corner stone on the 24th of May, Victoria day, which also coincides with the 300th anniversary of the foundation of Canada. All the old students and friends of the university are earnestly requested to be present on this occasion as the guests of the university. As their addresses have nearly all been lost in the fire, they are asked to correspond immediately, with the president, Rev. Dr. Emery, O.M.I., so that he may make, if possible, special arrangements for the transportation and accommodation of the visitors.

It is altogether likely the seminary for secular priests will also be erected this year. A site has been chosen on Wilbrod street immediately east of St. Joseph's church. It will be a matter of four or five years before the restoration of all the university buildings is completed, as it is the intention to broaden the scope of the institution's work. Towards this end a school of medicine is to be established. The medical hall will occupy a site in the main square, opposite St. Joseph's church, at the northeast corner, where Wilbrod and Cumberland streets intersect. The academic hall will be located in the southeast corner of the same square where Laurier avenue and Cumberland street intersect, with its main entrance on Laurier avenue.

On a line with and midway between these two buildings, fronting on Cumberland street and facing St. Joseph's church will be the university library. It is the intention to establish an English juniorate or collegiate hall, in the square at the rear of St. Joseph's church and facing Laurier avenue.

A dormitory for the senior students will also be built on the corner of Wilbrod and Waller streets adjoining the present science hall. A departure will be made, however, in this respect, as many of the students will board out.

The different buildings in each group will correspond as to design and material used in the construction. This will produce a similarity of style that will tend towards the beauty of the whole. When all the different buildings are completed they will, together with the present structures, St. Joseph's and Sacred Heart churches, the science hall and the French juniorate, form a group of which the Capital may well be proud, and that will prove a splendid monument to the cause of religion and education. Moreover, Ottawa's reputation as a city of splendid buildings, "fair city, crown of towers," will be greatly enhanced by the university structures. The plan of erecting separate buildings and making them fireproof, will, it is confidently expected, do much towards preventing a repetition of the disastrous conflagration of the disastrous conflagration of Dec. 9th. The most modern ideas approved by builders and educationists will be incorporated in the plans for the restoration of the university. The problem of funds is, of course, a serious one, but it is expected it will be met. Rev. Dr. Emery, O.M.I., president of the university, is displaying indomitable energy and executive ability in the work. It is occupying the attention of the heads of the Oblat order in France, United States and Canada alike.

All fences will be removed from the university grounds, so as to give an unobstructed view from all sides of the buildings.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have strictures that they have been unable to get cured, premature trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like mine all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. I would soon, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

Dr. S. Goldberg, 220 Woodward Ave., Room Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once

THE BRAINY JAP

The Japanese have already done a great deal more than adopt Western science. They have materially added to it. Hitherto their greatest success has been in bacteriology, a study demanding the utmost patience, manual dexterity and refinement of technique; and in the records of this branch of science they take rank only below France and Germany, and well in front of Great Britain. Their first conspicuous success was the discovery of the bacillus that causes lock jaw which was made some years ago by Kitasato, and has already been the means of saving many lives from this disease by the use of an antitoxic serum prepared from the bacilli. Shiga discovered the bacillus which is responsible for the form of dysentery which is the scourge of armies.

The London Graphic, discussing the cigarette debate in our Parliament speaks of legislative prohibition as a grandmotherly procedure, and that the true remedy is to teach boys the folly of premature and excessive smoking. Dr. Easterbrook, of the Ayr district asylum thinks similarly about the drink habit. The victims are diseased and should be isolated and compelled to work for the recovery of their moral tone. In other words, don't penalize the general community by prohibition, but smash the drinker.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of Mrs. Edward Fife, who Died May 4th, 1903

I

Oh! dear Eva, thou has left us,
Never more to see thy face;
Father, mother, friends, relations,
All behold the vacant place.

II.

Loving sister, thou art sleeping,
In the cold and silent tomb,
Calmly sleeping, gracefully waiting
The glorious resurrection morn.

III.

While you're resting we are striving,
For the prize so hard to win,
Sweet that rest from earthly trouble
From this world of care and sin.

IV.

Death to us seems so much sadder
When it claims one we have known,
She dwells in her happy home.
Sad! Why sad if we remember

V.

God has promised, if we're faithful
To him, on this earth below,
We shall find a place in Heaven,
Where we shall no sorrow know.

VI.

Yes, no more her smile will greet us,
And no more her loving words
For the Saviour gently whispered,
"Come to me, oh, come to me."

VII.

Yes dear Jesus, thou didst call her
To that bright and happy land
To be free from all her sufferings,
And be present with the Lord.

VIII.

Forever faithful to the call of duty,
She lived a life unselfish to the end.
Beloved by all, she will not be forgotten,
By those who called her friend.

IX.

O God, we would not call her back
To earth for toil and care,
We know that she is happy now
In Heaven, bright and fair.

X.

So let us each a warning take
And prepare to meet our God;
For he tells that 'tis too late,
When they lay us 'neath the sod.

XI.

Yes, dear Eva, we will meet you
When the day of life is fled.
There in Heaven with joy to greet you,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

A FRIEND.

Scott Was Rated as a Dunce.

As a boy Walter Scott gave few indications of his coming greatness and was described by one of his early preceptors as "the boy that has the thickest skull in the school." A By-Law to provide for borrowing the Sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars for the purchase of a site and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough.

Passed this day of 1904.

WHEREAS the Board of Education for the Town of Peterborough has represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough, that it is necessary for the said Board to expend the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purchase of a site, and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough, and the said Council has refused to issue debentures of the said Municipality for the said amount without the assent of the duly qualified electors of the said Town, and the said Board of Education has by resolution requested the said Council to submit such application to the vote of the said electors.

AND WHEREAS, under the provisions of the High Schools Act, the said Council is required to comply with such request, it is therefore necessary for the said Council to pass this By-law, to be submitted to the vote of the duly qualified electors of the said Town of Peterborough, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law.

AND WHEREAS, in order to raise the said sum of fifty thousand dollars, it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being for the year 1903, is the sum of five million two hundred and sixty-five thousand nine hundred and forty-nine dollars ($5,265,949).

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable to make the principal of the said debt of fifty thousand dollars and the interest thereon, repayable in thirty equal yearly instalments, and it will require the sum of two thousand nine hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-two cents to be raised each year for a period of thirty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the instalments of principal and interest, thereon at the rate of four and one-quarter per cent. per annum, which sum will be sufficient to discharge the several yearly sums of principal and interest accruing due on the debentures to be issued therunder, as the same respectively become payable according to the terms of this By-law, as shown on the schedule hereto.

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

For further particulars apply to ROLAND KIDD, Fiscal Agent, Toronto and Peterborough, or to

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1 00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to Remember also that April 30th is the last day that you can buy certificates and coupons to get chances in this extra prize of $5,500.00. This contest is an open contest and may be competed in absolutely without restriction further than by complying with terms of the contest by making the estimate and purchasing or otherwise securing a certificate, entitling you to make the estimate. Absolutely no restrictions are placed upon any one in the world who wishes to compete in this contest, regardless of whether they are a subscriber or intending subscriber, as it is intended as a great National Contest.

RIOTOUS BURIAL OF GIPSY QUEEN.

Former Peterborough Clergyman Officiates at the Grave

REV. E. VICARS STEVENSON

A Riot at the Grave and Many People Badly Jostled

New York, April 18. — Disgraceful scenes nearly resulting in a riot, occurred at the burial of Sibbie Cooper Riley, better known as "Mother" Riley, former queen of the gypsies, in the Hillside cemetery, at Plainfield, N.J. Nearly two thousand persons crowded around the open grave blocking the way and preventing the pall bearers, mourners and the undertaker's assistants from reaching the place where the body was to be interred. Appeals of clergymen to the people to make way had no effect, the morbid crowd pushing and crowding with each other for a good position whereby they could view the burial.

Finally the pallbearers, who consisted of the six grandsons of the dead woman, a number of mourners and four undertakers' assistants literally plunged into the obstinate crowd and drove them back. Several persons had narrow escapes from being pushed into the open grave, and not a few women became hysterical.

There were few men in the crowd and those who were there behaved with more decorum than the women. Long before the arrival of the funeral procession the cemetery was filled with people, who sat upon the tombstones and took complete possession of the place. So great were the masses of people who went to the graveyard that the trolley cars were unable to carry them, and hundreds had to walk nearly a mile to the place.

It was expected that the arrival of the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, who read the service, would have an impression on the obstinate ones and cause them to make way for the funeral cortege. His arrival had no effect, however, and he finally addressed the crowd. "This is not an exhibition," he said. "This is simply a Christian burial. If you are Christians you will show a little consideration for the mourners and allow them to pass to the grave."

The crowd apparently took no notice of the clergyman or his speech and finally he ordered the undertaker's assistants and others to use physical force in making the way clear to the grave.

As there were no policemen there the mourners had to take the law in their own hands, and many a woman suffered bruises and a torn dress in return for her obstinacy in refusing to move from the side of the grave.

Among the mourners were the four children of the former queen and more than half a hundred grandchildren.

It had been planned to have the body of Robert Riley, the "Gypsy King," who died in Buffalo three years ago, buried with that of his wife, but at the last moment it was decided to leave the body in the cemetery at Auburn, N.Y., until later in the year, when it will be brought here for burial.

The coffin when it was moved from the vault, where it was placed soon after "Mother" Riley's death, was covered with flowers given by mourning relatives and friends.

Most of the gypsies, with the camp guarded by a few young men, went to the cemetery in cabs hired from local livery stables. Many wore mourning garb, but not a few, the women in particular, followed their traditional fondness for color, appeared beside the grave in clothing of variegated hues.

LITTLETON'S ADDRESS

London, April 14— Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, addressing the Primrose League demonstration at Stratford, said he thought this was not the time to discuss the details of the Anglo-French treaty. He might, however, be allowed, as one who had recently visited Newfoundland, to express special pleasure that brievances which had hampered Newfoundland for two hundred years had been removed, and a source of difficulty between France and Britain happily averted by the tact and skill of Sir Cavendish Boyle and successive Governors, and the successive Admirals of the British and French fleets. Referring to the prophecy made when he was appointed, that his innings would not be a long one, he said the wicket had been rough and the bowler's deliveries often unfair, but the Government was still in.

Lipton's Tea.

Among the many interesting exhibits at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., will be the display of Lipton's teas, which will include a very fine collection of photographs of the different estates owned by the Lipton company in sunny Ceylon. The various processes through which the tea passes after it is picked until it is ready for the table will be included in this photographic display, so that the thousands of visitors to the Fair may see for themselves the scientific methods that are employed. Not the least interesting part of the exhibit will be the collection of gold medals awarded to Lipton's "finest teas" at expositions in different parts of the world during the past twenty years. As medals are awarded for the greatest merit the collection proves that the phrase applied to Lipton's teas "finest the world produces" is no misnomer.

A clever Peterborough dressmaker says that the chief difference that she notices from the days, twenty-five years ago, when she began her apprenticeship, is the anxiety of every woman now to have something distinctive and quite unlike anybody else's costumes. The infinitude of detail that this desire necessitates is the chief reason for the rise in the price of frocks.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-30-04.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. CLARKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 28th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 1-28-04

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— * * * * * The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

SID. BLOCK.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gannon, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Poteet, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $15 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $300,000 with shares at $1each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Buman, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and of C. Burrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $300,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $110,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Western and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chenoa. The latter is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres under and with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 350 feet, and the third at 465 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which as yet is a sump, makes our shaft's total depth 565 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 200 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 40c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a little over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and town people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.10 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is abt $200 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid four per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $300 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $5 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends to do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

was confined to her bed, it was Hester who nursed her with the utmost care, soothing her to sleep, and then amusing the little Theo, a child of two years. Hagar, too, softened by her young mistress's sorrow, repented of her harsh words, and watched each night with the invalid, who, once when her mind seemed wandering far back in the past, whispered softly: "Tell me the Lord's Prayer, dear Hagar, just as you told it to me years ago when I was a little child."

It was a long time since Hagar had breathed that prayer, but at Mrs. Miller's request she commenced it, repeating correctly until she came to the words, "Give us this day our daily bread," then she hesitated, and, bending forward, said: "What comes next, Miss Margaret? Is it, 'Lead us not into temptation?'"

"Yes, yes," whispered the half-unconscious lady. "'Lead us not into temptation,' that's it," Then, as if there were around her a dim foreboding of the great wrong Hagar was to do, she took her old nurse's hand between her own, and continued: "Say it often, Hagar—'Lead us not into temptation'—you have much need for that prayer."

A moment more and Margaret Miller slept, while beside her sat Hagar Warren, half shuddering, she knew not why, at the thought of her mistress's words, which seemed to her so much like the spirit of prophecy.

"Why do I need that prayer more than any one else?" she said, at last. "I have never been tempted more than I could bear—never shall be tempted—and if I am, old Hagar Warren, bad as she is, can resist temptation without that prayer."

Still, reason as she would, Hagar could not shake off the strange feeling, and as she sat, half dozing, in her chair, with the dim lamplight flickering over her dark face, she fancied that the October wind, sighing so mournfully through the locust trees beneath the window and then dying away in the distance, bore upon its wing, "Lead us not into temptation. Hagar, you have much need to say that prayer."

Aye, Hagar Warren, much need, much need!

CHAPTER II.

The wintry winds were blowing cold and chill around the old stone house, and the deep, untrodden snow lay high piled upon the ground. For many days the gray, leaden clouds had frowned gloomily down upon the earth below, covering it with a thick veil of white. But the storm was over now, with the setting sun it had gone to rest, and the pale moonlight stole softly into the silent chamber, where Madam Conway bent anxiously down to see if but the faintest breath came from the parted lips of her only daughter. There had been born to her that night another grandchild—a little, helpless girl, which now in an adjoining room was Hagar's special care; and Hagar, sitting there with the wee creature upon her lap, and the dread fear at her heart that her young mistress might die, forgot for once to repine at her lot, and did cheerfully whatever was required of her to do.

There was silence in the rooms below—silence in the chambers above—silence everywhere—for the sick woman seemed fast nearing the deep, dark river whose waters move onward but never return.

Almost a week went by, and then, in a room far more humble than that where Margaret Miller lay, another immortal being was given to the world; and, with a softened light in her keen black eyes, old Hagar told to her stately mistress, when she met her on the stairs, that she, too, was a grandmother.

"You must not on that account neglect Margaret's child," was Madam Conway's answer, as, with a wave of her hand, she passed on; and this was all she said—not a word of sympathy or congratulation for the peculiar old woman whose heart, so long benumbed, had been roused to a better state of feeling, and who, in the first joy of her new-born happiness, had hurried to her mistress, fancying for the moment that she was almost her equal.

"Don't neglect Margaret's child for that!" How the words rang in her ears as she fled up the narrow stairs and through the dark hall, till the low room was reached where lay the babe for whom Margaret's child was not to be neglected. All the old bitterness had returned, and an hour after hour went by, and Madam Conway came not near, while the physician and the servants looked in for a moment only and then hurried away to the other sick room, where all their services were kept in requisition, she muttered "Little would they care if Hester died upon my hands. And she will die, too," she continued, as by the fading daylight she saw the pallor deepen on her daughter's face.

And Hagar was right, for Hester's hands were nearer run than those of Mrs. Miller. The utmost care might not, perhaps, have saved her, but the latter was not tested, and when the long clock at the head of the stairs struck the hour of midnight, she murmured: "It is getting dark here, mother—so dark—and I am growing cold. Can it be death?"

"Yes, Hester, 'tis death," answered Hagar, and her voice was unnaturally calm as she laid her hand on the clammy brow of her daughter.

An hour later, and Madam Conway, who sat dozing in the parlor below, ready for any summons which might come from Margaret's room, was roused by the touch of a cold, hard hand, and Hagar Warren stood before her.

"Come," she said, "come with me;" and thinking only of Margaret, Madam Conway arose to follow her. "Not there—but this way," said Hagar, as her mistress turned towards Mrs. Miller's door, and grasping firmly the lady's arm, she led to the room where Hester lay dead, with her young baby clasped lovingly to her breast. "Look in her face, pity me now, if you never did before. She was all I had in the world to love," said Hagar, passionately.

Madam Conway was not naturally a hard-hearted woman, and she answered gently, "I do pity you, Hagar, and I did not think Hester was so ill. Why haven't you let me know?" To this Hagar made no direct reply, and after a few more inquiries Madam Conway left the room, saying she would send up the servants to do whatever was necessary. When it was known throughout the house that Hester was dead, much surprise was expressed and a good deal of sympathy manifested for old Hagar, who, with a gloomy brow, hugged to her heart the demon of jealousy, which kept whispering to her of the difference there would be were Margaret to die. It was deemed advisable to keep Hester's death a secret from Mrs Miller; so, with as little ceremony as possible, the body was buried at the close of the day, in an inclosure which had been set apart as a family burying ground; and when again the night shadows fell Hagar Warren sat in her silent room, brooding o'er her grief, and looking oft at the plain pine cradle, where lay the little motherless child, her grand-daughter. Occasionally, too, her eye wandered towards the mahogany crib, where another infant slept. Perfect quiet seemed necessary for Mrs. Miller, and Madam Conway had ordered her baby to be removed from the ante-chamber where first it had been kept, so that Hagar had the two children in her own room.

THE BRITISH ADVANCE

Colonel Younghusband Now in the Heart of the Great Silent Empire

London, April 16.—A curiously complicated story of Oriental manoeuvring, Russian intrigue, Chinese commercial jugglery, and Tibetan efforts to throw off a hated suzerainty circles round the history of Colonel Younghusband's mission to the mysterious city of the Lamas.

It is a misconception to say that the imperial government has been all along aiming at the annexation of Tibet. The mission has had no such purpose in view, and until the hostility of the Tibetans—induced on the one hand by the Russian agents and on the other side by the Viceroy of Szechuan—made the advance of Colonel Younghusband with his handful of Sikhs impossible, the mission was purely a peaceful and political one.

Nor is the mission a thing of today or yesterday. It has now reached Gyangtse, about 40 miles of Lhassa; it started in the days of Warren Hastings. It had in view in those days, as primarily it has now, the establishment of commercial relations with Tibet. If it has more than that in view today the responsibility lies with the Tibetans themselves. So far as hostilities are concerned, they were begun, in recent times, in 1888, when the Tibetans invaded the British dependency of Sikhim, and there was heavy fighting on the high altitudes near the Jelap Pass.

The Tibetan authorities have expended endless ingenuity in obstructing trade routes across the Himalayas, and in making commercial intercourse with India impossible. They have not hesitated to arrest and imprison British subjects; they have opposed every effort to adjust the northern boundary of Sikhim; and they have resolutely refused to make any effort to carry out the terms of teh convention. In this attitude of undisguised hostility Tibet has all along been prompted by Russia. Of that circumstance there is evidence too ample to be disputed. Four years ago Russia was supplying the Tibetans with arms, missions were exchanged between the two countries, and a Russian subject and agent were directing the attitude of the lamas from Lhassa itself.

In 1902 Sir Ernest Satow, British minister at Pekin, was able to tell Lord Lansdowne that Russia had concluded a secret treaty with China guaranteeing to maintain the integrity of that country. The price was Tibet. The sequel was a stern warning from Lord Lansdowne to the Chinese government that if such an arrangement were carried out, Britain would take steps to protect her own interests.

Then came the tardy decision of the imperial government, arrived at after much urging on the part of the government of India, to ignore the intermediary and deal directly with Tibet. It was agreed that Dalai Lama and the British mission should meet at the Khamba Jong last year, and discuss the whole question in a session [illegible] Younghusband was sent thither, but the Dalai Lama failed to keep the appointment.

Colonel Younghusband's mission was then instructed to advance to the Chumbi Valley and as the Tibetans still made no effort to meet the British demands from there to Gyan. This it did after incredible hardships, on several occasions carrying out at an altitude higher than Mount Blanc, the highest mountain in Europe, with the thermometer at 40 degrees below zero. At Gyan the wanton attack made by the Tibetans resulted in a sharp lesson—the ringleader and representative of the Greden Monastery falling along with four hundred of his followers. Thereafter the mission proceeded to Gyantse where it now is, but as a result of the second attack made by the Tibetans it will probably proceed to Lhassa the so-called "saintly city" than which there could be no greater misnomer.

Colonel Francis Edward Younghusband, in charge of the mission, is the greatest living authority on all questions connected with the Indian north and northwestern frontier. He is the second son of Major-General John William Younghusband, and joined the First Dragoon Guards in 1882, becoming captain in 1889. In 1886 he entered the Indian staff corps, traveled throughout Manchuria in the same year and proceeded from Pekin to India via Chinese Turkestan in 1887. He spent part of 1889 in the Pamirs and in Hunza, and again explored the Pamirs during 1890-91.

As a result of these extensive travels he was appointed political officer in Hunza in 1892, and in Chitral in 1893-94. He was employed as special correspondent of The London Times during the Chitral expedition of 1895, and in the Transvaal and Rhodesia in 1896-97. In 1898 he acted as political agent in Hazaoti and Tonk. His experiences are told in his "Heart of a Continent," "Relief of Chitral," and "South Africa of Today." The latter was issued in 1898.

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over two feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 300 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years. Already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Mr. Celsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 175 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share held, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their proceeds for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the month four from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Full information will be supplied on application to Mr. Roland Kidd, Fiscal Agent for Ontario, or to

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet of shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in leases of various values, but the whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense the mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this is remarkable and excellent showing.

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis.

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred feet capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day; one electric lighting plant with 120 16 candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

A Place Among the Seventy Costs About Three Million Francs.

It may be said that a seat among the seventy (they call it a charge) costs about 3,000,000 francs ($600,000) or sometimes 2,500,000, and a charge earns from 5 to 15 per cent (net) a year, so that the annual profits are from $30,000 to $90,000, or more in exceptional years. But these are usually divided among several associates, for it rarely happens that an agent is the sole owner of his seat. More often he has paid for only half of it or a third of it and has three or four silent partners, who own the rest and who may again have subpartners, so that you will hear of a person owning an eighth or a sixteenth of a seat or even a thirty-second, these being simple investments that carry no rights or privileges on the bourse.

As to procuring a charge, the thing has none of the Stock Exchange simplicity, where the main requirement for getting a seat is to be able to pay for it. Here a candidate must be a Frenchman and at least twenty-five years old. He must have served four years in certain forms of business. He must be personally acceptable to the agent from whom he would purchase the seat and often to his family, including the ladies. He must be passed upon by the seventy with formal voting, as if he were joining some select club, which he is. There must be no stain on his business record and no blur on his personal character. A candidate was rejected recently for bad habits and another for no fault of his own, but because his brother had been concerned in questionable transactions. With all this favorably settled there is still needed the approval of the minister of finances and the sanction of the head of the government.

A RICH GOLD MINE.

For Several Years Eager Fortune Seekers Worked Over It.

A tale is told of a rich gold mine in Idaho with a ledge of ore which once extended above the surface of the ground in a clear, solid ridge several feet high and entirely distinct from the surrounding formation. This ledge was long and unbroken and lay directly across the course which hundreds of prospectors took every year to reach other gold fields. This obstruction of rock, the great value of which was long unknown, was too high to be surmounted by pack animals, so the prospectors cut a trail directly through it. For several years these eager gold seekers passed backward and forward over this trail in search of gold mines. One night a prospector camping near this ledge of rock picked up a bit of it and from force of habit took it to a creek near by and washed it. Then he examined the stone, and, to his great astonishment, he found "colors" in it—bits of sparkling gold. The prospector does not mistake gold when he sees it. He is not deluded by iron crystals or bits of mica, as the "tenderfoot" frequently is. The gold sparkle is clearer and brighter than that of any other mineral, and it is the same in sunshine and shadow.

The prospector, tremendously excited, broke off more pieces of the ledge and found more of it bearing free gold. Then he located his claim, and that was the beginning of a rich mine. Yet for years the regret of prospectors had passed over this trail through the cut in this ledge, never suspecting its value, although by its very prominence it seemed to invite inspection.—Leslie's Weekly.

An Italian Brigand's Horse.

Among south Italian brigands even their horses are taught to resist the officers of the law. During the encounter at Mana Bucca, in which the brigand Mirto was killed, the gendarmerie was amazed by the furious behavior of his horse, which lashed out on all sides, and succeeded in injuring one of the officers. On inquiry afterward among the prisoners taken it was ascertained that the horse had been trained to behave in this way by being repeatedly dogged until he kicked one of the brigands, dressed as a carabineer, approaching him. The horse at last became such an adept that he might be relied upon to kick and rear furiously at the mere sight of a uniform.—London Globe.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

190 Acres in a Solid Block and All Patented

A Crosscut Driven 117 feet to the First Big Vein

A drift run on the vein 178 FEET IN ORE, the Gold value or contents running from 2 to 8 ounces, per ton, or from $40 to $160. This ore has not been stoped and will not be until the main shoot is reached.

The breast of the drift is, only 52 feet, according to engineer's survey, from the first BIG vertical ore shoot, which, at the surface, 550 feet above, shows values of 2 to 7 ounces gold, per ton.

Slabs and feeders of gold ore are coming in freely in the drift.

This is a business proposition. It is the KIND AND QUALITY which makes for great and permanent success. It is worth an investment of 10c. on the dollar, per share, now. It will be worth par with development.

Consumption is Not Hereditary

It is Not Handed Down From Generation to Generation but is Simply "Caught" by the Germs Getting Into Your Lungs Cured by Catarrhozone

Consumption was formerly believed by some to be due to poverty of the blood. By others it was supposed to be hereditary. Both these beliefs are incorrect.

If the disease passes through several members of the same family it is because the germs get into the clothes, bedding, furniture and curtains that are in general use.

These germs find their way into the air, are inhaled, lodge themselves securely in the throat and lungs where they rapidly increase, and soon claim another victim.

The only remedy that has cured a genuine case of Consumption is Catarrhozone. Its germ killing vapor is inhaled into every air cell and air passage of the head, throat and lungs, and creates a healthy condition of these organs in which disease germs cannot live.

It is impossible for consumption to make headway in the soothing antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone is inhaled a few times daily into the lungs. The cause of the disease (germ life) is at once removed, the inflamed mucous surfaces are healed, and a lasting cure effected.

Catarrhozone is breathed right into the lungs. By its soothing influence the soreness caused by coughing is removed. The cough becomes less severe and soon ceases all together. Catarrhozone aids expectoration, quiets the nerves, and lends to the patient a large measure of comfort.

Consumptives are strongly urged to use Catarrhozone as immediate relief always follows. It is a direct method of treatment, and is endorsed by the highest medical authorities everywhere. The balsamic vapor reaches the lungs and reparatory tracts in a speedy manner that no medicine taken into the stomach can do.

Catarrhozone is just as good as a change of climate, equally pleasant and cheaper. It can be used at home at any hour of the day or night and never causes inconvenience or bother.

The complete Catarrhozone outfit contains two months treatment and costs only $1.00. It is a perfect boon to consumptives and their surrounding friends. You cannot afford to miss the benefit of Catarrhozone and should order it today. Sold by all druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

All Need It

The statement is absurd that the makers of or dealers in costly articles such as automobiles, need to appeal to the rich through high-priced publications, generally of small circulation. The multi-millionaire has the same curiosity, the same human interest, as the people of moderate means and even the poor. He seeks his news of the world's events in the newspaper which has gained a large circulation by the character of its news service. It pays to advertise in the Times.

Bit by Angry Dog

Cephas, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lemay, met with a serious accident on Sunday evening, as a result of which he is now nursing a very sore ear. While visiting with his parents at the home of Mr. Robert Little, Pine Grove, the children were playing with Mr. Little's collie dog, and it suddenly became vexed and jumped on Cephas. The boy was severely bitten about the face and head, but according to a late report is getting along nicely.

Beet Sugar Proposition

On May 5th the ratepayers of this city will be called upon to exercise their franchise, pro or con, on the beet sugar proposition. On the same day they will have an opportunity of voting for or against the erection of a new Collegiate Institute. A number of citizens, supported by an evening contemporary have acknowledged their disapproval of the two by-laws being submitted at once. The matter was thoroughly threshed out at Friday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade, when the general expression of opinion was in favor of presenting the two by-laws on the same date. This certainly is the most reasonable course of procedure as there is no necessity for asking the city to bear the extra expense of submitting each separately. In the case of the beet sugar proposition we want a unanimous vote, and this will the more readily be obtained by calling upon the ratepayers to vote on both questions on the same day. Many of our Peterborough county farmers who at first considered this important proposition from a sceptical standpoint, have now become thoroughly convinced of its worthiness, and have expressed a willingness to support it. A few yet contend that the company's initial failure, will be continued, but if they look carefully into the matter they will undoubtedly see the virtue of the proposition before May 5th.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice though I thought surely I would die."

"After my baby came in January, 1900," writes Mrs. Nancy Alger, of 66 Noel Ave., "I suffered severely from all sorts of aches and pains, until the following May, when I read one of your pamphlets, treating on female diseases. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice, although I thought surely I could die, as my case was a hopeless one. I was more liable to die than to get well; your letter saving caused my health to be restored. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of 'Pellets,' together with your other remedies, and I am now able to do all my work."

"SUCCESSFUL" AT HOME."

Large Attendance at Last Evening Y.M.C.A. Entertainment

The Y.M.C.A. "At Home" last evening was a decided success, and a large number enjoyed the interesting program presented. Prof. Glidin too much for the rector, but he in the Board Room exhibitions of amateur photography were much enjoyed. Mr. Webber Turner's collection of old coins was also an attraction in the Board Room. Commencing at 8 o'clock the Gymnastic performances began, and the exciting basketball match between the Athletics and the Brownies was won by the latter, the score being 18 to 5. Mr. J. H. Connal, chairman of the Physical committee, presented medals to the members of the Athletics, the city champions, and the assault-at-arms between Sergt.-Major Brittain and Sergt. Sturgeon was most interesting. The wrestling bout between Robt. Long and A. O. Yokome resulted in a draw, there being no fall.

At 8.45 o'clock the grand musicale commenced the opening number being an overture by Prof. Gliddon's orchestra. Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht was, as usual, well received with her piano selections. Her rendition of "Rondo Capriccioso," and "Grande Polka de Concert in G. Flat, Op. 1," were especially appreciated. The "Troubadors," a vocal selection by Mr. A. L. Davis, received well merited applause, and Mr. Gilbert Markle, with his violin selections, was accorded a well deserved welcome. Miss Gertrude Kendrey's "Love's Coronation," was also much appreciated, and "Awake" by Miss Lillian Moore, received hearty applause. Mr Joseph Legg also sang "For All Eternity," in his usual acceptable manner.

Dainty refreshments were served in the Game Room from 8.30 o'clock, and all present pronounced the affair one of the most successful of the season.

THE CHINESE BANDITS WILL FIGHT FOR JAPAN

Element that Will Largely Affect the Present Conflict in Manchuria

RUSSIA WILL FEEL THEIR GREAT POWER

They are Good Soldiers and Shrewd in Their Methods—Sure to Aid Japan With the War.

London, April 20.—One of the factors in the pending war between Russia and Japan which may have an important part in determining the result, but which is but little considered as yet, is the bandit of Manchuria. Some call this person "the red-whiskered gentleman," he is more generally and properly spoken of as "the bandit." Some of those in the far east have not forgotten him, however, and the reason, doubtless why the Chinese have sent Yuan-shi-Kai and his army corps to the great wall at Shan-hai-Kwan is to keep these very robbers in Manchuria, seeing that their trade—a well carried out and lucrative one—will disapear with the arrival of large bodies of Japanese and Russian troops in the country. These bandits are reported to be 200,000 strong. They have plenty of small arm ammunition, but no artillery or large guns of any description. They are mostly composed of disbanded soldiers of the Chinese army who have been drilled by foreigners. They are much better shots than the Siberian Cossack, for their shooting is their living. There is a probability of the Chinese militia joining them if they have not already done so. They are moderatly armed, in fact, they use the weapons captured from the various bands of Manchurian robbers from time to time.

HONEST IN THEIR WAY.

The bandits are in a way honest, for they give passes to the villagers who bring their produce to Newchwang both by water and roadways. Carts and boats holding passes from these robbers carry the flag of the band that issued the passes, and, strange to relate, these flags are always respected by the men of other bands. So that once having paid his toll to the robber the villager goes on his way rejoicing, well knowing that he has nothing more to fear.

Now what happened when the Japanese took possession of the country following the Chino-Japanese war? The Japanese seeing that they could not cope with the bandit, allowed him to carry on a trade which kept the country settled to the satisfaction of both villager and bandit, and did not interfere with this, as it were, legitimate trade. On the other hand, when the Russians took possession Manchuria, and particularly New-Chwang, in 1900, during the "boxer" trouble, the higher Russian authorities endeavored to put down the bandit by force of arms, but those having authority in a lesser degree did not do so; they only tried to put him down when he would or could not meet their demands, which often led to trouble. Moreover, the Siberian Cossack is not too well paid, and as he generally was on patrol, over picketed in villages, all over the country, the unfortunate villagers fell between the robbers and the Russian troops, but as the troops were always being moved about the country the villager was required to provide himself from each new body of troops, in contrast to the bandit's one request and this request was of daily occurrence. The bandit could not get his living, because he could not guarantee this countryman against loss through the Russians.

THEIR OPERATIONS ARE DARING

It was the bandits who destroyed the Trans-Siberian railway between Mookden and Port Arthur in the "boxer" trouble, carrying away rails and sleepers for miles, cutting into small pieces of iron bridges—a feat one would think was impossible, but they get the villagers to help them and work like ants. If the railway is to be protected with any success it will require not only pickets along the line but strong bodies of troops at close intervals, as these bandits are daring to a degree and have past grievances with the Russians to wipe out.

The bandits are in no way subservient to China, and their action cannot be taken as having in any way the approval of the Chinese government—in fact, the strong force of Chinese troops sent to the great wall plainly shows how the Chinese government fears these men and shows their intention to keep them out of China proper and the neutral part thereof.

DISEASE AMONG DRITISH CATTLE

Startling Statement by an Expert at Liverpool

ONE-FOURTH INSPECTED

One Reason Why Britain Should Repeal the Emarge Upon Canadian Cattle

London, April 18.—At a meeting of the animal and meat trade section of the incorporated Chamber of Commerce at Liverpool, a telegram was read from Sir Alfred Jones, urging the section to press the Government for a removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle. The chairman strongly advocated removal on the ground that it would be an excellent thing from this country from a hygienic point of view. The fact is, we are sending our best stock from the country. In consequence our stock are interbreeding which naturally results in deteriorating the quality of stock. Also, the embargo might be removed for reasons of friendship to Canada. J. J. Gilbertson, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and others, spoke strongly in favor of the section taking action. Professor Boyce, referring to the health of English cattle, stated that owing to the lack of fresh stock, twenty-five per cent. were infected with tuberculosis. The following resolution was carried unanimously; That the present restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle into Great Britain are unjust, so far as they are based on the dread of disease existing among such cattle, any outbreak of disease is as rigidly guarded against in Canada as in Great Britain, and no infectious disease exists in Canada." The resolution concludes by asking that the present regulations be at once reconsidered.

HOW TO BREAK UP THE EMPIRE.

Mr. James Tomkinson, Liberal M. P. for Crewe, speaking at a Cheshire meeting, declared he was inundated with petitions from trade union workingmen protesting against h'Oriental labor in South Africa. As to the final crase the bottom had been knocked out of it. Colonials did not ask any preference at the cost of taxation of the Mother Country, and the only sure way to break up the Empire was to flout the protests of the colonies against the modern system of slavery in South Africa.

SOME BUDGET PROPHECIES.

The Chronicle learns on good authority that the salient points of the budget speech tomorrow will be taxes on imported timber, petroleum and kindred oils, and silks, an increased tax on sugar, and the reimposition of the corn tax.

C. P. R. PRESIDENT'S JOURNEY TO ENGLAND

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Speaks of the Great Propaganda of Mr. Chamberlain

THE MONEY MARKET BECOMES MUCH EASIER

The C. P. R. Has Purchased No New Steamers—The President's Trip to Europe.

Montreal, April 20. — Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the popular president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has just returned from a trip to England where he had gone on business and pleasure combined. To a press representative Sir Thomas, in speaking of his trip, said:

"The money market in England has been somewhat stringent for the past four months, but, when I left, indications seemed to point to a better condition in that respect. The sale of fourteen million dollars worth of our bonds on slightly less than a four per cent. basis, which occurred during the month of December, seems to have constituted the record for the present year. The slump in the money market is undoubtedly due in no small measure to the war in the Far East, but it is also due to some extent to the aftermath of the South African War."

Sir Thomas remarked that his visit to Great Britain was designed more for the purpose of a holiday than to transact business as he always liked to spend a couple of weeks on the ocean every year. In passing, however, he had been able to look into the new offices of the company in London, which he describes as the finest office building in the capital of the Empire.

"At first," observed Sir Thomas, "it was our intention to rent some of the rooms. But so great has been the claims of the company upon the space provided that nothing of the kind will now be done. No other sign than that of the C. P. R will be present in the building, and no one can visit the capital of the Empire without seeing the headquarters of the company there.

THE CHAMBERLAIN MOVEMENT.

Sir Thomas is delighted with the progress that the Chamberlain movement has made thus far. "My sympathies," he remarked, "have always been in favor of some form of Inter-Imperial preference, and possibly my preferences, in that regard, may have conspired to induce me to form too high an estimate of the progress that has already been made in that direction. Aside from that phase of the question, however, I think it must be obvious to all observers that the people of the British Isles are becoming more amenable to some form of fiscal reform. A three weeks' visit to the other side would not, however, entitle anyone to speak with any degree of finality upon the subject. I am not in a position to say whether or not Mr. Chamberlain will ultimately reach the goal he has set for himself."

Referring to the recent visit of Mr. Hays to Detroit, who is reported to have entered into negotiations for the construction of a bridge over the river between that city and Windsor, Ont., Sir Thomas said that his company would be only indirectly interested in the progress, as it had merely connections with the United States at that point.

Rumors of some additions to the Canadian Pacific Railway fleet have been current recently but Sir Thomas denies that his visit to the other side had anything to do with such a project. "I think that our fleet is quite as large as present necessity demands," he remarked.

"Feeling in Great Britain" observed Sir Thomas, "is obviously in sympathy with Japan in its present conflict with Russia, but in official circles strict neutrality is being maintained. Thus far the conflict would not appear to have affected the company's business disadvantageously in the east, but possibly the volume of tourist travel may be impaired during the coming summer."

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY,
President Canadian Pacific Railway.

WHISKEY DRINKING LED TO MURDER

Young Man Killed by Shanty Keeper in Quebec Woods

Quebec, April 18.—A murder was committed on Friday last, 20 miles south of Saint Alexandre, a way station on the Intercolonial Railway, 16 miles east of River du Loup, in the County of Kamouraska, and about 140 miles east of this city. William Caton, a young lumberman, aged 24 years, was the victim of one Lambert, a man aged 60 years, who keeps a wayside inn on the road leading from Saint Alexandre to the woods by the St. John River.

Mr. G. G. Grundy, superintendent of the Temiscouta Railway, who arrived in Quebec from River du Loup, yesterday, relates the following story:

On Thursday last 15 lumbermen left Saint Alexandre for the Eaton timber limits, in order to take charge of several million feet of lumber cut under contract during the winter season by Mr. J. R. McConnell. The latter failed during the winter season, and the timber was sold to Mr. G. H. Eaton, of Calais, Maine, at an auction which took place in this city on the 20th of March last.

The gang of men were on route to look after Mr. Eaton's interests, and left Cacouna on Thursday last, and later Saint Alexandre, whence they left by team for the woods. After driving 30 miles they stopped at the inn on the roadside kept by Lambert, and were having a good but boisterous time while the whiskey lasted, and no doubt they annoyed the proprietor, who withdrew from the premises, only to return with an axe. He rushed on the crowd, and struck young Caton over the head with the edge of the blade, killing him instantly. The companions of young Caton immediately fled from the shanty, and, entering their vehicle on the outside, departed in haste, without even taking time to learn whether Caton was dead or alive. They afterwards notified the authorities at River du Loup, and Lambert was arrested the same night.

An investigation of the shanty showed the dead body weltering in its blood, with every indication that death was instantaneous. Dr. Langlois, the district coroner, was notified, and left for the scene on Saturday to investigate the crime.

The murderer is said to be demented. He has been frequently annoyed in the past by lumbermen, who sought refreshment in his shanty and generally made things lively after they got intoxicated, and a year ago he swore vengeance.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. James Nevin takes place this morning from deceased's late place of residence, 213 Simcoe street, to The Roman Catholic cemetery, and a large number of sorrowing friends attended.

KAISER WANTS BIG NAVY

Emperor Spends His Time Figuring on Increase of Fleet

Berlin, April 19.—One of Emperor William's recreations on board the Hohenzollern is to work on elaborate statistical tables about the navies of Germany, England and the United States. When he returns to Berlin he will present these tables to the reichstag.

He is particularly anxious to show to the people's representatives that although the growth of the German navy has been accelerated it must be hastened still more if it is to keep pace with the American navy.

The emperor is convinced that he has far better material to man his ships than exists in America. The number of men in the German fleet at present is 32,053; next year it will be 34,482, and the close of 1905, 40,000 trained, reliable men. For a long time the Russian and the Japanese navies chiefly concerned Emperor William as a basis for comparison. Now it is the American navy.

FUND OF PATRIOT POLES

Transferred for Safekeeping Beyond the German Emperor's Reach

Zurich, April 19.—The Poles of three empires among which their country has been partitioned—Russia, Germany and Austria—have been collecting for years a war fund for use when the ever-hoped-for time may come to expend it effectively for reconstituting their ancient kingdom. Their fund, which is now considerable had been deposited for safe keeping at Rafferswyl, near here, the town where are the Polish national museum and the black marble column surmounted by the Polish eagle, erected to commemorate the beginning of the 100 years' struggle of the Poles for independence. The committee in charge, having been warned that Emperor William intends to extend his influence in Switzerland to have the money delivered to Germany has transferred the fund to a point which is kept secret.

QUAINT OLD BIBLE

Over Seventy Years Old, in Possession of Peterborough Citizen

In the family bible of a Peterborough there are a number of medical rules written over seventy years ago by the great-grandmother of the bible's present owner. Among the rules are the following:

"A stick of brimstone worn in the pocket is good for them as has cramps."

"A landstone put in the place where the pane is is beautiful for the rheumatic."

"A basin of water gruel, with half a quart of old rum in it, with lots of brown sugar, is good for cold in head."

"If you have hiccups, pinch one of your wrists while you count sixty, or get somebody to shake you and make you jump."

"The earache—Put onion in ear after it is well roasted."

FORCES ON THE YALU ARE NOW WITHIN A 600 YARD RANGE

Officially Stated That the Russian Outposts Are Now on the Islands of the River

Tokio, April 19.—Reports continue to be received here of the strengthening of the Russians on the right bank of the Yalu River. They are now estimated to number 15,000 between Antung and Kiutien-Cheng. A stubborn resistance to the crossing of the Japanese is expected.

OUTPOSTS IN TOUCH.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—An official telegram states that there is no change in the situation on the Yalu River. The Russian outposts are now on the islands to the river, six hundred yards from the Japanese outposts, which are now preparing to retire.

Major-General Pflug, chief of the military staff at Port Arthur, telegraphs that all statements regarding a siege and fall of Port Arthur are unfounded.

A detachment of Russian troops which left Southern Usauri has reached Maoershan, (on the west bank of the Yalu River, 175 miles north of Ping-Yang), without having encountered any of the enemy. The detachment has occupied a mountain pass between Manchuria and Corea, which it is fortifying with mountain batteries.

A MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Twenty-Second Annual Report of Shareholders of Western Bank of Canada most Satisfying.

At the twenty-second annual meeting of the shareholders of the Western Bank of Canada held at Oshawa on the 13th inst., a most excellent report was presented by the Directors. The business of the bank was active and progressive during the year, and the net profits amounted to $76,415.33, bring in excess of 17 1-2 per cent. upon the paid-up capital of the bank, which, added to the balance carried forward from the previous year of $14,446.01, amounts to $90,829.94.

Out of this sum two half-yearly dividends of 3 1-2 per cent each have been paid, absorbing $30,442.24, and $42,500 has been carried to the rest account and $2,887.70 to the credit of profit and loss.

The deposits of the bank have increased $417,778.23, and the circulation $12,815, and the gross assets $485,101.44, over the previous year, while the losses of the year have been of a normal nature.

The rest account of the bank now stands at $217,500, or equal to 50 per cent. of the paid-up capital and the agencies of the bank have all been recently inspected and found to be in a satisfactory condition.

The President, Mr. John Cowan, occupied the chair and Mr. T. H. McMillan, to whose earnest efforts much of the success of the bank is due, acted as secretary.

THREE APRIL WEDDINGS

Celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday Morning

No less than three marriage ceremonies were performed at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning. Mr. Charles Sullivan, of Toronto, and Miss Ellen Robertson, of this city, were united at 7 o'clock, Rev. Father McCall officiating, and the bride was assisted by Miss Annie Haylin, while Mr. John McGrath supported the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left yesterday for Toronto, where they will take up their abode in the future.

The second wedding was that of Mr. Michael J. Geary, of Ennismore, and Miss Mary Elizabeth McGarrity, of Peterborough, who were married at 8 o'clock, by Rev. Father Galvin. A number of relatives and friends were present and the bride was assisted by her sister, Miss J. McGarrity, while Mr. Alex. Geary was best man. The happy couple left for Ennismore, where they will reside.

At 9 o'clock another pretty wedding was celebrated when Mr. Mark Gurry, of Campbellford, and Miss Margaret Elizabeth Camwell, of Hamilton, were made man and wife. Rev. Father Galvin conducted the ceremony and Miss W. H. McDonald attended the bride, while the groom was supported by Mr. William McDonald. Mr. and Mrs. Gurry will take up their residence at Campbellford.

MEN BUSY ON DRIVES

Returned Lumberman Speaks of Severe Winter in Woods

"Yes, I've just struck town from the north," remarked big Bill Johnston, as he lit his cigar at the Snowden House yesterday afternoon. "I've had charge of a gang in one of the camps, and I stayed behind settling up some business up there.

"Severe winter? Well I guess we did. You folks down here in the city don't begin to know what a severe winter we had up in the country. Why the snow would bury a man up to the neck on the level up where our camp was. You couldn't see out of the windows for the high snow drifts and it kept a gang of men shovelling steady to keep the roads clear.

"I've seen us fell trees up there and then have to dig through six feet of snow to get them out ready to saw. Yes, we quit the business early. It didn't pay us to keep on. But we got out a fine supply just the same, and the men on the drives will have enough to keep them busy for some time."

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

BASEBALL.

The George street Young Mens Guild met at the Y.M.C.A. last evening for the purpose of organizing a baseball club. Only a few members were present, and the following officers were elected;

Hon.-President—Rev. J. P. Wilson.
President—M. J. Hutchinson.
Vice-President—G. L. Galley.
Secretary-Treasurer—A. Mann.
Manager—Ross Dobbin.

Messrs. Dobbin and Hutchinson were appointed delegates to attend a meeting to be held on Thursday evening for the purpose of forming a Guild League.

The question of uniforms was discussed, and it was decided that the club's colors would be red and black. The practice grounds were not decided on, but the matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the Guild on Tuesday evening.

This local senior baseball team is getting into shape, and over a dozen crack players have already signed. The Cordage Company's team is also in fine form to begin practice. It is also reported that there will be a City and Intermediate League here again this year, and the Young Men's Guilds purpose organizing in the near future.

LACROSSE.

A meeting of the executive of the Senior T.A.S. Lacrosse Club was held last evening, when final arrangements were made for the season's program. Messrs. Crowley and Hayes were appointed delegates to the Midland League meeting on Saturday afternoon next.

A district comprising teams from Peterborough, Lindsay, and Oshawa, will likely be arranged for this season.

CRICKET.

As yet there has been nothing much done in cricket circles this season, and it is hardly likely that a senior team will be formed this year. The Junior Colts will, however, play again during the coming summer.

FIERCE FIRE NOW RAGING IN MANUFACTURING CENTRE OF TORONTO

MORNING TIMES DESPATCHES
By Special Arrangement

Special To THE TIMES.

At about nine o'clock last night the most disastrous and fiercest fire that has ever occurred in Toronto broke out. The fire originated on York street, and the flames swept everything before them, despite the heroic efforts of the entire fire department.

Special to The Times.

Toronto, April 19, 10.30 p.m. — The fire is raging at a terrific rate, and is beyond the control of the local fire department. The Mayor has wired for assistance from Hamilton, Guelph and Peterborough.

Toronto, April 19, 11 p.m. — The flames are playing terrible havoc with the buildings in the manufacturing center of the city, sweeping over the immense structures and reducing them to a heap of debris.

Toronto, April 19, 11.45 p.m. — The flames have eaten their way along York street to Wellington street, clearing everything before them, and and are now devasting the immense wholesale buildings on Bay street. The whole southern part of the city will probably be destroyed.

Toronto, April 20, 1 a.m.—A high wind is blowing, which gives every aid to the devouring flames.

Toronto, April 20, 2 a.m.—The fire department is putting up a heroic fight, but the fire is still beyond control and drives the army of fire fighters before it, compelling them to surrender building after building.

Toronto, April 20, 2.15 a.m. — The Hamilton fire brigade has arrived, G.T.R., about 2 o'clock this morning, and an enormous supply of water is being poured into the immense furnace of flames, but without any noticeable effect. The fire is now raging along Front street, and is cutting off all railroad communication with the city.

The Peterborough engine and a quantity of hose, together with nine men, were despatched to Toronto, via G.T.R., about 2 o'clock this morning.

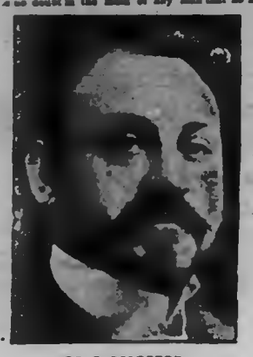
Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has



DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotency, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like wise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. I would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

Dr. S. Goldberg, 269 Woodward Ave., Room Berry St., Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing about. Write at once.

DYING RICH

George Peabody, the philanthropist, when strolling in an English cemetery became interested in the epitaph of a wealthy man who, the inscription said, had given away immense sums of money "in his lifetime." That led Mr. Peabody to give away his great fortune before he died.

Dr. D. K. Pearsons, of Chicago, noticed what Mr. Peabody was doing, and immediately made up his mind to be his own executor. The consequence has been that almost every small college in the country has had new life put into it by his benevolent touch. He thinks he will be able to finish up his life before he dies, but he says his wife tells him, "Give faster, my dear, give faster."

Andrew Carnegie heard of these cases ,and it did not take him long to decide that he would follow suit. He is even a little more radical than the others, as he not only insists that he will die a poor man, but expresses the opinion that it is "a disgrace to die rich." Some people scoff at the objects to which he contributes, but he pays no attention to them and keeps right on giving away his millions.

John D. Rockefeller has evidently been impressed by Mr. Carnegie's example. He does not boast of what he will do, but it is no secret that he is giving away his immense fortune as fast as he possibly can do so in the exercise of any sort of judgment. He employs two men to assist him in his work, but there seems to be no possibility of their giving away all that he would be glad to get rid of.

It is almost comical to notice how the example of these Midases and Croesuses has affected some men of comparatively insignificant fortunes. Alexander Jackson, of Camden, N.J., who was worth $300,000, died recently in the midst of a heroic effort to give it all away in his lifetime. He started in too late, however, and had only got rid of $40,000 when the summons came. He used to get more than 1,000 begging letters every day.

Clark Ridley, of New Bedford, Mass., whose fortune is a good deal smaller, is a more hopeful case. He was a miser all his life until lately, but now announces himself as a convert to Mr. Carnegie's doctrine that it is "a sin to die rich," and is giving away houses and lots in a way that has fairly frightened his neighbors.

Every one of these men now living informs us that the giving away of his money is more toilsome and harassing than the making of it was. Every one of them is afraid he is doing more harm than good by giving it away. Everyone of them meets with the basest ingratitude and is worried to death with beggars, the most of whom are impostors. Not one of them is getting any real happiness out of his money.

Mr. Rockefeller says he would willingly pay any man $1,000,000 a year who could do for him the work he is compelled to do by his wealth. His cares have made him as bald as an onion and reduced his diet to soda crackers and milk.

The happiest man in this world is the virtuous and healthy man who is above want but not beyond the necessity for hard work. All wealth over and above that is vanity of vanities and vexation of spirit.

BY-LAW NO.

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to guarantee the Bonds of the Peterborough Sugar Company, Limited, to the Extent of $100,000.

Passed the day of May, 1904.

WHEREAS, Mr. D. A. Gordon has proposed, with associates, to subscribe for one thousand shares ($100,000), in the capital stock of The Peterborough Sugar Company, Limited, with a view to the erection of a Beet Sugar Factory, of the capacity hereinafter mentioned, within the limits of the Town of Peterborough, on condition that the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough guarantee the bonds of the said Company to the extent of $100,000.

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable and in the public interest to aid the erection of said factory by guaranteeing the said bonds to the extent mentioned.

Important Time in Every Girl's Life

Is Between Fifteen and Eighteen Years of Age—How to Avoid the Dangers that Arise During this Period.

The mental activity of school life coupled with the terrible strain that must come during these years, takes the vitality of even the strongest. A girl at this age often does not understand the physical change she is undergoing. She will in all probability be nervous and puzzled. She should have the benefit of good motherly advice and a long treatment of Ferrozone, which will supply new energy to bear her safely past the critical event. Ferrozone is the best remedy to take in early womanhood, because it contains so much nerve and blood nourishment. It corrects all derangements, cures bearing-down pains, nervousness, and prevents headache. Ferrozone revitalizes young girls, gives them vim buoyancy, strong nerves and healthy body. Every girl should use Ferrozone, and wise mothers will see that their daughters have the benefit of this health-giving tonic.

Mrs. W. E. Michel, of Richmond, writes;—"I can strongly recommend Ferrozone as a good tonic for young ladies. My daughter has been taking Ferrozone for the past six months and it has worked wonders for her. Before using Ferrozone she was anaemic and nervous and had no strength. But Ferrozone has built up her whole constitution and given her strength and vitality. Of all the tonics I ever used I don't think one of them compares with Ferrozone. It certainly brings health and strength to young girls more quickly."

There is no remedy half so effective as Ferrozone. A trial soon demonstrates its merit. Get Ferrozone from your druggist to-day and let it build you up. Beware of fraudulent substitutes and insist on having only Ferrozone. Price 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of North Dakota, with a capital stock of $500,000 with shares at $10each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Parsons, home office in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $500,000 capitalization, in shares of $2 each, $210,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $2.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chouteau, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Western and the Chicago & Alton R.R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 32 acres under old with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6 feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one lies at a depth of 320 feet and the third at 463 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which as yes as a sump, makes our shaft's total depth 581 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 200 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 50c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and towns people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.35 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump in that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $600 each. we predict that this stock will be worth not less than $5 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mines will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

Author of "For a Woman's Sake," "Love's Triumph," "Purified by Suffering," "A Grass Widow," "Woman Against Woman," Etc.

In the pine cradle there was a rustling sound; the baby was awaking, and taking it on her lap, Hagar soothed it again to sleep, gazing earnestly upon it to see if it were like its mother. It was a bright, healthy-looking infant, and though five days younger than that of Mrs. Miller, was quite as large and looked as old.

"And you will be a drudge, while she will be a lady," muttered Hagar, as her tears fell on the face of the sleeping child. "Why need this difference be?"

Old Hagar had forgotten the words "Lead us not into temptation," and when the tempter answered "It need not be," she only started suddenly as if smitten by a heavy blow; but she did not drive him from her, and she sat there reasoning with herself that, "it need not be." Neither the physician nor Madam Conway had paid any attention to Margaret's child, it had been her special care, while no one had noticed hers, and newly-born babies were so much alike that deception was an easy matter. But could she do it? Could she bear that secret on her soul? Madam Conway, though proud, had been kind to her, and could she thus deceive her! Would her daughter, sleeping in her early grave, approve the deed. "No, no," she answered aloud, "she would not;" and the great drops of perspiration stood thickly upon her dark, haggard face, as she arose and laid back in her cradle the child whom she had thought to make an heiress.

For a time the tempter left her, but returned ere long, and creeping into her heart sung to her beautiful songs of the future which might be, were Hester's baby a lady. And Hagar, listening to that song, fell asleep, dreaming that the deed was done by other agency than hers—that the little face resting on the downy pillow, and shaded by the costly lace, was lowly born; while the child, wrapped in the coarser blanket, came of nobler blood, even that of the Conways, who boasted more than one lordly title. With a nervous start she awoke at last and creeping to the cradle of mahogany, looked to see if her dream were true, but it was not. She knew it by the pinched, blue look about the nose, and the thin covering of hair. This was all the difference which even her eye could see, and probably no other person had noticed that, for the child had never been seen in a darkened room. The sin was growing gradually less heinous, and she could now calmly calculate the chances for detection. Still, the conflict was long and severe, and it was not until morning that the tempter gained a point by compromising the matter, and suggesting that while dressing the infants she should change their clothes for once, just to see how fine cambrics and soft flannel would look upon a grandchild of Hagar Warren! "She could easily change them again—'twas only an experiment," she said, as with trembling hands she proceeded to divest the children of their wrappings. But her fingers seemed all thumbs, and more than one sharp pin pierced the tender flesh of her little grandchild, as she fastened together the embroidered slip, teaching her thus early, had she been able to learn the lesson, that the pathway of the rich is not free from thorns.

Their toilet was completed at last—their cradle beds exchanged, and then with a strange, undefined feeling, old Hagar stood back and looked to see how the little usurper became her new position. She became it well, and to Hagar's partial eyes it seemed more meet that she should lie there beneath the silken covering, than the other one whose nose looked still more pinched and blue in the plain white dress and cradle of pine. Still, there was a gnawing pain at Hagar's heart, and she would, perhaps, have undone the wrong, had not Madam Conway appeared with inquiries for the baby's health Hagar could not face her mistress, so she turned away and pretended to busy herself with the arrangement of the room, while the lady, bending over the cradle, said, "I think she is improving, Hagar, I never saw her look so well," and she pushed back the window curtain to obtain a better view.

With a wild, startled look in her eye, Hagar held her breath to hear what might come next, but her fears were groundless; for in her anxiety for her daughter, Madam Conway had heretofore scarcely seen her grandchild, and had no suspicion now that the sleeper before her was of plebeian birth, nor yet that the other little one, at whom she did not deign to look, was bone of her bone, and flesh of her flesh. She started to leave the room, but impelled by some sudden impulse, turned back and stooped to kiss the child. Involuntarily old Hagar sprang forward to stay the act, and grasped the lady's arm, but she was too late, the aristocratic lips had touched the cheek of Hagar Warren's grandchild, and the secret, if now confessed, would never be forgiven.

"It can't be helped," muttered Hagar, and then, when Mrs. Conway asked an explanation of her conduct, she answered "I was afraid you'd wake her up, and mercy knows I've had worry enough with both the brats."

Not till then had Madam Conway observed how haggard and worn was Hagar's face, and instead of reproving her for her boldness, she said gently, "you have, indeed, been sorely tried. Shall I send up Bertha to relieve you?"

"No, no," answered Hagar hurriedly. "I am better alone."

The next morning Madam Conway was moving silently down the narrow hall, while Hagar, on her knees, was weeping passionately. One word of kindness had effected more than a thousand reproaches would have done; and wringing her hands, she cried, "I will not do it; I cannot."

Approaching the cradle, she was about to lift the child, when again She had come, she said, to take the babe to Margaret, who seemed better this morning, and had asked to see it.

"Not now, not now. Wait till I put on her handsomer dress, and I'll bring her myself," pleaded Hagar.

But Madam Conway saw no fault in the fine cambric wrapper, and taking the infant in her arms, she walked away, while Hagar followed steadily. Very lovingly the mother folded to her bosom the babe, calling it her fatherless one, and wetting its face with her tears, while through the half-closed door peered Hagar's wild, dark eyes—one moment lighting up with exultation as she muttered, "it's my flesh, my blood, proud lady!" and the next growing dim with tears, as she thought of the evil she had done.

"I did not know she had so much hair," said Mrs Miller, parting the silken locks. "I think it will be like mine," and she gave the child to her mother, while Hagar glided swiftly back to her room.

That afternoon the clergyman, whose church Mrs. Conway usually attended, called to see Mrs. Miller, who suggested that both the children should receive the rite of baptism. Hagar was accordingly bidden to prepare them for the ceremony, and resolving to make one more effort to undo what she had done, she dressed the child whom she had thought to wrong in its own clothes, and then anxiously awaited her mistress' coming.

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00.
Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 1000 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 300 acres. This property has produced over 1250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $15 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Investigate to your heart's content, and quickly, then let us hear from you.

The Black Queen Gold Mining Co.

Selling at 7½c a Share

Like its sister Company is to-day giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 195 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely co-others. No matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All persons have some money, but many time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Full information will be supplied on application to Mr. Roland Kidd, Fiscal Agent for Ontario, or to

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN.

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1 00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

THINGS HE DIDN'T KNOW

How the Countryman Interviewed the Smart Young City Chap

It was a tiny village up in Peterborough county, and among the people gathered around the stove in the "hotel" office for the regular evening session was an old-young fellow, a visitor from the Queen City, whose clothes were so correct as to be almost beyond the point of good taste, and who showed by his conversation that there was nothing in city life he did not know all about.

The young fellow talked a long monologue loaded with sophistication and showing every now and then a covert sneer for the ignorance and awkwardness of the country-bred person. But he was listened to with much politeness and even interest until he seemed to have talked himself out. When he paused at last a little dried-up fellow with sufficient wrinkles in his face to suggest the map of the theatre of war between Russia and Japan, said:

"Wall, stranger, that's all right, about the city, but how many teeth has a cow?"

"I can't say," said the city youth looking around to see if he was being "guyed."

"Huh! Well, why is the front wheels of a wagon smaller than the hind ones."

"I give that up, too."

"How long does it take a hog to hatch out its young?"

"Hatch! I never knew."

"Which end of a horse gets up first?"

"I—I never saw it happen."

By this time the spectators of the cross examination had drawn close with interest.

"Wall," said the man of wrinkles, "I suppose it's all right for you to run around the city, 'cause there the perlice can take keer of yer, but before yer come to the country again yer wanter git hold of someone that's got the time to teach yer, so's yer can learn a thing or two."

RIOTOUS BURIAL OF GIPSY QUEEN.

Former Peterborough Clergyman Officiates at the Grave

REV. E. VICARS STEVENSON

A Riot at the Grave and Many People Badly Jostled

New York, April 18. — Disgraceful scenes nearly resulting in a riot, occurred at the burial of Sabbie Cooper Riley, better known as "Mother Riley, former queen of the gypsies, in the Hillside cemetery, at Plainfield, N.J. Nearly two thousand persons crowded around the open grave blocking the way and preventing the pall bearers, mourners and the undertaker's assistants from reaching the place where the body was to be interred. Appeals of clergymen to the people to make way had no effect, the morbid crowd pushing and crowding with each other for a good position whereby they could view the burial.

Finally the pall bearers, who consisted of the six grandsons of the dead woman, a number of mourners and four undertakers' assistants literally plunged into the obstinate crowd and drove them back. Several persons had narrow escapes from being pushed into the open grave, and one a few women became hysterical.

There were few men in the crowd and those who were there behaved with more decorum than the women. Long before the arrival of the funeral procession the cemetery was filled with people, who sat upon the tombstones and took complete possession of the place. So great were the masses of people who went to the graveyard that the trolley cars were unable to carry them, and hundreds had to walk nearly a mile to the place.

It was expected that the arrival of the Rev. E Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, who read the service, would have an impression on the obstinate ones and cause them to make way for the funeral cortege. His arrival had no effect, however, and he finally addressed the crowd.

"This is not an exhibition," he said. "This is simply a Christian burial. If you are Christians you will show a little consideration for the mourners and allow them to pass to the grave."

The crowd apparently took no notice of the clergyman or his speech and finally he ordered the undertakers assaistants and others to use physical force in making the way clear to the grave.

As there were no policemen there the mourners had to take the law in their own hands, and many a woman suffered bruises and a torn dress in return for her obstinacy in refusing to move from the side of the grave.

Among the mourners were the four children of the former queen and more than half a hundred grandchildren.

It had been planned to have the body of Robert Riley, the "Gypsy King," who died in Buffalo three years ago, buried with that of his wife, but at the last moment it was decided to leave the body in the cemetery at Auburn, N.Y., until later in the year, when it will be brought here for burial.

The coffin when it was moved from the vault, where it was placed soon after "Mother" Riley's death, was covered with flowers given by mourning relatives and friends.

Most of the gypsies, with the camp guarded by a few young men, went to the cemetery in cabs hired from local livery stables. Many wore mourning garb, but not a few, the women in particular, followed their traditional fondness for color, appeared beside the grave in clothing of variegated hues.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 4-20-04.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz., July 28th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz., 7-22-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 21, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangers, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Potosi, Pride of Pendleton, Borax and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $25 to $45 per ton, based on smaller returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo. bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 eet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. snaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per toe. In view of the fact that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholdersstraight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supe vision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fue or many years.

Our Titles

n the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United Stateswhenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15.000 was investe' in the machinery above meationed and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying bas

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day-one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a sition to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 300 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND TROOPS WILL GO TO BALKANS AT ONCE

Emperor Francis Joseph's Warships are Also to Join Fray

Trieste, April 19.—It is becoming abundantly plain that serious trouble is appreciated in the Balkans soon. The correspondent of the Times ascertained the following significant facts from various reliable sources to-day: The Austrian government has given notice to the municipality of Trieste that the municipal school building and every other available house will be required to garrison the Third army corps, which, it is expected, will be embarked from here for the Italian provinces.

THE LAST GREAT WAR

Efforts of Good King Edward to Promote Peace

London, April 19.—Should the dream of King Edward and the British Cabinet we realized the Russo-Japanese war will be the last great conflict of its kind. They hope that this struggle which threatens to be so disastrous and bloody, will ultimately prove a blessing to mankind by causing a universal abhorrence of war. The peace societies are equally optimistic. William Randall Cremer M.P., who was recently awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, declares that the jingoes are everywhere crestfallen and weak-kneed and that lovers of concord are venturing to lift their heads.

"Doubters and sneerers we must always have," he says, "but the fact remains that within the compass of a few months the world has witnessed a substantial advance toward reason and amity and consequently toward a reduction of the burdens of militarism—that has marked the relations of nations in all previous history. Statesmen now see that wars can still occur. They see that armed conflicts with all their horrors may happen outside the imaginations of correspondents and visionary diplomatists. Hence, everyone of them who is of first rank is seeking peace. Emperors, kings and presidents are leading the way in this most laudable quest."

DIGUSTING NARROWNESS

A Man Who is Continually Indulging in Personalities

Yesterday while enjoying a siesta in the back parlor of the Snowden House a Times representative overheard the following conversation between two well known citizens.

"Why am I against Russia? Well, I'll tell you. It ain't that I've got any particular love for the Japs. No Jap ever done anything for me, as fur as that's concerned. But Russia broke her word. Russia promised to git out of Manchuria at a certain time and she didn't do it. That's why I ain't got any sympathy for her. By George, I want people to live up to their promises. When they say they'll do a thing right out in plain English I want 'em to do it."

"Yes, that's always to be desired. By the way, how about that $20 you've owed me for about two years. You remember you promised me that you would pay it on a certain day without fail. That was about three months ago, and——"

"Yah! You can't never argue about anything without getting personal. Confound it, there's no use tryin' to reason with people like you. You're too blamed narrow to understand these broad national questions."

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the Intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000 Par value of shares $1.00 each. 500,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore. and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest. but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Powerful Healing Effective Cure

FOR COLDS, COUGHS, CATARRH BRONCHITIS AND ASTHMA

Simply Inhale Catarrhozone; it Cures Because it Goes where the Disease Actually Is.

These diseases cannot be cured by stomach medicines; they must be treated locally. Catarrhozone is inhaled to the very source of the trouble, and gives the diseased membranes local treatment with the strongest, most-healing antiseptics known.

After one trial of Catarrhozone you will wonder how you ever lived without it. Nasty colds in the head it cures in an hour, coughs are stopped in two hours, and catarrh and bronchitis are relieved at once. Nothing could be simpler or more pleasant than to inhale the fragrant vapor of Catarrhozone. Nothing is half so certain to cure your trouble permanently.

Nor is proof of Catarrozone's merit lacking, for it is endorsed more strongly by the medical profession than any other remedy. Its superiority to-day is unquestioned, and its sale by far exceeds that of any other two remedies on this market. Why? Because it does what is claimed for it—cures permanently those who use it for any disease of the breathing organs.

Mr. S. E. MacAuley, the well-known attorney of Portland, endorses Catarrhozone in the following letter. "I am anxious to make known that after three years' suffering from weak throat and catarrh, I have been cured by Catarrhozone.' I was treated by many doctors of wide reputation. I have used scores of different remedies. I have suffered everything catarrh entails, and I am convinced that no medicine is so sure to cure as Catarrhozone, which did me untold good and completely eradicated this awful disease from my system.'

Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure costs $1, sample size 25c. At all druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn. U.S.A. Beware of substitutes and insist on getting Catarrhozone when you ask for it.

He Didn't Feel Like It

M. Elimieno Ramaud, the celebrated pianist, who appeared here the other evening at the Muriel Foster Concert, tells some interesting stories of the great composer Beethoven. He describes him as extremely eccentric and selfish in the extreme. At one time he had been persuaded to improvise at a large concert in Paris. He appeared on the stage, struck a couple of notes and then deliberately left. On being questioned as to his reason for acting so, he simply remarked that he didn't feel like playing, and wasn't going to do so.

Floods at Young's Point

The water is flowing over the lock gates at Young's Point, and the village is threatened with a serious flood. The water is almost up to Kearney's Hotel, and the dam at Buckhorn may give way. Great excitement prevails, and extensive preparations are being made to avert any serious disaster.

Runaway on Stewart St.

Yesterday about one o'clock a runaway on Stewart street attracted considerable attention and aroused much excitement. A spirited team attached to a heavy delivery wagon, suddenly became frightened and dashed down the street at a terrific speed. The driver jumped from his seat and was not seriously injured. The horses were finally caught near the Canadian General Company's works, by a laborer returning to work.

Of Interest to Fishermen

Local fishermen will be interested in the announcement that Rice Lake will hereafter be subject to the general law governing other waters. No game fish can be taken there until July 1st. Heretofore fishing was legal two weeks in advance of the general date, the reason given being that the season was very short owing to the rapid growth of weeds in July. The same reason might have been urged by Lake Scugog and Lindsay fishermen for the last quarter of a century.

Counterfeit Coins

Merchants and others should be on the lookout for new counterfeit 25 cent pieces bearing the date of 1902 and on the other side the King's head. There are a number of them in circulation and so perfect are they that it is said the banks are innocently taking them in. They, however, may be distinguished by their weight, they being considerably lighter than good money. The counterfeit coins are made of lead and aluminum.

The Electric Road

The proposed electric road between Kingston and Toronto appears to be creating a more lively interest in the east than in this particular neighborhood. At Napanee a by-law granting a bonus of $20,000 is to be submitted to the ratepayers. Trenton is considering the investment of $20,000 in the company's bonds, and the village of Brighton a similar amount. Other municipalities are considering the proposition to invest in the undertaking. As yet we have not heard of our council offering to invest in the bonds, or in any way financially aiding the undertaking, either by bonus or purchase of bonds. Port Hope appears to be in a similar position to Cobourg, but we understand some of the smaller towns west and north of Port Hope are inclined to boom the project.—Cobourg Post.

Grand Trunk Again to the Front

The New York Agency of the Grand Trunk Railway System are now occupying what is conceded to be the handsomest railroad office in the world, on the ground floor of the new Dun Mercantile Agency Building, at 290 Broadway, New York. The floor is finished throughout in Sienna marble bronze and plate glass and these decorations cost the owners of the building $100,000.00, and it is considered the finest display of this handsome stone in America. The Grand Trunk leased the entire floor and called it the "Railway Exchange," having as sub-tenants:

Great Eastern Fast Freight Line
Lehigh Valley Railroad Co.,
Maine Steamship Co.,
Clyde Steamship Co.,
Queen & Crescent Route,
Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co.
Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.,
Central Railroad of New Jersey,
The Central States Dispatch,
Pere Marquette Railroad Co.,
Georgia Railroad Co.,

The consolidation of these interests is a new departure, and in the brief time that they have been together, it has operated to so much advantage to the roads interested, and has been such an accommodation to the shipping and travelling public, that its success is assured.

The entire office has been fitted throughout in mahogany, which corresponds with the building's decorations, the offices being in the centre of the space with a lobby down each side.

Everything considered, the Grand Trunk Railway System's new office is worthy of a call from anyone visiting New York.

NEW CHURCH FOR ALL SAINTS

Decided on at Monday Evening's Vestry Meeting

The adjourned vestry meeting of All Saint's church was held on Monday evening, when it was decided to erect a new church. The present edifice is far too small to accommodate the Sunday congregations and almost every Sabbath many have to be turned away. Rev. Mr. Major in speaking of the proposed rectory, remarked that the needs of the congregation should be attended to first. Mr. J. H. McClellan, also spoke, endorsing the rector's suggestion, and Messrs. Bullen, Maughan, Edgar, Cuff, Watt, Fitzgerald and Layfield also expressed their approval.

A committee consisting of Messrs. McClellan, Green and Layfield was appointed to consider the matter.

It was proposed that a lot adjoining the church be purchased and a building be erected thereon. This committee will present a report on Monday evening, May 2nd.

—"There is not much danger of the Buckhorn dam giving way," said a citizen last evening. "But if it did we might have reason to be sorry here. The American Cereal Company's dam would then be imperilled."

THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; the farmer's life is a healthy life; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nutrition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago last spring, and have had no trouble with kidneys since," writes Mr. W. Thompson, of Verona, Brandywine Co., Maryland. "I might say by the way how thankful I was for the relief as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down to weigh one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh one hundred and sixty and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose, therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

PRESIDENT POWERS SPEAKS

Concerning the Advantages of the Port Hope Canal Route

The following interesting extract is taken from an address by Dr. L. B. Powers, President of the Port Hope Canal Association:

"Mr. Rogers estimates the cost of buying and fitting up Port Hope harbor to meet the requirements of an outlet for the canal at $300,000. He never made any enquiry about the matter, for $100,000 at the outside would buy and equip the harbor. The harbor is in first class shape. It is the best harbor on the Ontario shore between Toronto and Kingston, and the changes are if the canal came here the Harbor Board would give the government the harbor. Rogers has persistently over-estimated our route and under-estimated the Trenton route. Why, in one item alone in the Frankford-Trenton section estimate, Rogers left out cement, a $400,000 item. That shows you the unreliability of his figures and the character of the efforts made to maintain the original route intact. Even after over-estimating the cost of the Port Hope route the first time, Rogers was not content, but upon his second survey advanced it outrageously.

The original estimate of the cost of an 8-foot canal over the Trent River route is just over $5,000,000. Rogers's first estimate of the Port Hope route was $2,100,000. In his second the estimate jumped to $3,674,000, with $1,950,000 extras, a desperate attempt. Port Hope men say to bring the cost equal to that of the 56 1-2 mile Trenton route. A local estimate of the cost of the Port Hope route is $1,116,000.

"What we want is an unbiased survey," say the officers of the Port Hope Association. "If an unprejudiced man of ability will say that our route is not the better one in every way, we will accept the verdict and turn in and help Peterborough and Trenton force on the completion of the canal by the original route. Surely that is an eminently fair position."

GERMANY TO KIND TO RUSSIA

The Socialists of Germany Warm Resen Government's Action

THE SALE OF CRUISERS

Her Bebel Declares Neutrality of Empire is Violated—Ships Intended for Use in the Far

St. Petersburg, April 21. — There are now only two undamaged battleships, the Peresviet and the Sevastopol, in the harbor at Port Arthur. Some of the damaged vessels have been repaired, although their exact number and condition are not known. The other effectives are the armored cruiser Bayan, the first class cruisers Askold and Diana, the second class cruiser Novik, the torpedo gunboats Vesdnik and Gaydamak, the gunboats Gremiashchi, Otvashni, Gilnk and Bobr, the cruisers Djidjid, Razboynik and Zabiaka and the torpedo boat destroyers, whose exact number is not known.

Altogether ten Russian vessels have been damaged or lost since the outbreak of the war.

Hope Lies With the Army.

The disaster of Wednesday ends the hope that the ill-fated Port Arthur squadron would be able to become an aggressive factor in the operations before it is reinforced by the arrival of the Baltic fleet. Until then the aim of the Russians will be to hold Port Arthur and conserve the remaining ships within the protection of its guns. Temporarily the least faith in successes at sea died with Admiral Makaroff, and the Russian people now look to the army, in which they have implicit confidence to retrieve all and the reverses and distress suffered on the water.

As a result of the depressing influence produced by the loss of the Petropavlovsk some pessimism is manifested, and in consequence all kinds of wild talk are heard. This is not strange, considering the fatalism inherent in the Russian character. As an example, the spectre of foreign complications has appeared.

It is said that the Petropavlovsk was blown up by a submarine boat furnished to Japan by Great Britain, which, of course, would mean war with Great Britain. In furtherance of this idea it is pointed out that this British parliament has granted permission for Indian troops to cross the frontier of Thibet, which naturally means only that Great Britain is preparing to aid her ally by advancing upon Central Asia.

Expect Change of Fortune.

But such talk finds no echo in responsible quarters, where, indeed, it is remarkable how calm and confident the officials are that a change of fortune will take place as soon as the land operations have begun in earnest. Prevailing belief is that the Japanese will take advantage of some date

KOREAN ARE GLUTTONOUS

Recent visitor to Far East so Describes Them to Times

In an interesting interview with Mrs. Northey, who recently spent a few days in our city, and who has spent a number of years in far off Corea, the following description of the people of that country was obtained.

They are extremely voracious and they eat not to satisfy hunger, but to enjoy the sensation of repletion. The training for this enjoyment begins at a very early age. A mother feeds her young child with rice and, when it can eat no more in an upright position, lays it on its back on her lap and feeds it again, tapping its stomach from time to time with a flat spoon, to ascertain if further cramming is possible. 'The child is father to the man,' and the adult Corean shows that he has reached the desirable stage of repletion by eructations, spluttering, slapping his stomach and groans of satisfaction, looking around with a satisfied air. A quart of rice, which when cooked is of immense bulk, is a laborer's meal but besides there are other dishes, which render its insipidity palatable. Among them are pounded capsicum, soy, various native sauces of abominable odors, a species of sauerkraut, sea-weed, salt fish and salted sea-weed fried in butter. The very poor only take two meals a day, but those who can afford it take three or four.

In this respect of voracity all classes are alike. People in easy circumstances eat great quantities of fruit, nuts and confectionery in the intervals between meals, yet are as ready to tackle the next food as though they had been starving for a week. In well-to-do houses beef and dog are served on large trenchers, and as each guest has a separate table, a host can show generosity to this or that special friend without helping others to more than is necessary. A Corean will sometimes eat pounds of solid meat at one meal. It is not surprising that dyspepsia and kindred evils are very common among Koreans.

The Corean is omnivorious. Dog meat is in great request at certain seasons, and dogs are extensively bred for the table. Cooking is not always essential. Wheat, barley, maize, millet, the Irish and sweet potato, oats, peas, beans, rice, radishes, turnips, herbs and wild leaves and roots innumerable, sea-weed, shrimps, pastry made of flour, sugar and oil, a prune made vermicilli of buckwheat flour and white of egg, largely made up into broth, soups, dried persimmons sponge cakes, sesamum seeds, onions, garlic, lily bulbs, chestnuts and very much else are eaten.

PORT HOPE CANAL ROUTE

Bold Statement Made By Vice-President Clarke Concerning Peterborough Men

The two most used arguments against the Port Hope route of the Trent Valley Canal, are the dangers of the open lake navigation from Port Hope to Presque Isle Bay, which gives entrance to the Bay of Quinte, and the difficulty to be encountered getting over the ridge between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario. The difference between the level of the two lakes is 260 feet. As a matter of fact, a cutting through a natural break in the hills for three and a half miles, the greatest depth of which would be 68 feet plus the depth of the canal, would enable the canal to surmount this ridge. A survey made by Mr. R. A. Mingy in 1882 is, according to Port Hope, the only unbiased examination of the route ever made.

Mingy went over the route and reported it to be perfectly feasible. The Trent Valley Canal was then commenced and it progressed by many stages to its present shape. Mr. J. F. Clark, Vice-President of the Port Hope Association is reported to have said: "Now, I tell you we have information to show that Peterborough men have purchased Trent Valley lands and water powers in the hope of securing heavy damages when the canal floods these lands or interferes with their flow of water, hence their strong advocacy of the Trenton route against what they know to be the best interests of the country and their own district."

BUSY TIMES AT ST. PETERSBURG

Preparing an Ironclad Train For the Czar's Special Use

CZARINA REBUKES WOMEN

Royal Gossipere are Sharply Told to Work With their Needles

St. Petersburg, April 20.—An ironclad train is being built for the Czar to take him to the far east if he should decide to head the army. The train will consist of a summer and winter palace car home, sleeping quarters for 300 men and stables for a hundred horses. The difficulty is combining safety with a minimum weight. The rails of the Siberian road are not heavy enough for ironclad trains, such as the English used in South Africa.

The war minister is considering the advisability of providing ironclad trains for the army in Manchuria. Their necessity is argued, owing to the uncertain attitude of China. It is reported that the Czar favors purchase of armor in the United States once because he thinks thereby to win good opinions from Americans, and again because he has no faith in Russian surveyors, whose dishonesty makes the army suffer, as repeatedly pointed out in these dispatches.

Making the rounds of the parlors in the winter palace, where 2,000 women of the aristocracy assemble daily between 1 and 6 to sew for the soldiers, the Czarina noticed several times that a number of women concerned themselves more about chatting than about the work in hand. She gave them warning by the mistress of the robes, once or twice, but when they did not heed her, called them up the other morning, and addressing each by her Christian name said sharply. 'You were asked to come here to work with your needle, not with your tongue, and you will please do so or make room for ladies willing to do their duty.'

The gossipers, shame facedly, threw themselves at Her Majesty's feet and promised to be good.

The Czarina, despite ill health, is one of the hardest needle workers. She has installed herself in a small alcove, allowing her the general supervision of the women. The stuff worked over for the benefit of the soldiers, is furnished by charitable persons, but a great part of it was bought by the Empress herself. She was, therefore, angered and chagrined when she learned that a number of the aristocratic women were in the habit of taking yards of linen and cloth home "to finish there," but forgot to bring back the ready garments. The Czarina thereupon ordered that those who take stuffs home must give their names and addresses and all will be held strictly responsible for the value of the goods taken.

Odessa, April 20.—The city is filled with out of works, as factories are closing all around, and those kept going reduced their staffs from 50 to 80 per cent. Wages have gone down and the price of bread has gone up.

The dread spectre of hunger is stalking about in the poor quarters, and several cases of hunger typhus are reported daily.

Vienna, April 20.—Two hundred and forty young Russians, deserters from the Czar's army, crossed into Galica. They are bound for the United States. Most of them had sufficient money.

Berlin, April 20.—The Corean embassy finds it hard work to live on tick, as Berlin tradesmen cannot be persuaded that His Majesty of Corea will resume the payment of salaries in the near future. Secretary of Legation Hong experienced greater difficulties since the beginning of the war, than even his chief, because he had an expensive soubrette attached to him. Without money or credit, he committed suicide, leaving a letter wherein he invited the actress "to follow him to a better world."

RUSSIANS ONLY HOPE IN ARMY

The Country Greatly Depressed by Dissasters to Navy

NOW LOOK TO LAND FORCES

The Whole Russian Nation is Humbled as it Never Was Before

Berlin, April 20.—The socialists of Germany bitterly resent the German government's manifestations of friendliness toward Russia, and this feeling found vent to-day in an attack by Herr Bebel, socialist leader in the Reichstag, on the ministry for permitting the sale of the auxiliary cruisers to Russia. Herr Bebel declaring that the government had violated its neutrality.

The socialists declared Herr Bebel did not object to Chancellor Von Bulow's declaration of neutrality and the localization of the war in the far east, but German's neutrality was not above doubt. He referred to the Hamburg-American Steamship Company's sale of the steamer Fuerst Bismarck to a Russian company, and asked whether the foreign office permitted the sale, as he assumed was the case, since the directors of the company were cautious men, who would not conjure up a conflict with the German government. The steamer was an auxiliary cruiser of the German navy at the time of the outbreak of the war, hence her sale was all the more astonishing.

Herr Bebel added that it was also asserted that the German steamer Kaiser Friedrich had been sold to Russia. Such sales, however, can only accomplish indirectly the reinforcement of the Russian navy.

"We," said Herr Bebel, "must energetically protest against such a procedure. The world is filled with tinder material. One spark can set the world ablaze. I therefore ask the chancellor what he thinks of these sales and the resulting damage to Japan and the advantage to Russia."

Similar Instance in Boer War.

"During the Boer war," Herr Bebel continued, "an English firm placed large orders for Krupp shells, but the German government finally, after the fact could no longer be denied, took energetic measures to prevent the order being filled. The present case is precisely similar. The sale of the German ships is doubly objectionable, as rumors are circulating of a forthcoming bill to increase the strength of the German navy."

The socialist leader dilated on the recent expulsion of Mandelstamms Siberbaums and other Russian students from Germany for the offense which the Minister of the Interior had characterized as "childishness."

Chancellor Von Bulow in reply, expressed his pleasure at the fact that Herr Bebel had solemnly declared that Germany must not take sides with either party engaged in the war, but he was sorry to observe that the socialist press took sides against Russia in the most partisan manner, trying unwarrantedly to embroil Germany waith Russia.

So far as the neutralization of China was concerned, the chancellor continued, Japan had declared herself in favor thereof, "and," added Von Bulow, "I must beg Herr Bebel not to be more Japanese than Japan herself."

Foibles of Society

Society has its foibles and its varieties, many of which have a foundation in something more than the usual insanities of sport and afternoon tea talk. One of the latest of these fads is the brass plaques containing some sentiment more or less apropos of dining, wining, and the pledging of health. These placques are artistically framed, and in the matter of subject range through various phases of humor and sentiment. Many of them are quotations from favorite authors, illustrated by well known artists. This motto idea is not a new one. It was very much in use in the old England days of the stage coach and country inn, and mottoes were used for adornment to the bleak, bare walls of the English hostelry. Thousands of these toasts, have been sent broadcast through the States and even England and the continent, where they have found great favor.

MR. R. WARD APPOINNED

As Dairy Instructor for this District for the Ensuing Season

The dairy instructors have been assigned their districts for the ensuing season, and among the list of appointments the name of R. Ward, Peterborough, appears as instructor for this district.

The duties of these instructors shall be, first, to visit the factories to see that the makers are serving the patrons well; that is, that they are making the best and most cheese out of the milk entrusted to them; if not it will be their duty to instruct the makers in the best methods of manufacture. If the milk is being delivered in a condition to cause defects in the cheese, they will endeavor to find out whose milk it is and lend their assistance in having it improved or if the cheese is defective, due to conditions in or around the factory, they will point them out to the proper persons and endeavor to have them remedied. It will also be their duty to test the milk for adulteration when there is good reason to believe that milk is being tampered with.

The object of the work is to improve the quality of the milk supply and the conditions surrounding its manufacture. In doing this, we hope to insure a finer quality of cheese, and a more uniform output. But we cannot hope for the success that we desire, unless we have the co-operation of all concerned. Owing to the importance of the dairy industry to the farmers of Eastern Ontario, we appeal to them for their co-operation and assistance, to maintain our reputation and improve the quality of our dairy products.

EX-WARDEN CROWE DEAD

Popular County Official Passed Away on Tuesday

One of the most respected citizens of Warsaw, in the person of Ex-Warden Richard Crowe, passed away on Tuesday, after a prolonged illness. Crowe was the first reeve in Dummer township, and held the office for nearly twenty years. Previous to this he attained municipal honors when elected to the Council of Dummer in 1884. Mr. Crowe was considered an able councillor, and always performed his many duties most faithfully and satisfactorily. In January, 1903, he was unanimously elected Warden of the County, and during the past year his work in this office was most satisfactory. He was extremely popular among his fellow Councillors, and his demise will be greatly regretted.

His experience in municipal affairs was of great service in his connection with county affairs, and he ever proved himself a man of unbiased judgment, and one who had the interests of the municipality always at heart. He was a man unusually energetic, of sound integrity and always genial in his manner, as a result of which he won many staunch friends, in whose memory he will ever hold a high place.

A family of three daughters and two sons is left to mourn the loss of an affectionate father, Mrs. Galvin Graham, and Mrs. Stephens, of Dummer, and Miss Gladys, at home, and Messrs. THE LINES OF TORRES VEDRAS

The strategy of the Japanese in Corea begins to recall one of the most brilliant operations of history, immortalized in one of the greatest military classics, namely, General Napier's Peninsula War. Everyone who knows a little history will remember with what meagre forces the Duke of Wellington attacked the mighty power of Napoleon in Spain. We suspect that contemporary observers thought of the power of England in comparison with that of the continental empire of France much as contemporary observers think now of the power of Japan in comparison with that of Russia.

Only one thing was in favor of the lesser combatant. After Trafalgar, England had command of the sea, could land troops in the country of her ally and continue to supply them as long as they did not go too far from the coast. England had no such army as Japan can command. What forces she could spare she threw into Portugal. These were the thin edge of the wedge that in a few years was driven home to Paris bursting the French empire into fragments.

That whole splendid story does not concern us here; only the way Wellington began his invasion of Spain through Portugal, established his base fortified his rear and protected his line of communications. Besides his slender forces he had to use the raw levies of Portugal. These required patient organisation and training and the joint forces required a strong fortified base. Instead of a single Wellington chose for this base the whole peninsula formed by the Tagus where it discharges into the sea. Here was a country one hundred miles in circumference, accessible only on one side by land, and there protected by rocky heights and defiles. He turned it into one immense fortress, guarded toward land by concentric lines of defenses and commanded toward the sea by the fleet.

This was large enough to contain, not only all the allied forces, but the whole population of southern Portugal with their cattle and supplies; so that he might surround it with a desert in which no enemy could live. Here was a striking example of the reconcentration practiced by Weyler in Spain. All the troops Napoleon could throw into Spain could not drive Wellington out of this fortress. Here he drilled and prepared his troops for the latter campaign in which they fought their way to and across the Pyrenees. Here he protected the rear of the advancing army and kept it supplied with everything necessary. Torres Vedras was the English base for the whole peninsular war.

The peninsula of Corea is many times bigger than the little peninsula on which Lisbon stands, but military operations, by aid of railroads and other modern inventions, are now carried on upon a much larger scale than they were a hundred years ago. So far as we can understand the strategy of the Japanese, they are planning to turn the whole peninsula into a great Torres Vedras. They have overrun it with troops and taken practical possession of the government. Their advance was pushed rapidly to the very narrowest part of it between Anju and Port Lazareff. This is a country of rocky heights and defiles, like the little Portuguese peninsula.

Here the Japanese seem to be working like bees or beavers, carrying parallel lines of fortifications over mountain and valley across the whole peninsula. The advance, so rapid up to that point, has been slow since. Clearly Japan is establishing here a fortified line to protect the whole peninsula in the rear and to furnish a base for the advance into Manchuria. Back of that line, while she retains command of the sea, Japan will be as safe as Wellington was safe in the peninsula by the Tagus. Here is one of the cases where history throws an interesting light upon current events.

All the war news comes from Russian sources, but as it is generally unfavorable to the Muscovites it is evident that the Japanese are too busy to keep the score.

Typhoid Victim Recovered Health

If it is Health, Renewed Vigor, Well Balanced Nerves You Want try the Food Tonic Ferrozone.

No stronger evidence than the case of Geo. M. Ainslee is needed to prove that ferrozone is unsurpassed as a tonic and restorer. Writing from his home in Bartonville, Mr. Ainslee says: "I had typhoid fever two years ago, and for a long time could not get strong. I carefully followed my doctor's orders and for months took his medicine regularly but no matter what I did I couldn't get up enough strength to take an active employment again. Like most weak people I was also nervous and finally had to give up the doctor. I took of Ferrozone and decided to try it. I took the first box with fair results. I felt stronger. The second box astonished me and my strength returned very rapidly. I kept on using Ferrozone and my friends then noticed how quickly I was improving. This encouraged me to take more Ferrozone and my strength all returned in two months. When I started Ferrozone I gave up all other medicines and can say that it alone restored me. For weak, nervous people Ferrozone will do more good than anything else."

Ferrozone is both a food and a medicine. It builds up the wasted tissue and strengthens the weakened nerves by giving the system a plentiful supply of pure nourishing blood. It puts new vigor into every organ of the body, dispels nerve sickness and lassitude. The person that uses Ferrozone will have a good appetite, healthy complexion, good digestion and a reserve of strength that protects you against pneumonia and weakening fevers.

Ferrozone is not a nauseous cod liver oil mixture, but a chocolate coated tablet, combining the most strengthening elements in concentrated form. Very easy to take. Its sale has multiplied year by year and no remedy to-day holds a higher place in the esteem of the public. The success of Ferrozone is due to its ability to give strength to the weak, and cure the sick of their troubles. Badger Mexican Plantation Company Owns Some Valuable Property.

Only About 5000 Shares Left to be Sold and Only a Very Few More at Par.

In the States of Vera Cruz and Oaxaca, in the Republic of Mexico, in an area comprising 250 square miles, are found the most perfect conditions of climate and rain fall which favor the tropical planter. In the centre of this district, in the famous Trinidad Valley, are situated some of the best known and best producing of Mexican plantations, such as the sugar Hacienda Lugar Vista, La Junta, the property of the Mexican Mutual Planters Company, and the beautiful private estate of M. J. C. Harvey. In the midst of these plantations are the rich fertile lands of the Badger Mexican Plantation Company whose prospects for success are second to none. The properties are situated on the line of the Vera Cruz and Pacific Railway and also on the Trinidad River, according to the company the best rail and river market facilities. Surrounding the plantations mentioned are some 15 or 20 private plantations owned by American, English and planters of other nationalities. Together they make a permanent settlement and no difficulty is experienced in obtaining plenty of labor. The soil is of remarkable richness and of great depth, being composed of the accumulation of ages of decay of the tropical vegetation which at present covers the portions of the property not already planted.

The properties of the company were purchased as a result of the most careful personal inspection and comparative study by a commission of business men from Wisconsin, whose small investments in tropical Mexico had thoroughly demonstrated the profits to be made from the raising of rubber, sugar cane, chocolate, vanilla, coffee and other products. This commission was not misled by real estate companies, or agents thereof, but after personally visiting the properties selected the most desirable land in the best location, and regardless of cost, purchased the property as a permanent investment for themselves.

The property mentioned is composed of the beautiful private plantation La Florencia and a neighboring plantation equally as good, called San Andrecito. La Florencia was originally owned by Mr. Samuel D. Dorman of St. Paul, whose labors have converted the same into a beautiful home and a dividend producing plantation. Before the sale of the property, he had been repeatedly approached by other purchasers, who recognized his plantation as an ideal one, but steadfastly refused to part with his home until the present owners, in whom he had the greatest confidence, and who had, as he knew, a definite purpose in purchasing it, selected it from among all other tracts considered.

La Florencia consists of 1000 acres located near the Vera Cruz & Pacific Railway on a branch of the Trinidad River, near Buena Vista Plantation, and good wagon roads, well built, connect these points.

San Andrecito consisting of 2650 acres is located directly north of La Florencia with a frontage of a mile on the Trinidad River. This is crossed by the Vera Cruz & Pacific Railway, and a station has been established on the property from which an excellent wagon road runs to the river front. Not 100 acres of these two tracts are waste land and the tropical growth is of such luxuriance and thickness as to indicate a soil inferior to none in the valley.

On La Florencia there are at present between 25,000 and 30,000 coffee trees, which have given for the past three years an average of one pound per tree of the highest grade of Mexican coffee per year. There are 25,000 rubber trees ranging in age from 3 to 8 years, several hundred of which were tapped this year with magnificent results. In 1903 25,000 additional rubber trees were planted upon a new clearing and for 1904 a contract has already been let for the planting of 700,000 more trees. There is a complete plantation equipment, consisting of brick houses, such as residence, store, coffee house, laborers' quarters, tool houses, pasture, well fenced and stocked with horses mules, cattle, pigs, etc.

Upon San Andrecito there are now 25 acres of cane in full growth for nursery purposes and for 1904 a contract has been let for the planting of 400 acres.

$21,000 worth of stock of the Plantation Company is held in trust by the Milwaukee Trust Company of Milwaukee, Wis., upon which dividends will not be declared until after the close of the development period. This stock is held to amply secure those purchasing treasury stock, upon which will be paid semi-annual dividends of 7 per cent. upon the amount of money actually received from the sale thereof. Returns from the sale of cane, rubber and matured coffee, as well as from corn and other short crops, will be ample to pay this dividend through development period and for 1905 when cane will be ground the dividends will be very greatly above the figure guaranteed.

On January 1st, 5600 shares of stock were offered for sale at par, $150.00 per share, payable in cash or in thirty monthly installments of $5.00 each. The sale of this stock has been exceedingly brisk and the price will be raised from time to time as the progress of the development work upon the plantation and increased valuation justifies. Seven per cent. dividend will be paid upon the stock already sold, on July 1st (the money already having been earned for this purpose), and shortly after that time it is the intention of raising the price of shares $10.00. It is therefore to the interest of prospective investors to secure them without delay.

High Class Investment
THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $200,000 with shares at $10 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler, Secretary, and C. L. Farrows, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the paid up capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $100,000 worth is issued, the first public allotment of this was sold at the par share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line cross-es five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres under mine, with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6 feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 300 feet and the third at 650 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which as you see is sump, makes our shaft a total depth of 750 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 500 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 800 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 65c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and few neighbors, therefore we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.25 to $2.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a party of financial experts and have made considerable profit, each month per of which we have paid over 10 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $2 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mines will be producing not less than five or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends to do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

Author of "For a Woman's Sake," "Love's Triumph," "Purified by Suffering," "A Grass Widow," "Woman Against Woman," Etc.

nagar warren! What does t mean? Are you crazy!" sternly demanded Madam Conway, when the old nurse held up before her the child with the blue nose.

"No, not crazy yet; but I shall be, if you don't take this one first," answered Hagar

More than once that day Madam Conway had heard the servants hint that Hagar's grief had driven her insane, and now, when she observed the unnatural brightness in her eyes, and saw what she had done, she, too, thought it possible that her mind was partially unsettled; so she said gently, but firmly, "this is no time for foolishness, Hagar. They are waiting for us in the sick-room; so make haste and change the baby's dress."

There was something authoritative in her manner, and Hagar obeyed, whispering incoherently to herself, and thus further confirming her mistress' suspicions that she was partially insane. During the ceremony, she stood, tall and erect, like some dark, grim statue, her hands firmly locked together, and her eyes fixed upon the face of the little one, who was baptized "Margaret Miller." As the clergyman pronounced that name, she uttered a low, gasping moan, but her face betrayed no emotion, and very calmly she stepped forward with the other child upon her arm.

"What name?" asked the minister, and she answered, "her mother's; call her for her mother!"

"Hester," said Madam Conway, turning to the clergyman, who understood nothing from Hagar's reply.

So "Hester" was the name given to the child, in whose veins the blood of English noblemen was flowing, and when the ceremony was ended, Hagar bore back to her room "Hester Hamilton," the child defrauded of her birthright, and "Maggie Miller," the heroine of our story.

CHAPTER III.

"It is over now," old Hagar thought, as she laid the children upon their pillows. "The deed is done, and by their own hands, too. There is nothing left for me now but a confession, and that I cannot make," so, with a heavy weight upon her soul, she sat down resolving to keep her own counsel and abide the consequence, whatever it might be.

But it were upon her terribly—that secret—and though it helped in a measure to divert her mind from dwelling too much upon her daughter's death, it haunted her continually, making her a strange, eccentric woman, whom the servants persisted in calling crazy, while even Madam Conway failed to comprehend her. Her face, which was always dark, seemed to have acquired a darker, harder look, while her eyes wore a wild, startled expression, as if she were constantly followed by some tormenting fear. At first, Mrs. Miller objected to trusting her with the babe; but when Madam Conway suggested that the woman who had charge of little Theo should also take care of Maggie, she fell upon her knees, and begged most piteously that the child might not be taken from her. "Everything I have ever loved has left me," said she, "and I cannot give her up."

"But they say you are crazy," answered Madam Conway, somewhat surprised that Hagar should manifest so much affection for a child not at all connected to her. "They say you are crazy, and no one trusts a crazy woman."

"Crazy!" repeated Hagar, half scornfully, "crazy—'tis not craziness—'tis the trouble—the trouble—that's killing me. But I'll hide it closer than it's hidden now," she continued, "if you'll let her stay; and 'fore Heaven, I swear, that sooner than harm one hair of Maggie's head, I'd part with my own life;" and taking the sleeping child in her arms, she stood like a wild beast at bay.

Madam Conway did not herself really believe in Hagar's insanity. She had heretofore been perfectly faithful to whatever was committed to her care, so she bade her be quiet, saying they would trust her for a time.

"It's the talking to myself," said Hagar, when left alone. "It's the talking to myself, which makes them call me crazy; and though I might talk to many a worse woman than old Hagar Warren, I'll stop it; I'll be still as the grave, and when next they gossip about me, it shall be of something besides my craziness."

So Hagar became suddenly silent, and uncommunicative, mingling but little with the servants, but staying all day long in her room, where she watched the children with untiring care. Especially was she kind to Hester, who as time passed on, proved to be a puny, sickly thing, never noticing any one, but moaning frequently as if in pain. Very tenderly old Hagar nursed her, carrying her often in her arms, until they ached from very weariness, while Madam Conway, who watched her with a vigilant eye, complained that she neglected little Maggie.

"And what if I do?" returned Hagar, somewhat bitterly. "Ain't there a vast difference between the two? Suppose Hester was your own flesh and blood, would you think I could do too much for the poor thing?" And she glanced compassionately at the poor wasted form, which lay upon her lap, gasping for breath, and presenting a striking contrast to the little Maggie, who, in her cradle, was crowing and laughing in childish glee, at the bright firelight which blazed upon the hearth.

Maggie was indeed a beautiful child. From her mother she had inherited the boon of perfect health, and she throve well in spite of the bumped heads and pinched fingers, which frequently fell to her lot, when Hagar was too busy with the feeble child to notice her. The plaything of the whole house, she was greatly petted by the servants, who vied with each other in tracing points of resemblance between her and the Conways, while the grandmother prided herself particularly on the [illegible] per lip, which, she said, were sure marks of high blood, and never found in the lower ranks! With a most scornful expression on her face, old Hagar would listen to these remarks, and then, when sure that no one heard her, she would mutter, "Marks of blood! What nonsense! I'm almost glad I've solved the riddle, and know 'taint blood that makes the difference. Just tell her the truth once, and she'd quickly change her mind. Hester's blue, pinched nose, which makes one think of fits, would be the very essence of aristocracy, while Maggie's lip would come of the little Paddy blood there is running in her veins!"

"And still Madam Conway herself was not one-half so proud of the bright, playful Maggie, as was old Hagar, who, when they were alone, would hug her to her bosom, and gaze fondly on her fair, round face, and locks of silken hair so like those now resting in the grave. In the meantime Mrs. Miller, who, since her daughter's birth, had never left her room, was growing daily weaker, and when Maggie was nearly nine months old, she died, with the little one folded to her bosom, just as Hester Hamilton had held it, when, she, too, had passed from earth

A LESSON IN MANNERS.

The War a Clever American Woman Managed a Duke.

A story which belongs to a time several years ago when an English duke was a much sought after personage in New York society is told by Mr. James L. Ford in "The Brazen Calf:"

This duke, contemptuously noting the eagerness with which New Yorkers fawned upon him, had formed the habit of going out to dinner without troubling himself to put on evening dress. A lady had invited him to dinner without knowing of this peculiarity and was awaiting his arrival when her butler opened the door and cast a glance at her over the heads of intervening guests which said plainly that something was wrong.

She hastened into the hall to find the duke standing there clad in the checked sack suit and flaming red tie which had seemed to him "good enough" for a dinner party of American calf worshipers. This woman, however, had presence of mind, and she advanced upon him radiant and smiling.

"No," she said decisively as she took him by the hand; "I won't accept any excuses. You've come round to tell me why it is that you can't dine here tonight, and it's over so much nicer of you to do that than just to send a note. The dinner's a little late, and you've just time to go home and dress and be back here before we begin."

The nobleman opened his mouth to reply, but his hostess shut him off in a second: "No; you needn't make any explanations or excuses. Remember, you've only twenty minutes, so you must hurry."

A moment later the astounded duke found himself hurrying toward his hotel and perhaps wondering what new social force it was that was impelling him in that direction.

A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW.

The Things That Most Impressed a Feminine Tourist Abroad.

"What impressed you most?" said the gushing girl to the woman who had just returned from a trip abroad. "You must have seen such wonderful things."

The woman who had traveled thought deeply a few minutes; then she said slowly: "I think it was the lack of napkins in Scotland. Yes, that was it. My dear, there isn't a sign of a napkin on the tables in Scotland. If you ask for one, you may get it, and then again you may not. I was entertained in the homes of some of the finest people in Scotland, and never a napkin did I get.

"The next most impressive thing was the size of the coins in England. I used up a great deal of good, nervous energy trying ways and means to stuff those cart wheels into my little purse. One day, when my pocketbook had become unusually clumsy, I became almost hysterical, and that night I dreamed that I was using bolt bustles for the coin of the realm.

"There's one queer thing, though. You know I never could get it through my head how one made double change. You know what I mean—some one gives you too much change, and then you give them some money, and it's all right or something of that sort. Well, I never could understand that process in good United States money, with which I'm more or less familiar, but over there in England I accomplished that feat again and again without a tremor. Don't ask me how I did it. I don't know. It just came to me. Can I do it now in United States money? No, I can't. I left that special ability behind in England."

IN DOLLARS AND CENTS

AUGUSTA
—AND—
BLACK QUEEN

These Mines are Located near Pittsburg, Colorado.

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00.
Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 700 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 200 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years, already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Investigate to your heart's content, and quickly, then let us hear from you.

Like its sister Company is at this day giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 100 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their position for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain that the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

1. Do you know that its title is free and clear?
2. Do you know that the stock is actually fully paid and non assessable, therefore no liability?
3. Do you know that our capital is only $150,000?
4. Do you know that 500,000 tons of ore are in sight? This is proof that you are investing in a mine.
5. Do you know—free milling and cyaniding ores are the choicest, and sought by the experienced men in treating ores?
6. Do you know, that we can prove in black and white that our ore can be treated for $1.25 a ton and save 95 per cent. of its value.
7. Do you know that our neighbors produced last year $5,000,000.
8. Do you know that by their experience we profit, and can in one year be listed among them as a paying property.
9. Because of all these points, we rank second to no other prospect and by a continuation of development and erection of a Cyanide plant in the near future, we feel confident of success in the highest degree.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN.

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

WERE CARNEGIE A NEWSPAPER MAN

Says he Would Concentrate His Pen to Advocating Fraternal Union of America.

New York, April 19.—Andrew Carnegie, who is sojourning here with his family, is much gratified over the reception given by the press and public to his $5,000,000 fund for American heroes, says an American despatch from Aix-les-Bains, France.

"The people of Newfoundland, Canada, and the United States are all Americans," he said, "and they would all act together as brothers. My hero fund includes all these countries. Newfoundlanders were omitted at first through an oversight. That, however, has been remedied, for I have cabled ordering the plucky little Island to be included.

"Were I a newspaper man I would consecrate my pen to advocating the fraternal union of Canadians, Newfoundlanders, and the people of the United States, who are all Americans."

FIRST SUBMARINES FOR PORT ARTHUR

Russia Sends One From St. Petersburg and Thirteen Will Follow by July.

Tokio reports that the Russian troops from the Tumen River are gradually advancing southward. Five thousand infantry and fifty or sixty Cossacks arrived at Kingsan, forty miles south of the Tumen, and the cavalry advanced and occupied Sungjin, twenty miles further south, seizing the telegraph office. The Japanese residents withdrew safely to Gensan. The telegraph line between Sunjin and Gensan has been cut. The main body occupied Peukchyong, 60 miles north of Gensan, on the 17th instant. The flanks and rear were exposed, with the evident intention of drawing a Japanese attack from the Yalu River.

Scores of transports have been seen passing between Japan and the Bay of Korea during the last few days. Each transport fleet was accompanied by a steamer equipped with wireless telegraph instruments thereby keeping in constant touch with Admiral Togo. Startling events, equal in importance to those of last week, are to be expected shortly.

DESERTING THE TOWN.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—The population of Vladivostock is in want of the most necessary kinds of provisions, and in consequence of flooded rivers which interrupt communications, it is impossible to furnish them supplies. There is also a scarcity of money. Many inhabitants, particularly the women and children, are leaving the city, abandoning their property, which they are able to sell. Half the houses in Vladivostock are empty, and the civilian population is already reduced from 20,000 to 5,000.

FIRING ON THE YALU.

Liao-Yang, April 19.—A number of unimportant skirmishes are reported along the Yalu River. Six Japanese soldiers were killed by Russian scouts on April 16. Firing was heard on April 18, but the result of the engagement is unknown.

STILL HOLD THE JAPS.

Newchanwang, April 19.—The Red Cross was initiated today, when a number of native refugees were despatched to Tien-Tsin by the local Red Cross Society.

On account of the declared gravity of the offence, the authorities here have not found an opportunity to dispose of the case of the Japanese servants who were taken from the press boat Fawan of the Chicago News, which was detained here on April 2.

TIMES MAN NO SPY.

London, April 19.—The Times' correspondent at sea in a despatch published by that paper this morning protests that his wireless telegraph messages were veiled in cipher, which neither the Russians nor the Japanese could understand. He says he never sailed in Russian waters, and that all his messages were sent from the high seas or from neutral waters.

MAY HAVE LANDED.

Shanghai, April 19.—Authentic advices from Seoul, dated the 12th, declare that the Japanese are in complete control of Korea, and Russian scouting parties have retreated across the Yalu before the Japanese, who occupied Wiju practically without resistance.

The Japanese army is divided into two forces, one for expeditionary purposes and the other for occupation. The former, numbering 45,000, is advancing to the Yalu, and the latter, consisting of 15,000 reservists, is making far-sighted communication arrangements with the headquarters at Seoul, where there is a garrison of 4,000. The headquarters of the transport service is at Chemulpo.

RAILROADS AND ROADS.

Railroad-building and road-grading are progressing rapidly. The fortification of Kojedo Island, at the mouth of Masampho harbor, which protects the southern terminus of overland communication, also guards the passage to Vladivostock and Port Arthur, through Broughton Strait.

Forty transports off Haiju are supposed to have landed part of their force at Takushan, and it is the evident intention to disembark a second army at Yonghampo preparatory to forcing the Yalu.

A GHASTLY DISCOVERY.

Hamilton, April 19.—A ghastly discovery was made by William Mitchell this morning, when he found George D. Macdonald, a well-known old peddler, in his bovel, 13 King William street, dead. Cancer caused death. The police took charge of his effects.

Macdonald is reputed to have considerable wealth. He refused to say where it was, and declared he had no relatives. He said that as soon as his death was known in Toronto people would come forward and the money turn up. It is thought to be deposited in Toronto banks.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-23-04.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,
DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 28th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 1-23-04

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN, BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gangrn, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Encouraging writes the Petrol, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $20 to $40 per ton, bonded on smaller returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet of shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15 000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with, the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day—one electric lighting plant with 120 16 candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill, or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

RUSSIANS ENTHUSE OVER SKRYDLOFF

Vast Crowds Assemble to Cheer Makaroff's Successor---He Will Go to Sevastapol before Starting the Far East

St. Petersburg, April 19. — Vice-Admiral Skrydloff arrived here today on his way to the Far East, where he will take command of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur. The admiral was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the people, who thronged the streets.

The vast Zenamnskaia square opposite the Nicholas Railroad station, was black with people, and the police guarding the platform were quite unable to cope with the crowds who broke through the cordon and rushed towards the train. There were repeated outbreaks of enthusiastic cheers as the admiral left the car, and from the bareheaded throng a peasant stepped out and presented Skrydloff with a copy of a picture entitled "The Holy Virgin of Joy to the Afflicted," which is reputed to have miraculous power. The peasant also presented the admiral with consecrated bread, telling Skrydloff that he saluted him in the name of the masses of Russian people, all of whose hopes depended on him as the hero of the Russo-Turkish war.

"The people are convinced," added the spokesman, "that Admiral Skrydloff will justify the hopes of the Emperor and the Fatherland, and like the Virgin whose picture has just been given him, will bring joy to the people now afflicted."

The admiral, who was visibly affected, took the picture, declaring that he accepted it as a happy presage, and adding that he would not part with the picture throughout the campaign, and that he would put all his faith in God.

A representative of the middle classes presented the admiral with a picture of St. Theodosius, the miracle worker of Czerniakoff. The admiral then drove off, followed by deafening shouts of "Long live Skrydloff!"

On arrival at his hotel, a little girl presented the admiral with a bouquet, hailing Skrydloff as the "supreme commander of my brothers who are serving in the navy in the Far East."

"God help you," said the child, "in all your paths, and may Heaven grant that good fortune attend you always during the war, for the glory of our dear country."

The admiral embraced the girl, and the action brought out salvos of cheers.

Subsequently Skrydloff called on the Grand Duke Alexis, High Admiral, and on Vice-Admiral Avellan, Chief of the Admiralty. Tomorrow Admiral Skrydloff will be received in audience by the Emperor and Empress. He will probably go to Sebastopol Saturday, to formally hand over the Black Sea fleet to his successor.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000 Par value of shares $1.00 each. 800,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Deadly "La Grippe"

Or Epidemic Influenza is Caused by an Air Germ. The Most Scientific Remedy is Catarrhozone.

Two years ago, the medical journals commented widely on the marvellous success of Catarrhozone, which assisted very largely in stamping out the epidemic raging at that time. Cases that had resisted all other treatment were at once relieved and through the great healing powers of Catarrhozone further progress of the malady was arrested.

It is doubtful whether in the whole range of medicine a more lasting cure can be found. If a patient has any warning of the approach of La Grippe he has only to inhale the germ killing vapor of Catarrhozone a few times daily and escape entirely.

Even as a preventive of colds and catarrh it is a wise precaution to always carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in your pocket. At the first shiver or sneeze you can ward off an impending attack by merely inhaling a few breaths of Catarrhozone Fatal consequences can often be avoided in this way. The Inhaler is beautifully finished and made entirely of hard rubber. It can be conveniently carried in the vest pocket ready for use in church, at work, in the theatre, street car, anywhere, at any time. The complete Catarrhozone outfit contains a large bottle of inhalant, sufficient to keep recharging the inhaler for two months. It costs $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure. Sold by all druggists or sent direct to your home by mail if the price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn. U.S.A.

Obituary

On Tuesday night the death occurred of Mr. Francis Foley, who passed away about 11 o'clock after a lingering illness. Deceased was about 20 years of age, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Foley, of Asphodel township. He had resided in Peterborough for over a year, and during his stay here had won many staunch friends. He was enthusiastic and popular member of St. Peter's T.A.S., and of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The funeral will take place this morning from the residence of deceased's brother-in-law, Mr. D. Henry, of 21 Park street, and will proceed to Douro cemetery.

Delegates Have Returned

Messrs. Daniel O'Connell, Harry LeBrun, and the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick have returned from the ceremonies attendant upon the presentation of the Chair of Sacred History to the Catholic University of Washington, which took place on Wednesday of last week. According to the statement of one of the delegates from Peterborough Council, Knights of Columbus, there were about 6,000 people at the presentation, and on the following Thursday about 4,000 members of the Knights of Columbus and their wives were received by the President at the White House. Our popular merchant, Mr. LeBrun, had the pleasure of shaking hands with the President.

The Beet Sugar Industry

The agrounding farmers are greatly interested in the beet sugar bylaw which will be submitted to a popular vote on May 5th, and so far as we can learn a majority is in favor of its being carried. Most of the Peterborough County farmers consider the proposition from the standpoint of reason, and do not look upon the initial failure as detrimental to the industry's ultimate success. As was remarked by Mr. Dumble at the last meeting of the Board of Trade, the reason for this early trouble is explained by the fact that it was undertaken by practically inexperienced men, but now that Mr. Gordon has taken the matter in hand its success is ensured. Where a sufficient supply of beets is to be had, the industry will prove a paying one, and according to the opinions expressed by prominent farmers no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining enough beets.

THE TORONTO FIRE

Peterborough Firemen Speak of the Dread ful Conflagration

A majority of the members of the local fire brigade returned from Toronto last evening, and many exciting stories of the fire were told. The Peterborough brigade had little to do, and the engine was not even taken off the car.

"They had some fifty streams going when we arrived there," explained a fireman last evening, "and holes of them could throw a stream as high as a third storey window, and even if one did occasionally get pretty high, there was no force to it.

"Yes, the loss was exceedingly heavy, and many will be mighty near bankruptcy when everything is straightened out. The greatest excitement prevailed, and the policemen had the hardest job they've had for years. Why I saw more fights right around that fire than I've seen in Peterborough in the last ten years. It was a jam and rush all through, and many men and women who were curious to get near the fire, suffered injuries though being crushed in the awful crowd of thousands, all eager to see the terrible conflagration.

"Yes, I saw several struck by falling bricks, and the wonder is that more were not killed or injured. Showers of plate glass was falling on all sides, and the buildings were constantly falling.

"I saw one poor fellow, who used to live in Peterborough, get the nicest tap from a policeman's baton that you ever saw. He was anxious to get to the front of the line of spectators, when the "bull" ordered him back, and by way of emphasis used the club. The unfortunate fellow dropped, and was taken to the Emergency hospital shortly afterwards.

"Firemen, covered with ice, raced to and fro, but the majority maintained their composure. They never worked so hard, I think, in their lives, and their display of bravery was simply magnificent.

"The noise of the roaring flames, and shouting firemen, and exploding powder, was simply beyond description. Those who gazed on the awful havoc wrought on that single night will never forget it. A bitter wind raged all night, and the firemen got soaking wet, and were half frozen by the cold wind.

"It was a beautiful, but still an awful sight. The flames shot sky high from the roofs and upper flats of valuable buildings, and the many sparks reminded the onlooker of a display of fireworks at the Toronto Exhibition."

The Toronto Star estimates the total loss at $13,000,000, while last evening's News places the loss at $10 000 000, but according to authentic reports thhe damage done will amount to far in excess of the latter sum.

OPENING PARLIAMENT.

The Pomp With Which It Was Done by Queen Victoria.

The trumpets sound! The queen approaches! The trumpet continues, and first enter at a side door close at my elbow the college of heralds richly dressed, slowly, two and two. Then the great officers of the household, then the lord chancellor bearing purse, seal and speech of the queen, with the mace bearers before him. Then Lord Lansdowne with the crown, the Earl of Zetland with the cap of maintenance and the Duke of Wellington with the sword of state. Then Prince Albert, leading the queen, followed by the Duchess of Sutherland, mistress of the robes, and the Marchioness of Douro, daughter-in-law of the Duke of Wellington, who is one of the ladies in waiting. The queen and prince sit down, while everybody else remains standing. The queen then says in a voice most clear and sweet, "My lords (rolling the r), be seated." Upon which the peers sit down, except those who enter with the queen, who group themselves about the throne in the most picturesque manner. The queen had a crown of diamonds, with splendid necklace and stomacher of the same. The Duchess of Sutherland close by her side with her ducal coronet of diamonds and a little back Lady Douro, also with her coronet. On the right of the throne stood the lord chancellor, with scarlet robe and flowing wig, holding the speech, surrounded by the emblems of his office; a little farther, one step lower down, Lord Lansdowne, holding the crown on a crimson velvet cushion, and on the left the Duke of Wellington, brandishing the sword of state in the air, with the Earl of Zetland by his side. The queen's train of royal purple, or, rather, deep crimson, was borne by many train bearers. The whole scene seemed to me like a dream or a vision. After a few minutes the lord chancellor came forward and presented the speech to the queen. She read it sitting and most exquisitely. Her voice is flutelike and her whole emphasis decided and intelligent. Very soon after the speech is finished she leaves the room, and we all follow as soon as we can get our carriages.—Mrs. George Bancroft in Scribner's.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN
WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhœa, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of women's peculiar ailments.

A beautiful Georgia lady, Vice-President of the Blue Ridge Chess Club of Savannah, and prominent socially there, relates the following experience: "You certainly have produced the finest medicine for suffering women that is to be had in the country. I want to recommend it specially to mothers. I was seventeen years old when my darling boy was born. Paid very dearly and went for a long time, and it seemed I could not get my strength back. My physician brought me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (after I had tried several of the other remedies which are so much advertised, and found no relief). I had little faith in the medicine at the time and was so weak and sick that I felt discouraged, but within a week after I had commenced taking your 'Prescription' I was like a different woman. New life and vitality began to come with each succeeding day, until in a few weeks, I was in fine health, and a happy, hearty woman. My boy is now two years old, and, thanks to your medicine, I am enjoying perfect health. If at any time I feel tired or ill-tired of a tonic, a few doses of your 'Favorite Prescription' restores me at once. My address is No. 321 Jones Street, East, Savannah, Ga.

SOME WOMEN—

Pose in public and do it in an exceedingly clumsy way.

Carry on a conversation in a tone that savors of scolding.

Show a spirit of happiness on the smallest possible capital.

Lose the regard of men by being too exacting in their demands.

Have an idea men constantly are trying to attract their attention.

Use terms of endearment which convey neither sense nor meaning.

Impart a flavor of comfort to everything of which they are a part.

Want the world to regard them as an authority on all social questions.

Talk so much about loves of the past that there is a suspicion of boasting.

Have a manner about them that is positively exasperating.

Many Sudden Deaths on Sunday.

"Did you ever notice there are more sudden deaths in Philadelphia on a Sunday than any other day in the week?" remarked a policeman. "It is true, and the records prove it. The police book in the electrical bureau in the city hall contains this record. Sometimes the fatalities of this nature are double the number of any week day. How do I account for it? I don't. I simply hazard a guess or two. It may be that folks eat more heartily on Sunday, and this fact no doubt aggravates certain ailments, bringing on acute attacks of heart disease and indigestion. For fifteen years I have noticed the excessive number of deaths on Sunday, yet I have never heard any one give a reason other than I have mentioned."

The Goal of Unionism.

The individual struggle begun in industrial slavery is now knocking its shackles to pieces and will end with each worker having a hand and voice in the management of his work, in co-operative control of all industry. It is as inevitable as that an acorn will grow into a tree. All things must grow or die; they cannot stay still even if they would.

To say that laboring men should be satisfied with a certain rise in wages or other favorable conditions is like saying that a rosebud should not want to blossom. The trouble with many people is that they cannot change their viewpoint, which must be done always as the world grows.—Robert. Bruce Grant in Century.

The Mean Thing.

"My dear," remarked Mr. Jones to his wife as he gathered up his mail on the first of the month, "you have missed your vocation. You should have been a member of the state legislature."

"What do you mean by that?" asked his innocent wife.

"You are so indefatigable in introducing bills," replied Jones.

An Easy Conundrum.

Jokey—Here is a conundrum for you: What's the difference between a man and his wife. Henpeck—None, unless the man is so unwise as to have an opinion of his own.

Encouragement.

She—Yes, I just love dogs! He—Then I'd like to be a dog. She—Never mind; you'll grow.

Men have a more acute sense of smell than women.

Rough on the Lawyers.

They have a way of settling lawsuits in India that it would be well to copy here, according to the Springfield Republican. When a dispute arises over the ownership of land two holes are dug near together and the two opposing lawyers nicely planted up to their waists. The first one to become bitten by a bug or becomes so exhausted that he has to be exhumed loses the case for his client. This does away with unnecessary talking and adds an interesting element of chance to the game.

THE VLADIVOSTOCK SQUADRON HEARD FROM AFTER LONG SILENCE

Capt. Essen, Commander of the Squadron, says the Loss of the Petropaviovsk was Caused by the Battleship Having Touched a Mine.

Vladivostock, April 22.—Capt. Essen of the Russian cruiser Novik, commander of the squadron here, has issued an order of the day referring to the death of Vice-Admiral Makaroff, in which he attributed the loss of the Petropaviovsk to the battleship having touched a mine, adding:

"The ways of the Almighty are inscrutable. Every war demands such sacrifices as this, which has deprived the fleet of an experienced fighting commander, his whole staff, the crew of the Petropaviovsk and the battleship itself. But such is the will of God. Every lasting honor to those who are lost. They fell as heroes, but the war will raise up heroes who will take their places. Let us have fortitude and place our trust in the Lord, and we shall never be confounded."

The above despatch was the first absolutely authentic information in regard to the whereabouts of the Russian cruiser squadron for over a fortnight.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE

Jas. Johnson and Mary McGrath. Found Dead in a Hotel

Chicago, April 20.—Side by side in an embrace of death, the bodies of James H. Johnson and Mrs. Mary McGrath were found in a room in a hotel at 1,913 Archer avenue yesterday morning, an open gas jet showing the cause of their death and pointing to double suicide as the consequence and the end of a guilty infatuation. Both were married, Johnson being a switchman and living on Twenty-fifth street. His mother resides at 12 Alexander street. The woman has a daughter living in St. Louis.

The police were scarcely able to learn even the bald outlines of the tragedy which led to the death of the couple. Their bodies were taken to a morgue at 169 Eighteenth street. But a few cents were found in the man's pockets. There was also some cards by which the identity of the two was established. Johnson was 30 years old and the woman about 40.

The two came to the hotel Saturday afternoon and took a room, registering as "J. H. Brown and wife." In the afternoon they sent out for beer, asking the proprietor, Frank Selfridge, for a pitcher. This was all that was seen of them while they were in the hotel.

Yesterday morning the chambermaid gained no response to her knocks at the door, but supposed that the lodgers had not yet arisen. A second summons, at 9 o'clock, brought no answer, and she noticed, for the first time, the odor of gas. Selfridge was called. He could gain no response and finally he called for a stepladder and peered through the transom.

He beheld the two in bed, apparently dead. A physician was summoned at once and a telephone message was sent to the police. When the officers arrived from the Twenty-second street station they broke in the door. The gas jet was found partly open, and it was at once believed asphyxiation was the cause of the deaths. Later this hypothesis was confirmed by Coroner's Physician Lewke, who held a postmortem examination of the bodies.

Dr. Lewke declared that the gas jet might have been left open by accident, but the police believe that the two sought death together. It is surmised that their faithfulness may have become known and that they preferred death together to disgrace in life. For a time it was thought that they might have taken poison, in addition to turning on the gas, but no bottle or other evidence could be found to bear out this theory.

SKIRMISHES ON THE YALU

Alexieff Wants to Retire---Grand Duke Cyril Tells How He Escape

Seoul, April 20.—The Japanese authorities here admit that constant skirmishing is occurring between the opposing armies on the Yalu River. But they claim that no decisive action has taken place up to date, though news of such an engagement is expected at any moment.

It is estimated that the Russians now have fifty thousand men on the Yalu River.

The wildest rumors are afloat, largely from Korean sources, which are absolutely unreliable.

ALL QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR.

Port Arthur, April 20.—All is quiet throughout this district.

It is persistently asserted that a Japanese cruiser was sunk off Port Arthur, April 15, and that the Japanese armored cruisers Nissashin and Kasuga were damaged respectively below and above the water line.

HOW DUKE CYRIL ESCAPED.

New York, April 20.—Grand Duke Cyril has arrived here on his way to St. Petersburg, says a Harbin despatch to the World. His injuries are not serious, although he is suffering from burns on the neck and the ears, caused by the tremendous explosion of the Petropaviovsk, and from bruises of the back and loins, caused subsequently by the beating of the turbulent waves.

The Grand Duke gives the following story of his escape, which was almost miraculous: At the moment of the explosion of the Petropaviovsk the Grand Duke was on the bridge, at the other end of which was Makaroff. It seemed as if the world, the skies, the waters, were suddenly rent asunder, and from the gulf arose a devouring cloud and blinding flame, which burst with a deafening roar into acrid, suffocating fumes.

Scorched, blinkled, choked, stunned, Cyril recovered consciousness sufficiently to recognize that the Petropaviovsk was settling down by the head. The bodies of the dead sailors were floating from the forecastle deck which was awash. All around lay wreckage. Fallen top hamper and scalding steam cut off the Grand Duke's escape by the companionway. He made his way aft through smoke, flame, steam, and suffocating fumes among heaps of human debris. He reached a gun port, and dived through it. He realized that now, while diving the thought flashed across his mind, that he must dive deep and swim as far as possible, as that was his only chance to permanently leave the sinking ship. So he dived down, down and outward, with all the force of a trained athlete and swimmer, until his temples were bursting with the effort of retaining his breath.

He arose to the surface. While he filled his lungs he supported himself on a piece of floating wreckage which he seized, and to which he assisted another struggling swimmer. When the Grand Duke looked around for the Petropaviovsk she was not to be seen.

The sea was quiet, calm, and except for the gentle rise and fall of the woodwork to which he was clinging with his companion, he was quite motionless, but with each upward swing he swept around his eyes over the smooth bosom of the placid sea for the great ship.

There was no sign, no trace of her, except some floating bodies, a few buoyant articles, and still fewer battling swimmers.

The Grand Duke, of course, did not know then how much time had elapsed, but he heard afterward that exactly one minute and forty seconds passed between the explosion and the ship's disappearance.

THIBETANS' FORT WAS BLOWN UP

Overlooked the Residence of the British Mission

SCORES OF HEADS FOUND

Some Were Nearly Severed, Showing Regular Executions Despite Buddhist Prohibition

London, Thursday, April 21. — A despatch to the Times from Gyangtse, Tibet, reports that the fort there has been blown up because it overlooked the residence of the British mission under Col. Younghusband. Among the strange discoveries made in the fort was a room containing scores of human heads, some of which had been recently severed. This points to regular executions by the Tibetans, notwithstanding the well known Buddhist prohibition against the taking of life.

Goods Must Be Carefully And Plainly Marked

Hereafter the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. will exercise the greatest possible care in accepting goods for transhipment on its lines. The following circular explains this.

Office of the Freight Traffic Manager, Circular No. 30.

Montreal, April 15, 1904.

To shippers, agents and connecting lines.

Marking and Addressing Freight.

The attention of all concerned is again directed to the necessity of fully marking all freight.

1. Each package or piece must be plainly marked with the name and address of the consignee, so as to ensure a prompt delivery, even if separated from the waybill.

2. Marks on packages should be compared with the bill of lading, and correction, if necessary, made by the shipper or his representative. Old marks must be removed or effaced.

3. Tags should not be used when the nature of the goods will permit of the address being stenciled on packages. If this is not possible, some distinguishing mark or brand must be placed upon the goods, and must be shown in the bill of lading. Agents must transfer such mark or brand to the waybill, which must describe the goods fully. For example in the case of a shipment of canned goods, the bill of lading (and also the waybill) must show so many cases of pears, so many cases of corn, etc., as well as the brand and the mark indicating the consignee and destination.

4. The address on the packages must correspond with that shown in the bill of lading. For example, on a shipment to Winnipeg the packages must be marked "Winnipeg," and not some other destination for which the goods may be ultimately intended. If packages are intended for redistribution beyond, a special designing mark may be used for the guidance of those attending to the redistribution, but only the destination given in the bill of lading must be shown on the goods.

5. Frequently in connection with lake and rail shipments, there is on the same boat more than one consignment for one consignee. In order to prevent such shipments from becoming mixed, it will greatly facilitate their correct handling if shippers will also show on packages their name or trade mark. Consignments can then be delivered complete and errors avoided.

6. Freight consigned to a place of which there are two or more of the same name, must not be forwarded unless the name of the county and province be given.

7. When freight is consigned to a place not on the line of a railway, the shipper must be requested to state the name of the railway station at which the consignee will accept delivery; or if destined to a place reached by a water line, the name of the railway station at which delivery is to be made to such water line.

The proper marking and addressing of freight is as much in the interest of the shipper as of the carrier. Neglect in the proper addressing of packages may result in the loss or miscarriage of the goods.

Agents must see that these instructions are carried out.

W. R. MacInnes,
Freight Traffic Manager.

LEOPOLD WINS, CREDITORS LOSE

Judgement In Suit Brought Against Belgium's King

THEY WILL NOT RECOVER

Marriage With Late Queen Was a Diplomatic Treaty Which Affects Disposal of Property

Brussels, April 22—The civil tribunal rendered its judgment to-day in the suit brought by the French creditors of the Princess Philip of Saxe-Cobourg and Gotha (Princess Louise of Belgium and the Countess Lonyay formerly Crown Princess of Austria-Hungary) daughters of King Leopold, to compel the King to pay to his daughters the money left to them by the will of the late Queen Marie Henrietta, their mother.

The second daughter, Princess Stephanie, now the Countess Lonyay, claimed that her share of the estate was $3,600,000 instead of the $120,000 offered by King Leopold.

The court rejects the application of the plaintiffs and assesses the costs of the suit upon them. It is held by the court that by the Act of 1853 the marriage settlement between Leopold and Marie Henriette was a "diplomatic treaty," and that since then the Queen's property has come under the operation of the principle of separate estate.

Peterborough Fisherman Protests Against Use of Hoop Nets

"Six months twice a year as a close season for net fishing would make matters right," remarked an enthusiastic Peterborough fisherman to the Times yesterday. "Large consignments of fresh fish are sold during the winter and spring months, consisting of anything from perch to muskinonge, and some are too small even for use on free lunch counters.

"The bulk of these shipments are caught in hoop nets with leaders a mile long, at the heads of the different boys, corralling everything that swims, large and small. This is certainly a suicidal policy for all concerned, and it is to be hoped that the powers that be will soon introduce some legislation to remedy this existing evil.

"In case this is not done I would suggest an association being organized for the benefit of every true sportsman who likes a change from a salt pork diet occasionally, and enjoys the healthy sport of catching them."

FAST DRIVING

Mr. Scott Scott Run Into by Racing Vehicles on the Ice

On the evening of April 17th, as Mr. and Mrs. Scott were leisurely wheeling home, they were suddenly run down by two bugies which were being driven furiously towards them. The two cyclists were some distance outside of Ashburnham, when they noticed the two vehicles coming towards them, and evidently racing. As Mr. Scott was passing the first buggy, the one behind pulled out to try and get ahead, and ran into the wheelman, knocking him off and smashing the wheel considerably. While Mr. Scott lay tangled up in his wheel on the road, his wife commenced after the bugies in an effort to learn who the drivers were, when it was ascertained that the one who drove the rig that knocked Scott down was supposed to have been James Sutherland. The latter, however, swore that he was in Chemong, and far from where the accident occurred, on that particular evening. The other defendant was M. Chambers, who testified to passing the unfortunate cyclist, and that after he had passed them, another buggy dashed past him. This evidence was corroborated by two young ladies who were with him.

Police Magistrate Edmonson dismissed the case.

A man named Lewis appeared on a charge of vagrancy. He pleaded guilty and will spend a month in gaol, with hard labor.

—"No more stray dogs for me," said a Hunter street resident. "This dog that I found keeps my family and half the neighborhood awake at night, and eats enough for three. I only wish the man who owns him would take him off my hands." A "Found" ad in the Times will find the owner. Try it.

RUSSIANS MAY INVADE COREA

Are In Overwhelming Force at the Yalu

NEWS FROM KOUROPATKIN

Japanese Warships Sighted off Coast of Manchuria, But No Second Attempt at Landing Reported

London Thursday, April 21. — The Chemulpo correspondent of the Express, in a despatch sent by way of Chefoo, says that although all is declared quiet on the Yalu River, it is believed that the Russian army gathering strength to invade Corea in force, to offset the Japanese successes at sea. The Russian strength centred at Liao-Yang is said to be almost overwhelming, and having the advantage of position, it would be comparatively easy for the Russians to cross the Yalu.

The Tokio correspondent of the Times confirms the statements of the other correspondents, that it is expected that the Russians will make a stand at the Yalu River. In addition to their 50,000 troops, massed between Chiulencheng and Tatuhgku their up-stream extension is unlimited but reaches at last to the Poshi River which enters the Yalu opposite Huangpien.

ELECTRICAL EXPERT HERE

Mr. C. E. Brown of Royal Commission, pays our City a Brief Visit

Mr. C. E. Brown, formerly of this city and at present of the Royal Commission appointed to investigate the process of steel manufacture by electric smelting, visited our city recently. He is quite earnest in his opinion that Canada is fast coming to the front along this line.

The following despatch from Ottawa may be read with interest.

"Steel can be made by the electric process at a total cost of $8 a ton. It is believed this is what the commission that went to Europe to investigate the several electro-thermic processes employed in the smelting of iron ores and the making of steel will report. This means that iron and steel will be manufactured on an enormous scale in Canada. The commission consisting of Dr. Haanel, Mr. C. E. Brown, of Peterborough, electrical expert and Mr. Thos. Cote, secretary, left Canada on Jan. 21st, and they returned to Ottawa yesterday. On reaching England from Canada the services of Prof. F. W. Harbord of Cooper's Hill, Surrey, professor of metallurgy, and metallurgist to the Indian Government, were engaged as metallurgist, and the party proceeded to Gysinge, Sweden, where the making of steel from pig iron and scrap was witnessed. From Gysinge Dr. Haanel carried away some knives made from steel manufactured by the electric process. The next place visited was Kortfors, Sweden, where one of Heroult's furnaces was seen in operation. From Kortfors, Dr. Haanel went to Berlin, where he inspected an exhibition of peat having also been commissioned to make an investigation into the peat industry. Paris was next visited, and then the commission went to La Praz where experiments in making steel from pig iron and scrap and also of pig iron direct from the ore were observed. The most important experiments witnessed were those at Livt in the Pyrennes. The firm there were working night and day in the manufacture of ferro-silic onfor the Russian Government. These operation were however stopped and experiments made for the commission in electric furnaces in the smelting of iron ores direct. The cost of these operations to the company was $2,500. For the purpose of the experiments 90 tons of iron ores were imported from Spain. With the result Dr. Haanel is highly pleased. Samples of the steel were secured, and Prof. Harbord will report on the quality of steel, cost of manufacture, etc. Mr. Brown, the electric expert, will report on the absorption of electric energy in the different processes. When these reports are received Dr. Haanel will be able to give definite statements. Until then he declined to state what was the actual cost of making the steel produced at Livat. It is rumored, however, that the sum total was $8 a ton. Dr. Haanel was asked whether the manufacture of steel at that price would be a profitable enterprise, and he said it certainly would. All that Dr. Haanel would say as to the results of his investi-

Another detachment of 75 Russian soldiers has advanced as far south as Puck-Chyong, about 75 miles down the coast from Sung-Jin.

MR. ALPIN TO LEAVE

Popular Physical Director of Y.M.C.A. will Go to Pembroke

The many friends of Mr. S. S. Alpin, the popular Physical Director of the local branch of the Y.M.C.A., will regret to hear of his intended departure from Peterborough, as he has accepted the position of General Secretary of the Pembroke Association, which will soon be opened. He expects to leave about the first of next month.

The Board of Directors have accepted his resignation and at their last meeting a strong resolution expressive of appreciation for his excellent services was passed.

The Directors decided to take immediate steps to secure a new Physical Director, and the Secretary was instructed to interview the Provincial Committee to obtain information as to the best man available.

The delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference to be held in this city in June, will be given free use of the Association's building during their stay here.

$500 BLAZE ON GEORGE STREET LAST NIGHT

FIRE AT MR. HARRY LE BRUN'S CLOTHING STORE

About 8.45 o'clock last evening the fire alarm rang, and soon the news spread far and near that LeBrun & Co.'s store on George street was on fire. Hundreds flocked to the corner of George and Hunter streets, and as the great Toronto fire was still fresh in the minds of all our citizens, the greatest excitement prevailed for a time.

The interior of the store in a few minutes was completely filled with dense volumes of smoke, which emitted from the tops of the front door windows. The firemen arrived on the scene early, and, with the able assistance of the Chief of Police and P. C. Adams, the dense throng was soon pushed back, and the firemen given a chance to introduce their line of hose.

The greting below the north window on George street was taken out and the hose inserted, but still the fire was considered dangerous and a fireman rushed through the thick smoke, and with the assistance of several others soon had the valuable contents of the window taken out. With the aid of an axe the flooring in the window was then chopped out and a stream of water brought to bear on the flames below. The boards when taken out were burned almost through, and their removal no doubt prevented much damage being done.

The general theory of the origin of the fire was that it was caused by a defective electric wire, but many thought that a lighted match or a burning cigar had been dropped through the grating outside, thereby igniting a quantity of shavings that lay beneath. But, as one of the firemen declared last night, several of the electric wires were bare, so that, this was undoubtedly the real cause of the blaze.

"I'd like to know who put in those wires," remarked a prominent citizen, as he looked at the suspicious wires, "They were put in wrongly, and not properly attached." And such was the opinion of many who inspected them.

On being interviewed by the Times, Mr. LeBrun, who did not arrive till the fire was under control, remarked that he could hardly form an estimate of the amount of damage done. "The contents of that one window alone were valued at $200," he remarked. "And where you have a stock of $15,000, there will be much damage done through the smoke."

On being asked if $500 would cover the damage, Mr. LeBrun was inclined to think it would, but could not state anything definite.

PROTEST AGAINST TERMS OF TREATY

Residents of Newfoundland French Shore Alarmed

TERMINATION OF FISHING

Clause Compels it to End by October Each Year—Discussed in Legislature

St. John's, Nfld., April 21—The residents of the French shore are taking alarm over the disputed clause of the new Anglo-French colonial treaty under which British and French fishermen would be compelled to terminate their operations by Oct. 20 each year, and are telegraphing protests against it to the Colonial Government.

The matter was further discussed in the Legislature Tuesday, when the Government was pressed for information. The Premier, Mr. Bond, said the Ministry was still negotiating with the Imperial Cabinet, and that no announcement would be possible until the negotiations were completed.

Meanwhile, the Premier promised that the Legislature, which it was intended should close next Thursday, would be kept open until the whole matter was finally settled, so that all information received could be presented for its action.

The Colonial Government is determined to enforce the Bait Act, and yesterday despatched the cruiser Fiona to resume the annual fishery patrol opposite St. Pierre.

RUSSIANS TIRE OF WAR

Serious Demonstrations Against It in center of Industrial Population

Vienna, April 20.—Serious demonstrations against the war have occurred in Kharhoff, the centre of the densest industrial population of Russia. All the schools and colleges have been closed pending the return of tranquility. This news, together with that of the naval losses in the far east, and the Russian admissions concerning the enormous cost of the war, causes the internal situation in Russia to be regarded with anxiety here.

A Good Story

A young Peterborough chap tells a good story about the Canadian troops when they were in the old country. He says: "There were a number of us Canadians in the convalescent hospital in England and expecting a well known officer to visit us, we had decided to try to secure better treatment, by telling him a few yarns about our position in Canada. Well, he came along, and, stopping at one fellow's bed, he inquired what he was when he was in Canada. The soldier replied he was a lawyer. Another said he was editor of a paper. The officer passed on, and getting similar answers from the majority, looked astonished, and, coming to the bed of an Australian said: "Well, my man, what is your vocation?" The man looked around at the others and quietly replied: "Horse thief."

Funeral of Mr. Foley

The funeral of the late Francis Foley, who passed away on Tuesday, was held at nine o'clock yesterday morning, and the services were conducted by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which deceased was a much respected member. About forty members of the order were present, and the county president, Mr. Joseph Mahes, acted as marshal. Rev Father John O'Brien celebrated the funeral mass at St. Peter's cathedral, and the interment took place in Douro cemetery. The pall bearers were, Messrs. P. O'Brien, J. Torpey, H. Gainey, S. Angiesye, J. Henry and R. Torpey, all members of the Hibernian Order. The funeral was held from the residence of deceased late brother-in-law, Mr. D. Henry, of 21 Park street.

A Peculiar Fire Mystery

Among the cases that came before the Quarter Sessions in December last was one against Mr. A. Northey, baker, Fenelon Falls. It was brought by a lady named Smith, who got damages against the owner of the cow that frightened her. During the past few weeks Mr. Northey has lost a horse and the cow by some mysterious illness and a second horse is now ill.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but like wise all the complications, such as rheumatism bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interests of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply:

Dr. S. Goldberg, 398 Woodward Ave., Room Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

WARSAW.

Well, Mr. Editor, here is the balmy spring at last and with it a great consignment of spring poetry. Some of our local poets handed me the following:

"In the spring, and in the spring,
Ting-a-ling and ting-a-ling,
In the spring I feel I must Either poetize or bust!"

Again the following sonnet:

"If this be spring in Dummer
It surely is a bummer,
For the snow doth lie four inches deep,
And the violets are sound asleep.
The farmer, his wife and hired man
Take from the maple what sugar they can.
In the woods the sap is runnin',
While in the hives the bees are hummin'.
The robin and the chick-a-dee
Rejoice and sing of liberty.
Loud from its neighboring channel
The deep voiced Indian River
Roars, and in accents of sorrow
Answers the wail of the silent sawmill."

This outburst is dedicated to the shade of H. W. Longfellow. And lastly but not least comes this short selection:

"Tell me ye whispering winds
What time the bees shall lay?
Tell me ye whispering winds
What shall be the price of hay?
Tell me these things and tell me true
And O! ye whispering winds
I'll be much obliged to you."

Mr. Reg. G. Hendren, who has been recently overhauling his stock of valises, gent's furnishings, etc., was very uneasy on Saturday as he surveyed the roaring cataracts above his place of business. He was not anxious to have his shop carried to Trenton by the new Trent Valley canal route, as competition in his business is keen there. Being worried over this he lost his sleep and consumed five bottles of Peruna.

Your correspondent received a complimentary ticket for the grand opening of the Warsaw egg plant. Accepting with great pleasure he composed the following:

"He showed to me a new machine
For turning eggs to chickens;
A labor saving hennery—
Which beats the very Dickens."

The new blacksmith is reported to have arrived and is looking for a house and shop. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mr. Dennis Delaney met with a painful accident on Saturday. He sustained a severe fracture of the right leg and will be laid up for some time under the doctor's care. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Charles Gow presented your correspondent with a beautiful boquet of orchids on Saturday. He states that it is summer out east. He now drives a cool black race horse and is quite popular with the ladies.

There is probably no remedy that soothes the nerves and drives away those long nights of wakefulness like Ferrozone. Every person whose sleep is restless should take Ferrozone like Mr. J. H. McGaw, who writes from Saskatoon as follows:

"I was bothered with insomnia last summer to such an extent that my health almost broke down. I was frightfully nervous. If it had gone on much longer I would have been a physical wreck. I read about Ferrozone, and concluded it was the sort of remedy needed. I bought six boxes, and took one tablet with every meal. A change was at once noticeable. I no longer labored under such great mental excitement, and was able to take things more quietly. Ferrozone improved my digestion, I picked up in spirits and strength, and in a comparatively short time sleep came the minute my head touched the pillow. Ferrozone completely rehabilitated my system, and has made me a different sort of man altogether."

AN EXCELLENT COMPANY

The La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company Has Bright Prospects

The capitalists of the world, principally of America, are never slow in grasping the opportunities that present themselves in the wonderful gold producing country of Mexico which, it is predicted will produce more gold in the year 1904 than any other country in the world has ever produced. This opportunity is not to be classed alongside of all mining propositions, but according to the daily reports published in the Mexican papers, the opportunity of the investor to invest is now. The two rich mining camps, El Oro and Tlalpujahua are known the world over as two of the greatest mining camps that have ever been discovered in the history of gold mining. One of these mines is at present shipping ore daily valued as high as $5,000 to the ton. This excellent mine is situated in the same camps as the "La Alexandria," the rich property of the La Alexandria Gold Mining and Smelting Company, of Mexico.

This progressive company was incorporated under the laws of Arizona for five hundred thousand dollars, divided into 500,000 shares, par value $1.00 each, and only 250,000 shares of the capital stock will be sold for the working of the property. The second allotment of stock is offered as per price list, with a guarantee to find a purchaser when offered for sale by stockholders at $1.00 a share, after one year from date of purchase. This stock will be increased in price soon.

Samples of ore just as it comes out of the mine will be forwarded to any stockholder on application, and weekly bulletins are issued to stockholders, which are not only interesting, but also great educators, as they will keep investors posted on the doings and movements of the greatest financiers in Mexico.

The mineral belt in which "La Alexandria" is located is one of the largest in the world, and according to expert computations, it has a width of six miles and a length of eight miles. In this remarkable belt veins occur every fifty or one hundred feet and there are no barren veins. All the veins carry gold and are continuous, and although there are chutes and chimneys in the veins of high grade ores, the veins throughout this entire extent are auriferous. According to the opinion of experts there are fourteen veins, as large and as rich as those which are now exciting the mining world.

The La Alexandria claim consists of 190 1-2 acres, as originally secured from the government, and the assay of this property runs as high as $350 to the ton in gold, while the amount of silver runs at about $3.67 per ton. The working of the claims in Mexico is very cheap, as natives are secured at as low as 75 cents per day, Mexican money. This, of course, makes mining in this southern country a more profitable operation in comparison, with any other gold producing country in the world. Some mines have produced as high as $5,000 to the ton, gold and no better opportunity is offered to intending investors to-day, than that of the La Alexandria Company. Fuller particulars may be obtained on application to Thos. Patterson & Co., Peterborough, the local fiscal agents of this promising company.

High Class Investment

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN.

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

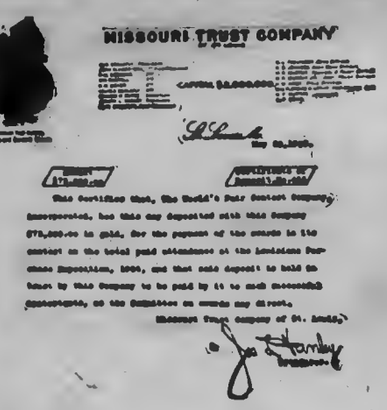
Since mailing this deposit of $75,000.00 the World's Fair Contest Co., which is incorporated for $200,000, has offered an additional supplementary prize of $5,500.00 to be paid on orders sent in before May 1, 1904. This makes a grand total of $80,500.00 to be given to successful contestants. This extra prize is a fortune within itself.



HOW WE ARE ABLE SO MAKE THIS REMARKABLE OFFER.—We have made a special arrangement with the World's Fair Contest Co. to give, FREE OF ALL CHARGE, one Certificate and Coupon entitling you to chances in the prizes of $75,000, and the handsome extra prize of $5,500 to every reader of this advertisement who sends us $1 00 for his or her subscription before May 1st, 1904. It doesn't matter whether you have ever been a subscriber or not, the opportunity is open to every one.

The Contest Co. will sell only a limited number of Certificates and Coupons thereby strengthening the chances of each contestant. Large orders are coming in rapidly and it is only a question of time until the limit will be reached, and supply exhausted. You should therefore send in your order at once.

WE DO NOT ASK YOU TO ESTIMATE NOW.—You receive the blank Certificates with duplicate coupons attached, and we allow you the privilege of filling in your own estimates on the Certificates and Coupons when never you are ready, and of returning the coupons to us at any time before October 15th, 1904. You will then know the daily attendance up to that day, and are enabled to more intelligently base your estimates for the entire fair.

WE DATE YOUR CERTIFICATES ON THE DAY YOU BUY THEM.—Your Coupons will be considered in the awarding of prizes according to the dates they bear. You understand, therefore, that those who do not order before May 1st, 1904 will have absolutely no chance whatever in the handsome extra prize of $5,500. This prize alone is a fortune in itself, and even if you should happen to miss it your coupon will still entitle you to chances to win one or more of the other 1849 prizes shown above.

No items can have too much good reading. When you can supply this at a nominal cost, and at the same time enjoy the opportunity to gain a fortune which may mean your independence for life, it is certainly to your interest and your family's, to take advantage of the opportunity as quickly as possible. This is a remarkable offer and may last only a short time. Don't lay this aside intending to write to-morrow. Do it TO DAY. Address

Times Printing Co., Peterborough, Ont.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Bear in mind THAT YOU HOLD YOUR OWN CERTIFICATES and Coupons and that you do not have to make your estimates until the very last day of the Contest if you so desire. Remember also that April 30th is the last day that you can buy certificates and coupons to get chances in the extra prize of $5,500 00. This contest is an open contest and may be competed in absolutely without restriction further than by complying with the terms of the contest by making the estimate and purchasing or otherwise securing a certificate, entitling you to make the estimate. Absolutely no restrictions are placed upon any one in the world who wishes to compete in this contest, regardless of whether they are a subscriber or intending subscriber, as it is intended as a great National Contest.

GERMANY TO KIND TO RUSSIA

The Socialists of Germany Warm Resen Government's Action

THE SALE OF CRUISERS

Her Rebel Declares Neutrality of Empire is Violated--Ships Intended for Use in the Far

St. Petersburg, April 21. — There are now only two undamaged battle ships, the Peresviet and the Sevastopol, in the harbor at Port Arthur. Some of the damaged vessels have been repaired, although their exact number and condition are not known. The other effectives are the armored cruiser Bayan, the first class cruisers Askold and Diana, the second class cruiser Novik, the torpedo gunboats Vsadnik and Gaydamak, the gunboats Gremiashchi, Otvashni, Gilyak and Bobr, the cruisers Dijdjit, Razboynik and Zabiaka and the torpedo boat destroyers, whose exact number is not known.

Altogether ten Russian vessels have been damaged or lost since the outbreak of the war.

Hope Lies With the Army.

The disaster of Wednesday ends the hope that the ill-fated Port Arthur squadron would be able to become an aggressive factor in the operations before it is reinforced by the arrival of the Baltic fleet. Until then the aim of the Russians will be to hold Port Arthur and conserve the remaining ships within the protection of its guns. Temporarily the least faith in successes at sea died with Admiral Makaroff, and the Russian people now look to the army, in which they have implicit confidence to retrieve all and the reverses and distress suffered on the water.

As a result of this depressing influence produced by the loss of the Petropavlovsk some pessimism is manifested, and in consequence all kinds of wild talk are heard. This is not strange, considering the fatalism inherent in the Russian character. As an example, the spectre of foreign complications has appeared.

It is said that the Petropavlovsk was blown up by a submarine boat furnished to Japan by Great Britain, which, of course, would mean war with Great Britain. In furtherance of this idea it is pointed out that the British parliament has granted permission for Indian troops to cross the frontier of Thibet, which naturally means only that Great Britain is preparing to aid her ally by advancing upon Central Asia.

Expect Change of Fortune.

But such talk finds no echo in responsible quarters, where, indeed, it is remarkable how calm and confident the officials are that a change of fortune will take place as soon as the land operations have begun in earnest. Prevailing belief is that the Japanese will take advantage of the situation to push matters and make a renewed attack on Port Arthur, with the object of sealing the entrance to the port, or, considering the Russian fleet to be practically immobilized by its inferiority, proceed with landing troops at the head of the gulf of Liao-Tung. It would not be surprising if the Japanese attempted to invest the fortress of Port Arthur by land.

The latest reports are to the effect that the Japanese fleet is still in sight from Golden Hill.

General Kouropatkin is concentrating his second line of defense between Mookden and Liao-Yang. He will have 120 000 men there by April 24.

PRESIDENT POWERS SPEAKS

Concerning the Advantages of the Port Hope Canal Route

The following interesting extract is taken from an address by Dr. L. B. Powers, President of the Port Hope Canal Association.

Mr. Rogers estimates the cost of buying and fitting up Port Hope harbor to meet the requirements of an outlet for the canal at $300,000. He never made any enquiry about the matter, for $100,000 at the outside would buy and equip the harbor. The harbor is in first class shape. It is the best harbor on the Ontario shore between Toronto and Kingston, and the chances are if the canal came here the Harbor Board would give the government the harbor. Rogers has persistently over-estimated our route and under-estimated the Trenton route. Why, in one item alone in the Frankford-Trenton section estimate, Rogers left out cement, a $400,000 item. That shows you the unreliability of his figures and the character of the efforts made to maintain the original route intact. Even after over-estimating the cost of the Port Hope route the first time, Rogers was not content, but upon his second survey advanced it outrageously.

The original estimate of the cost of an 8-foot canal over the Trent River route is just over $5,000,000. Roger's first estimate of the Port Hope route was $2,100,000. In his second the estimate jumped to $3,674,000, with $1,950,000 extras, a aggregate attempt. Port Hope men say to bring the cost equal to that of the 58 1-2-mile Trenton route. A local estimate of the cost of the Port Hope route is $1,116,000.

"What we want is an unbiased survey," say the officers of the Port Hope Association. "If an unprejudiced man of ability will say that our route is not the better one in every way, we will accept the verdict and turn in and help Peterborough and Trenton force on the completion of the canal by the original route. Surely that is an eminently fair position."

TURF.

The Peterborough Turf club is making extensive preparations for a grand celebration on Victoria Day. Several baseball and football games will be played and an interesting part of the programme will be carters' and hackmen's races.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 7-30-03.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,
DENNIS A. BURKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz., July 30th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz, 7-31-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock.

The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gorgon, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Petrel, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rochefeller, developing well to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $15 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $300,000 with shares at $1 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary, and C. Burrows, home office in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $300,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $210,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a payable basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres under old with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6½ feet thick, each. The first one at a depth of 20 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 320 feet and the third at 965 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we reach and mine, making our shafts total depth 965 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 300 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 75c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and town people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.50 to $3.50 for Mine Run and $3.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $300 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $3000 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $3 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends to do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

country guesses, whispered of Hagar, who was present, and true when she remembered that to poor girl" Hester a mother's blessing would never be given, she felt that her load of guilt was greater than she could bear. "She will perhaps forgive me if I confess it to her over Miss Margaret's coffin," she thought and once when they stood together by the sleeping dead, and Madam Conway, with Maggie in her arms was bidding the child kiss the clay-cold lips of its mother, old Hagar attempted to tell her. "Could you bear Miss Margaret's death as well," she said, "if Maggie, instead of being bright and playful as she is, were weak and sick, like Hester?" and her eyes fastened themselves upon Madam Conway with an agonizing intensity which that lady could not fathom. "Say, would you bear it as well—could you love her as much—would you change with me, take Hester for your own, and give me little Maggie?" she persisted, and Madam Conway, surprised at her excited manner, which she attributed in a measure to envy, answered coldly: "Of course not. Still, if God had seen fit to give me a child like Hester, I should try to be reconciled, but I am thankful He has not thus dealt with me."

"Is enough. I am satisfied," thought Hagar. "She would not thank me for telling her. The secret shall be kept" and half exultingly she anticipated the pride she should feel in seeing her, granddaughter grown up a lady, and an heiress.

Anon, however, there came stealing over her a feeling of remorse, as she reflected that the child defrauded of its birthright would, if it lived, be compelled to serve in the capacity of a servant, and many a night, when all else was silent in the old stone house, she paced up and down the room, her long hair, now fast turning gray, falling over her shoulders, and her large eyes dimmed with tears, as she thought what the future would bring to the infant she carried in her arms. But the evil she so much dreaded never came, for when the winter snows were again falling they made a little grave beneath the same pine tree where Hester Hamilton lay sleeping, and while they dug that grave old Hagar sat with folded arms and tearless eyes, gazing fixedly upon the still, white face, and thin, blue lips, which would never again be distorted with pain. Her habit of talking to herself had returned, and as she sat there she would at intervals whisper. "Poor little babe! I would willingly have cared for you all my life, but I am glad you are gone to Miss Margaret, who, it may be, will wonder what little thin-faced angel is calling her mother! But somebody'll introduce you, somebody'll tell her who you are, and when she knows how proud her mother is of Maggie she'll forgive old Hagar Warren!"

"Gone stark mad!" was the report carried by the servants to their mistress, who believed the story, when Hagar herself came to her with the request that Hester might be buried in some of Maggie's clothes.

Touched with pity by her worn, haggard face, Madam Conway answered: "Yes, take some of her common ones," and choosing the cambric robe which Hester had worn on the morning when the exchange was made, Hagar dressed the body for the grave. When, at last, everything was ready and the tiny coffin stood upon the table, Madam Conway drew near, and looked for a moment on the emaciated form which rested quietly from all its pain. Hovering at her side was Hagar, and feeling it her duty to say a word of comfort, the stately lady remarked that "'twas best the babe should die, that were it her grandchild, she should feel relieved, for, had it lived, it would undoubtedly have been physically and intellectually feeble."

"Thank you! I am considerably comforted," was the cool reply of Hagar, who felt how cruel were the words, and for a moment was strongly tempted to claim the beautiful Maggie as her own, and give back to the cold, proud woman the senseless clay on which she looked so calmly.

But love for her grandchild conquered. There was nothing in the way of her advancement now, and when at the grave she knelt her down to weep, as the bystanders thought, over her dead, she was breathing there a vow that never so long as she lived should the secret of Maggie's birth be given to the world, unless some circumstance then unforeseen should make it absolutely and unavoidably necessary. To see Maggie grow up into a beautiful, refined and cultivated woman was now the great object of Hagar's life, and fearing lest by some inadvertent word or action the secret should be disclosed, she wished to live by herself, where naught but the winds of heaven could listen to her incoherent whisperings, which made her fellow-servants accuse her of insanity.

Down in the deepest shadow of the woods, and distant from the old stone house nearly a mile, was a half-ruined cottage which, years before had been occupied by miners, who had dug in the hillside for particles of yellow ore, which they fancied to be gold. Long and frequent were the night revels said to have been held in the old hut, which had at last fallen into bad repute and been for years deserted. To one like Hagar, however, there was nothing intimidating in its cracking old floors, its rattling windows and somsome chimney, where the bats and the swallows built their nests, and when one day Madam Conway proposed giving little Maggie into the charge of a younger and less nervous person than herself, she made no objection, but surprised her mistress by asking permission to live by herself in the "cottage by the mine," as it was called.

"It is better for me to be alone," said she, "for I may do something terrible if I stay here, something I would sooner die than do," and her eyes fell upon Maggie sleeping in her cradle.

This satisfied Madam Conway that the half-crazed woman meditated harm to her favorite grandchild, and she consented readily to her removal to the cottage, which by her orders was made comparatively comfortable. For several weeks, when she came, as she did each day, to the house Madam Conway kept Maggie carefully from her sight, until at last she begged so hard to see her that her wish was gratified, and as she manifested no disposition whatever to molest the child, Madam Conway's fears gradually subsided, and Hagar was permitted to fondle and caress her as often as she chose.

Here, now, for a time, we leave them, Hagar in her cottage by the mine, Madam Conway in her gloomy home, Maggie in her nurse's arms, and Theo, of whom as yet but little has been said, playing on the nursery floor, while with our readers we pass silently over a period of time which shall bring us to Maggie's girlhood.

CHAPTER IV.

Fifteen years have passed away, and around the old stone house there is outwardly no change. The moss still clings to the damp, dark wall, just as it clung there long ago, while the swaying branches of the forest trees still cast their shadows across the floor, or scream to the autumn blast, just as they did in years gone

BUSY TIMES AT ST. PETERSBURG

Preparing an Ironclad Train For the Czar's Special Use

CZARINA REBUKES WOMEN

Royal Gossipers are Sharply Told to Work With their Needles

St. Petersburg, April 20.—An ironclad train is being built for the Czar to take him to the far east if he should decide to head the army. The train will consist of a summer and winter palace car home, sleeping quarters for 300 men and stables for a hundred horses. The difficulty is combining safety with a minimum weight. The rails of the Siberian road are not heavy enough for ironclad trains, such as the English used in South Africa.

The war minister is considering the advisability of providing ironclad trains for the army in Manchuria. Their necessity is argued, owing to the uncertain attitude of China. It is reported that the Czar favors purchase of armor in the United States once because he thinks thereby to win good opinions from Americans, and again because he has no faith in Russian purveyors, whose dishonesty makes the army suffer, as repeatedly pointed out in these dispatches.

Making the rounds of the palaces in the winter palace, where 2,000 women of the aristocracy assemble daily between 1 and 6 to sew for the soldiers, the Czarina noticed several times that a number of women concerned themselves more about chatting than about the work in hand. She gave them warning by the mistress of the robes, once or twice, but when they did not heed her, called them up the other morning, and addressing each by her Christian name said sharply: "You were asked to come here to work with your needle, not with your tongue, and you will please do so or make room for ladies willing to do their duty."

The gossipers, shame facedly, threw themselves at Her Majesty's feet and promised to be good.

The Czarina, despite ill health, is one of the hardest needle workers. She has installed herself in a small alcove, allowing her the general supervision of the women. The stuff worked over for the benefit of the soldiers, is furnished by charitable persons, but a great part of it was bought by the Empress herself. She was, therefore, angered and chagrined when she learned that a number of the aristocratic women were in the habit of taking yards of linen and cloth home "to finish there," but forgot to bring back the ready garments. The Czarina thereupon ordered that those who take stuffs home must give their names and addresses and all will be held strictly responsible for the value of the goods taken.

Odessa, April 20.—The city is filled with out of works, as factories are closing all around, and those kept going reduced their staffs from 50 to 80 per cent. Wages have gone down and the price of bread has gone up.

The dread spectre of hunger is stalking about in the poor quarters, and several cases of hunger typhus are reported daily.

Vienna, April 20.—Two hundred and forty young Russians, deserters from the Czar's army, crossed into Galica. They are bound for the United States. Most of them had sufficient money.

Berlin, April 20.—The Corean embassy finds it hard work to live on tick, as Berlin tradesmen cannot be persuaded that His Majesty of Corea will resume the payment of salaries in the near future. Secretary of Legation Hong experienced greater difficulties since the beginning of the war, than even his chief, because he had an expensive soubrette attached to him. Without money or credit, he committed suicide, leaving a letter wherein he invited the actress "to follow him to a better world."

Secretary-Treasurer Wanted

Applications will be received by the undersigned up to April 23rd, instant, for the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the Central Milling Company, Peterborough. None but experienced accountants need apply. D. Carlaw Warkworth.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 196 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years on a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certain to others, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Full information will be supplied on application to Mr. Roland Kidd, Fiscal Agent La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two Agent for Ontario, or to.

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sampter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. sraft. At the 100 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in lenses of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact, that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out of collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day. one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The Monarch Consolidated Gold & Copper Mining and Smelting Company

of BOULDER, COLORADO

Solicits the co-operation of reputable men in providing means for the thorough and rapid development of two large gold and copper mining estates, which are owned to mean in intrinsic value, and to that end extends every opportunity for determination as to whether statements made by the company are true or false.

The proposition when developed will pay no less than 50 per cent. per annum on the investment, and it behooves anyone who wishes to better his financial condition, to give immediate attention to this.

Full particulars in every detail will be given to all to whom such a proposition may appeal, but please do not ask for these unless you really are interested, because we waste your own time and ours also.

Capital $1,000,000, 500,000 Shares in Treasury

Property includes two great mining estates—one gold, the other copper—both containing wide, deep, proven veins of high and low grade ore.

Development work has been systematically carried on, with results that more than [illegible] claim made by the company, and unquestionably proves the destiny of property to equal that of the greatest successful mining companies of the world.

Above Statement Can be Easily Verified

The following two facts alone will give anyone familiar with mining a rough idea of the great value of the property.

The Copper King Group contains one vein 20 feet wide, 5 feet of which runs from $10 to $160 per ton, and the Company owns 2 000 feet on this vein.

One running from $15 to $60 per ton is continually being shipped from the gold party, and 21 samples taken from widely different portions of the vein system averaged $26.25 per ton.

RUSSIANS ONLY HOPE IN ARMY

The Country Greatly Depressed by Disasters to Navy

NOW LOOK TO LAND FORCES

The Whole Russian Nation is Humbled as it Never Was before

Berlin, April 29.—The socialists of Germany bitterly resent the German government's manifestations of friendliness toward Russia, and that feeling found vent to-day in an attack by Herr Bebel, socialist leader in the Reichstag, on the ministry for permitting the sale of the auxiliary cruisers to Russia, Herr Bebel declaring that the government had violated its neutrality.

The socialists, declared Herr Bebel, did not object to Chancellor Von Bulow's declaration of neutrality and the localization of the war in the far east, but German's neutrality was not above doubt. He referred to the Hamburg-American Steamship Company's sale of the steamer Furst Bismarck to a Russian company, and asked whether the foreign office permitted the sale, as he assumed was the case, since the directors of the company were cautious men, who would not conjure up a conflict with the German government. The steamer was an auxiliary cruiser of the German navy at the time of the outbreak of the war, hence her sale was all the more astonishing.

Herr Bebel added that it was also asserted that the German steamer Kaiser Friedrich had been sold to Russia. Such sales, however, can only accomplish indirectly the reenforcement of the Russian navy.

"We," said Herr Bebel, "must energetically protest against such a procedure. The world is filled with tinder material. One spark can set the world ablaze. I therefore ask the chancellor what he thinks of these sales and the resulting damage to Japan and the advantage to Russia."

Similar Instance in Boer War.

"During the Boer war," Herr Bebel continued, "an English firm placed large orders for Krupp shells, but the German government finally, after the fact could no longer be denied, took energetic measures to prevent the order being filled. The present case is precisely similar. The sale of the German ships is doubly objectionable, as rumors are circulating of a forthcoming bill to increase the strength of the German navy."

The socialist leader dilated on the recent expulsion of Mandelstamms Silberbaums and other Russian students from Germany for the offense which the Minister of the Interior had characterized as "childishness."

Chancellor Von Bulow in reply, expressed his pleasure at the fact that Herr Bebel had solemnly declared that Germany must not take sides with either party engaged in the war, but he was sorry to observe that the socialist press took sides against Russia in the most partisan manner, trying unwarrantably to embroil Germany with Russia.

So far as the neutralization of China was concerned, the chancellor continued, Japan had declared herself in favor thereof, "and," added Von Bulow, "I must beg Herr Bebel not to be more Japanese than Japan herself."

Scott Was Rated as a Dunce.

As a boy Walter Scott gave few indications of his coming greatness and was described by one of his early preceptors as "the boy that has the thickest skull in the school." Afterward at Edinburgh university the future "wizard" was thus optimised by one of the leading professors: "Dunce he is, and dunce he will remain."

Seldom Saw Him.

Nell—She said she had to marry him to get rid of him. Belle—And how did it work? Nell—Splendidly. You see he belongs to six clubs.

If the world would only give a man credit while he is doing things there would be more incentive to those who hustle.

Vienna, April 29.—Two hundred and forty young Russians, deserters from the Czar's army, crossed into Galica. They are bound for the United States. Most of them had sufficient money.

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100 00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 500,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property,

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

You Take It Mixed With Air

A Powerful Destroyer of Disease Germs Which Cures Every Type of Catarrh Bronchitis and Throat Trouble.

Ever since Adam the air of the Pine woods has been known to possess marvellous healing properties. In fact doctors claim that people living in the balsamic atmosphere of the woods never contract consumption or catarrh.

A new remedy that embraces all the healing curative powers of the pine woods has at last been realized. It contains the balsams, the ozone and many other antiseptics that make it an absolute cure for all catarrhal diseases.

For years doctors have been looking for just such a remedy and claim the newly discovered Catarrhozone is the most effectual, the most scientific cure for catarrh, bronchitis and winter ills, they have ever met.

So powerfully healing is Catarrhozone that simple colds in the head and coughs can be cured in less than an hour. Chronic catarrh is eradicated from the system in the most thorough manner. It doesn't matter whether the catarrh affects the nose, throat or stomach, it can be completely driven from the system by using fragrant healing Catarrhozone.

The remotest parts of the lungs and air passages often contain germs of catarrh and consumption which cannot be reached by ordinary treatments. But the searching vapor of Catarrhozone carries its antiseptic healing power direct to those isolated spots. So thoroughly does Catarrhozone reach all diseased surfaces that it cures for all time, and no relapse need ever be feared.

"My nose was so stuffed up from catarrh that I could not breathe except through my mouth," writes John D. Perkins, a well known merchant in Hamburg. "My breath was horribly offensive and my digestion was completely knocked out. I used Catarrhozone and was cured in two weeks. I wouldn't take five thousand dollars for the benefit and good health I received from Catarrhozone which I can recommend as a certain, absolute cure for catarrh."

Two months treatment costs $1.00; sample size, 25c. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont. Catarrhozone always cures—refuse a substitute, and insist on getting Catarrhozone when you ask for it.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, among which was noticed a floral anchor design from the County Council. The Canadian Order of Foresters, of which deceased was a member, also sent a beautiful wreath.

Owing to the short notice received many of the County Councillors and intimate friends of deceased were unable to be in attendance at the funeral.

THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

By some people, it is said, who profess to have looked into the matter, that the beet sugar industry cannot be made a success in this country, owing to the competition of the cane sugar. Now, the fact is, there never was a time, when the beet sugar did not have the opposition of the cane and that too, when the sugar cane had the unquestioned advantage of being first in the field.

In 1840, 95 per cent. of the world's sugar was made from the cane, now scarcely 30 per cent. comes from that source; while over seventy per cent. of the total supply, is made from the beet.

Germany alone produces 2,000,000 tons each year entirely from the beet.

Austria 1,125,000 tons.

France stands third among the sugar producing countries, with a production of 1,000,000 tons. Russia ranks fourth in the industry to the extent of 900,000 tons.

Of the cane sugar, 723,000 tons is produced by Java, and Cuba turns out 400,000 tons. These facts need no comment. Our readers will have no trouble in coming to a correct conclusion.

The manufacture of sugar from the beet was commenced among the French and Germans, about one hundred years ago. Few indeed they were at that time, who had any faith in the promoters of the enterprise ever being able to make sugar in paying quantities out of the beet root, and the probability is, that the new industry would have been deeply buried in its infancy under the ridicule of its opponents, but for the interest taken in it by the French. For a short time it made rapid strides under the patronage of Napoleon. Owing to the unsettled state of the trade and commerce of that time, sugar was selling for $1.50 to $2.00 per pound.

The first beets from which sugar was extracted only yielded three per cent. of sugar. By improved cultivation of the roots, and improvement in the process of extracting the sugar from the juice, a beet of six per cent. quality was obtained about sixty-five years ago.

Germany at once took the lead in the manufacture of beet sugar, and has always retained it. She has now over four hundred factories in operation, and produces about two-fifths of the world's supply of sugar. At first the industry was nursed into successful existence by the government, but now it is paying over $32,000,000 annually in taxes to the state, and this sum is acknowledged to be nothing compared to the wealth it has brought in other ways to the state.

Seventy years ago the first attempt to extract sugar from the beet was made in the United States, but it failed eight years later. It again failed after getting about 1,300 lbs. from a quantity of beets. Nothing further was done till 1863, when a sugar factory was started in Illinois but after a year or two of unsatisfactory work it closed and the plant was moved to Wisconsin, where after a short time it, too, became a thing of the past.

The next thing we hear of the industry is the establishment of a small factory at Fon-du-Lac, Wisconsin, by two Germans. This factory proved successful, and for a few years was an object of considerable attention among the general public. Finally a company was organized, and removed the plant to California, where it has been in successful operation at Alverado ever since. As soon as the fact was established by the operations of this company, that sugar could be successfully and profitably made from the beet root, three more factories were put in operation, and the government of the United States passed laws to foster and protect the beet sugar.

There are present forty-eight factories in successful operation, with a total daily capacity of 36,550 tons, and yet we are told that the output of sugar by all these factories has not yet overtaken the increase in the consumption of that article. In other words the United States still imports as much sugar as they did before the erection of these factories.

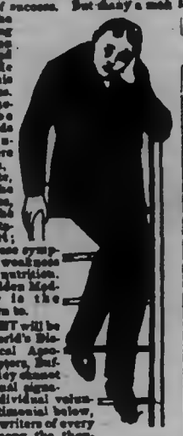
AT THE TOP.



It is a laudable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success.

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or pulpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and lack of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine to turn to.

"For about two years I suffered from a very distressing case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Record, Esq., of 71 Sudbury Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. WALLED SEOUL

The Ancient Capital of Korea and Some of Its Peculiarities.

Seoul, the capital of Chosen, is built amid a network of hills eighteen miles from the sea. It is an ancient walled city, fortified in the strongest way by smells that would drive any but an Asiatic army forthwith into the ocean. It is poor in appearance, but rich in fleas. On autumn nights tigers frequently contest the right of way with belated pedestrians, and this is the chief reason why one has the entire street to oneself in a moonlight stroll after 8 o'clock. Metaphorically, one can scarcely see the town for the bald, bulbous and bullet headed Buddhist priests who fatten on the superstition of the populace.

Barring an occasional court function, marked by street processions, Seoul is triumphantly devoid of sights interesting to a traveler. The streets lack entirely those picturesque characteristics of a Chinese or Japanese thoroughfare, and a vista across the Korean house tops is one of appalling monotony. One seeks in vain for attractive souvenirs. In the small shops of Seoul Japanese beer, matches, cigarettes and cheap crockery form the chief stock in trade, while long stemmed Korean pipes and metal banded Korean knives are offered in the most pretentious shops. Here, likewise, can be had the really unique Korean fans, made of silk or paper, finished in oil and covered with curious native designs. These fans are dipped in water before they are used, and the little breeze produced by them is astonishingly cool.

The wall surrounding Seoul, from which kites are ever flying, is but a pocket edition of the great Chinese wall that leads down to the sea at Shanhaikwan. Piercing this Korean copy are the city gates—picturesque passageways—which are promptly and irrevocably closed with the setting of the sun. The west gate will be entered by the tourist on reaching the capital from Chemulpo, and should he come to the outside of this but a minute after the sun has disappeared behind the horizon and the "big bell" has boomed its mournful warning note he is elected to camp in the open until Phoebus has cycled the world on the equatorial path. If he reaches the gate five minutes before it closes on its groaning hinges he will witness a sight that will almost repay him for the toilsome trip up from the coast.

PITH AND POINT.

Duty is always divine.

WM. ARMSTRONG COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

MUCH INTERESTING AND CONVICTING EVIDENCE

Prisoner Claims to be Qualified Employment Agent—Will Letters that He Never Received.

The Police Court was crowded again yesterday, when the case against William S. Armstrong, alias Bradley, alias Steele, was again brought up. Many important witnesses were called, and the evidence was of a most interesting nature throughout. The information had been again amended and in the final charge Armstrong was charged by one Thomas Hennessy with having fraudulently deprived him of the sum of $5, on March 30th of the present year. Complainant had replied too an advertisement which appeared in the Mail and Empire. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, but did not elect as to his trial.

John P. Patterson, an employe in the advertising department of the Mail and Empire, who testified that the advertisement received from Armstrong, had been handed to the General Manager, Mr. W. J. Douglas, who wrote to Armstrong for credentials. The prisoner had replied to the effect that he was in the employ of the Westinghouse firm, and the "ad" was then inserted for six consecutive days, commencing March 26th.

Mr. W. Pringle, Principal of the Peterborough Business College, was called to give evidence concerning several samples of handwriting. He had examined the various signatures in the Postoffice registered letter book, and had found them to be the work of the same person. This evidence was objected by Mr. O'Connell and His Worship noted the objection.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, business manager of the Review, was then called. He testified that the prisoner had come to his office on March 24th last, and ordered 100 "engagement" cards.

Then came the most important witness of the trial, Detective Parkinson, of the Dominion Police Force. He stated that he came to Peterborough on March 27th, and his first view of the prisoner was on Monday the 28th, when he saw him in the Postoffice. He had signed for a registered letter, and on leaving, the detective followed him to the Cavanagh House. On Wednesday, March 30th, he arrested the prisoner on Hunter street, in front of the Postoffice. He asked the prisoner several questions, upon taking him back into the office, and of course the prisoner was warned that anything he might say would be used as evidence against him. Armstrong stated to him that he was a traveller for machinery and resided in Pittsburg, but he would not say what he represented. Witness then demanded the letter Armstrong had just signed for, and also any other letters on his person. This registered letter was from Thos. Hodgson, of 69 Mutual street, Toronto, and contained a $5 bill. Another letter from Libby Jackson, a "tall and dark, expert stenographer," of Gananoque. An answer to this letter was found on the prisoner, who concluded by writing "if you are as tall and handsome as you state, I shall keep you for myself."

Mr. E. F. Codd, Business Manager of the Ottawa Citizen, testified to having had correspondence with the prisoner. This correspondence was presented, but Mr. O'Connell objected to it as not evidence. Armstrong had advertised in the issue of March 21st and on the four following days. One of the letters received at Ottawa bore the signature W. E. Armstrong and the other Wm. Armstrong. Witness had never had any other communication with the prisoner. The first insertion did not have the box number on it, hence the additional insertion.

Mr. Corbary, of the local post office staff was the next witness called. He saw prisoner for the first time a few days before his arrest. He had cashed a postal note for him, for the sum of $5.60. The next time he saw prisoner was at the time of his arrest in the post office. He identified the prisoner as the man who attached his signature to the delivery book. There were 217 ordinary letters and 5 registered letters for Wm. E. Armstrong, that were not delivered, and these were shown in court. There were also nine packages of papers that had been forwarded from Lindsay, seven of which were addressed to Armstrong and the other two to J. S. Steele. Several of the letters were opened by witness with the permission of the court. Some contained photos of young men and attractive young ladies. One was from the Toronto Globe, in which was enclosed $1.60, which had been sent that paper for the insertion of an advertisement. The Globe refused to accept it. Others of the letters opened had post office orders for the sum of five dollars, and some contained glowing accounts of the excellent qualities of the applicants. Mr. Corkery, on being cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell stated that there were from 50 to 100 registered letters on an average received at the office every day. His attention was especially attracted towards the prisoner, after his arrest. He had cashed a postal note for prisoner on one occasion previous to the arrest.

Postmaster Rogers was next called. He testified to having first seen the prisoner when he applied for a box. He rented him Box 848 for the balance of the year, for which prisoner paid him and received a receipt. During his conversation with Armstrong the latter had explained that he was about to open an employment agency here, and expected to be in receipt of a great quantity of mail. Witness saw him again on March 28th, when he received a registered letter. At that time Detective Parkinson had arrived and was looking for the prisoner. Armstrong was dressed like a workingman—not as well dressed as he was in court.

Mr. Robert Paler, Deputy Postmaster of Lindsay, identified the prisoner as one J. S. Steele, who had rented Box 117, from him in September last. He had seen him in the office three or four times and had also seen him at work in the G.T.R. round-house. There was also mail arriving for F. H. Bradley, but as it was addressed Box 117, Steele, of course received it. Prisoner had not at any time made any reference to Bradley. Later when Steele left Lindsay witness received an order to have all his and "his chum's" mail, forwarded to a lumber camp up north. He came back to Lindsay in March and paid another year's rental for the box. Mr. Parkinson took about 25 letters from Steele's box and a large number of papers had been sent to Peterborough. There are letters and papers still at Lindsay, addressed to Steele.

Mr. D. Lemay, of Toronto, a broker, and also a licensed employment agent, testified to having received from W. E. Armstrong an application for employment. It might be stated here that Mr. Lemay, when a young man, was employed in Postmaster Rogers's office here.

Mr. B. McKenna, of Ottawa, one of Armstrong's five dollar victims, took the stand next. He had seen the "ad" in the Ottawa Citizen, and thinking it bona fide had answered it. He received a receipt from Armstrong, and also instructions as to a preparatory course of study. "You will require to obtain a slight knowledge of electrical, steam and hydraulic work, and any school book on natural philosophy will give you this information," was an astonishing portion of his instructions. This produced a general smile throughout the court, and even the prisoner himself joined in. Witness had received word that Armstrong would meet him in Ottawa on April 12th to make final preparations for the trip to St. Louis. "I don't think you will be sent, as they want experienced men," remarked Mr. O'Connell, and the witness stepped down.

Mr. T. Cavanagh was the next witness. He had hired the prisoner under the name of Bradley to work in McArthur and Co's camp at Beaverstone. He had not seen him since until about two weeks before his arrest, when he came to board at the Cavanagh House. He had always been quiet and apparently industrious. Witness had understood that he was employed at the Edison Works.

The judge then thought sufficient evidence had been submitted to warrant a commital for trial. He inferred that the prisoner was evidently a swindler and a fakir. He was undoubtedly obtaining money under false pretences, and his advertisement did not appear to be bona fide.

Mr. O'Connell summed up the case, and made an excellent appeal against committal, but His Worship considered that the prisoner was simply "dealing with gullable people," and sent him up for trial.

Arrested at Orillia

For some time past License Inspector Short and several other constables have been trying to "nab" a fugitive from justice, who broke the liquor laws while keeping hotel at the village of Lorneville, in the person of Mr. McEachren. Somehow the latter always managed to get out of the way of the constables, but on Monday last Mr. A. Hyfield, the keeper of the peace at Kirkfield, cleverly and neatly captured the lawbreaker. Mr. H. entered a hotel in Orillia and saw his man standing in the bar room. Quietly walking up the room, he clapped the handcuffs on his man and brought him down to Lindsay, where he was handed over to Gaoler Jackson's care pending further proceedings. Mr. Hyfield is being congratulated on the clever capture of his man.—Lindsay Post.

DEPORTING THE JAPANESE FROM MANCHURIA

THE JAPANESE SMILE BLINDLY

Are Delighted to Hear That Alexieff is in Trouble

ALL QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR

No Confirmation of Report That Russian Force is at Penk Chyong

Tokio, April 23.—Japanese officials are smiling grimly over the report that Admiral Alexieff is about to make his exit from the Far Eastern stage. They treat the report cautiously, yet pronounce it probable. At the outset of the Russo-Japanese dispute Alexieff was regarded at Tokio as a sinister figure and aroused resentment by spanking cavalierly of the Japanese and bragging about the size and quality of the Russian fighting force in East Asia. Whenever he touched the delicate negotiations between the two governments he all but caused a rupture. Back of Alexieff stood the Bezobrazoff coterie, ignorant and covetous men filled with contempt for the Japanese and bent on adding vast territories to Russia at any hazard.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Capt. Tsaritsyn, commanding a battery of the Port Arthur Fortress Artillery, who was wounded in the first attack by the Japanese fleet, dictated the story of his sensations while under fire, to Miss Bertha Smith, a Red Cross nurse in the Port Arthur Military Hospital. He tells of his feelings in great detail, and gives a graphic picture of the scenes of death and havoc that occurred during the bombardment.

It is the first detailed account of the bombardment to be printed. His story, which is told in a letter to his mother, is as follows:

"The sea was smooth like a silk dress, glittering in many hues. I thought I noticed the vibration of the air as I looked out, scanning the horizon for the enemy.

"Suddenly, in the far distance, a black dot. Now several of them. The grew. They came nearer. One, two, seven, ten, fifteen. The dots elongated into lines. Quicker and quicker they advanced. First they appeared black, then gray, then brown. The glasses tell us that they are still ten miles away. It's nine now; eight, seven, six.

"At six—a small, white, fluffy mass. Boom! Will it strike I cannot picture our impatience at that crucial moment, little mother.

"As the ball shot towards us I perceived its outlines for an instant. I saw it plunge into the water. If it had carried a foot further the Peresvet would have been hit. I could not help but admire the display of marksmanship at such a distance, previous to any attempts at range finding. As the shot plunged into the water, the officers and crew of the Peresvet acted as if electrified.

"Another cloudlet—We watched it as the condemned does the gibbet building outside. For, after the first shot all our contempt for Jap warriors had evaporated. Zoundal there it came flying above our heads. An instant afterward there was a terrific explosion at the mountainside, some 500 feet in our rear.

"We were not excited to any great degree, but as the number of guns increased, the hellish noise made our teeth ache. I never had a toothache in my life, as you know, but now I felt as if each tooth was attacked by an ulcer. The nerves of the ears being excessively irritated, caused the toothache through sympathy of the organs, I surmise.

"But, when the diving began, my feelings were indescribably sad. Ere I saw blood actually split at my feet, at my side, above and below me I was quite calm, and, strange to say, very tired, but no thought of death occurred to me. But it was soon enough thrown into our midst with awful suddenness.

"The enemy meanwhile went through the usual manoeuvres; one volley fell short, another went wide of the mark. The Japs saw it all by their glasses, writing pad in hand. The 'too far' and 'too short' was added up, divided, and the range changed accordingly.

"They figured it out to aninety, and, lo, our battery was at once gutted with steel, the first bomb bursting in our midst, five or six seconds after the last had gone wild.

"We were under orders not to respond until a bomb had actually landed; some of our men had to be maimed and killed before we dared raise a finger but when the slaughter did occur, it was the signal for ten strand-batteries and twelve ships to discharge a hundred guns at once. The noise was deafening, and the blood started to run out of my mouth and ears, and I am afraid I will never be able to use my teeth as formerly.

"Suddenly behind me cries of pain, of horrible agony. I turned. My gunmaster held one hand to his face, and with the other groped in the air. Blood was issuing from his cheeks and mouth, it seems, was a momentarily lull in the cannonade A bursting shell had cut off poor George's nose. From the roadside came soldiers bearing litters. A surgeon approached hastily, followed by men and women of the Red Cross. A glance told me all, and I returned to my duty.

"Somebody touched my shoulder. There was a momentarily lull in the cannonade A soldier tried to deliver a message. He was white as death and his lips were still whiter than his face. They moved, but would formulate not the words the soldier intended to speak. In moments of great excitement we sometimes lose dominion over our muscles.

"I shouted at the man. I hope I did not scold him, but I know not. Once more he tried to speak; then, giving it up, pointed his finger downward. I looked. At the bottom of the hill a battery of quick-firing guns was installed. Pretty things to look at and able to spout forth sixty grapeshot — that is twelve hundred balls—a minute.

"I hastened to get the men below. The air was full of flying fragments, pieces of shell, grenades and bombs of every conceivable shape.

"As I ran down the hill a bomb exploded between two cannons mowing down the gunners. I saw one soldier crawl away on all fours, fragments of steel sticking out of his head and the blood running over his eyes, blinding him.

"'Leave the guns and help that poor devil,' I commanded. If I did wrong may the Czar take away the decoration he bestowed upon me. I couldn't see such suffering without attempting help. Another shell, a sugar loaf this time. Under its impact one of our quick-firing guns broke in two like a straw. The other was already silent, for all the men were dead or dying.

"After doing what I could for the wounded I went back to my heavy battery. The Japs, who had probably noticed the demolition of our quick-firing guns—they couldn't see anything for smoke, but their aim being extremely good, knew we had enough—the enemy now turned its attention upon the Electric Rock exclusively, and we experienced an awful fifteen minutes, too full of events to describe.

"Presently Commander-in-Chief General Stoessel arrived on horseback to congratulate us on our fire baptism 'for the honor of the Czar.'"

Lake Breaks Up

The heavy rains and sudden thaw have caused the ice on Rice Lake to break up very quickly. The ice on the shores is still very thick, but on the edges is too thin for travelling. One man with a team of horses had a narrow escape last week. They broke through and were with considerable difficulty rescued.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BRITISH OPINION ON TORONTO FIRE

Loses May Shake Status of Smaller Companies

BRITISH METHODIST UNION

Wesleyan Body Unlikely to Be Included—Christian Scientist Church In England

London, April 23.—Among insurance men the opinion is expressed that the Toronto fire may shake the financial status of one or two of the smaller offices that depend chiefly upon the surplus business of larger companies. Surprise is expressed that after Baltimore's experience the Toronto firemen should have used dynamite to stop up buildings. This expedient has been found useless when there is a high wind, for unless the area cleared is considerable the flames are easily carried over it, as they are frequently over wide streets. Besides at Baltimore the blowing up of property only added to the destructiveness of the outbreak.

No dynamite was used at the Toronto fire, though at one stage its use was contemplated.

The Pall Mall Gazette says in commenting on the Toronto fire: British sympathy will go out to the inhabitants of the flourishing Canadian city whose commercial prosperity has received a serious setback.

BRITISH METHODIST UNION.

The Canadian Associated Press has learned that the idea of Methodist Union as far as the Wesleyan connection is concerned is at present outside the range of practical politics. A special committee appointed at the Wesleyan Conference of 1903 will present its report at the coming Sheffield Conference. The report says that the result of the committee's investigations is that complete union is at present entirely impracticable as far as the Wesleyan body is concerned. The Methodist New Connexion, the Bible Christians, the Wesleyan Reform Union, the Independent Methodists and the United Methodist Free Church are likely to unite and have agreed tentatively to certain main principles.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IN ENGLAND

At the opening of the first church in Great Britain of the Christian Scientists, the Earl of Dunmore said that he had suffered from the result of a bad accident in Central Asia, had put himself under Christian Science treatment, and in a few months was perfectly cured of a disease the doctors said he would carry to his grave.

AS VIEWED IN ST. PETERSBURG

St. Petersburg, April 23.—Admiral Alexieff's loss of authority in the Far East is an accomplished fact, whether the report of his resignation prove correct or not, and terminates a bitter chapter in Russian foreign policy. It is hoped that the discredited Admiral will be followed into private life by State Secretary Bezobrazoff and his entourage, including Baron Kood, Engineer Mikhailovsky and M. Matiunin, who was at one time Russian political agent at Seoul. This the clique to which Russia is indebted for the present war.

ALL QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR

Port Arthur, April 23.—(Delayed in transmission.) The situation here is unchanged. A large launch from the Petropavlovsk was brought into the harbor to-day. Two German naval officers have arrived here. They will be attached to the Russian headquarters. The cruiser Bayan suffered no damage from the hail of shells poured upon her from the Japanese warships when the Bayan went to the assistance of the Russian torpedo boat destroyers on April 13, just previous to the sinking of the Petropavlovsk. The Bayan, in driving off the Japanese destroyers, which had sunk the Strashni, was subjected to the fire of six Japanese cruisers.

PORT ARTHUR BLOCKED FORTRESS NOW DOOMED

Events Rapidly Culminating Around the Stronghold of the Czar's Forces--Japs Embarking from Corea

London, April 22.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that Port Arthur undoubtedly is effectually blocked, and that events are culminating around the doomed fortress.

The correspondent of The Standard at Tientsin says that Japanese troops from Korea and possibly are being reinforced by the forces on the Yalu River, from which the Russians have practically withdrawn.

Paris, April 22.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Petit Parisien says he has learned the advance of the Russian forces, which are massed in Northwestern Korea, and that a brigade of infantry, with 5000 Cossacks, is within 100 versts of the Tumen River.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—The Emperor has received the following telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin, under yesterday's date: "All was quiet on the Yalu, on the 19th and 20th, and there has been no change. On the night of the 19th under Tower Hill west of Kaichiu, a steamer was observed sending off boats, evidently for the purpose of taking soundings. The boats soon returned."

ENGINEER PRESENTS REPORT

Mr. Schlingwood Schrieber's Ideas on Trent Waterway

The Chief Engineer and Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, Mr. C. Schrieber, has forwarded his report on the Trent Valley Canal. The course as originally contemplated and modified is as follows:

"Through the River Trent, Rice Lake and River Otonabee, and Lakes Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon and Cameron to Lake Balsam, the summit water, about 165 miles from Trenton; from Balsam Lake by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe, thence across Lake Simcoe to the Severn River; thence by the Severn River to Georgian Bay, Lake Huron; the total distance being about 200 miles, of which only about 15 or 20 miles will be actual canal."

The work by which the Trent navigation has been improved comprises canals with locks and bridges, at Young's Point, Burleigh Rapids, Buckhorn Rapids, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls and Rosedale; also dams at Lakefield, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, Buckhorn, Bobcaygeon, Lovesick and Fenelon Falls. By these works there is afforded communication between Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough and Balsam Lake; the headquarters of the system; opening up a total of about 160 miles of direct and lateral navigation.

At Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough, the dam at the head of the Nine Miles rapids of the River Otonabee, maintains navigation on Lake Katchewanooka up to Young's Point.

At Young's Point, 5 miles from Lakefield, the dam between Lake Katchewanooka and Clear Lake controls the water level through Clear and Stony Lakes up to the foot of the Burleigh canal. The lock here it should be observed is controlled by the Provincial Government.

At Burleigh Rapids, 10 miles from Young's Point, a canal about 2 1-2 miles in length, passes the Burleigh and Lovesick Rapids and gives communication between Stony Lake and Deer Bay.

At Buckhorn Rapids, 7 miles from Burleigh Rapids, there is a canal about one-fourth of a mile long.

At Bobcaygeon, 15 3-4 miles from Buckhorn Rapids, a dam 553 feet long, controls the water level up to Fenelon Falls and at Fenelon Falls, 15 miles from Bobcaygeon, a canal about one-third of a mile in length connects Sturgeon Lake with Cameron Lake.

The following is the list of locks submitted in the Chief Engineer's report:

1 lock at Rosedale (maintained by the Ontario Government) 100 ft. by 20 ft by 4 ft 6 in to 6 ft 6 in depth water on mitre sill.

2 locks at Fenelon, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 6 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Lindsay, 134 ft by 33 feet by 5 ft to 7 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Bobcaygeon, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft 6 in to 7 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Buckhorn, 134 feet by 33 ft by 5 ft to 9 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Burleigh, 134 ft by 33 ft by 6 ft to 8 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Young's Point, (a Provincial government work) 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 14 ft depth of water on water sill.

1 lock at Peterborough, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 10 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Hastings, 134 feet by 33 ft by 7 ft to 10 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Chisholms, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 8 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

By the accountant's report it was shown that the total expenditure on capital account was $4,135,353.56, less an expenditure, prior to Confederation, of $300,371.31, less an expenditure in 1880 of $561.50. The total distance from the Bay of Quinte to the Georgian Bay was placed at 212 miles.

AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT.

Seoul, Corea, April 23.—Noon. Latest advices do not confirm the reported occupation by Russian troops of Peuk Chyong, a town about seventy miles down from Sung Jin on the east coast of Corea.

WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

Tien-Tsin, April 23.—The Russians here believe that Viceroy Alexieff's resignation will not be accepted.

DEATH OF MR. GEO. LIPSETT SR.

Peterborough Resident Passed Away Yesterday Morning

The death of Mr. Geo. Lipsett, Sr., one of Peterborough's oldest and best known, residents, occurred at his late residence, Ashburnham. Deceased has been ill for about one year, and has suffered greatly from heart trouble, being confined to his bed for over four months. He has for the past twenty years been a resident of Ashburnham, and previous to that time lived in the Township of Otonabee, where he was one of the pioneer settlers, having come there in 1839. Born in Ireland about 70 years ago, he came to Canada when a mere child of six years, and with his parents settled in Otonabee. His wife was Mary Ann Andrews, of Asphodel, who died about fourteen years ago. Four daughters, Mrs. Maniece, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Long and Miss Minnie, and one son, George, are left to mourn his loss.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

Dutch Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

He Accepts No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Dutch specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and hospitals, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

both the method and the ability to do as he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, evacuation of parts, impotency, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the conditions itself, but likewise cures all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interests of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply

Dr. S. Goldberg, 203 Woodward Ave., Room ——, Detroit, Mich., and it will all be immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once.

THE WAR ON FEVER GERMS

The discovery that most of the ills with which mankind is afflicted are germ diseases naturally tends to draw the agencies and resources of science into a united warfare upon bacteria of every description. With the doctor of medicine and the student of sanitary science it is a continuous experiment with prophylactics and antiseptics, new and old. The question is, What kind will kill the disease germ without killing the person afflicted with it?

Because of the dangerous character of the disease caused by it, the typhus germ has come in for a long share of the attention of scientists than any other disease germ, with the possible exception of the diphtheria bacillus. As a germ is usually found in water, and is taken into the body in this medium, scientific students have sought some method of treating the water in such a way as to destroy the germs without rendering it deleterious or unfit to drink. Lemon juice and grape juice have been recommended, and while it is claimed that they have been found to be efficacious they are not regarded by the medical profession as sure preventives of typhoid.

The announcement comes from Washington that the Agricultural Department has discovered that the "Bordeaux mixture," a solution of copper sulphate, lime and water, well known to nurserymen and horticulturists, will exterminate typhoid and malaria germs in water. The discovery was made during some experiments conducted by the department to find some means of destroying diseases which attack watercress. It was found that the Bordeaux solution would destroy the green slime frequently seen upon the surface of shallow water, and upon which malaria and other fever germs feed, rendering the water pure and clear as crystal. It is claimed that it will not only purify water in stagnant pools and marshes but if used in drinking water in the right proportion is destructive to the typhoid germs.

The Bordeaux mixture has been used for years in spraying fruit trees. The discovery that it can be utilized in exterminating typhoid and other fever germs will be of wide interest to scientific men, and is certain to lead to much experimentation in this direction.

A recent official return shows that the average salary of the 561 women county school teachers in the province of Quebec is $9.50 a month. In the country district the average salary of male teachers is $230 a year, and of female teachers $113 a year.

It is little wonder that education in rural Quebec does not flourish.

Gained Ten Ponnds

His Weight increased Many Pounds His Health and Strength Completely Restored by Ferrozone the Great Food Tonic.

Mr. A. L. Godfrey is well known to everyone in Victoria, where he has been engaged in business for many years. "Last winter I had la grippe" he writes, "and recovered very slowly. When well enough to leave the house I was many pounds lighter than my usual weight. My appetite was poor and my blood was thin. Ferrozone did me untold good. I recovered my weight in a short time and have felt like a different man ever since. I consider Ferrozone a wonderful tonic and a first class remedy for people who are run down. My reasons for believing Ferrozone so good are due to its bringing me health after doctors and many other medicines failed. My weight has increased at least ten pounds, my blood is strong and my system is in a very vigorous condition Ferrozone did it."

FERROZONE PRODUCES NEW TISSUE

From Nelson, B. C., comes the strongest possible proof that Ferrozone is a flesh-making, strengthening remedy. Mrs. G. O. Alker writes;—"A few months ago I was run down, tired, and nervous. I had come before been benefitted by Ferrozone, when living in Boston, and started using it again. Ferrozone at once gave me a splendid appetite, toned up my nerves, and actually made me fat. I used Ferrozone regularly and increased my weight several pounds. My cheeks filled out and became rosy. My nervous trouble disappeared, and I haven't had a single day's illness since using Ferrozone."

Ferrozone supplies the system with nourishment in a condensed form, and builds up weak constitutions to a state of permanent good health. It restores all weak organs, perfects digestion, enriches the blood and fortifies the nerves.

If it is better health you are seeking, you can find it with Ferrozone. Don't be misled into accepting a substitute or any article represented as "just as good." Ferrozone is unequalled and it is in your interest to get it when you ask for it. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all reliable druggists or by mail from N. C. A NATIONAL CALAMITY

The Fire Which Destroyed the Imperial Palace at Seoul Regarded as Such

London, April 21.—A despatch to the Express from Chemulpo says that since the burning of the Imperial Palace at Seoul, affairs there have been in a very critical condition. The fire is regarded as having been a national calamity, and is a sign of Budda's wrath against the ruling family. The Emperor's discontent under his vassalage to Japan has greatly increased since the fire. It has been ascertained that a number of snakes, which are holy in Corea, perished in the conflagration, and his Majesty and the people are therefore convinced that misfortune is hanging over the Imperial house. The condition of unrest and discontent that prevails if fraught with considerable danger.

BODIES RECOVERED

Those of Crew Lost in the Recent Collision of the Submarine A1 and Berwick Castle

Portsmouth, April 20.—The bodies were removed from the hull of submarine A1 early this morning with the greatest secrecy. Men wearing diving suits to safe guard them from noxious gases, entered the submarine, and took out the bodies, which were in an almost perfect state of preservation. The inside of the submarine is understood to have been found perfectly clean.

Col. Bacon who was in command the submarine during the manoeuvres, in the course of which the A1 was sunk, was the first to enter the hull this morning. He testified at the subsequent inquest that the collision with the Berwick Castle must have stunned the crew, or they could have stopped the leak at the conning tower, and come to the surface, for the leak was very small.

Capt. Bacon stated that every man was found at his appointed station aboard.

The medical witnesses agreed that death was due to drowning. No explosion of gasoline occurred.

The bodies of the victims were buried side by side in Haslar Cemetery, with naval honors. The procession of naval officers, sailors and marines was half a mile long. They were followed by gun carriages bearing the coffins.

A Splendid Magazine

The Engineering Magazine for May has an important article by Mr. W. L. Clark, general manager of the foreign trade of the General Electric Company, reviewing American and European commercial conditions. He gives a very just estimate of the equipment and characteristics on the two sides and concludes that the United States will reach the ideal combination of economical production of both special and standard work when forced to it by necessities of trade. At present the American manufacturer is indifferent to meeting the conditions required by foreign buyers, because he finds at home the best market in the world. Mr. Hess makes a graphical representation of the effect of the various modern methods of wage payment upon the output of the workman and the profits of the employer. Mr. A. W. Thompson describes this cost-keeping system for a repair shop. Mr. Brocklehurst tells what the great technical school at Manchester is doing in the training of engineering apprentices. Two more very handsomely illustrated articles area those by Mr. G. H. Baxter, on hydraulic wharf cranes and machinery, and by Mr. G. L. Fowler on the coal mines of the Pocahontas region. The number is rounded out by the full Review and Index of the Engineering Press.—The Engineering Magazine, New York.

A SAD DENISE

A Once Well-to-do Physician Passed Away Under Distressing Circumstances

Cobourg St ar; Another death occurred in the Infirmary ward of the gaol on Tuesday morning. Dr. Burnham G. G. Domeresl, who thirty or forty years ago was one of the best known practicing physicians in the East Riding of Northumberland, passed away under distressing circumstances. He practised his profession at Norham, in Percy township, then removed to Stirling, Hastings county, and afterwards to Warkworth. He was a gifted man, but after the death of his wife, became rather peculiar. He was at one time worth $60,000 to $70,000, but lost it in the Madoc gold mines and other foolish speculations. He was the oldest living graduate in medicine of McGill University, having graduated in 1852. He was in his 79th year. His father was one of the Circuit Riders of the Methodist church in the early days of our country, and the village of Demorestville, in Prince Edward county, was named after him. He was an enterprising man, and introduced the Champion stock of horses in this country. The cause of death was arterial sclerosis, or the congealing of the blood in the veins. The body was interred beside that of his wife at Frankford. He was in the gaol about two years. This aged and at one time important character in our country deserved a better fate, but the best in life are not always the most fortunate.

High Class Investment
THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and, which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83,000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

RUSSIANS MAY INVADE COREA

Are In Overwhelming Force at the Yalu

NEWS FROM KOUROPATKIN

Japanese Warships Sighted off Coast of Manchuria, But No Second Attempt at Landing Reported

London Thursday, April 21. — The Chemulpo correspondent of the Express, in a despatch sent by way of Chefoo, says that although all is declared quiet on the Yalu River, it is believed that the Russians are gathering strength to invade Corea in force, to offset the Japanese successes at sea. The Russian strength centred at Liao-Yang is said to be almost overwhelming, and having the advantage of position, it would be comparatively easy for the Russians to cross the Yalu.

The Tokio correspondent of the Times confirms the statements of the other correspondents, that it is expected that the Russians will make a stand at the Yalu River. In addition to their 50,000 troops, massed between Chiulencheng and Tatuhgku their up-stream extension is indefinite but reaches at last to the Poshil River, which enters the Yalu opposite Huangpien.

Alexieff Wants to Retire---Grand Duke Cyril Tells How He Escape

Seoul, April 20.—The Japanese authorities here admit that constant skirmishing is occurring between the opposing armies on the Yalu River, but they claim that no decisive action has taken place up to date, though news of such an engagement is expected at any moment.

It is estimated that the Russians now have fifty thousand men on the Yalu River.

The wildest rumors are afloat, largely from Korean sources, which are absolutely unreliable.

ALL QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR.

Port Arthur, April 20.—All is quiet throughout this district.

It is persistently asserted that a Japanese cruiser was sunk off Port Arthur, April 15, and that the Japanese armored cruisers Nissashin and Kasuga were damaged respectively below and above the water line.

HOW DUKE CYRIL ESCAPED.

New York, April 20.—Grand Duke Cyril has arrived here on his way to St. Petersburg, says a Harbin despatch to the World. His injuries are not serious, although he is suffering from burns on the neck and the ears, caused by the tremendous explosion of the Petropavlovsk, and from bruises of the back and loins, caused subsequently by the beating of the turbulent waves.

The Grand Duke gives the following story of his escape, which was almost miraculous: At the moment of the explosion of the Petropavlovsk the Grand Duke was on the bridge, at the other end of which was Makaroff. It seemed as if the world, the skies, the waters, were suddenly rent asunder, and from the gulf arose a devouring cloud and blinding flame, which burst with a deafening roar into acrid, suffocating fumes.

Scorched, blinkered, choked, stunned, Cyril recovered consciousness sufficiently to recognise that the Petropavlovsk was settling down by the head. The bodies of the dead sailors were floating from the forecastle deck which was awash. All around lay wreckage. Fallen topmast hamper and scalding steam cut off the Grand Duke's escape by the companionway. He made his way aft through smoke, flame, steam, and suffocating fumes among heaps of human debris. He reached a gun port, and dived through it. He realised that now, while diving the thought flashed across his mind, that he must dive deep and swim as far as possible, as that was his only chance to permanently leave the sinking ship. So he dived down, down and outward, with all the force of a trained athlete and swimmer, until his temples were bursting with the effort of retaining his breath.

The he arose to the surface. While he filled his lungs he supported himself on a piece of floating wreckage which he seized, and to which he assisted another struggling swimmer. When the Grand Duke looked around for the Petropavlovsk she was not to be seen.

The sea was quiet, calm, and except for the gentle rise and fall of the woodwork to which he was clinging with his companion, he was quite motionless, but with each upward swing he swept around his eyes over the smooth bosom of the placid sea for the great ship.

There was no sign, no trace of her, except some floating bodies, a few buoyant articles, and still fewer battling swimmers.

The Grand Duke, of course, did not know then how much time had elapsed, but he heard afterward that exactly one minute and forty seconds passed between the explosion and the ship's disappearance.

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 7-26-02.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. CLARKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 23, 1902.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit. Yours very truly,

R. N. FREDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 29th, 1902.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz, 7-26-02

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock. The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAM'L HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1902.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modern investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full sized claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gaspen, Black Jack, Star and Red Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Petrel, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rockefeller, developing work in the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $18.00 to $45 per ton, based on smelter returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company
Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $250,000 with shares at $1 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Parker Secretary, and C. L. Arzeno, home officer in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $250,000 capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $150,000 worth is issued, the first on all allotment of this was sold at 10c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns clear of all encumbrance, coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. This Mine is on a payline basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres underlaid with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 4½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 700 feet, it is in this vein which we are now mining, the second one has a depth of 1200 feet and the third at 1662 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we never go any, makes our shaft's total depth 1811 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and our shop is such we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 350 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 500 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his current circuits, I know this to be possible.

Although it should cost not more than 85c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and town people, and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.70 to $3.50 for Mine Run and $2.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $100 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 20 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reasons we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $600 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $3 per share before another year is over so by that time our Mines will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

by, when Hagar Warren breathed that prayer, "Lead us not into temptation." Madam Conway, stiff and straight and cold as ever, moves with the same measured tread through her gloomy rooms, which are not as noiseless now as they were wont to be, for girlhood, joyous, merry girlhood, has a home in those dark rooms, and their silence is broken by the sound of other feet, not moving stealthily and slow, as if following in a funeral train, but dancing down the stairs, tripping through the halls, skipping across the floor, and bounding over the grass, they go, never tiring, never ceasing, till the birds and the sun have gone to rest.

And do what she may, the good lady cannot check the gleeful mirth or hush the clear ringing laughter of one at least of the fair maidens, who, since last we looked upon them, have grown up into womanhood. Wondrously beautiful is Maggie Miller now, with her bright sunny face, her soft, dark eyes and raven hair, so glossy and smooth, that her sister, the pale-faced, blue-eyed Theo, likens it to a piece of shining satin. Now, as ever, the pet and darling of the household, she moves among them like a ray of sunshine, and the servants, when they hear her bird-like voice waking the echoes of the weard old place, pause in their work to listen, blessing Miss Margaret for the joy and gladness her presence has brought to them.

Old Hagar, in her cottage by the mine has kept her secret well, whispering it only to the rushing wind and running brook, which have told no tales to the gay, light-hearted girl, save to murmur in her ear that a life, untrammeled by etiquette and form would be a blissful life indeed. And Maggie, listening to the voices which speak to her so oft in the autumn wind, the running brook, the opening flower and the falling leaf, has learned a lesson different far from those taught her daily by the prim, stiff governess, who, imported from England six years ago, has drilled both Theo and Maggie in all the prescribed rules of high life as practiced in the old world. She has taught them how to sit and how to stand, how to eat and how to drink, as became young ladies of Conway blood and birth. And Madam Conway, through her golden spectacles, looks each day to see some good from all this teaching come to the bold, dashing, untamable Maggie, who, spurning alike both birth and blood, laughs at form and etiquette as taught by Mrs. Jeffrey, and, winding her arms around her grandmother's neck, crumples her rich lace ruffle with a most unladylike hug, and then bounds away to the stables, pretending not to hear the distressed Mrs. Jeffrey calling after her "not to run, 'twas so Yankeefied and vulgar;" or if she did hear, answering back, "I am a Yankee, native born, and shall run for all Johnny Bull."

Greatly horrified at this evidence of total depravity, Mrs. Jeffrey brushes down her black silk apron and goes back to Theo, her more tractable pupil; while Maggie, emerging ere long from the stable, clears the fence with one leap of her high-mettled pony, which John, the coachman, had bought at an enormous price of a traveling circus, on purpose for his young mistress, who complained that "grandma's horses were all too lazy and aristocratic in their movements for her."

In perfect amazement Madam Conway looked out when first Gritty, as the pony was called, was led up to the door, prancing, pawing, chafing at the bit and impatient to be off. "Margaret should never mount that animal," she said; but Margaret had ruled her for sixteen years, and now, at a sign from John, she sprang gayly upon the back of the fiery steed, who, feeling instinctively that the rider he carried was a stranger to fear, became under her training perfectly gentle, obeying her slightest command, and following her ere long like a sagacious dog. Not thus easily could Madam Conway manage Maggie, and with a groan she saw her each day fly over the garden gate, and out into the woods, which she scoured in all directions.

"She'll break her neck, I know," the disturbed old lady would say, as Maggie's flowing skirt and waving plumes disappeared in the shadow of the trees. "She'll break her neck some day;" and, thinking some one must be in fault, her eyes would turn reprovingly upon Mrs. Jeffrey for having failed in subduing Maggie, whom the old governess pronounced the "veriest mad-cap in the world; there was nothing like her in all England," she said, "and her low-bred ways must be the result of her having been born on American soil."

If Maggie was to be censured, Madam Conway chose to do it herself, and on such occasions she would answer: "Low-bred, Mrs. Jeffrey, is not a proper term to apply to Margaret. She's a little wild, I admit, but no one with my blood in their veins can be low-bred," and in her indignation at the governess, madam would usually forget to reprove her granddaughter when she came back from her ride, her cheeks flushed and her eyes shining like stars with the healthful exercise. Throwing herself upon a stool at her grandmother's feet, Maggie would lay her head upon the lap of the proud lady, who, very lovingly would smooth the soft shining hair, "so much like her own," she said.

"Before you had to color it, you mean, don't you, grandma?" the mischievous Maggie would rejoin, looking up archly to her grandmother, who would call her a saucy child, and stroke still more fondly the silken locks.

Wholly unlike Maggie was Theo, a pale-faced, fair-haired girl, who was called pretty, when not overshadowed by the queenly presence of her more gifted sister. And Theo was very proud of this sister, too: proud of the beautiful Maggie, to whom, though two years her junior, she looked for counsel, always willing to abide by her judgment; for what Maggie did must of course be right, and grandma would not scold. So if at any time Theo was led into error, Maggie stood ready to bear the blame, which was never very severe, for Mrs. Jeffrey had learned not to censure her too much, lest by so doing she should incur the displeasure of her employer, who in turn loved Maggie, if it were possible, better than the daughter whose name she bore, and whom Maggie called her mother. Well kept and beautiful was the spot where that mother lay, and the grave was marked by a costly marble, which gleamed clear and white through the surrounding evergreens. This was Maggie's favorite resort, and here she often sat in the moonlight, musing of one who slept there, and who, they said, had held her on her bosom when she died.

At no great distance from this spot was another grave where the grass grew tall and green, and where the headstone, half sunken in the earth, betokened that she who rested there was of humble origin. Here Maggie seldom tarried long. The place had no attraction for her, for rarely now was the name of Hester Hamilton heard at the old stone house, and all, save one, seemed to have forgotten that such as she had ever lived. This was Hagar Warren, who in her cottage by the mine has grown older and more crazy-like since we last saw her. Her hair, once so much like that which Madam Conway likens to her own, has bleached as white as snow, and her tall form is shriveled now, and bent. The secret is wearing her life away, and yet she does not regret what she has done. She cannot, when she looks upon the beautiful girl, who comes each day to her lonely hut, and whom she worships with a species of wild idolatry. Maggie knows not why it is, and yet to her there is a peculiar fascination about that strange old woman, with her snow-white hair, her wrinkled face, her bony hand, and wild, dark eyes, which when they rest on her, have in them a look of unutterable tenderness.

PROTEST AGAINST TERMS OF TREATY

Residents of Newfoundland French Shore Alarmed

TERMINATION OF FISHING

Clause Compels it to End by October Each Year—Discussed in Legislature

St. John's, Nfld., April 21—The residents of the French shore are taking alarm over the disputed clause of the new Anglo-French colonial treaty under which British and French fishermen would be compelled to terminate their operations by Oct. 20 each year, and are telegraphing protests against it to the Colonial Government.

The matter was further discussed in the Legislature Tuesday, when the Government was pressed for information. The Premier, Mr. Bond, said the Ministry was still negotiating with the Imperial Cabinet, and that no announcement would be possible until the negotiations were completed.

Meanwhile, the Premier promised that the Legislature, which it was intended should close next Thursday, would be kept open until the whole matter was finally settled, so that all information received could be presented for its action.

The Colonial Government is determined to enforce the Bait Act, and yesterday despatched the cruiser Fiona to resume the annual fishery patrol opposite St. Pierre.

LEOPOLD WINS, CREDITORS LOSE

Judgement in Suit Brought Against Belgium's King

THEY WILL NOT RECOVER

Marriage With Late Queen Was a Diplomatic Treaty Which Affects Disposal of Property

Brussels, April 22—The civil tribunal rendered its judgment to-day in the suit brought by the French creditors of the Princess Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha (Princess Louise of Belgium and the Countess Lonyay formerly Crown Princess of Austria-Hungary) daughters of King Leopold, to compel the King to pay to his daughters the money left to them by the will of the late Queen Marie Henrietta, their mother.

The second daughter, Princess Stephanie, now the Countess Lonyay, claimed that her share of the estate was $3,000,000 instead of the $120,000 offered by King Leopold.

The court rejects the application of the plaintiffs and assesses the costs of the suit upon them. It is held by the court that by the Act of 1853 the marriage settlement between Leopold and Marie Henriette was a "diplomatic treaty," and that since then the Queen's property has come under the operation of the principle of separate estate.

At 75 Cents per Share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 1000 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 300 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years, already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 125 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $100,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 175 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 400 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder in the case to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention forever, making it absolutely certainthat, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grains

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo. bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires. Our machinery is well housed. the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode.

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in leases of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15,000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day. one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

Substitute For Candles.

There were two substitutes for candles. The one was the ancient oil lamp, the cresset (French creuset), a triangular metal saucer with an upright hook at the base to be hung up by. There was an inner saucer, movable, to graduate the use of the oil. At the apex of the angle was flame, coming from a wick made of pitch of rushes, which must be cut at full moon, as the flame was thought to wax and wane with the moon if cut at any other time. The other substitute for the candle was the bog candle. It was made by splitting up the resinous logs of the primeval firs that are found imbedded in the bogs.

They were left to dry at the fireside over the crock or chain that held up the pot over the fire. The candlestick, called the poorman, was a stone with a hole in its center, into which was fixed a pillar of wood about four feet high and tipped with a cleft piece of iron, into which the candle fitted. The nose of the candle was always turned to the door.

When Japanese Maids Are Jilted.

A Japanese woman when abandoned by her lover takes a peculiar and picturesque revenge.

When she no longer has any doubt as to his faithlessness, she gets up in the middle of the night and puts on a pleasing dress and wooden sandals. Attached to her headdress she carries three lighted candles, and suspended to her neck hangs a small mirror. She takes in her left hand a small straw effigy of the faithless one, and in her right a hammer and nails.

Walking gravely to the sanctuary, she selects one of the sacred trees, and nails the effigy securely to the trunk. She then prays for the death of the traitor, vowing that if her wish is granted she will take out the nails which trouble her god, since they are fastened to a sacred tree. Night after night she comes to the tree, adding one or two nails and repeating her prayers, persuaded that the god will not hesitate to sacrifice the man to save the tree.—London Mail.

A Floral Mystery.

The Chinese, Japanese and Siamese are peculiarly skillful at botanical feats. One of their wonderful achievements is known as the "changeable rose." This bloom is white in the shade and red in the sunlight. After night or in a dark room this curiosity of the rose family is a pure, waxy white blossom. When transferred to the open air, the transformation immediately stops in, the time of the entire change of the flower from white to red depending on the degree of sunlight and warmth. First the petals take on a kind of washed or faded blue color and rapidly change to a faint blush of pink. The pink gradually deepens in hue until you find that your lily white rose of an hour before is as red as the reddest peony that ever bloomed.

Auctions In China.

To a stranger a Chinese auction is a most curious spectacle. The auctioneer leans over a slightly elevated counter and exhibits his wares. He says nothing, neither does the bidder, who merely steps forward to the auctioneer and runs his fingers up his sleeve, making pressure on the salesman's arm, thus indicating how much he will pay for the article. Then another and another repeat the action until the one signifying the highest price receives the article without a word being exchanged on either side. Only the auctioneer and the successful bidder know the price offered and accepted.

Kindness.

Be kind no matter if you are on the busiest run to catch your interests in life. While you run let your fleeting presence prove a blessing to those whom you must pass in the race to reach the goal. Leave behind you a trail of golden remembrances of words and smiles of good cheer that have cost you nothing at all in self sacrifice or money or physical strength or mental effort.

Sensitive.

"Ah," he protested, "my love for you is the greatest thing in the world. It is larger than the world. It is wider than the sea. Let me pour it into your ears."

"Sir," ejaculated the fair maid, "do you mean to insinuate anything about the size or shape of my ears?"

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100.00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty-five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 600,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore. and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest. but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company.

...ung, Throat and Catarrhal Troubles

Cold in the Head Cured Quickly if You Breathe Fragrant, Healing

Catarrhozone

The ordinary method of treating catarrh by the stomach is a very indirect way and, as experience has demonstrated, a very useless method to employ.

Fragrant, healing Catarrhozone, is breathed the air, laden with minute particles of this healing balsamic liquid, spreads itself over the whole area of inflammation.

It reaches the very root of disease instantly destroying by its antiseptic properties the germ life which excites and maintains the disease. Its cooling and healing actions is at once apparent to the whole diseased surfaces. It cures quickly and it cures permanently.

We affirm that no proprietory medicine has ever brought forth from the people as many voluntary testimonials as Catarrhozone has received.

MRS. M. J. WHITNEY, Clay Street, Topeka, Kan., was cured of nasal catarrh, and say, "I owe Catarrhozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of the most disagreeable catarrh after many doctors had pronounced my case incurable. I do not cough any more, my breath is sweet, and my respiration regular since using Catarrhozone."

MRS. JAMES TWEEDIE, of Jay Bridge, says: "For years my daughter doctored for catarrh. She had dropping in the throat, hawking, sneezes, and could not sleep at night. The first days use of Catarrhozone benefited and it cured so the catarrh never returned."

MR. B. SHELDON, of Leamington, Ont., says; "For two years I unsuccessfully sought a remedy to cure my son of catarrh but permanent results were not attained until Catarrhozone was used. It cured my little boy like magic and he has been quite free from catarrh ever since."

REV. D. B. SMITH, of Whitehead, N.S., says; "Catarrhozone permanently cured me of chronic catarrh of the nose and throat from which I suffered for many years. I heartily recommend Catarrhozone."

MR. R. McCALLUM, of Spring Brook, Ont., says; "A sample of Catarrhozone benefitted me more than years of treatment with doctors, and by using the dollar outfit I was completely cured in a few weeks. I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory cure for catarrh on the market. Every word said for it is true."

MR. S. T. WRIGHT of Skeads Mills Ont., says; "I had a bad attack of sore throat, with inflamed tonsils and sore chest. I inhaled Catarrhozone and it cured my trouble. I greatly admire its pleasant and soothing effect."

MR. JAMES FERGUSON, of Perth, Ont., writes;—"I have used Catarrhozone for sore throat and cold in the head and find it is a good remedy. I highly recommend it."

MISS CLARA B. COLBY, of Lonsdale, Ont., writes;—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything giving such quick results as Catarrhozone. I am delighted at last to find a remedy that positively cures colds. I strongly advocate Catarrhozone; it cures every time."

Catarrhozone cures without drugs and disagreeable medicine. It is Nature's cure—soothing, healing and pleasant to use. You simply inhale the medicated vapor of Catarrhozone through a Catarrhozone Inahler and get cured quickly. Two months treatment costs only one dollar. It can be sent by mail and used right at home any time during the night or day. Sold by druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

ST. ANDREWS SCORES ANOTHER GREAT SUCCESS

A BUMPER HOUSE GREETS OWEN A. SMILY, CANADA'S OWN ELOCUTIONIST

Mr. Alf. E. Young, Baritone, and Mr. Sydney Glass, Tenor, Again Reveal Artistic Powers

The annual concert under the auspices of St. Andrew's Guards was held in the lecture hall of the church last evening, when a most interesting program was presented. The introductory selection was an instrumental duet, which was most ably rendered by Mrs. P. Kerr and Miss Ethel Tully. Mr. Owen Smily then gave that excellent reading, 'Friend or Foe," which was loudly applauded, and the speaker was called upon to furnish an encore. A song entitled "The Longshoreman," by Mr. Alf. E. Young, was next on the program, and the singer was, as usual, well received. Then followed Mr. Smily's inimitable Irish selection, "An Irish Courtship," which brought down the house, and for an encore his rendition of the "Piano Sketch," was just as heartily received. Mr. Glass' appearance on the platform again called forth an outburst of applause, when he rendered "Past and Future," and later a solo entitled "You." Mr. Glass is fast forging ahead as a soloist and his appearance is always eagerly looked for. "An Examination in Music," was Mr. Smily's next selection, and he was again encored, after which Mr. Young rendered "Barney O'Brien," which favorite selection was greeted with the heartiest applause. Mr. Smily's other selections were, "A Missouri Steamboat Race," and "The Revenge," both of which received deserving encores.

Mr. Owen A. Smily was at his best throughout the very generous supply of numbers, and sustained his well merited record as an entertainer of a very high order. The ability and power of expression, his portraiture of character, his mastery of the many dialects of his character, and the very pleasing, interesting, and humorous productions compel an audience to admire him and his work. He does not cater to any vulgar taste, yet seeks to please and succeeds well. He pleases because his humor is the outflow of a dignified humorous soul that responds to the best sentiments in an intelligent and aesthetic community. Mr. Smily will always have a large host of Peterborough friends who will anticipate his return.

That Mr. Alf. E. Young has the heart of the music loving people of this town was shown in the tremendous shout of applause and cry of encore that burst forth after his rendition of "The Longshoreman." His strong, vigorous and completely controlled voice was most attractive, and was greatly enjoyed by everybody.

The St. Andrew's Guards were highly delighted at the very large and appreciative audience that packed the spacious lecture hall last night. The building was beautifully decorated, and the attention paid to the visiting auditors by the members of the Guards was a most pleasing feature of the evening.

The enjoyable event was concluded by singing "God Save the King," and all present pronounced the entertainment one of the best of its kind ever heard here.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after over a third of a century's experience in curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

IT STANDS ALONE.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressingly common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for women's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, doubt on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unprincipled dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good." Insist on having the article that has a record of a third of a century of cures, and which is backed by a positive guarantee, or have it they cannot have yours.

In cases attended by a leucorrhoeal flow a solution of Dr. Pierce's Golden Seal should be used constantly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or send 50 cents in stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce (Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute), Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, newly revised Up-to-Date Edition, illustrated, paper covers. Address as above.

Weak and sick women can consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as sacredly private as if personally addressed. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Miss Julia Marlowe of New York City, has the following to say of Peruna:

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to anaemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition. This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves.

This could be easily obviated by the use of Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion. Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers. Properly digested food furnishes these reservoirs of life with vitality which leads to strong, steady nerves, and thus nourishes life.

Peruna is in great favor among women, especially those who have vocations that are trying to the nervous system. Peruna furnishes the lasting invigoration for the nerves that such people so much need. Thousands of testimonials from women in all parts of the United States are being received every year. Such unsolicited evidence surely proves that Peruna is without an equal as a nerve tonic and a vital invigorator.

Buy a bottle of Peruna today. If you do not receive all the benefits from Peruna that you expected, write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

$10,000 forfeit if we cannot produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial which well demonstrates its full genuineness.

OFFICIAL DESPATCH EXPLAINS LOSS OF FLEET

Fighting on Land Already Begun?--Hostilities on a Large Scale Imminent, Russian Victory Reported

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The text of Viceroy Alexieff's report to the Emperor concerning the Petropavlovsk disaster, and the torpedo boat engagement which preceded it, reads as follows.

"I respectfully report to your Majesty that on April 11 the whole effective squadron at Port Arthur sailed out six miles to the southward to manoeuvre, and towards evening returned to port. On April 12 a flotilla of eight torpedo boat destroyers went out to inspect the islands, having received orders to attack the enemy should he be encountered in the course of the night.

"Owing to the darkness and a heavy rain three of the destroyers became separated from the flotilla, two of which returned to Port Arthur at dawn. The third, however, the Strashni, having, according to the evidence of the seamen, encountered several Japanese destroyers, took them in the darkness for Russian ships and, giving the signal of recognition, joined them at dawn. She was recognized by the enemy, and there was a fight at close quarters, in which her commander, midshipman and engineer and most of her crew were killed. Mateiff, her lieutenant, though wounded, continued firing on the enemy.

"At dawn on April 13 the cruiser Bayan went out, preceded by destroyers and hurried to the rescue. About sixteen miles from Port Arthur the Bayan saw the destroyer Strashni engaged with four Japanese destroyers Shortly afterwards an explosion occurred and the Strashni sank Driving off the enemy's destroyers by her fire, the Bayan approached the scene of the fight, lowered her boats and had time to save the remnant of the destroyer's crew. Unfortunately only five men were swimming. Their lives were saved.

"The cruiser was obliged to fight on her starboard side with six Japanese cruisers which came up. Having picked up her boats, the Bayan regained the harbor suffering no damage or loss, although covered with fragments of shells.

"The cruiser Diana and five destroyers hastened to her succor and at the same time the other cruisers, the battleships Petropavlovsk, and Poltava, and some destroyers, came out from the roadstead, and the other battleships left the harbor. In column formation, with the Bayan at the head and the destroyers on the flank, Vice-Admiral Makaroff proceeded to the scene of the Strashni's fight, whither more Japanese destroyers and cruisers were approaching. After a sharp fusilade at fifty cable lengths distance (10,000 yards) the ships drew off.

"A squadron of nine Japanese battleships appeared at 8.40 a.m., and our ships retired toward Port Arthur. In the roadstead they were rejoined by the battleships Pobieda, Peresviet and Sevastapol, which were coming out through the channel. The squadron was drawn up in the following order: Peresviet, Pobieda, Novik, five destroyers and two torpedo cruisers. They turned toward the left, but when approaching the mouth of the channel the destroyers were signalled to return to the harbor, and the cruisers to proceed. Manoeuvring with the Petropaviovsk at their head, the squadron turned to the east, making toward the enemy on their right.

THE PETROPAVLOVSK SUNK

"At 9.43 a.m. an explosion occurred at the right side of the Petropavlovsk then a second and more violent explosion under her bridge. A thick column of greenish-yellow smoke was seen to rise from the battleship her mast, funnel, bridge and turret were thrown up, and the battleship heeled over on her starboard side. Her prop arose from the water, showing her screw working in the air. The Petropavlovsk was surrounded by flames, and in two minutes sank, bow first.

"Some of her crew escaped. The cruiser Gaydamak, which was a cable length (600 yards) away, lowered boats and succeeded in rescuing Grand Duke Cyril and 47 seamen. The destroyers and boats from the Poltava and Askold also picked up some of the Petropavlovsk's crew. Altogether 7 officers and 73 men were saved. The Poltava, which was following the Petropavlovsk two cable lengths astern, stopped her engines and remained on the scene of the disaster.

"At a signal from Rear-Admiral Oktomsky, the other warships made for the entrance of the harbor, manoeuvring toward the Peresviet in line. A mine exploded under the starboard side of the Pobieda. She listed but proceeded and entered the harbor with all the other ships astern of her. The enemy remained in sight until 3 o'clock and then disappeared.

"The night preceding the sortie of the squadron lights and the outlines of ships were seen in the distance from the roadstead and the commander of the fleet kept watch in person until dawn from the cruiser Diana, stationed in the outer roadstead. He left her at 4 o'clock in the morning.

"In concluding I take this liberty to announce respectfully that, despite the ill success which has attended the Pacific fleet, the crews of the ships retain their morale, and are ready to perform all duties required of them. The Emperors words of your Majesty addressed to the seamen at this painful hour of trial serve as a consolation and a support to all this force in their efforts to overcome the enemy, to the glory of their beloved sovereign and their country."

London, April 25.—Reports from various sources lead to the expectation that news of important land operations may be received at any moment. The Seoul correspondent of the Chronicle bears out the statement cabled by the St. Petersburg correspondent that heavy fighting has occurred on the Yalu River, 1,500 Japanese being defeated. The Seoul despatch adds that for strategic reasons it is impossible to send any particulars at present. Another Seoul despatch, dated April 19, says that the arrangements for concerted movements by Japanese will be completed on April 20, when there will be a simultaneous rush from three points. The second army is supposed to have sailed from Japan on April 16, probably for Port Arthur. Other troops will land at Takushan or Tatung, forming part of the general advance on Liao-Yang. The guards' division, under Lieut.-Gen. Imoure, will be the first troops sent against the Russians at Kuiien-Ahang.

Supplies are being landed near Chulsan, whence they are being forwarded to Wiju, which will be the future base in Corea. Howitzers are being embarked at Chinampho, they being evidently intended for the Port Arthur campaign.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Standard says that the Japanese have landed west of the Yalu river. The Russians are concentrating at Feng-Wang-Cheng. A hot engagement is expected.

Nothing is certain regarding the movement of the Russian column in North-East Corea except that it has burned the consulate post office and other Japanese buildings at Song-Cheng. It is stated from Japanese sources that afterwards the Russians retired rapidly towards the Tumen River.

Reports from Chefoo and elsewhere received at Shanghai, indicate that the Russians in Southern Manchuria are expecting an attack by the Japanese. Some reports state that hostilities on a large scale have begun ashore. It is said that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu River, meeting with almost no opposition. None of the rumors can be verified, but all point to a clash on land being imminent if it has not already begun.

TO ISOLATE PORT ARTHUR.

London, April 25.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Standard reports an unconfirmed rumor that a large Japanese force is landing on the west coast of the Liao-Tung Peninsula, about thirty miles north of Port Arthur.

Other reports state that twelve Japanese warships were sighted Thursday night thirty miles southwest of the Clifford Islands, slowly making their way north. They showed no lights. Several Japanese warships off Wei-Hai-Wei have stopped ingoing steamers.

A despatch to the Express from Chefoo says that the Japanese plan of attack is based upon a number of points at several points on the western coast of the Liao-Tung Peninsula and another between the east coast and the Yalu River, probably at Taku-Shan. Neither of these will be really meant. The true descent will be on the shore of Talienwan Bay, on one side of Kin-Chow Bay, and the other where the isolation of Port Arthur can be most easily secured.

Seoul, April 25.—Numerous skirmishes in the vicinity of the Yalu river are reported. Japanese scouts crossed the river twelve miles above Wiju and reconnoitred the Russian position. They sustained no loss. The Japanese have established posts on the small islands near Wiju. It is believed that they have succeeded in blocking the mouth of the river. The Russians are extending their fortifications. They are strongly reinforcing their troops on Tiger Island, opposite Wiju, where a severe battle was fought in the Chino-Japanese War.

TO KILL KOUROPATKIN.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—Rumors are in circulation that two beggars attempted the assassination of General Kouropatkin, when he was in Newchwang a few days ago. It is said the beggars succeeded in approaching the general and were talking to him when a guard noticed that one of them put his hand inside his robe. The men were seized and searched and knives were found upon them. It is said that the men were Japanese. The rumor cannot be verified.

NO RELIEF FROM RADIUM

Neither the Consumptive Nor the Blind Need Expect Cures From Rays

London, April 25.—The hopes founded upon radium as a curative agent patients were treated with it in the London hospital, but the only favorable result has been the cessation of pain in some cases, while mothers the patients complain of an increase in the pain. The experiments have stopped.

Professor London, of St. Petersburg, announced last June that he had discovered that certain blind persons were able to distinguish objects illuminated by the radium rays. Under the direction of Emperor William Professor Green, head of the Eye hospital in Berlin, has made an elaborate study of the effect of radium rays on the human eye. Professor Green now publishes a report of his investigation. He finds that blind persons whose optic nerve is not entirely destroyed can distinguish objects held before a screen illuminated with radium rays but can distinguish the same objects equally well if instead of a screen renders fluorescent by radium a semitransparent screen lighted from the back with a petroleum lamp is used. It can be stated with most absolute certainty, he says, that the hopes of Professor London vanish into thin air, and that blind persons cannot at present expect the very slightest help from radium.

AVERAGE MAN EATS TO MUCH

Yale Professor Says Experiments Prove Remedial For Chicagoans

Washington, April 25.—Before the National Academy of Sciences Saturday Professor Chittenden of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, gave the result of the last year's experiments in diet. They were undertaken with the object of proving that the average healthy man eats too much. They proved, said Professor Chittenden, that a third to one-half the average daily consumption of food is sufficient to keep a man in perfect health. Professor George Hale, of Chicago, was awarded the Draper gold medal as a special recognition of his research in astrophysics.

AFTER AMERICAN SHIPS

Russian Agents Said to Be Visiting all the Large Ship Yards

Washington, April 24.—Russia is trying to buy ships in the United States which can be quickly converted into fast cruisers. Russian agents are visiting large shipyards in this country to ascertain what ships are building that could be made into cruisers and gunboats and how long it would take to change the plans and complete them. Japanese agents are watching the Russians and tracking their every movement.

This is the information that has reached the state department. It is not official, but is reliable nevertheless. One of the state department's informants is connected with one of the largest shipbuilding firms in the country. He said Russian agents had approached his firm concerning the prospective purchase of merchant ships which are now on the ways. What progress the Russians may have made at other yards is not known.

This information has created considerable interest in the state department, but it is not expected that in any event there will be an open violation of the president's neutrality proclamation. If the Russian government should directly purchase any ships now building in this country their delivery would be prevented, but no such contingency is looked for. If Russia finds any ships that she wants and can make terms for them the natural expectation is that she will have them bought, ostensibly for merchant service, by a German firm or a representative of some other neutral power, who will turn them over to Russia at sea or any port that Russia may designate.

JAPS WILL LAND NEAR TAKUSHAN

Russians hope to Successfully Resist the Enemy

THE ADMIRAL AND GENERAL

Kuropatkin and Skrydloff Will Meet in Manchuria to Harmonize Plans

St. Petersburg, April 25.—All information in possession of the general staff indicates that the Japanese are preparing to make a landing near Takushan. The lights of Japanese ships have been observed there for several nights and it is believed that the debarkation from the ships has been delayed by the bad weather which has prevailed, preventing the assembling of the junks and other small craft on which the troops must be carried across the long stretch of shallow water, which extends several miles from the shore.

It is believed that the Japanese will experience great difficulty in debarking if their landing is resisted. A prominent naval attache, who is familiar with the coast, says a battalion with rapid fire and machine guns could keep off an army corps, as the warships would have to lie too far out effectively to protect a landing.

In order to harmonize the army and the navy operations Vice-Admiral Skrydloff will stop at Liao-Yang on his way to Port Arthur to confer with General Kouropatkin. The Admiral and the general are warm personal friends and both are completely independent of the viceroy. In spite of the bad relations between Skrydloff and Alexieff pressure is being brought to bear to prevent the viceroy's immediate return to the Russian capital.

TWO SHIPS FOR RUSSIA.

The Admiralty, it is announced, intends to fit out two ships, purchased from Germany, which were formerly in the trans-Atlantic service together with a number of ships of the volunteer fleet, with rapid-fire guns, and to send them to the Pacific to prey upon Japanese commerce.

It is authoritatively stated that Russia has been ordered, through a well known firm, two 7,000 ton and two 2,000 ton cruisers, belonging to a South American republic, but has declined the offer.

The ships of the Baltic fleet here and at Libau will be in commission next week. The naval reserves of the neighboring provinces are arriving for distribution to the ships.

Paris, April 25.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien, says he has learned that General Kuropatkin has ordered the advance of the Russian forces which are massed in northwestern Corea, and that a brigade of infantry, with 5,000 Cossacks, is within one hundred versts of the banks of the Tumen River.

London April 25—The correspondent of the Standard at Tien Tsin, says that Japanese troops are now embarking from Corea, and possibly are being reinforced by the forces on the Yalu River from which the Russians have practically withdrawn.

CURLING.

The cold snap has kept the ice in the curling rink intact, notwithstanding the lateness of the season. A prominent railway man who passed through Peterborough yesterday, stated that in passing Iroquois, the big rink there was illuminated and running full blast.

SUPPORTS THE BY-LAW

Federal Unionists in Favor of the Sugar Company's By-law

At a meeting held on Friday evening in the Sons of England Hall the following resolution was unanimously carried:

Moved by Mr. J. Gibson, seconded by Mr. A. Jones, That we, the members of the Peterborough Federal Union, No. 24, of the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada, assembled this 22nd day of April, express our hearty approval of the action of the Peterborough town council in submitting a by-law to the property owners of the town, for the guaranteeing by the corporation of the Peterborough Sugar Company's bonds to the amount of $100,000, and taking as security a first mortgage on the Sugar Company's lands, buildings and machinery, costing not less than $300,000. We further affirm that in our judgment the council has amply safeguarded the town, that the property owners will never have a cent to pay for securing this magnificent factory, and it will largely benefit not only the workingmen of Peterborough, but every other citizen.

T. V. LACROSSE LEAGUE

ORGANIZED SATURDAY MORNING—AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Mr. Wm. Crowley Elected President of the League Which will Likely be Composed of Nine Clubs.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing the Trent Valley Lacrosse League was held in the Oriental Hotel parlors Saturday morning when there were present Messrs. T. P. Lancaster, Dineen, Havelock; Scriver, English, Hastings; Lockington, McLean, Port Hope; Hayes, W. Crowley, Peterborough; E. S. Huycke, Tweed.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock, was appointed chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Crowley, of the T.A.S. thought the scheme of a T.V.L. was a good one, and thought the number of teams at the outset might not be large, the league would be sure to grow, and the travelling expenses would not be as great as in the C.L.A. He hoped that there would be no importing of players and that all should be homebrews.

Mr. Huycke, of Tweed, also favored the scheme, and was of the opinion that Madoc and Belleville would also enter.

A communication was read from Madoc, stating that they would enter if the travelling expenses were not too great.

It was thought that Lindsay, Madoc and Belleville would enter, and they will be communicated with by the secretary and urged to enter. If these clubs enter there will be three districts and three teams each. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—R. R. Hall, of Peterborough.

President—W. Crowley, of Peterborough.

1st Vice-President—F. C. Curtis, of Port Hope.

2nd Vice-President—E. S. Huycke, of Tweed.

Secretary-Treasurer—T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock.

Executive Committee—One member from each club to be appointed by the individual club.

Upon motion of Mr. Crowley, seconded by Mr. Coughlin, a fee of $3 was decided upon.

There seems to be no good reason why the new league should not prove a most successful organization. Each of the representatives present this morning was very enthusiastic over the prospects for the season. No matter how many clubs enter the league is certain to be a "go," and like the Trent Valley Hockey League it should increase from season to season and soon prove a flourishing organization. This league is under capable officers, who will do all in their power to further its interests. The season will likely open the first week in June.

After some very interesting discussion as to residence rules, constitution, etc., it was decided that the executive meet here on 9.30, on Friday, May 13, to draw up a schedule and arrange what constitution will be adopted.

POPE MAY AID FRENCH ROYALISTS

Members of the Orleans Family Received in Private Audience

Bourbon Claimants Said to Have Received Assurance of Support

Rome April 25—In opposition against the present French government for its persecution of the church the pope is extremely likely to espouse the cause of the monarchial party in France. The number of Frenchmen who still adhere in their hearts to the cause of the Bourbons is large and almost all of them are steadfast Catholics.

It is certain that all the republicans in whom their faith is more than a mere matter of form have been disgusted and disheartened by the radical course of Premier Combes and the Bourbon pretender believes that little urging is needed to make them desert the republicans and return to the monarchists.

RECEIVES ORLEANS FAMILY.

Several members of the Orleans family have recently been received in private audience by the pope, and it is rumored that the Bourbon claimants to the throne have received from Pius assurances of support. A new French daily in support of the Bourbon cause is soon to appear in Rome and it will semiofficially declare the vatican views for the guidance of French monarchical Catholics.

The French bishops, under the leadership of Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, who is in daily communication with the vatican by cipher, have organized in every diocese and parish the forces of the movement against the French premier. The war is directed against the premier, M. Combes, personally, and it is hoped to force him into retirement and gradually to abolish by subsequent legislation the obnoxious laws lately passed against the church and the religious orders.

ANOTHER CLAIMANT SEES POPE.

The Count of Caserta, claimant to the throne of Naples, has also been seen at the vatican several times of late, while Princess Blanche of Orleans, Duke D'Alencon and the ex-Duke of Parma, all members of the Bourbon family, were received in private audience only last week.

This new policy toward France meets with much opposition from a few powerful cardinals who strenuously defend the conciliatory course so long followed by Cardinal Rampolla under the late pope.

LIVE LAKEFIELD LOCALS

Items of Interest From Our Pretty Northern Village.

Alterations are being made in the lower power house of the cement company.

Mr. A. Kennedy, has disposed of his grocery business to Mr. Spence, of Dummer.

Mr. C. D. Crawford, the well known general merchant, has decided to retire. The business will in future be carried on by his son, Theodore, who will clear out the dry goods and grocery departments, and go into clothing and men's furnishings exclusively.

The last of the ice on Lake Katchewanooka passed down the river on Friday last. Clear and Stony Lakes are still covered with ice.

Dr. Baker's handsome new residence, on the site of the old Queen's Hotel is approaching completion. It is a handsome structure.

Mr. Roland Johnston, the popular and enterprising merchant, is doing a large business this season. "Rolly's" many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to hear this.

Work on the Stony Lake fleet will soon begin. Mr. Young's new steamer "Stony Lake," which is being built at Young's Point, will be a splendid addition to the tourists' line on Stony Lake waters.

The Dickson Company's mills are being put in shape for the season. Mr. John Thompson has had a large gang of men employed for some weeks. The company are laying additional tracks through their already extensive piling grounds.

WILL FLOCK TO TORONTO

The Toronto Fire Will Put Up Wages of Many Trades

On Saturday a prominent contractor told the Times that little new building would be done in Peterborough this season beyond what has already been undertaken, owing to the fact that carpenters, masons, bricklayers, plumbers, etc., would flock to Toronto when the work of rebuilding the burnt district would begin.

If this is true there will be a scarcity of men here, as well as in other towns and cities throughout Ontario which will naturally mean an increase in wages. While this is good for the tradesmen, it is bad for the community, as it will stiffen rents and increase the troubles of housekeepers.

In Toronto the situation amongst those whose premises were destroyed has become desperate. An illustration of how at least one property owner was prepared to take advantage of the necessities of merchants who suffered in the fire was afforded the Globe by a well known wholesale man. He desired to rent a flat which had hitherto been renting for $30 a month. The owner unblushingly asked him a rental of $120 a month, and while he was considering this offer another burned out merchant came along and took the flat for $135 a month.

REVERSES RUSSIAN POLICY

Downfall of Alexieff Thought to Pave the Way to Peace

Washington, April 25.—The announcement from St. Petersburg of the withdrawal of Alexieff from the direction of the affairs of the far east was received with intense interest in official circles here. The change just indicated is believed to portend a complete reversal of Russian policy in Manchuria, and it is thought that could Russia save her face and pride before the civilized world by scoring a decisive victory on land the way would speedily be opened for peace negotiations on the broad basis of the last Japanese proposition just before the outbreak of the war. The restoration to power and influence of M. Witte, the deposed Russian minister of finance, who so strongly opposed war, is expected soon to follow.

London, April 25.—The Japanese legation here are greatly interested in the announcement of Viceroy Alexieff's resignation. The opinion is expressed that if he had resigned six months ago there would have been no war, but now that hostilities are in progress the Japanese would have preferred to see Alexieff retain control.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—So far as can be learned no action has been taken in regard to Viceroy Alexieff's application to be relieved of his station. Indeed it is not officially announced that such an application has been received. Admiral Skrydloff has had a long interview with the emperor and it is considered probable, now that the situation is the subject of public discussion, that a way may be found to smooth matters over for the present, in order to prevent appearances.

THE JAPANESE SURPRISE RUSSIAN DETACHMENT

Kill or Wound Half the Force--Several Jap Scouts Slain--Cossacks Advancing in North-eastern Corea.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The following telegram from Viceroy Alexieff has been received by the Emperor:

"Quite a series of reconnaissances carried out on the Yalu have shown that the Japanese are concentrating in considerable force. It is believed that they have one division to the north of Wiju. They are also beginning to concentrate troops in Wiju, from which place they have moved the Corean population.

"Information has reached me that quantities of material, apparently parts of pontoon bridges, are being collected opposite the island of Makhke.

"Our scouts have killed two Japanese scouts, one of whom appeared to be an officer.

"On our right flank our scouts executed daring reconnaissances, extending over several days, on the left bank of the Yalu, as the result of which it has been ascertained that there are only a few troops south of the river Pomakua, but that the Japanese there are occupied in preparing boats.

"A Russian detachment of two officers and 32 men proceeded thither in three boats. The detachment was however, discovered by the enemy and shots were exchanged, three of our riflemen being killed. Staff-Capt Smeizen and 11 riflemen were severely, and Lieut. Pushkin and four men slightly wounded. The detachment returned to our bank of the river under the cover of two of our guns."

Gen. Kouropatkin telegraphed to the Czar yesterday that he had decided to take the offensive, considering the force now at his disposal sufficient. He says he will have nothing to chance. He therefore gave orders yesterday to advance a brigade of infantry, supported by a strong force of Cossacks. Five thousand Cossacks are also advancing in Northeastern Corea, and are said to be seventy miles from the Yalu.

Montreal, April 25.—"A revolution in Russian Poland is imminent. The fires of discontent in Jan is smouldering, which have smouldered to years in the breasts of all the Polish race, now under the domination of the bear, are in momentary danger of bursting into flame. Very slight encouragement would be necessary to induce such a conflagration."

These were the words of Mr. Roman S. Dmowski of Cracow Austrian Poland, who is stopping at the Windsor Hotel, en route to the Far East. The editor of the "Pamolonic Review" in Austria, this gentleman is a man of culture, who has always taken a keen interest in the movements of his race both at home and abroad.

With a view to securing some idea of the manner in which Polish immigrants are treated after settlement in Canada, Mr. Dmowski will visit the Northwest, where the Galicians are mainly located, and will then proceed thence to Japan to gain some idea of the progress of events in that of activity.

"You must know," said Mr. Dmowski, "that Poland is divided into three sections between Russia, Germany and Austria. Only in the latter country, however, are the Polish people treated with anything like the consideration that they have a reason to expect. In Austria the Poles are subject to their own laws, have fifty representatives in the Imperial House of Parliament, and are given the free use of their own language, which is permitted to be taught in the schools.

"Quite different is the condition of affairs in both Germany and Russia. In Germany, the Poles has, of course some constitutional rights, with 15 members in the Reichstag, but the use of their own language is persecuted in the most barbarous way. In Russia there is no constitution; the rule is despotic. In Polish Russia, the Poles have no rights whatever, their children being even forced to employ Russians in the Schools as the medium through which to learn the Polish language."

BRITAIN THREATENS A WAR

CRUISER WILL SHELL BLUEFIELDS IF REPORATION IS REFUSED

Little Republic Prepares for Trouble by Importing a Ship Load of Arms

Kingston, Jamaica, April 25.—It is reported here that when the British cruiser Retribution sails for Bluefields she will have orders to bombard the town if reparation from Nicaragua is not promptly forthcoming.

The Retribution, which under instructions from the Imperial Government sailed from Kingston April 11 for a Nicaraguan port in connection with the seizure of six Cayman turtle schooners and the arrest of their crews by Nicaraguan officials, returned to Port Royal from the Nicaraguan coast to-day after ascertaining that the vessels and crews had been sent to Bluefields. The captain of the Retribution accused the Nicaraguan commandant, under whose orders the schooners were seized, of piracy. There is consternation among the Nicaraguan officials over the affair.

It was necessary for the Retribution to return to Port Royal to coal, but the cruiser will sail for Bluefields Saturday next to demand the release of the prisoners and the boats and also compensation for their illegal seizure and detention.

PULLS DOWN BRITISH FLAG.

Managua, April 25.—The five tortoise shell fishing schooners captured recently while in Nicaraguan waters and taken to Bluefields had hoisted the British flag on one of the small islands off Cape Gracias-a-Dios, Nicaragua. The fishermen claim they were encouraged to do so by British colonial employes.

The British representative here is quoted as saying in regard to the announced arrival of a British man-of-war at Bluefields that she is going there on a friendly visit to investigate certain events.

NICARAGUA PREPARES FOR WAR

The Nicaraguan steamer Onsteps, from Havana, has arrived in Nicaraguan waters with a consignment of war munitions, purchased in Cuba. She is said to bring 5,000 Remington rifles.

It is rumored that another conference will take place shortly at Amapala, in the Gulf of Fonseca, between the presidents of Honduras, Nicaragua and San Salvador.

THE CODE IS KNOWN

Germans Capture Wireless Messages in Waters

Berlin, April 25.—By means of what is described as "The finest wireless telegraph equipment in the world," German warships within the zone of operations in the far east are regularly intercepting messages passing between vessels of the Japanese fleet, source in close touch with Imperial according to a statement confided to a Daily Star correspondent from a navy affairs. There is no suggestion whatever that the information thus gleaned is being put to an improper use. It is despatched to Berlin purely for the purpose of keeping the Home Government informed of events in Asiatic waters, about which it is stated the Kaiser's navy department prides itself on possessing intelligence second only to that of the Japanese.

FRESH AIR CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

The rapid advancement made in a few years in our knowledge of the origin and cure of tuberculosis has resulted in many interesting disclosures that may be at once understood and utilized by the layman. The most important of these, no doubt, is the discovery that fresh air and sunshine are foes to germ life.

With this as an established scientific fact it follows that tuberculosis can be cured just as easily in Peterborough as in Colorado or Arizona. It has been generally believed that consumption can be best treated in the dry air of high altitudes. In an address before the Hull House Woman's Club Dr. Arnold C. Klebs pronounced this notion fallacious. It is his contention that climate has no material effect upon the disease. While high altitudes may do individual cases good and while a change of scenery is sometimes advantageous, Dr. Klebs recommends patients to stay at home. Wholesome food and cleanliness are also emphasized by Dr. Klebs as important curative and preventive agents.

Therefore "sleep with your bedroom windows wide open," says Dr. Klebs. Let the air and sunshine into bedrooms and working places. It appears to be well established that the germ of tuberculosis can grow only on the inside of an animal. Outside, exposed to the air and sunshine, it can live but a short time. Warm conditions inside of poorly ventilated rooms that are never reached by the rays of the sun are favorable to the growth of the germ.

The experience of "Golden Rule," Jones, mayor of Toledo, who slept on the roof of his home every night and was thereby restored to health, has been widely published. Whether the value of fresh air and sunshine in the treatment of tuberculosis has been overrated or not, it is certain that these elements tend to promote health and long life under most conditions.

GOLD FIELDS OF EASTERN OREGON—A GOLDEN EMPIRE.

A golden empire of 120 miles square this new camp has produced $9,200,000 of the precious metal in 1903. The richness of the ore in many of the mines run from $10,000 to $200,000 a ton. More than one great mine in this wonderland has been paid for by pulverising the rock in an old fashioned mortar, and washing out the gold in a pan. Human genius cannot magnify or gild such facts. Hundreds, if not thousands of mines, are yet to be opened in it, hundreds of great fortunes are yet to be made in this golden empire. Among the noted claims in this veritable treasury box are those owned by the St. Louis Gold Mining Co. located in Deer Creek district, five miles east of the North Pole and Golconda Mines. They own eight full claims, free and clear, with a 500 foot tunnel in ore the whole distance of a free milling and cyaniding character, with a vein of thirty-eight feet and two parallel veins on the property, opened by a 100 foot tunnel. This company has the largest tonage of ore blocked out of any in the camp. The management desires to secure ore before a mill, this sort of mining is only followed up by competent experienced mining men.

Railroad, saw mill and sumpter within six miles of the property. Plenty of timber and an ideal tunnel proposition, and approximate depth of tunnel to 1,500 feet can be gained. The ores are strictly cyaniding, test made by the best profession, show a saving of 95 per cent. of the values at the nominal cost of $1.20 per ton including the mining.

All over this gold strewn county of wonderland new discoveries of riches follow each other like cards from a practiced dealer's hand, but all this takes time and money to open up. Why not, my dear reader, does this article teach you to invest into a developed mine a property of merit and the stock at present prices.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

CURLING.

The cold snap has kept the ice in the curling rink intact, notwithstanding the lateness of the season. A prominent railway man who passed through Peterborough yesterday, stated that in passing Iroquois, the big rink there was illuminated and running full blast.

LACROSSE.

A meeting of the delegates from the Midland District will be held at the Oriental Hotel this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a Midland League. It is expected that three districts will be formed with four teams in each. This will make a league consisting of twelve teams which is a fine showing to start with.

Mr. John Mein, of Toronto, who has accepted a situation at Havelock, is an old lacrosse player from the Peterborough seniors, and he will be a great help to the Havelock team this season.

It will probably cost the County of Hastings in the neighborhood of $40,000 to repair the damage done by the ice and floods this spring. The east span of the Frankfort Bridge was carried away by the ice, and Fairfield's bridge, near Foxboro, was also undermined to such an extent that it may go at any time. Peterborough county has suffered considerably, but the damage done has not been so extensive as this.

Best Way to Rear Healthy Children

Develop Their Strength With Ferrozone Which Makes Rich Blood, Hardy Muscle, Steady Nerves.

Children brought up on Ferrozone are known by their strong rugged frames, their chubby cheeks and healthful appearance. Mothers find it an indispensable tonic and body builder, and in thousands of homes no other remedy is used.

Mrs E. Montgommery, of Pittsburg, writes; "A little neice came to visit me, and noticing her pale looks and haggard looks, I started her on a course of Ferrozone. The change that girl underwent in a few weeks was marvellous. Her appetite chirped up, she had more spirit and ... and a rosy color came into her cheeks that I never saw there before. I weighed my neice about the time she started to pick up, in seven weeks she gained almost eight pounds, and just looked the picture of health. I think this should be an example to many mothers, and I hope that others will try Ferrozone for their little boys and girls. I am thoroughly convinced that it's the most strengthening tonic. It has my strongest endorsement."

EVERY CHILD BENEFITS ON FERROZONE

The reason that Ferrozone works so beneficially with children is that it acts directly on their blood, freeing it of all unhealthy matter, at the same time giving it an additional supply of iron. This at once results in more strength, new spirit and renewed vitality. Just one tablet at meal time works wonders.

You must be sure to get Ferrozone. Refuse to accept any article the druggist may say is just as good. Get what you ask for. Ferrozone, and the result we guarantee will be satisfactory. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. and Hartford, Conn, U.S.A.

NIHILIST SCARE IN ST. PETERSBURG

It Is Alleged That Plot Has Been Discovered to Kill the Czar.

St. Petersburg, April 23—Imperial and Ministerial circles here are in the throes of a Nihilist scare, the result of the alarm created by the death of Katzanoff, who was killed in an explosion in the Hotel du Nord. Katzanoff, according to the police, was an emissary of assassins who meant to murder the Czar and high officers of state. It appears from letters found in Katzanoff's trunks that he and other Nihilists left France for Russia together. Every suspected person in St. Petersburg has been arrested. The officials attribute the activity of the Nihilists to the unrest produced by the war, and particularly to the reports of anti-Government outbreaks in various parts of Russia. Extraordinary efforts are being made to nip the Terrorist campaign in the bud, because the fact is patent that Russia at the present moment offers more safe harbourage to murderous cranks than at almost any previous time since Nihilism first terrorized the country.

Peterborough Men at Brantford

The Brantford Expositor contains the following paragraph concerning the recent visit of Chief Rutherford, Ald. Batten, Ald. Edgcumbe and Mr. T. A. S. Hay to that city:

"A deputation of municipal representatives from Peterborough are in the city today on a particular mission. They are here to gain valuable pointers concerning Brantford's municipal management, more especially in reference to the fire and police departments. This morning the visitors were shown through the fire hall by Chief Lewis, and made a very careful inspection of the equipment and management of the hall. A little later they went through the police quarters, and gathered some interesting facts. Just before noon they started for the waterworks plant where a thorough inspection was conducted. It is understood that it is the intention to erect a new fire hall in Peterborough."

India Rubber.

Few articles seem more strangely named than india rubber. It gets the "rubber" from the first use to which it was put—that of erasing pencil marks by rubbing. Nor should it be associated with India. The tree was first mentioned by an explorer among the Mexican Indians three centuries ago, and the first account of the substance occurs in connection with Columbus' visit to Haiti on his second voyage. Most of our present importation comes from Brazil. But Columbus and these explorers who followed him were searching for a short passage to India, and they supposed that the land they discovered was India. The name india rubber is therefore a permanent sign of their mistake.

The Indian and a Gas Furnace.

Just before gas began to be used in Pawhuska one of the Osage braves visited Bartlesville and got his first glimpse of a gas fire. All he could see in the stove was a pile of redhot bricks, through the crevices of which the blue flames were curling. He said nothing, but before starting home he went to the yard and bought a lot of brick and hauled them home. He burned up six boxes of matches and all the dry wood his wife had cut trying to get the bricks to burn and finally hauled them back to Bartlesville and told the yard man they were no good.

The Tibetans.

The Tibetans are not beautiful. How could they be when, by their own confession, the national ancestry runs back to the king of the monkeys and a hobgoblin? Beauvalet says of them, "The very bears are better looking." The type is midway between the Eskimo and the Chinese. Broad, flat noses, without visible bridge; no eyebrows, wide mouths, full lips, oily skins, hair as coarse and straight as horsehair, and short, square, ungainly figures—these are the elements of the unpleasing picture.

Talking English.

Here is a story that comes from London and illustrates the peculiarities of the American boy: The youngster was at the Hotel Cecil, and he listened intently to a group of English folks. Suddenly he looked up at his mother. "Say, ma, do these people talk English?" "Certainly they do, my child. What a question!" "Then we don't," said the cub.

An Old Testament Verse.

The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra in the Old Testament contains all the letters of the alphabet. "And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily."

Do Animals Dream?

Much research and investigation warrant the assertion that man is not the only animal subject to dreams. Horses neigh and roar upon their hind feet while fast asleep; dogs bark and growl and in many other ways exhibit all their characteristic passions. It is highly probable that at such times the remembrance of the chase or of a combat is passing through the dogs' minds. Besides the above signs of fleeting pain, anger and excitement these noble creatures often manifest signs of kindness, playfulness and of almost every other passion. Ruminant animals, such as the sheep and the cow, are believed to be less affected with dreams than those of higher passions which spend their waking hours in scenes of greater excitement.

Philosophers and investigators tell us that if we trace the dream faculty still lower in the scale of animal life we shall probably find that the same phenomena exist, and judging from analogy it is only reasonable to reckon dreaming as one of the universal laws—almost as universal as sleep itself.

Lion Signs in England.

In the middle ages the country houses of the nobility in England when the owners were absent were used as hostels for travelers. The family arms always hung in front of the house, and gave it a popular name among travelers, who called a lion "gules" or azure simply "red" or "blue." As these were intimations of good cheer and entertainment, innkeepers adopted the idea.

Lions have always been, and are now, very favorite signs in England; lions white, black, red, brown, golden, yellow—red being the most common. Probably the Red Lion originated with the badge of John of Gaunt, duke of Lancaster, who married the daughter of Don Pedro, king of Leon and Castille, and who adopted the lion rampant gules of Leon to represent his claim to the throne. Under Richard and John Hone became the settled arms of England, and were generally used by those who could find any claim.

A Perfect Nose.

Nothing is more rare than a really perfect nose—that is, one which unites harmony of form, correctness of proportion and proper affinity with the other features.

The following are, according to the rules of art, the conditions requisite to the beauty of this organ:

The nose should have the same length as the forehead and have a slight depression at its root. From its root to its extremity it should follow a perfectly straight line, and come exactly over the center of the upper lip. The bridge of the nose, parallel on both sides, should be a little wider in the center. The tip should be neither too thin nor too fleshy, and its lower outline neither narrow nor too wide. The lobes must be gracefully defined by a slight depression. Seen sideways, the lowest part of the nose will have but a third of its total length.

Programmes Worth Fortunes.

London playgoers often grumble at the mere slips of paper, sometimes sold for as much as sixpence, that constitute the programmes of most of the theaters in the great city; but, from the theatrical speculator's point of view, these same printed sheets form a most valuable asset. It is estimated that £30,000 worth of advertisements alone appear every year on these programmes and that a gross profit of quite £50,000 a year is made out of the aggregate lot of programmes. In many cases sums of from £1,000 to £3,000 are paid for the right to farm out the programmes.—London Globe.

The English Husband.

A poor woman in a London parish was consulting me in connection with her domestic troubles, and there was some doubt as to whether her marriage was a legal one, inasmuch as her "husband" (as she had just discovered) appeared to have a wife living from whom he had separated. The woman's pathetic inquiry was, "If he is not my husband, what right has he to knock me about?"—A Clergyman in London Spectator.

Nature's Sweet Restorer.

Blessings on him who invented sleep, the mantle that covers all human thoughts, the food that appeases hunger, the drink that quenches thirst, the fire that warms, the cold that moderates heat and, lastly, the general coin that purchases all things, the balance and weight that equals the shepherd with the king and the simple with the wise.—Cervantes.

A Blemish.

Mrs. Newrich (in art store)—I'd take this picture, but some person has been scribbling on it. Salesman—But, madam, that is the artist's signature. Mrs. Newrich—Well, he's got his nerve. Still, I guess you could scratch it out, couldn't you?

Voices.

All long known objects, even a mere window fastening or a particular door latch, have sounds which are a sort of recognized voice to us—a voice that will thrill and awaken when it has been used to touch deep lying fibers.

Not Compulsory.

"Tell me, colonel," asked the beginner in politics, addressing the gray haired statesman, "can a politician be honest?"

"I suppose so, my boy," replied the veteran, "but—ah!—it isn't necessary."

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern machinery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company

Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $250,000 with shares at $10 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Fuller Secretary, and C. E. Furness, Mine Owner in South Dakota as required by law. Of the $250,000 capitalization, in shares of $10 each, $150,000 worth is issued, the first on allotment of this was sold at par, $1.

The Consumers Coal Company controls and owns clear title to three coal mines in Chicago, Illinois, which is a first-class one mile on the Toledo, Peoria & Western and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 320 acres under and with three distinct veins, or layers of coal which are 6½ feet thick each. The first one at a depth of 250 feet, the third at 600 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which we term the sump, makes our shafts total depth 850 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a break down we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 100 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 300 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

All coal in Illinois of cost more than $2 at the present time to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease as our fixed expenses will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farms and towns people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2.75 to $3.00 for Mine Run and $3.75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we feel sure that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $150 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 18 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 30 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $30 per share before another year is over and by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if for any reason you should desire to withdraw your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if for any reason you should desire to withdraw your subscription we will kindly do so. Remain,

Yours very truly,

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

Author of "For a Woman's Sake," "Love's Triumph," "Purified by Suffering," "A Grass Widow," "Woman Against Woman," Etc.

Regularly each day when the sun nears the western horizon, Maggie strolls away to the cottage, and the lonely woman, waiting for her on the rude bench by the door, can tell her bounding footsteps from all others which pass that way. She does not say much now, herself, but the sound of Maggie's voice, talking to her in the gathering twilight, is the sweetest she has ever heard, and so she sits and listens, while her hands work nervously together, and her whole body trembles with the longing, intense desire she feels to clasp the young girl to her bosom, and claim her as her own. But this she dare not do, for Madam Conway's training has had its effect, and in Maggie's bearing there is ever a degree of pride which forbids anything like undue familiarity. And it was this very pride which Hagar liked to see, whispering often to herself, "Warren blood and Conway airs—the two go well together."

Sometimes a word or look would make her start, they reminded her so forcibly of the dead, and once she said involuntarily, "You are like your mother, Maggie. Exactly what she was at your age."

"My mother!" answered Maggie. "You never talked to me of her. Tell me of her. I did not suppose I was like her in anything."

"Yes, in everything," said old Hagar, "the same dark eyes and hair, the same bright red cheeks, the same—"

"Why, Hagar, what can you mean?" interrupted Maggie, "My mother had light blue eyes and fair brown hair, like Theo. Grandma says I am not like her at all, while old Hannah, the cook, when she feels ill-natured, and wishes to tease me, says I am the very image of Hester Hamilton."

"And what if you are? What if you are?" eagerly rejoined old Hagar. "Would you feel badly, to know you looked like Hester?" and the old woman bent anxiously forward, to hear the answer. "Not for myself, perhaps, provided Hester was handsome, for I think a good deal of beauty, that's a fact, but it would annoy grandma terribly to have me look like a servant. She might fancy I was Hester's daughter, for she wonders every day where I get my low-bred ways, as she calls my liking to sing and laugh, and be natural."

"And s'posin' Hester was your mother, would you care?" persisted Hagar.

"Of course I should," answered Maggie, her large eyes opening wide at the strange question. "I wouldn't for the whole world be anybody but Maggie Miller, just who I am. To be sure, I get awfully out of patience with grandma and Mrs. Jeffrey, for talking so much about birth and blood and family, and all that sort of nonsense, but, after all, I wouldn't for anything be poor and work as poor folks do."

"I'll never tell her, never," muttered Hagar; and Maggie continued: "What a queer habit you have of talking to yourself. Did you always do so?"

"Not always. It came upon me with the secret," Hagar answered inadvertently; and eagerly catching at the last word, which to her implied a word of romance and mystery, Maggie exclaimed, "The secret, Hagar, the secret? If there's anything delight in it is a secret!" and sliding down from the rude bench to the grass plot at Hagar's feet, she continued: "Tell it to me, Hagar; that's a dear old woman. I'll never tell anybody as long as I live. I won't, upon my word," she continued, as she saw the look of horror resting on Hagar's face; "I'll help you to keep it, and we'll have such grand times talking it over. Did it concern yourself?" and Maggie folded her arms upon the lap of the old woman, who answered in a voice so hoarse and unnatural that Maggie involuntarily shuddered, "Old Hagar would die inch by inch sooner than tell you, Maggie Miller, her secret."

"Was it then so dreadful?" asked Maggie, half fearfully, and casting a stealthy glance at the dim woods, where the night shadows were falling, and whose winding path she must traverse alone on her homeward route. "Was it," then, so dreadful?"

"Yes, dreadful, dreadful; and yet, Maggie, I have sometimes wished you knew it. You should forgive me, perhaps, if you knew how I was tempted," said Hagar, and her voice was full of yearning tenderness, while her bony fingers parted lovingly the shining hair from off the white brow of the young girl, who plead again, "Tell it to me, Hagar."

There was a fierce struggle in Hagar's bosom, but the night wind, waving through the hemlock boughs, seemed to say, "Not yet—not yet," and, remembering her vow, she answered: "Leave me, Maggie Miller; I cannot tell you the secret. You of all others. You would hate me for it, and that I could not bear. Leave me alone, or the sight of you, so beautiful, pleading for my secret, will kill me dead."

There was command in the tones of her voice, and, rising to her feet, Maggie walked away, with a dread feeling at her heart—a feeling which whispered vaguely to her of a deed of blood, for what, save this, could thus affect old Hagar? Her road home led near the little burying-ground, and impelled by something she could not resist, she paused at her mother's grave. The moonlight was falling softly upon it, and seating herself within the shadow of the monument she sat a long time thinking, not of the dead, but of Hagar and the strange words she had uttered. Suddenly, from the opposite side of the graveyard, there came a sound as of some one walking, and looking up Maggie saw approaching her the best figure of the old woman, who seemed unusually excited. Her first impulse was to fly, but knowing how improbable it was that Hagar should seek to do her harm, and thinking she might discover some clue to the mystery if she remained, she sat still. While kneeling on Hester's grave old Hagar wept bitterly, talking the while, but so incoherently that Maggie could distinguish nothing save the words, "You, Hester, have forgiven me."

"Can it be that she has killed her own child!" thought Maggie, and starting to her feet she stood face to face with Hagar, who screamed "You here, Maggie Miller! Here with the others who know my secret. But you shan't wring it from me. You shall never know it, unless the dead rise up to tell you!"

"Hagar Warren," said Margaret, sternly, "is murder your secret? Did Hester Hamilton die at her mother's hands?"

With a short, gasping moan, Hagar staggered backward a pace or two, and then, standing far more erect than Margaret had ever seen her before, she answered: "No, Maggie Miller, no; murder is not my secret. These hands," and she tossed in the air her shriveled arms, "these hands are as free from blood as yours. And now go! Leave me alone with my dead, and see that you tell no tales. You like secrets, you say. Let what you have heard outweigh be your secret. Go!"

Maggie obeyed, and walked slowly homeward, feeling greatly relieved that her suspicion was false, and experiencing a degree of satisfaction in thinking that she, too, had a secret which she would guard most carefully from her grandmother and Theo. "She would never tell them what she had seen and heard—never."

BRITISH OPINION ON TORONTO FIRE

Loses May Shake Status of Smaller Companies

BRITISH METHODIST UNION

Wesleyan Body Unlikely to Be Included—Christian Scientist Church In England

London, April 23.—Among insurance men the opinion is expressed that the Toronto fire may shake the financial status of one or two of the smaller offices that depend chiefly upon the surplus business of larger companies. Surprise is expressed that after Baltimore's experience the Toronto firemen should have used dynamite to pull up buildings. This expedient has been found useless when there is a high wind, for unless the area cleared is considerable the flames are easily carried over it, as they are frequently over wide streets. Besides at Baltimore the blowing up of property only added to the destructiveness of the outbreak.

No dynamite was used of the Toronto fire, though at one stage its use was contemplated.

The Pall Mall Gazette says in commenting on the Toronto fire: British sympathy will go out to the inhabitants of the flourishing Canadian city whose commercial prosperity has received a serious setback.

BRITISH METHODIST UNION.

The Canadian Associated Press has learned that the idea of Methodist Union as far as the Wesleyan connection is concerned is at present outside the range of practical politics. A special committee appointed at the Wesleyan Conference of 1903 will present its report at the coming Sheffield Conference. The report says that then result of the committee's investigations is that complete union is at present entirely impracticable as far as the Wesleyan body is concerned. The Methodist New Connexion, the Bible Christians, the Wesleyan Reform Union, the Independent Methodists and the United Methodist Free Church are likely to unite and have agreed tentatively to certain main principles.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IN ENGLAND

At the opening of the first church in Great Britain of the Christian Scientists, the Earl of Dunmore said that he had suffered from the result of a bad accident in Central Asia, had put himself under Christian Science treatment, and in a few months was perfectly cured of a disease the doctors said he would carry to his grave.

AS VIEWED IN ST. PETERSBURG

St.-Petersburg, April 23.—Admiral Alexieff's loss of authority in the Far East is an accomplished fact, whether the report of his resignation prove correct or not, and terminates a bitter chapter in Russian foreign policy. It is hoped that the disgraced Admiral will be followed into private life by State Secretary Beobrazo; and his entourage, including Baron Kool, Engineer Mikhailovsky and M. Matiunin, who was at one time Russian political agent at Seoul. This the clique to which Russia is indebted for the present war.

ALL QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR

Port Arthur, April 23.—(Delayed in transmission.) The situation here is unchanged. A large launch from the Petropavlovsk was brought into the harbor to-day. Two German naval officers have arrived here. They will be attached to the Russian headquarters. The cruiser Bayan suffered no damage from the hail of shells poured upon her from the Japanese warships when the Bayan went to the assistance of the Russian torpedo boat destroyers on April 13, just previous to the sinking of the Petropavlovsk. The Bayan in driving off the Japanese destroyers, which had sunk the Strashni, was subjected to the fire of six Japanese cruisers.

The Augusta Metal Mining Co.

Capitalized at $2,000,000.00.
Par value $1.00. Full Paid and Non-Assessable

At 75 Cents per share

This company now owns the well-known Augusta mine and its extension for over 1000 feet in addition to other claims approximating a total acreage of 300 acres. This property has produced over $250,000 in gold, silver and lead ores and is a producer to-day. Has shipped ores of an average net value of $40 per ton for first class and $18 per ton for second class, all the past summer and the summer before smelter and mill returns of which are on file in our office.

Has immense bodies of these grades of ore which cannot be exhausted in five years already opened up and its main working tunnel is nearing completion, cutting the apex of the vein at a depth of 1,000 feet.

This block of shares is offered to enable the Company to connect the above tunnel with its concentrating mill and projected terminus of railroad by tramway, a distance of 11,120 feet, thereby permitting shipments during the entire year.

A production of at least 15 tons daily will be maintained when these improvements are made, and if completed in the early summer, dividends can be paid from ore settlements before this fall.

We offer for a limited time only a SPECIAL BLOCK OF 50,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK of these Companies.

We reserve the right to reject subscriptions over and above the 50,000 shares offered. Each subscription to be booked as received.

Investigate to your heart's content, and quickly, then let us hear from you.

The Black Queen Gold Mining Co.

Selling at 75c a Share

Like its sister Company is to-day giving the best value for the money of any share offered.

This Company owns and controls over 300 acres of good mineral-producing ground, including the well-known Excelsior and Yankee Blade, which have produced upward of $175,000.

Tunnel B of the Black Queen Company is now going in at a rate of 175 feet per month, and early spring will see this work vieing with Tunnel A of the Augusta Company in its record of production.

Will cut known proven ore bodies 1100 feet from Apex, and open sufficient stoping ground to make an output of 100 tons daily.

Has already cut through a cross vein two feet in width of good marketable Galena ore, the point of intersection being 600 feet beneath the surface. We have 900 feet of this vein in length.

We can show you these facts and ask that you ask us to do so.

If your investment becomes profitable you will tell others; therefore it is much to our interest to have you make money on your investment.

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been shown for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest, and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same care and attention forever, making it absolutely certain that no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All persons have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

7. Do you know that our neighbors produced last year $5,000,000.
8. Do you know that by their experience we profit, and can in one year be listed among them as a paying property.

The U. S. Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada with a capital of $200,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

Every safeguard to the stockholders which the most eminent legal talent could suggest has been taken advantage of in the organization of this company, so that the private property of the stockholders can never become liable for the debts of the corporation, and that every stockholder may feel secure in his interest, no matter how small.

OUR PLAN

There are 200,000 Shares of capital stock. Of this amount 80,000 shares have been issued in part payment for the mines. This left 120,000 shares in the treasury, 37,000 of which have been sold, leaving 83 000 shares in the treasury unsold at this date.

The Trustees propose to sell 50,000 shares of the underwritten stock at $1.00 per share. The sale of this 50,000 shares will place in the treasury sufficient funds to finish the construction of a 50-ton plant and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury.

We have contracted for and will erect on our property a 50-ton cyanide plant as soon as treasury will permit from the sale of the 500,00 shares of the guaranteed stock.

When the above plant is finished, which we expect to accomplish before April 1st, 1904, and with ore now in sight sufficient to run our plant for many years, the holders of our stock can rest assured that they will have an investment as safe as United States bonds with an income on their investments that must necessarily be large on account of the high grade ores that are now proven to exist in the mines.

The Guaranteed Stock to the amount of 50,000 shares is protected by ten years non-interest bearing bond of the "Granite Securities Company," of Los Angeles, California, with twenty interest coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest guaranteed by the U. S. GOLD MINING AND MILLING COMPANY; also a guarantee of dividends.

We invite the fullest investigation. Full particulars may be obtained from Roland Kidd, Canadian Fiscal Agent, Temperance Street, Toronto and George Street, Peterborough, or to

THE JAPANESE SMILE BLINDLY

Are Delighted to Hear That Alexieff is in Trouble

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Capt. Tsuritzyne commanding a battery of the Port Arthur Fortress Artillery, who was wounded in the first attack by the Japanese fleet, dictated the story of his sensations while under fire, to Miss Bertha Smith, a Red Cross nurse in the Port Arthur Military Hospital. He tells of his feelings in great detail, and gives a graphic picture of the scenes of death and havoc that occurred during the bombardment.

It is the first detailed account of the bombardment to be printed. His story, which is told in a letter to his mother, is as follows:

"The sea was smooth like a silk dress, glittering in many hues. I thought I noticed the vibration of the air as I looked out, scanning the horizon for the enemy.

"Suddenly, in the far distance, a black dot. Now several of them. The grew. They came nearer. One, two, seven, ten, fifteen. The dots elongated into lines. Quicker and quicker they advanced. First they appeared black, then gray, then brown. The glasses tell us that they are still ten miles away. It's nine now; eight, seven, six.

"At six—a small, white, fluffy mass. Boom! Will it strike. I cannot picture our impatience at that crucial moment, little mother.

"As the ball shot towards us I perceived its outlines for an instant. I saw it plunge into the water. If it had carried a foot further the Peresawet would have been hit. I could not help but admire the display of marksmanship at such a distance, previous to any attempts at range finding. As the shot plunged into the water, the officers and crew of the Peresawet acted as if electrified.

"Another cloudlet—We watched it as the condemned does the gibbet building outside. For, after the first shot all our contempt for Jap warriors had evaporated. Zounds! there it came flying above our heads. An instant afterward there was a terrific explosion at the mountainside, some 500 feet in our rear.

"We were not excited to any great degree, but as the number of guns increased, the hellish noise made our teeth ache. I never had a toothache in my life, as you know, but now I felt as if each tooth was attacked by an ulcer. The nerves of the ears being excessively irritated, caused the toothache through sympathy of the organs, I suppose.

"But, when the diving began, my feelings were indescribably sad. Ere I saw blood actually spill at my feet, at my side, above and below me I was quite calm, and, strange to say, very tired, but no thought of death occurred to me. But it was soon enough thrown into our midst with awful suddenness.

"The enemy meanwhile went through the usual manoeuvres; one shot fell short, another went wide of the mark. The Japs saw it all by their glasses, writing pad in hand. The 'too far' and 'too short' was added up, divided, and the range changed accordingly.

"They figured it out to a nicety, and, lo, our battery was at once gutted with steel, the first bomb bursting in our midst, five or six seconds after the last had gone wild.

"We were under orders not to respond until a bomb had actually landed; some of our men had to be maimed and killed before we dared raise a finger, but when the slaughter did occur, it was the signal for ten strand batteries and twelve ships to discharge a hundred guns at once. The noise was deafening, and the blood started to run out of my mouth and ears, and I am afraid I will never be able to use my teeth as formerly.

"Suddenly behind me cries of pain, of horrible agony. I turned. My gunmaster held one hand to his face, and with the other groped in the air. Blood was issuing from his cheeks and mouth, it seems, was a momentarily lull in the cannonade A bursting shell had cut off poor George's nose. From the roadside came soldiers bearing litters. A surgeon approached hastily, followed by men and women of the Red Cross. A glance told me all, and I returned to my duty.

"Somebody touched my shoulder. There was a momentarily lull in the cannonade A soldier tried to deliver a message. He was white as death and his lips were still whiter than his face. They moved, but would formulate not the words the soldier intended to speak. In moments of great excitement we sometimes lose dominion over our muscles.

"I shouted at the man. I hope I did not scold him, but I know not. Once more he tried to speak; then, giving it up, pointed his finger downward. I looked. At the bottom of the hill a battery of quick-firing guns was installed. Pretty things to look at and able to spout forth sixty grapeshot — that is twelve hundred balls—a minute.

"I hastened to get the men below. The air was full of flying fragments, pieces of shell, grenades and bombs of every conceivable shape.

"As I ran down the hill a bomb exploded between two cannons mowing down the gunners. I saw one soldier crawl away on all fours, fragments of steel sticking out of his head and the blood running over his eyes, blinding him.

"'Leave the guns and help that poor devil,' I commanded. If I did wrong may the Czar take away the decoration he bestowed upon me. I couldn't see such suffering without attempting help. Another shell, a sugar loaf, this time. Under its impact one of our quick-firing guns broke in two like a straw. The other was already silent, for all the men were dead or dying.

"After doing what I could for the wounded I went back to my heavy battery. The Japs, who had probably noticed the demolition of our quick-firing guns—they couldn't see anything (or smoke, but their aim being extremely good, knew we had enough—the enemy now turned its attention upon the Electric Rock exclusively, and we experienced an awful fifteen minutes, too full of events to describe.

"Presently Commander-in-Chief General Stoessel arrived on horseback to congratulate us on our fire discipline. 'For the honor of the Czar,'

Letters from prominent people regarding the Bannie Mine

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., 7-25-03.

Gentlemen—On inquiry from those whom I consider reliable, I am informed that the Bannie mine is among the very best prospective properties in this country, and well worthy of investment.

Very respectfully,

DENNIS A. CLARKE, Mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

MESSRS. KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. The Prescott National Bank, Prescott, Ariz., July 29, 1903.

Gentlemen—While we never personally visited the Bannie Group, we hear the property well and favorably spoken of by parties who have been on the ground and whose opinion should carry considerable weight; and the fact that the miners who work in said mines are, according to reliable information, investing in Bannie stock, would indicate that the property possesses a good deal of merit.

Yours very truly,

R. N. FRIEDERICKS, Cashier.

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.)
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise,

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 30th, 1903.

Gentlemen—Your telegram asking for report on Bannie mine, to hand. The Bannie mine is considered by all mining men here to be one of the best prospects for a big mine in this part of the country. The officers are all men of standing and good, conservative business men. The miners working in the mine are taking one-half their wages in stock, which speaks for itself. We consider stock a good investment. Respectfully,

D. LEVY & CO., (Inc.) by N. Levy, Pres.

KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O, Prescott, Ariz, 7-28-03

Gents—Replying to your wire of today, we have heard a great many good, very good, reports of the Bannie mine, and have never heard a man say anything against it. Miners who are working there are buying the stock. The president of the Bannie M. Co. is an old mining man of experience. We believe that this company is mining on a strictly business basis and is a good investment. Yours truly,

SAMUEL HILL HARDWARE CO., Ray Hill, Pres.

MESSRS KROHN BROS, Cincinnati, O. Prescott, Ariz., July 31, 1903.

Gentlemen— . . . . . The nature of the ore is a heavy iron, lead and copper sulphide, which carries very good gold, silver and copper values. The ore bodies, as far as they have been explored, are quite large and well defined, which indicates permanence. My information is principally from practical miners who have been working in the property, therefore I consider it pretty substantial information.

In conclusion will say that this is considered one of the most promising prospects in this section. Yours very respectfully,

ED. BLOCK.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of reputation able honor and integrity, and especially when sufficient work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full mined claims, to-wit:—The Smuggler, Gargun, Black Jack, Ester and Red Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Experienced miners are Petrol, Price of Pendleton, Bozarth and Rockefeller, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, averaging from $15 to $45 per ton, bored on smaller returns, and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

For further information apply to FOLAND KIDD, Peterborough and Toronto, or to

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grains

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1500 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet of shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in leases of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing

We feel that it would be well right here to set all stockholders straight regarding the vein. On the 60-foot level it was reported that the vein was 79 feet wide We find now, after crosscutting on the lower level, that 79 feet was not the correct width of the vein. At one time the vein stood out of the ground and in this position tipped down the mountain, making a large body of mineralized matter. It was in going through this entire mass that we cross-cut 79 feet. The vein proper, on the first level, we now find was less than 20 feet wide. In going down this 100 feet the vein has widened materially, the values have greatly improved and the walls so stand now that the vein is widening as it goes down. We now have two well defined walls. A vein 25 feet wide is in itself something remarkable, but when at a depth of only 160 feet we find it entirely filled with ore of a good commercial value, the showing is unusual and most gratifying. Our stockholders will find upon investigating, that most of the great dividend payers have veins only a few feet wide and values rarely exceeding $5 per ton.

We are now sinking again. Hereafter the levels will be 100 feet apart. As soon as the next level is reached we will again cross-cut to the vein where we purpose doing a considerable amount of work.

Arrangements have been made to have the work at the Midway in the future, directed by a competent mining engineer, under the supervision of Mr. Hendryx.

It might be interesting to the stockholders to state that the cost of sinking this shaft, including labor, timber and necessary expenses, is about $40 per lineal foot. In many mines such work far exceeds this figure.

With our saw mill we have cut 238,230 feet of lumber and timber which will be sufficient supply until we are ready to build a mill. We have sufficient wood on hand to run us until July.

Our Timber

We have timber growing on our ground to furnish us lumber, timber and fuel for many years.

Our Titles

In the past year we have had all of our claims resurveyed and relocated, in this way fixing our boundaries exactly so that no disputes can arise. Our ground is contiguous. Plats have been made and we are ready to apply for patent from the United States whenever we feel prepared to invest the money.

Money Expended

Up to date about 275,000 shares of the treasury stock have been sold. Out collections on these sales approximately $45,000 has been received and invested in the Midway proposition. Of this sum about $15 000 was invested in the machinery above mentioned and all of the remainder has gone into the properties. None of this has gone into any salaries to officers as we pay no salary to any officer of the company. The report is too long and too cumbersome to be here recited in detail.

We would necessarily be obliged to recapitulate and the recapitulation would show the amounts as here given. The books and accounts are correctly kept and a voucher is taken and filed for every item of expense. An inspection of the work done and improvements made would satisfy anyone that we have a hundred cents of full value to show for every dollar expended.

Estimated Requirements

After consultation with the manager it is estimated that $30,000 to $35,000 additional will put the property on a producing and self-sustaining basis. We desire to instal a 10-stamp mill as early as possible. Our manager assures us that such a plant, with the necessary equipment will place the proposition in a position not only to maintain itself, but will carry the work through to a satisfactory dividend paying basis

Equipment

Under this head we have installed one first class sinking plant of eighteen hundred foot capacity; one saw mill, with a capacity of twenty thousand feet per day; one electric lighting plant with 120 16-candle power lights capacity.

We have erected all the necessary bunk and boarding houses and are in a position to continue with the present equipment until after the property is on a paying basis.

We cut 238,231 feet of lumber and 390 cords of wood which will run us up until July, and lumber and timbers enough for the mine until we are ready to build a stamp mill or other incidentals in the way of tools for equipment, etc., and are accounted for as itemized in the statement.

The Old English Coffee Houses.

In 1657, we are told, the first coffee house had been prosecuted as a nuisance. In 1708 there were 2,000 coffee houses, and each coffee house had its habitual circle. There were coffee houses frequented by merchants and stockjobbers, carrying on the game which suggested the new nicknames bulls and bears, and coffee houses where the talk was Whig and Tory, of the last election and change of ministry, and literary resorts such as the Grecian, where, as we are told, a fatal duel was provoked by a dispute over a Greek accent, in which, let us hope, it was the worst scholar who was killed, and Will's, where Pope as a boy went to look reverently at Dryden, and Button's, where at a later period Addison met his little senate. Addison, according to Pope, spent five or six hours a day lounging at Button's, while Pope found the practice and the consequent consumption of wine too much for his health. Thackeray notices how the club and coffee house "boosing shortened the lives and enlarged the waistcoats of the men of those days."—"English Literature and Society in the Eighteenth Century."

Lofty Mountain Lakes.

The most lofty lakes are found among the Himalaya mountains in Tibet. Their altitudes do not, however, seem to have been very accurately gauged, for different authorities give widely different figures regarding them. According to some, Lake Manasarowar, one of the sacred lakes of Tibet, is between 19,000 and 20,000 feet above the level of the sea, and if this is so it is undoubtedly the loftiest in the world.

Two other Tibetan lakes, those of Chatamoo and Surakol, are said to be 17,000 and 15,400 feet in altitude respectively. For a long time it was supposed that Lake Titicaca, in South America, was the loftiest in the world. It covers about 4,500 square miles, is 924 feet in its greatest depth and is 12,000 feet above the sea. In spite of inexactitude with regard to the measurements of the elevation of the Tibetan lakes they are no doubt considerably higher than this or any other.

The Oldest Herbarium.

The oldest herbarium in the world is in the Egyptologist museum at Cairo, and consists of an inconspicuous collection of dried portions of plants. These portions of plants and flowers were taken from wreaths and garlands in the coffins with mummies, where they were placed by the ancient Egyptians as death offerings, and from edible plants which were set in earthen vessels on the floor of the sepulcher as the furniture of the last resting place of their beloved ones.

Many of these floral remains are so well preserved that, after being treated with warm water, they can be handled like modern herbarium specimens. The colors, too, are preserved in a remarkable way. The most important matter in connection with these plants is their age. The remains of funeral food are found in tombs as far back as 3,000 years before Christ.

The Spartan Japanese Father.

The Spartan character of the Japanese father may be gathered from two facts mentioned by Consul Dalgorn Goh in the admirable address on family relations in Japan which he delivered before the Japan society. The Japanese child calls its father "Chan-pu" and its mother "Jibo"—which mean "valet father" and "housekeeping mother"—and Mr. Goh quoted a Japanese boy who classified the Japanese father as one of the "four fearful things of the world—earthquake, thunder, conflagration and father."—London Truth.

Macaronic Verse.

Macaronic verse is verse written in more than one language or one language twisted to appear like another. For example, a long poem on wine, dating from early in the sixteenth century, begins:

The best tree, if ye take intent,
Inter ligna fructifera,
Is the vine tree by good argument,
Dulcis forens pondera.

Another example of the second kind mentioned is Dean Swift's imitation Latin poem beginning "Mollis abest, hapax acuti," which in English reads "Molly's a beauty, has an acute [illegible]

ONE GOOD INVESTMENT IS BETTER THAN A LONG LIFE OF LABOR.

THE PYRAMID GOLD & COPPER MINING CO'Y

Incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and operating extensively in the Copper Basin District, Yavapai County, Arizona, owns twelve (12) claims 600 x 1500 feet each; nearly 200 acres. This makes one of the largest gold and copper mining properties in the Southwest. The property is all paid for, title perfect, and the company has no debts.

A large amount of development work has been done entirely at the expense of the officers and directors of the company, which proves that the Pyramid property contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of very rich ore. The last eight assays made from ore taken from the various shafts average $31.52 per ton. One shaft is in Sulphide of Copper, the entire width which experts believe will assay from $75.00 to $100.00 per ton. There is an immense quantity of this sulphide ore.

This property is four and one-half miles from Kirkland, a station on the Sante Fe, Phoenix and Prescott Railroad and thirty five miles from the Val Verde Smelter. A stamp and concentrating mill, with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day, is now being erected on this property. The management expects to have this mill completed and running by May 15th, 1904. As mining properties are operated 360 days in a year, you can readily see that the earnings of one 100 ton mill will enable the company to pay good substantial dividends.

It is the intention of the Company to continue increasing their present plant until they have a capacity of 600 tons or more per day, and then build their own smelter.

The Capital Stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is $1 200,000. Par value of shares $1.00 each. 800,000 shares in the treasury, the proceeds from the sale of Treasury Stock will be used in building various stamp and concentrating mills on the property, equip the mines, etc. No salaries will be paid to officers of the company until the property is on a dividend paying basis. Every dollar received from the sale of stock is expended in a judicious manner for equipment and further development of the property.

Only a limited number of shares will be sold at 50 cents. When sufficient funds have been obtained to pay for the mill, now in the course of construction, and the equipment of the mines, the stock will be advanced to $1.00 per share.

The Pyramid property is about 25 miles from Senator W. A. Clark's rich United Verde Mines that pay about $18,000,000 profit annually. We don't claim to have a better property than the United Verde, for to be as good is good enough, and according to the excellent showing made on this property we cannot help but believe that the Pyramid property will prove, as development progresses, to be one of the best in Arizona.

The stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is recommended as an investment.

FIRST—Because copper has proved itself to be the best of all investments. Bacon Street, Boston, and a large part Fifth Avenue, New York, are lined with palaces built with copper dividends.

SECOND—Because Yavapa County, Arizona—the home of the United Verde—is the richest copper producing county in the world. Already over $130,000,000 have been paid in dividends from mines in this county.

THIRD—Because the Pyramid Company has one of the largest and richest properties in Yavapai County, Arizona.

FOURTH—Because many thousand dollars in cold cash has been spent on the development and equipment of the property so that it is close to the producing, self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage.

FIFTH—Because the company is moderately capitalized, conservately organized and well managed.

SIXTH—Because the stock of the Pyramid Gold & Copper Mining Company is a safe investment. Its property is one of the choicest in Arizona.

SEVENTH—Because the stock at the present price is the cheapest and best investment in the market to-day.

Are you ambitious, and do you want to reach the height of your ambition? If you do you must accumulate money, for money means freedom, comfort and ease.

An investment in the stock of a mining company whose property is developed to such an extent to prove that it contains an almost inexhaustible quantity of rich ore, and the officers and directors of the company are men of good character and standing, who thoroughly understand the mining business, is the safest and most profitable investment in the market to-day. It is much safer, and by far more profitable than Banking. If you desire to make an absolutely safe investment and one that will bring you large returns this is your opportunity. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

It is not a question of how little you can invest, but how much. Take all you can get of it. If you want to get Pyramid Stock at 50 cents per share, send in your order and remittance at once. Make remittances payable to the company. For prospectus and further particulars address, R. J. KIDD, General Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Liquid medicines taken into the stomach can't possibly reach the air cells of the lungs, and so therefore useless.

Catarrhozone never fails to kill the health of consumptives for the following reasons, which are plain to everybody reading.

First—Each breath of medicated air you draw through Catarrhozone inhaler is at once sent through every air cell and air passage in the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. It is thus sure to reach the seat of the consumption germs.

Being a powerful antiseptic Catarrhozone at once kills these germs and establishes such a healthy condition in the lungs that microbes can't live there. Once the germs of the disease is removed it is only a matter of time till you get well and strong again.

That Catarrhozone does permanently cure Tubercular trouble can no longer be doubted. Ample evidence of its marvelous merit is witnessed every day. Thousands have been cured after all else has failed by this great germ destroyed, which is inhaled to the very source of the disease.

Mrs. G. P. McClusky, writing from Salt Lake City, U.S., says, "My doctor ordered me to Colorado, where I first used Catarrhozone. I inhaled it probably twenty times a day. In one week it stopped my cough completely, and it was not very long in taking every bit of soreness and hoarseness out of my throat. The antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone must certainly have killed all the germs of consumption in my lungs, for I came home in seven months more. My doctor says Catarrhozone is a marvel. It is of the greatest assistance in lung trouble, and cured me permanently."

Not only consumption but every form of catarrh and throat trouble is easily cured by Catarrhozone. Two months treatment costs $1.00. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont. For a quick and certain cure use only Catarrhozone.

OUT IN FORCE

Peterborough Baseball Team Had a Good Turn Out on Another Afternoon

Manager Whitcroft had two more candidates on Saturday afternoon out a light practice on the Murray street baseball grounds. Nearly all of last year's players will be available, together with a number of new ones. Yesterday the making of the team will be somewhat changed, and a number of the club Saturday. So had a good turn out and but the management that Manager Whitcroft will put into the National League this season will be a pretty crazy bunch and ought to pretty nearly cover our ears.

It is an understood fact that Flaherty will again be the "catcher," although certain teams have been after him. A number of the best players of the Auburns and Pullmans have been signed and the Peterborough baseball team will put up to the public some pretty swiping ball.

BREEZY LOCAL BREVITIES.

By The Times Reporters on Their Daily Rounds

—The Council meets this evening.

—The break in the waterworks dam has been repaired without serious loss.

—The Grand Trunk Railway is being double tracked between Hamilton and London.

—Two ladies identified Wm. Armstrong as the man who indecently exposed himself on Park street on March 21st.

—It is said not sympathize with the insurance companies over the Toronto fire. Peterborough customers will help to pay the losses.

—The remains of the late Wm. Hutchenridge were interred yesterday afternoon. A large number attended the funeral, as the deceased was widely known.

—A joint meeting of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges I.O.O.F. will be held this evening. All members of both lodges are earnestly requested to be present.

—George Tranter, of Harvey, was charged before County Police Magistrate Edmanson on Friday with beating a horse on March 1st. He was fined $5 and costs.

—These are busy days in the office of the Town Solicitor. Nine by-laws and several typewritten agreements have been executed during the past few days. It is quite evident that Mr. Hall is earning his salary.

—Orillia is deploring the fact that the names of the streets were not placed on the cement walks built last year. Peterborough should also have regrets.

The Lindsay Post speaks thus of our policemen: Peterborough policemen may be somewhat slow in getting after a man when he is wanted, but they have great memories. Monday night they nabbed a man who skipped out in '99 to avoid payment of a police court fine of $4.25."

—The council of St. Thomas has appointed a special committee to confer with the Gas & Electric Company, with the object of purchasing the plant. The mayor and the aldermen are without exception in favor of municipal ownership of the power and lighting franchises. The contract for lighting the city will soon expire, and City Engineer Bell considers that the corporation could do the work more cheaply.

—Toronto city council has endorsed the Board of Control's petition to the Dominion Government asking that Port Hope be made the lake port for the Trent Valley Canal. If Ontario council realized their duty to the citizens in the matter of low freight rates for coal they would forward a similar petition, and at once. A few years hence every householder will be burning coal, and a saving of 50c. a ton is possible if the Port Hope outlet is chosen owing to the shortness of the trip from the American side.

A great many Peterborough county farmers and others, who have had stray animals come on their premises have been under the impression that they can claim costs from the time the said animals came to their premises, whether they advertise or not. This is wrong, as they can claim expenses only from the time they are advertised.

The recent snowfalls and very cold weather has been starving the birds that have ventured so far north without knowing that the winter of 1904 is not a thing of the past. A citizen threw out a few handfuls of feed the other day and dozens of robins and other birds flew into the back yard. This should be considered a good example for other citizens to follow.

BASKETBALL.

The Athletic Basketball Team challenges the Brownies Basketball Team for a game on Thursday evening next.

BASEBALL.

"I've Lost Ten Pounds"

A man says: "Look at this." And he over-leaps Lakes, coast to show how loose it is. There are some people who can lose flesh to advantage, but the loss of flesh in most of these cases is evidence of failing health. An flesh-making process begins in the stomach, so naturally when there is loss of flesh we look first to the stomach for the cause. And the cause is generally found to be disease of the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts, resulting in loss of nourishment and consequent physical weakness.

"Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores the lost flesh by curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and establishing the perfect digestion and assimilation of food from which flesh and strength are made.

"My wife was for years troubled with indigestion and stomach and bowel trouble and could retain scarcely any food on her stomach. She was reduced to a mere shadow, and weighed only pounds. She was induced to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after taking a few bottles she began to improve. She continued its use for a few months and was entirely cured. She now weighs pounds, and is well and strong. We cheerfully recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all sufferers from stomach trouble."

Ald. Best took exception to the big reduction in the Board of Works' appropriation. He was afraid the sum estimated would not meet all requirements of this important board.

Ald. McWilliams said he was a new member on this board, and consequently was not situated to be a judge of this sufficiency of its appropriation this year. He felt strongly, however, that each department should live within its appropriation, and that the treasurer should be instructed not to permit an overdraft for expenditure by any chairman of committees, should such excess of appropriation be found absolutely necessary by any department, then the matter ought to come before the Council before such excess is allowed.

Ald. Adams replied that last year the Board of Works had overdrawn its appropriation to the amount of $1200 and the Property Committee's overdraft was over $2,000. Other departments had overdrawn, but not so extensively. While culling down the Board of Works appropriation, the reduction does not reach the sum overdrawn by them last year. Should the street railway be constructed it may necessitate an increase of expenditure on streets not estimated in which case the Council no doubt will make provision for in the regular way. When the street railway was built before the amount spent on streets was $14,000 or $15,000. The Board of Works is the only committee he knows of which may need to overdraw its appropriation. The Property Committee should be able to live within its allowance; but that committee is at present doing work on the town buildings which has not yet been sanctioned by the Council in session. It is true the expenditure may be necessary, but it is not advisable to undertake it without first bringing it before the City Fathers in the regular way. This year $14,500 is added to the assessment more than last year, the net increased expenditure for public schools is $2,500, and reductions have been made in the estimates for Administration of Justice, the Town Rate and the Town Trust requirements. Ald. Adams concluded that the estimates had been very carefully prepared, and he could see no reason why the rates struck should not be all sufficient.

His Worship explained that one cannot estimate the revenue of the town within a thousand or two dollars, and he opined that the revenue for 1903 justified the overdrawing of appropriations, which, however, were all duly authorized by the Council. He thought it an exceedingly creditable showing to be able to make an appropriation of $11,000 for the Board of Works, especially in the face of increased appropriations for the Fire Department and for schools, and with a reduction in the rate of half a mill. He thought 18 1-2 mills would be found the lowest rate of any town in Canada of the size and importance of Peterborough.

Ald. Morrison did not know that it is quite fair to make real estate owners within the street watering dimensions responsible for all the cost of watering the streets, but when this measure is not involving an increased rate over that of last year he is willing to acquience in the experiment.

Ald. Best replied that he thought it but fair that those benefited by street watering should pay for the same. On the whole, he considered it this best system which could be adopted and one which, as a rule, is in force in most towns.

His Worship at this juncture said it was extremely fortunate in the face of recent experience in Toronto, that the town has arranged for increasing its fire protection by an additional 25 hydrants. A committee had also been sent last week to examine fire halls and fire alarm systems, and its report will be forthcoming at the Council's May meeting. He expected that at an early date the Council will be in a position to take up the question of improving our fire alarm system and arranging for a new fire hall. He hoped that such steps under way will have the effect of guarding the town against an increase in its fire insurance rates.

CANAL LITERATURE.

Mr. F. D. Kerr addressed Council and asked for a grant of say $200 to go toward the cost of printing literature setting forth the urgent need of completing without delay the Trent Valley waterway. Said literature is being compiled by Mr. Gilmour and will contain an elaborate treatise on the Erie Canal and other routes in New York State, showing that the canal system is not by any means a back number, but very desirable factor in securing cheap transportation of freight. To this will be added data showing how much more strongly the arguments used in advocating the improvements on the New York canal systems apply to the Trent Valley waterway. Mr. Kerr urged the need of educating, by means of such literature, the people up to a knowledge of the importance of the Trent Valley waterway and thus bring public opinion to bear on the Government for the speedy completion of this route from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario. This literature will be distributed among Senators, Members of Parliament, Municipal Councils and Boards of Trade.

This matter was referred to a committee of the Whole Council.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From property owners, petitioning against the laying of cement sidewalks on the west side of Crescent or Lock streets, between Lake and Romaine streets.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Mr. Burnham, saying that he had been informed the council is unable to have the adjustment of the pavement on the corner of Brock and George streets restored to the satisfaction of parties concerned, recognizing will be taken according to law, both as to the pavement and payment of costs in case of further neglect, by those severely liable through negligence of duty.—Referred to Committee of the Whole Council.

From R. B. Rogers, asking that the grades on Stewart street and St. Luke's avenue be struck.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Dan. Foley, applying for a position on the police force should the town decide to increase said force.—Received.

From Israel Darocher, asking permission to erect a 5 1-2 foot verandah on the front of his dwelling, 260 and 262 Murray street.—Received.

From Thos. Kelly, asking permission to cut down four shade trees on Simcoe street and several on Downie street, for improvement purposes.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Charles Delill, seeking the appointment as sanitary inspector. He adds that he thoroughly understands the requirements of such an office, having been in the business twenty years.—Received.

From J. J. Turner & Sons, expressing surprise that the Council is not willing to reduce or arrange their assessment.—Received.

From George Stevens, offering to sell the town seven dump carts for $200. The carts are in good working order, as used on canal, boxes only all complete.—Received.

From J. Monraw, filing a statutory declaration that he had paid his dog tax for 1903 before moving into the Township of North Monaghan, and asking for remission of same.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From J. J. Turner & Sons, R. McWhinnie and J. T. Stenson, protesting the direct dealing of the Town Council with manufacturers for the various supplies of the town and claiming that the business should be done through Peterborough merchant who would then participate in a discount which corporations do not get.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.

A number of accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

In reference to J. J. Turner's and others' complaint that the town does not deal with local merchants for supplies, Ald. McWilliams thought there might be some reasonable grounds for complaint. He certainly would favor giving the preference to local men whenever possible.

Ald. Edgcumbe explained that as to fire hose Mr. Turner had admitted to him that there would be nothing but honor in it for him, even should he get the contract. Eventually he (Mr. Turner) did send away for a sample of hose, which turned out to be a sort of garden grade and of no use whatever for fire protection purposes. Our local men also submitted a sample of hose for the firemen, which, however, the chief condemned as being worthless for fire purposes, and of a $1.50 grade. The price asked for these goods was $3.00 per pair. Then local dealers did not keep rubber coats, and the committee decided that in any event it would be better to order rubber goods direct from the manufacturer, when their being fresh could be relied on. The Fire, Water and Light Committee had found on enquiring that local men were not in a position to tender on supplies for the fire department.

UNPAID TAXES.

Ald. Rush moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, That the Collector of Taxes be requested to report at this May meeting of the Council a list of the taxes then unpaid and reasons for the non-collection of the same.—Carried.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

SALARIES OF OFFICIALS.

A by-law respecting the salaries of the town clerk, town solicitor and the medical officer passed its several readings. The town clerk is authorized to engage such assistance as is found necessary at a salary of not more than $250 a year. The town solicitor's salary is to be $700, and that of the medical health officer $375.

The Salvation Army Band are to earn their grant by playing in one of the parks at the pleasure of the Finance Committee.

THE RATES.

A by-law fixing the rates at 18 1-2 mills on the dollar, and 19 mills on real estate within the divisions watered by the street watering carts, passed its several readings.

Reports of committees are left over till next issue.

Treatment of Tuberculosis

Ottawa, April 25.—Dominion aid towards the establishment in each province of a sanitarium for the treatment of patients suffering from tuberculosis was asked for this morning from the Prime Minister by an influential deputation of the medical profession, who were accompanied by many Senators and Members of Parliament. Hon. W. D. Edwards introduced the deputation and supported its request with cogent argument. Sir Wilfrid, in reply, said that the object they had in view was a most worthy one, and he could not but sympathise with the Christian philanthrophy which animated them. No matter how much he might be disposed to philanthropy he was limited by the restrictions of the British North American Act. Hospitals were one of those things which were to be administered by the Province. He had been unable to meet the views of Lord Minto in regard to a grant for the cottage hospital movement of her ladyship on this ground. Therefore he was afraid the present application could not be granted. However, he would report the matter to his colleagues and obtain the opinion of the Minister of Justice.

GERMANS NEED REINFORCEMENTS

Not Force Enough to Quell Herero Revolt

SEVERAL THOUSAND NEEDED

Desease and Wounds are Thinning the Glasenap Column—Wireless Telegraphy Outfits

Berlin, April 25.—A cable message from Windhoek, German South-west Africa, dated yesterday, announces the arrival of a transport detachment with 42 ill from the Glasenapp column, which are still occupying Onjatu on April 15. There have been five deaths from wounds and illness since the Battle of Otchorui (April 2.)

Further reinforcements of 152 men and officers start for German South-west Africa April 29, with six machine guns.

The Government already has sent to Southwest Africa the equipment for several wireless telegraph stations, and is now considering the question of sending a balloon corps.

The opinion apparently is gaining ground among the military and colonial authorities that further reinforcements, perhaps reaching several thousand men, will be necessary to quell the rebellion and that it is better to send them forthwith than to delay such action any longer.

IS HEIR TO THE SERVIAN THRONE

American Farmer in Minnesota Has This Distinction

London, April 25.—The announcement that the King of Servia would like to abdicate has revived the story of the American heir to the throne, in the person of John Boyn, a Minnesota farmer, whose father, August Boyn, was said to be an heir to the throne of that country, and who, it is claimed, died in that country, many years ago by the hand of an assassin.

The St. James Gazette, in discussing the rumors that King Peter would like to let go because he is disappointed with the people, says the world contains a lot of pretenders to the throne who do not really pretend because they prefer to keep off the dangerous elevation. The most interesting of these pretenders says the writer, is the Minnesota farmer, John Boyn Vouhauser, believed to be descended from Milos Obrenovitch, and through him connected with the Servian ruler.

The mother of John Boyn lives in a modest little cottage among the the evergreens and jackpines near Rum River, a few miles from Princeton, Minn. She is 84 years old, but for one of her age is apparently hale and hearty. Small of stature and with her shrunken form bent with infirmities of age, she still shows that she was in her youth a comely woman for one of her race, and had Dame Fortune made her Queen of Servia she would have graced the throne of that country of social and political volcanoes with as much dignity as many of the happy and unhappy rulers of Europe.

She did not know much about her husband's kingly inheritance which it has been claimed he went to Servia to see. He told his folks he had a large inheritance awaiting him in Servia, and decided to go over to that country in 1887 to secure the wealth. His wife and children begged him not to leave them, but he promised to return soon with money enough to make him rich.

He had no idea of attempting to regain his royal rights other than a portion of the fortune which was due him. He wrote his wife from Belgrade after his arrival. In a few weeks she received word through the American consul that her husband was dead. Subsequent events proved that he had been assassinated.

Residents of Princeton well remember Boyn. He had a common school education, and was by trade a cabinetmaker. The farm his widow now occupies was pre-empted by him. The son of old John Boyn, who the writer in the St. James Gazette asserts is more nearly the direct heir to the throne than all other pretenders, lives a short distance from Princeton and near the home of his mother. Though he stoutly maintains his heirship to the throne now held by Peter Karageorgevitch, he is not worrying over the situation.

The grandfather when a mere child was rescued during an invasion of the Turks by being carried by his nurse into a field and hidden, he being the only member of the family to escape. The child was taken to Saxony, where he was brought up and in time married and raised a family. August (John's father) being the only son. It appears that the Turks wiped out the royal family from which the Boyns descended, and John's grandfather preferred to remain in peace in Saxony rather than try sitting on the insecure throne of his native country.

The nurse who rescued the grandfather also carried with her the family Bible and records, and when the child grew up he received the family record which in time went to August, who kept it inviolate. When he returned to Servia he took the Bible with him, but the book and all records were lost, as they disappeared when he died in Belgrade.

CLAIMS HEART OF CHICAGO

[illegible] Appleton, Wis., April 26.—A suit to recover property considered at 160 acres in the heart of Chicago, valued at $20,000,000 will soon be started by Reuben Irish of Shawano, Wis., acting in his own interest and that of ten other relatives.

The land in question originally belonged to Gideon Irish an uncle of the plaintiff, who purchased it from the government in 1833. It includes the site of the Montgomery Ward store, the Sherman house and a large section on Michigan avenue. Gideon Irish died in 1849 and the estate was never probated, the property passing into the hands of strangers, who paid the taxes. It is alleged that not one of the present owners can produce a warranty deed.

Reuben Irish graduated from West Point and was a colonel of the One Hundred and Seventh New York infantry during the civil war.

MAKE FINE SERVANTS

Such Is the Report Coming From Cubans

Chicago, April 25.—Departure of Japanese men from Chicago for the war has brought out the fact that Japanese servants were becoming very popular here, and there is a grumbling at their loss.

It is said that the Japs make the best of servants, clean, hardworking and capable.

They are paid the highest wages, and only wealthy families employ them. Thirty-five dollars a month is said to be the lowest "salary" that they will accept. Even the "greenhorns" just landed from Asia get a good position on their arrivals, because their extraordinary ability to learn quickly gets them upon a level with their more experienced fellows. They dislike to cook, and cannot be persuaded to do laundry work. But as butler, arched man, waiter, or, above all, as valet, they stand supreme.

HOME RULE IN IRELAND

Irish Nationalists Are Exceedingly Hopeful of Future

Dublin, April 25.—Congratulations are passing between the leaders of Irish Nationalism over the moral effect of Thursday's national convention and the unanimity of the 3,000 delegates as regards the great questions of public policy. All this is considered very promising. John Redmond states that the convention illustrates the unity of the nation and the capacity of its representatives faithfully to represent that unity. He esteems this condition of the highest importance to the Irish party in the coming contest in the House of Commons, where those opposed to the Irish policy are watching for evidences of Irish dissension. Confidence is expressed that the final triumph of Home Rule does not mean a matter of empty words but a matter of faith based on careful study of the Anglo-Irish political situation. The outlook is specially hopeful since the Nationalist now realize that whatever is to be done in Ireland inside and outside of the House of Commons.

THE WAR OUTLOOK

The Plans of the Russians in Northern Corea

Tokio, April 26.—Russia's dispositions in northern Corea, is regarded by the military council here as a trifling affair vainly aimed at the embarrassment of Japan's general advance; should the invading force grow to any considerable size, or attempt operations of a serious nature the navy and army would co-operate to compel a retreat or inflict disaster on the adventurers. At present the Mikado and his advisers are quite easy on the score of possible action in Corea, and their attention is concentrated on other quarters of the war.

Diplomatists accept the report that when Admiral Skrydloff reaches Port Arthur, Admiral Alexieff will be recalled and the viceroyalty abolished, as evidence of the wisdom of the British Foreign Office in negotiating the Anglo-Japanese treaty. It is pointed out that the treaty gave Great Britain a powerful arm in Japan wherewith to strike at Russian aggression in the far east, while conserving its own blood and treasure. Russia in answer to this move, established the viceroyalty with an unfettered fighting state on the threshold of Japan. To lay Russia's viceroyalty is toppling to its fall while Great Britain's ally commands the sea, holds Corea and plans further conquests on the mainland.

KAISER STIRS GERMAN NATION

Arouses Fire-Bidden People By Asking For New Fleets

Berlin, April 26.—Great demonstration is expressed throughout Germany, especially in Berlin and the other large cities where there is a large radical and socialistic population, with Emperor William's project for building a palace for himself in the Polish city of Posen. A force it was believed that he would pay for it out of his own pocket, but this belief was crushed when the government asked for $600,000 for preliminary work and plans, estimates of which in all $1,500,000.

Under no circumstances can the Emperor live in Posen more than six or eight days a year, and for this $1,500,000 is destined for work. The government affects to be surprised that with this prize in Posen the disloyalty of the Poles will speedily vanish, but that seems a small object.

It appears the German people to think that $1,500,000 can be easily found for so silly a project when property is abroad, the schools are ordered and the whole land is governing under heavy military cost upon taxation.

RUSSIAN VLADIVOSTOCK SQUADRON IS OFF JAPAN

Appeared at Gensan, Korea, where it Sank a Japanese Merchant Steamer

Tokio, April 26.—The Russian Vladivostock squadron after a long period of inactivity, evidently equipped off Gensan, on the east coast of Corea, this morning and sank the Hyogo Maru a Japanese merchant steamer of six hundred tons.

A brief telegram received from Gensan today says three Russian officers had entered the harbor, and that they were still there when the telegram was sent. Their arrival created consternation.

Port Arthur, April 26.—All week on both the land and the sides here have been so strengthened in the past two months that the impregnacny of Port Arthur is now regarded as absolutely assured. The garrison has been considerably strengthened and the forts are provided with all necessities for more than a year. Complete confidence prevails with the troops, sailors and inhabitants in the ability of the Russians to defeat any Japanese attack.

Remarkable indifference to the possibility of attack is shown by the people, in fact, by day there is little to indicate that the town is in a state of siege. The usual plays on the boulevard on which parades are held, finely dressed people stroll about, and groups of children play. Restaurants and shops are well patronized by customers all day long. At night, however the city is in profound darkness which is emphasized by the searchlights flashing across the roadstead.

ENTRANCE IS FREE.

The entrance of the harbor, although studded with nine Japanese mines presents certain difficulties from the Russian point of view. The engineering officers are said to be confident as to their ability to remove the mines. The Russian fleet from all reliable accounts is in excellent condition for striking brilliant results.

At each successive bombardment, which experience shows occurs approximately fortnightly, the Japanese fire becomes less vigorous. Their ships remain out of range of the batteries, and evidently they do not intend to be drawn into a battle.

MUST KEEP AWAY.

The Chicago Daily News dispatch boat flying the British flag, which was boarded and detained by Russian orders off Port Arthur, on Friday last, has been liberated on the condition that she will not again approach those coasts.

THE YALU UNCROSSED

St. Petersburg, April 26.—Major-General Pflug, in a telegram from Port Arthur, formally denies the reports that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu River.

HOPES FOR GOOD NEWS.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—It is said that the emperor, replying to Viceroy Alexieff's application for timely dressed people stroll about, leave, has telegraphed his refusal, adding that he hoped the Viceroy would be able to send good news soon.

Folguef, the most celebrated tenor of the Imperial Opera, who is an officer of the Naval Reserves, has been called to the colors.

Tokio, April 26.—The Russian Vladivostock squadron has appeared at Gensan, Corea, where it sank a Japanese merchant steamer.

HAS GIVEN OVER $100,000,000

Andrew Carnegie Turns That Remarkable Milestone

IS STILL AS RICH AS EVER

The Details of His Enormous Gifts and Deeds of Charity

Pittsburg, April 26.—Andrew Carnegie has passed the hundred-million-dollar mark in donations.

His announcement of a gift of $5,000,000 as a fund the income of which shall be used to relieve from immediate pecuniary suffering those who perform acts of memorable heroism, constitutes a total giving away of $100,000,000 since he began his money-giving career. The items are as follows;

Carnegie Institute, Pittsburg.....	$ 7,852,000
Polytechnic School, Pittsburg.....	2,000,000
Employees' pension fund, Pittsburg.....	4,000,000
Carnegie National University.....	10,000,000
Dunfermline endowment	2,500,000
Scotch universities endowment.....	51,000,000
Libraries in the United States.....	27,705,000
Libraries in foreign countries.....	4,651,750
Peace Temple at The Hague.....	1,500,000
National Engineering Societies.....	1,500,000
Heroes' fund.....	5,000,000
Unclassified gifts in U S	14,992,373
Unclassified gifts, foreign	1,250,000
Total.....	$100,001,123

At the same time, he is probably as rich now as he ever was. At the time of the formation of the steel trust, Carnegie's income was estimated at $15,000,000 or more a year, so that less than seven years' income would account for all the money he has given away.

A NEW RIFLE

The Weapon is to Have Ball Bearings in Barrel

Ottawa, April 26.—A ball bearing rifle is one of the latest inventions. It was explained to the Dominion Rifle Association yesterday by the inventor, Capt. O C Cullen, Washington D.C. The Captain showed the D R A a model.

Capt. Cullen has been spending the past few days in the city. If Capt Cullen's claims can be substantiated the innovation, which consists of a ball bearing thread in the barrel of the rifle, will not only mean great things in the small arm line, but should, members of the D.R.A say, revolutionize modern artillery.

The Captain is most enthusiastic over his invention which seems to him, while he was removing from the effects of the Spanish-American war, through which he served with great distinction.

The model, which he exhibited to the members of the Dominion Rifle Association yesterday, received the unofficial commendation of Lieut. Hammett and other high authorities.

It is claimed by the Captain that the rubbished ball bearings, which compose the "screw" of the ordinary rifle will reduce friction to a minimum, lengthen the capacity of the projectile, and increase the range and penetration to a considerable extent.

AWFUL TRAGEDY IN THE WEST

Two Young Farmers Found Dead in Their Shanty

MEN AND STOCK ALL DEAD.

Horses Dead in the Stable and Dog Dead in the Kennel

Mount Forest, April 26.—The news of a very sad occurrence which befall John H. and W. J. Scott, sons James Scott, of Peel township, and cousins of Thomas Scott, Mount Forest, came last week from Regina, Assa., in the vicinity of which place the young men were farmers.

The Winnipeg Telegram gives a report as follows, One of the most ghastly and tragic affairs, which the touch of mysterious in it, which has ever occurred in the Northwest Territories, has just been brought to light about 15 miles from here. For some weeks past the suspicions of the neighbors has been more or less aroused by the frequent appearance of a farm at the Boggy settlement, belonging to two brothers named Norrie. The surprise was not of a curious character and no investigation was made for several days.

At last some one more curious than the rest found a dead dog tied to a chain, having died of starvation. A glance through a window of the house showed a sight, gruesome enough to chill the stoutest heart. Face downwards on the floor, with arms outstretched, one brother was seen, while nearby, lying on a bed, was the other, both beyond question sleeping their last sleep. An examination of the stable showed a picture even more pathetic, perhaps, than that in the house. Stretched on the ground, with protruding eyeballs and ribs sticking through their tight-stretched hides, were the carcases of four horses. The awful agony that they had undergone until death relieved their sufferings was proved by the fact that the boarding had been gnawed and in some places eaten right through by the starving beasts.

The inquest before Coroner Lowe into the cause of the deaths revealed the fact that they were just seven days about March 20th, and were discovered dead, as already stated, on March 27th. Coroner Lowe said the police visited the scene. They found that the man lying on the bed had died peacefully but the other had evidently suffered the severest agony. A post mortem discovered that the former had died of pneumonia, and the latter of inflammation of the bowels. The former had died first, and his brother had tended him and finally spread the quilts on the floor for him to lie on. He had evidently been ill for some time. The coroner stated that medical attendance could never have saved him. The brothers were prevented from getting aid, either from sudden illness or the severity of the weather.

The remains were sent east and the double funeral took place in Arthur village last week.

SULLIVAN IS IN BAD SHAPE

Former Champion Pugilist May Lose His Eyesight

Boston, Mass., April 26.—John L. Sullivan has been ordered by his physicians to go to Hot Springs as soon as he is able to sit up. He is still confined to the chronic invalid ward in consequence of injuries received in the recent fire. He has been suffering from inflammation in the eyes from burns in a general way, and a blow Tuesday night from one fully awakened and infuriated man of the fire companies caused pain to result. He plans to leave for the Arkansas springs in a week or two.

Scotch Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

R. ...ses No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free —Write For It This Very Day

A Dutch specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and hospitals, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes; so that there need be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates Who Wants No Money Till He Does Not Cure.

both the method and the ability to do as he says. Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have sufferers that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic troubles, unnatural weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, impotency, nervous exhaustion of parts, lumpiness, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the conditions itself, but like wise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart distress, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask the money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he finds more that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It is, remember, therefore, that it is to the best interests of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply:

Dr. S. Goldberg, 328 Woodward Ave., Room ... Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

FOOD DISTRESSING.

Thomas A. Edison is not only a wizard in matters scientific but he has a keen insight into dietics.

He said the other day that he ate anything he wanted, but in small quantities, adding that most people eat too much. "I know men and women who are food drunk all the time," he said with a keen sight into dietetics.

"Food drunk," is a happy invention to describe a notorious condition. Mr. Edison is not the only one who knows people who are continually gorged with food, with the result that their intellects are beclouded as truly as if the excess had been liquid instead of solid. Everyone has experienced the mental disturbance produced by occasional overeating. It is easy to see that the man who is continually gorged is continually off his mental balance. He is "food drunk," as the sage of Menlo Park puts it—now common mentis—rendered unstable in his head by the overwork which he forces upon his stomach.

It is a common enough saying that if you want a favor from a man you should approach him just after he has had a good meal. The philosophy of the advice is apparent enough.

The man who has his stomach full of food is more or less stupefied. He is in the primary stage of the condition which is fully exemplified by the gorged snake. His faculties are blunted. Hence he is likely to accede to requests which he would promptly refuse if he were in full possession of his judgment. He is "food drunk."

Mr. Edison is right and his theory is shared by a good many shrewd physicians nowadays. A man can fuddle himself with the contents of a beef platter as well as by emptying a wine bottle.

SHOULD BE STUDY LAW?

Peterborough, April 23.—I am a young man nearly at the close of my high school course and have a strong inclination to adopt the law as my profession. Will you please advise me in regard to it? I am sure I am adapted for this profession, and if good connections and numerous friends counts for anything I am well fixed. The trouble is I am afraid the business is overdone. E. T. B.

This young man is one of a multitude in the same frame of mind and therefore deserves a public reply to his natural and important inquiry concerning the condition and prospects of the legal profession.

The law is probably the most dignified, difficult and indispensable profession in existence and is becoming more and more so as human society and financial operations become more complex. There is no more prospect, therefore, that society will ever dispense with the lawyer that there is that men will stop breathing or eating.

At the same time the number of lawyers required to do the law business of the country has diminished during the past twenty years probably two-thirds. Consequently while it is proverbial that every kind of business is overdone, the law is certainly the most overdone of them all and offers a smaller prospect of a livelihood than any others of them.

The causes of this change are well known to the profession. The actual volume of law business has been diminished in at least two ways. In the first place there has been a change in human nature in consequence of which it has become less litigious. At one time litigation was a fashion and passion, but at present there is a great aversion to it, and what few clients most lawyers get are seeking compromises and settlements. In the second place business colleges at the present day teach so much mercantile law, that the trained merchant now seldom requires legal advice.

The most disastrous change in the law business, however, results from a new division of labor, by means of which one lawyer now suffices where many were required before. The attorney of one casualty company attends to personal injury cases that formerly gave employment to a dozen lawyers. The probate business is now attended to by the attorneys of the trust companies without charge to customers. The examination of titles has passed into the hands of the abstract companies. The innumerable consolidations of great business interests are resorted to for economical reasons, one being that one legal adviser takes the place of twenty.

These changes have not discredited the value of legal advice nor reduced the amount of legal work done, but have simply made it possible to do it with fewer men. Moreover, the pecuniary saving is so great that it is folly to suppose that the new method will ever be abandoned.

For all time to come the number of lawyers required to do the business of the country will be (two-thirds less than it would have been under the old regime. Probably it would be a blessing to everybody concerned if the law schools should not turn out another graduate for ten years to come.

Friends and acquaintances are not of much use to a young lawyer, because they always want him to work for nothing. If a young man has a place waiting for him in an established law firm where he knows he will be advanced instead of being kept in eternal tutelage he might possibly be justified in studying law. Otherwise he ought not to waste a day on such a forlorn hope as the legal profession.

Good Complexion Rich Soft Skin ring Joy to Every Woman's Heart, and Draw Admiration from Every Man How to Improve Your Appearance.

The true source of beauty is health, so at the first signs of failing health everyone should take proper steps to regain and maintain health.

When beauty begins to fade you can be almost certain that some derangement of the functional activity is secretly undermining strength and vigor. This must be stopped, and can be stopped by Ferrozone, which vivifies all bodily functions so quickly that an improvement in health and looks immediately follows.

Ferrozone increases the appetite and improves digestion. This stimulates nutrition and quickens the formation of rich pure blood. Better blood means stronger nerves. Increased nerve force reduces the wear and tear on the body. Strength develops, spirits rise an all-round improvement follows.

A rebuilding process is started by Ferrozone that results in a prompt, well developed figure; the complexion becomes clear and rosy, pale hollow cheeks fill out and sunken eyes take on a new lustre and brightness.

No lady can afford to miss the benefit that invariably follows the use of this grand restorative. Ferrozone is a tonic, a rebuilder and regulator of unqualified merit. To its enduring and lasting results thousands have testified. In a convincing letter from her home in Lansdowne, Mrs. F. G. Bu... says:

"For years I had a sallow complexion. I did everything to improve it but didn't succeed till I used Ferrozone. It improved the condition of my blood and in a few weeks brought a rosy flush to my cheek. I took one Ferrozone tablet at meals and gained strength and flesh. I can strongly recommend Ferrozone to every woman who wants clear healthy complexion. Ferrozone did wonders for me."

Ferrozone is the best, quickest and most permanent road to health. You should get it right away. But beware of a substitute and be sure to get Ferrozone when you ask for it. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists or by mail from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

MRS. EDDY AND HER CREED

To the Editor of the Times:

Peterborough, April 23.—It does not appear to occur to the critics of Christian Science that they are not likely to injure that system of religio-therapeutics by assailing Mrs. Eddy. Christian Science, like other creeds, will stand or fall on its intrinsic merits. Mrs. Eddy's personality has little to do with the case.

Religions are judged by their fruits and it is easy enough to conceive that a very elevated religious system might be formulated by an entirely irreligious person. I do not mean this to fit the case of Mrs. Eddy and Christian Science. It is a generalization which cannot truthfully be controverted.

If there is a foundation of truth and fact for Christian Science—and a great many people believe that there is—it makes not the least difference in the world whether Mrs. Eddy is worthy or unworthy to be the avator of a new dispensation. It makes no difference whether she is descended from a Scotch baronet or from an English tradesman. It makes no difference whether she evolved the Christian Science theory herself or borrowed the idea from a yankee doctor.

These things are all beside the case. Christian Science, like all other creeds, will be judged by its fruits its professors may not invariably do it full credit, but that is not reflection upon the creed, but upon the professors. In the end the world will pass upon Christian Science according to its merits. If there be truth in it the system will stand; if the movement proves to be a mere temporary craze it will vanish as hundreds of "isms" have vanished.

BY-LAW NO.

A By-Law to provide for borrowing the Sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars for the purchase of a site and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough.

Passed this day of 1904.

WHEREAS the Board of Education for the Town of Peterborough has represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough, that it is necessary for the said Board to expend the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purchase of a site, and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough, and the said Council has resolved to issue debentures of the said Municipality for the said amount without the assent of the duly qualified electors of the said Town, and the said Board of Education has by resolution requested the said Council to submit such application to the vote of the said electors.

AND WHEREAS, under the provisions of the High Schools Act, the said Council is required to comply with such request, it is therefore necessary for the said Council to pass this By-law, to be submitted to the vote of the duly qualified electors of the said Town of Peterborough, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law.

AND WHEREAS, in order to raise the said sum of fifty thousand dollars, it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being for the year 1903, is the sum of five million two hundred and sixty-five thousand nine hundred and forty-nine dollars ($5,265,949).

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvements debts, but including the debt of $230,000 incurred for the purchase of the Waterworks, is the sum of five hundred and fifty-eight thousand and forty dollars and seven cents ($558,040.07), and there is no part of the principal or interest in arrear.

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable to make the principal of the said debt of fifty thousand dollars and the interest thereon, repayable in thirty equal yearly instalments, and it will require the sum of two thousand nine hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-two cents to be raised each year for a period of thirty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the instalments of principal and interest, thereon at the rate of four and one-quarter per cent. per annum, which sum will be sufficient to discharge the several yearly sums of principal and interest accruing due on the debentures to be issued thereunder, as the same respectively become payable according to the terms of this By-law, as shown on the schedule hereto.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by special rate upon all the rateable property in the Town of Peterborough, the sum of two thousand nine hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-two cents ($2,979.91), for payment of the instalments of the said debt and interest, as the debentures respectively become due.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures, when sold, shall be handed over to the Board of Education for the said Town of Peterborough, to be applied in paying for the said site and the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute in the Town of Peterborough.

High Class Investment

THE OREGON MINING AND SMELTING COMPANY

Offer to Canadian investors a limited amount of stock of the above company The property owned by the Company consists at the present time of about 500 acres, which are located in the Tarryall District and Park County, Colorado. This whole district has been known for years on account of its rich placer ground, and is now prominently before the public owing to the number of very good properties which have been opened up recently producing, principally, gold, and lately some that are producing Platinum. On the Oregon property there are a number of well known veins of low grade ore that will yield a profit by being treated on the ground of the company. The company have recently opened up a fine vein in the Hawkeye group and this vein shows not only good values but an immense amount of ore which alone would make the property very valuable. Assays from ore taken from various parts of this property range from a few dollars to $373 per ton in gold. We have very little silver, lead or copper in the district. The company have a shaft 240 feet deep, with a good shaft house thoroughly well equipped with all modern mach nery to develop same. They are now driving a tunnel which is in about 700 feet and which will cut the Hawkeye vein about 300 feet deeper than where it is opened at present. There is enough ore exposed on the property of this company to keep them busy for a number of years and the reason for selling stock at the present time is to secure funds to build a mill. The company will probably join with the Almaden Company in building this mill. There is water enough to furnish water power and over 100 acres of fine spruce and pine timber. The affairs of the company have always been managed in a business-like economical manner and there are no officers' salaries. The monies received from the sale of stock go direct into the property.

I can heartily recommend this stock as safe, as well as an unusually good investment, because of the immense amount of ore which the company have already opened up. It is not a mere prospect, but the property has been developed by expense of a considerable amount of money and time.

The company is splendidly officered by men of integrity and high standing. The company has not pushed the sale of stock the last year owing to a delay in getting title to the ground from the Government, but now that has been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be pushed to a finish.

The number of exceedingly rich strikes which have been made during the last few weeks in the various camps in the State of Colorado is the best evidence of the prosperity of the mining business. Almost every camp in the state has opened up rich bodies of ore, and Park County is well in the lead in that line.

There are only $25,000 of stock for sale, at $1.00 per share. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the advantage to the investor of selling the stock at par, is that every share is fully paid up and non-assessable.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Bisby, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 16, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. THE JAPANESE SURPRISE RUSSIAN DETACHMENT

Kill or Wound Half the Force--Several Jap Scouts Slain--Cossacks Advancing in North-eastern Corea.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The following telegram from Viceroy Alexieff has been received by the Emperor:

"Quite a series of reconnaissances carried out from the Yalu have shown that the Japanese are concentrating in considerable force. It is believed that they have one division to the north of Wiju. They are also beginning to concentrate troops in Wiju, from which place they have moved the Corean population.

"Information has reached me that quantities of material, apparently parts of pontoon bridges, are being collected opposite the island of Makikhie.

"Our scouts have killed two Japanese scouts, one of whom appeared to be an officer.

"On our right flank our scouts executed daring reconnaissances, extending over several days, on the left bank of the Yalu, as the result of which it has been ascertained that there are only a few troops south of the river Pomakua, but that the Japanese there are occupied in preparing boats.

"A Russian detachment of two officers and 32 men proceeded thither in three boats. The detachment was however, discovered by the enemy and shots were exchanged, three of our riflemen being killed. Staff-Capt. Smeisen and 11 riflemen were severely, and Lieut. Pushkin and four men slightly wounded. The detachment returned to our bank of the river under the cover of two of our guns."

Gen. Kouropatkin telegraphed to the Czar yesterday that he had decided to take the offensive, considering the force now at his disposal sufficient. He says he will have nothing to chance. He therefore gave orders yesterday to advance a brigade of infantry, supported by a strong force of Cossacks. Five thousand Cossacks are also advancing in Northeastern Corea, and are said to be seventy miles from the Yalu.

Montreal, April 25.—"A revolution in Russian Poland is imminent. The fires of discontent and resentment, which have smouldered for years in the breasts of all the Polish race, now under the domination of the bear, are in momentary danger of bursting into flame. Very slight encouragement would be necessary to induce such a conflagration."

These were the words of Mr. Roman S. Dmowski of Cracow Austrian Poland, who is stopping at the Windsor Hotel, en route to the Far East. The editor of the "Panslavic Review" in Austria, this gentleman is a man of culture, who has always taken a keen interest in the movements of his race both at home and abroad.

With a view to securing some idea of the manner in which Polish immigrants are treated after settlement in Canada, Mr. Dmowski will visit the Northwest, where the Galicians are mainly located, and will then proceed thence to Japan to gain some idea of the progress of events in that of activity.

"You must know," said Mr. Dmowski, "that Poland is divided into three sections between Russia, Germany and Austria. Only in the latter country, however, are the Polish people treated with anything like the consideration that they have a reason to expect. In Austria the Poles are subject to their own laws, have fifty representatives in the Imperial House of Parliament, and are given the free use of their own language, which is permitted to be taught in the schools.

"Quite different is the condition of affairs in both Germany and Russia. In Germany, the Poles has, of course some constitutional rights, with 15 members in the Reichstag, but the use of their own language is persecuted in the most barbarous way. In Russia there is no constitution; the rule is despotic. In Polish Russia, the Poles have no rights whatever, their children being even forced to employ Russians in the Schools as the medium through which to learn the Polish language."

OFFICIAL DESPATCH EXPLAINS LOSS OF FLEET

Fighting on Land Already Begun?--Hostilities on a Large Scale Imminent, Russian Victory Reported

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The text of Viceroy Alexieff's report to the Emperor concerning the Petropavlovsk disaster, and the torpedo boat engagement which preceded it, reads as follows:

"I respectfully report to your Majesty that on April 11 the whole effective squadron at Port Arthur sailed out six miles to the southward to manoeuvre, and towards evening returned to port. On April 12 a flotilla of eight torpedo boat destroyers went out to inspect the islands, having received orders to attack the enemy should he be encountered in the course of the night.

"Owing to the darkness and a heavy rain three of the destroyers became separated from the flotilla, two of which returned to Port Arthur at dawn. The third, however, the Strashni, having, according to the evidence of the seamen, encountered several Japanese destroyers, took them in the darkness for Russian ships and, giving the signal of recognition, joined them at dawn. She was recognized by the enemy, and there was a fight at close quarters, in which her commander, midshipman and engineer and most of her crew were killed. Maleiff, her lieutenant, though wounded, continued firing on the enemy.

"At dawn on April 13 the cruiser Bayan went out, preceded by destroyers and hurried to the locality. About sixteen miles from Port Arthur the Bayan saw the destroyer Strashni engaged with four Japanese destroyers. Shortly afterwards an explosion occurred and the Strashni sank. Driving off the enemy's destroyers by her fire, the Bayan approached the scene of the fight, lowered her boats and had time to save the remnant of the destroyer's crew. Unfortunately only five men were swimming. Their lives were saved.

"The cruiser was obliged to fight on her starboard side with six Japanese cruisers which came up. Having picked up her boats, the Bayan regained the harbor suffering no damage or loss, although covered with fragments of shells.

"The cruiser Diana and five destroyers hastened to her succor and at the same time the other cruisers, the battleships Petropavlovsk, and Poltava, and some destroyers, came out from the roadstead, and the other battleships left the harbor. In column formation, with the Bayan at the head and the destroyers on the flank, Vice-Admiral Makaroff proceeded to the scene of the Strashni's fight, whither more Japanese destroyers and cruisers were approaching. After a sharp fusillade at fifty cable lengths distance (10 000 yards) the ships drew off.

"A squadron of nine Japanese battleships appeared at 8.40 a.m., and our ships retired toward Port Arthur. In the roadstead they were rejoined by the battleships Pobieda, Peresviet and Sevastapol, which were coming out through the channel. The squadron was drawn up in the following order: Peresviet, Pobieda, Novik, five destroyers and two torpedo cruisers. They turned toward the left, but when approaching the mouth of the channel the destroyers were signalled to return to the harbor, and the cruisers to proceed. Manoeuvring with the Petropavlovsk at their head, the squadron turned to the east, making toward the enemy on their right.

THE PETROPAVLOVSK SUNK

"At 9.43 a.m. an explosion occurred at the right side of the Petropavlovsk then a second and more violent explosion under her bridge. A thick column of greenish-yellow smoke was seen to rise from the battleship her mast, funnel, bridge and turret were thrown up, and the battleship heeled over on her starboard side. Her poop arose from the water, showing her screw working in the air. The Petropavlovsk was surrounded by flames, and in two minutes sank, bow first.

"Some of her crew escaped. The cruiser Gaydamak, which was a cable length (200 yards) away, lowered boats and succeeded in rescuing Grand Duke Cyril and 47 seamen. The destroyers and boats from the Poltava and Askold also picked up some of the Petropavlovsk's crew. Altogether 7 officers and 73 men were saved. The Poltava, which was following the Petropavlovsk two cable lengths astern, stopped her engines and remained on the scene of the disaster.

"At a signal from Rear-Admiral Oktomsky, the other warships made for the entrance of the harbor, manoeuvring toward the Peresviet in line. A mine exploded under the starboard side of the Pobieda. She listed but proceeded and entered the harbor with all the other ships astern of her. The enemy remained in sight until 3 o'clock and then disappeared.

"The night preceding the sortie of the squadron lights and the outlines of ships were seen in the distance from the roadstead and the commander of the fleet kept watch in person until dawn from the cruiser Diana, stationed in the outer roadstead. He left her at 4 o'clock in the morning.

"In concluding I take the liberty to announce respectfully that, despite the ill success which has attended the Pacific fleet, the crews of the ships retain their morale, and are ready to perform all duties required of them. The gracious words of your Majesty addressed to the seamen at this painful hour of trial serve as a consolation and a support to all the force in their efforts to overcome the enemy, to the glory of their beloved sovereign and their country."

London, April 25.—Reports from various sources lead to the expectation that news of important land operations may be received at any moment. The Seoul correspondent of the Chronicle bears out the statement cabled by the St. Petersburg correspondent that heavy fighting has occurred on the Yalu River, 1,500 Japanese being defeated. The Seoul despatch adds that for strategic reasons it is impossible to send any particulars at present. Another Seoul despatch, dated April 19, says that the arrangements for concerted movements by Japanese will be completed on April 20, when there will be a simultaneous rush from three points. The second army is supposed to have sailed from Japan on April 16, probably for Port Arthur. Other troops will land at Takushan or Tatung, forming part of the general advance on Liao-Yang. The guards division, under Lieut.-Gen. Inouye, will be the first troops sent against the Russians at Kuiren-Cheng.

Supplies are being landed near Chulsan, whence they are being forwarded to Wiju, which will be the future base in Corea. Howitzers are being embarked at Chemulpho, they being evidently intended for the Port Arthur campaign.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Standard says that the Japanese have landed west of the Yalu river. The Russians are concentrating at Feng-Wang-Cheng. A hot engagement is expected.

Nothing is certain regarding the movement of the Russian column in North-East Corea except that it has burned the consulate post office and other Japanese buildings at Song-Cheng. It is stated from Japanese sources that afterwards the Russians retired rapidly towards the Tumen River.

Reports from Chefoo and elsewhere received at Shanghai, indicate that the Russians in Southern Manchuria are expecting an attack by the Japanese. Some reports state that hostilities on a large scale have begun ashore. It is said that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu River, meeting with almost no opposition. None of the rumors can be verified, but all point to a clash on land being imminent if it has not already begun.

TO ISOLATE PORT ARTHUR.

London, April 25.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Standard reports an unconfirmed rumor that a large Japanese force is landing on the west coast of the Liao-Tung Peninsula, about thirty miles north of Port Arthur.

Other reports state that twelve Japanese warships were sighted Thursday night thirty miles southwest of the Cliffford Islands, slowly making their way north. They showed no lights. Several Japanese warships off Wei-Hai-Wei have stopped ingoing steamers.

A despatch to the Express from Chefoo says that the Japanese plan of attack is based upon a number of feints at several points on the western coast of the Liao-Tung Peninsula and another between the east coast and the Yalu River, probably at Taku-Shan. Neither of these will be really meant. The true descent will be on the shore of Talienwan Bay, on one side of Kin-Chau Bay, and the other where the isolation of Port Arthur can be most easily secured.

Seoul, April 25.—Numerous skirmishes in the vicinity of the Yalu river are reported. Japanese scouts crossed the river twelve miles above Wiju and reconnoitred the Russian position. They sustained no loss. The Japanese have established posts on the small islands near Wiju. It is believed that they have succeeded in blocking the mouth of the river. The Russians are extending their fortifications. They are strongly reinforcing their troops on Tiger Island, opposite Wiju, where a severe battle was fought in the Chino-Japanese War.

TO KILL KOUROPATKIN.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—Rumors are in circulation that two beggars attempted the assassination of Gen. Kouropatkin, when he was in New-Chwang a few days ago. It is said the beggars succeeded in approaching the general and were talking to him when a guard noticed that one of them put his hand inside his robe. The men were seized and searched and knives were found upon them. It is said that the men were Japanese. The rumor cannot be verified.

AFTER JAPANESE SHIPS

Russian Agents Said to Be Visiting all the Large Ship Yards

Washington, April 24.—Russia is trying to buy ships in the United States which can be quickly converted into fast cruisers. Russian agents are visiting large shipyards in this country to ascertain what ships are building that could be made into cruisers and gunboats and how long it would take to change the plans and complete them. Japanese agents are watching the Russians and trailing their every movement.

This is the information that has reached the state department. It is not official, but is reliable nevertheless. One of the state department's informants is connected with one of the largest shipbuilding firms in the country. He said Russian agents had approached this firm concerning the prospective purchase of merchant ships which are now on the ways. What progress the Russians may have made at other yards is not known.

This information has created considerable interest in the state department, but it is not expected that in any event there will be an open violation of the president's neutrality proclamation. If the Russian government should directly purchase any ships now building in this country their delivery would be prevented, but no such contingency is looked for. If Russia finds any ships that she wants and can make terms for them the natural expectation is that she will have them bought, ostensibly for merchant service, by a German firm or a representative of some other neutral power, who will turn them over to Russia at Libau or any port that Russia may designate.

OUT IN FORCE

Peterborough Baseball Team Had a Good Turn Out on Saturday Afternoon

Manager Whitcroft had his men out on Saturday afternoon for a light practice on the Murray street school grounds. Nearly all of last year's players will be available, together with a number of new ones. "Yes, the makeup of the team will be somewhat changed," said a member of the club Saturday; "we had a good nine last year but the aggregation that Manager Whitcroft will put into the Midland League this season will be a pretty saucy bunch and ought to pretty nearly come out on top."

It is an understood fact that Flaherty will again be the "twirler," although outside teams have been hot after him. A number of the best players of the Auburns and Pullmans have been signed and the Peterborough baseball team will put up to the public some pretty snappy ball.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

I desire to call the attention of investors to the

Smuggler Gold Mining Co.'s Proposition

of which I am the authorized agent

Investments in mining stocks where they can be purchased cheaply whose property contains merit and whose directors are men of unquestionable honor and integrity, and especially where judicious work has been done to guarantee a producing mine and the leads have been demonstrated to be permanent, offer the greatest opportunity for large returns from modest investments.

The shrewdest capitalists of England and America are giving more attention to mining properties and putting more money into them than at any time in the past history of the world.

The Smuggler Group consists of five full claims, to-wit:- The Smuggler, Gangers, Black Jack, Star and Bed Rock, located in the Greenhorn District of Eastern Oregon. Surrounding mines are Petrol, Pride of Pendleton, Bonanza and Rochester, developing work to the extent of 1,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts and crosscuts have been made, exposing hundreds of tons of high grade ore, assaying up from $15 to $48 per ton, based on smelter returns and for the purpose of equipping the mines a limited number of shares of Treasury Stock will be sold at 25 cents per share, the par value of which is $1.00.

NO RELIEF FROM RADIUM

Neither the Cancerous Nor the Blind Need Expect Cures From Rays

London, April 25.—The hopes founded upon radium as a curative agent patients were treated with it in the London hospital, but the only favorable result has been the cessation of pain in some cases, while mothers the patients complain of an increase in the pain. The experiments have stopped.

Professor London, of St. Petersburg, announced last June that he had discovered that certain blind persons were able to distinguish objects illuminated by the radium rays. Under the direction of Emperor William Professor Greeb, head of the Eye hospital in Berlin, has made an elaborate study of the effect of radium rays on the human eye. Professor Green now publishes a report of his investigation. He finds that blind persons whose optic nerve is not entirely destroyed can distinguish objects held before a screen illuminated with radium rays but can distinguish the same objects equally well if instead of a screen rendered fluorescent by radium a semi-transparent screen lighted from the back with a petroleum lamp is used. It can be stated with most absolute certainty, he says, that the hopes of Professor London vanish into thin air, and that blind persons cannot at present expect the very slightest hope from radium.

Old Hagar's Secret

BY MRS. M. J. HOLMES

Author of "For a Woman's Sake," "Love's Triumph," "Purified by Suffering," "A Grass Widow," "Woman Against Woman," Etc.

Seated upon the piazza was Madam Conway and Theo, the former of whom chided her for staying so late at the cottage, while Theo asked what queer things the old witch-woman had said to-night.

With a very expressive look, which seemed to say, "I know, but I shan't tell," Maggie seated herself at her grandmother's feet and asked "How long has Hagar been crazy? Did it come upon her when her daughter died?" she inquired, and Madam Conway answered "Yes, about that time, or more particularly, when the baby died. Then she began to act so strangely that I removed you from her care, for; from something she said, I fancied she meditated harm to you."

For a moment Maggie sat wrapt in thought, then clapping her hands together, she exclaimed: "I have it, I know what ails her. She felt so badly to see you happy with me that she tried to poison me. She said she was sorely tempted—and that's the secret which is killing her."

"Secret! What secret?" cried Theo, and, womanlike, forgetting her resolution not to tell, Mag told what she had seen and heard, adding as her firm belief that Hagar had made an attempt upon her life.

"I would advise you for the future to keep away from her, then," said Madam Conway, to whom the suggestion seemed a very probable one.

But Maggie knew full well that whatever Hagar might once have thought to do, there was no danger to be apprehended from her now, and the next day found her as usual on her way to the cottage. Bounding into the room where the old woman sat at her knitting, she exclaimed: "I know what it is!" I know your secret!"

There was a gathering mist before Hagar's eyes, and her face was deathly white as she gasped: "You know the secret! How—where? Have the dead come back to tell? Did anybody see me do it?"

"Why, no," answered Mag, beginning to grow a little mystified. "The dead have nothing to do with it. You tried to poison me when I was a baby, and that's what makes you crazy. Isn't it so? Grandma thought it was, when I told her how you talked last night."

There was a heavy load lifted from Hagar's heart, and she answered, calmly, but somewhat indignantly: "So you told. I thought I could trust you, Maggie."

Instantly the tears came to Maggie's eyes, and, coloring crimson, she said: "I didn't mean to tell—indeed I didn't, but I forgot all about your charge. Forgive me, Hagar, do," and, sinking on the floor, she looked up in Hagar's face so pleadingly that the old woman was softened, and answered, gently: "You are like the rest of your sex, Margaret. No woman but Hagar Warren ever kept a secret, and it's killing her, you see."

"Don't keep it, then," said Mag.

"Tell it to me. Confess that you tried to poison me because you envied grandma," and the soft eyes looked with an anxious, expectant expression into the dark, wild orbs of Hagar, who replied: "Envy was at the bottom of it all, but I never tried to harm you, Margaret, in any way. I only thought to do you good. You have not guessed it. You cannot, and you must not try."

"Tell it to me, then. I want to know it so badly," persisted Mag, her curiosity each moment increasing.

"Maggie Miller," said old Hagar, and the knitting dropped from her fingers, which moved slowly on till they reached and touched the little snow-flake of a hand resting on her knee; "Maggie Miller, if you know that the telling of that secret would make you perfectly wretched, would you wish to hear it?"

For a moment Mag was silent, and then, half laughingly, she replied: "I'd risk it, Hagar, for I never wanted to know anything half so bad in all my life. Tell it to me, won't you?"

Very beautiful looked Maggie Miller then. Her straw hat sat jauntily on one side of her head, her glossy hair combed smoothly back, her soft, lustrous eyes shining with eager curiosity, and her cheeks flushed with excitement. Very, very beautiful she seemed to the old woman, who, in her intense longing to take the bright creature to her bosom, was for an instant sorely tempted.

"Margaret!" she began, and at the sound of her voice the young girl shuddered involuntarily. "Margaret!" she said again, but ere another word was uttered the autumn wind, which for the last half hour had been rising rapidly, came rearing down the wide-mouthed chimney, and the heavy fireboard fell upon the floor with a tremendous crash, nearly crushing old Hagar's foot, and driving for a time all thoughts of the secret from Maggie's mind. "Served me right," muttered Hagar, as Maggie left the room for water with which to bathe the swollen foot. "Served me right, and if ever I'm tempted to tell her again may every bone in my body be smashed!"

The foot was carefully cared for. Maggie's own hands tenderly bandaging it up, and then, with redoubled zeal, she returned to the attack, pressing old Hagar so hard that the large drops of perspiration gathered thickly about her forehead and lips, which were white as ashes. Wearied at last, Mag gave it up for the time being, but her curiosity was thoroughly aroused, and for many days she persisted in her importunity, until at last, in self-defence, old Hagar, when she saw her coming, would steal away to the low-roofed chamber, and hiding behind a pile of rubbish, would listen breathlessly, while Margaret hunted for her in vain. Then, when she was gone, she would crawl out from her hiding-place, covered with cobwebs and dust, and muttering to herself: "I never expected this, and it's more than I can bear. Why will she torment me so, when a knowledge of the secret would drive her mad!"

This, however, Maggie Miller did not know. Blessed with an uncommon degree of curiosity, which increased each time she saw old Hagar, she resolved to solve the mystery, which she felt sure was connected with herself, though in what manner she could not guess. "But I will know," she would say to herself when returning from a fruitless quizzing of old Hagar, whose hiding-place she had at last discovered. "I will know what 'tis about me. I shall never be quite happy till I do."

Ah, Maggie, Maggie, be happy while you can, and leave the secret alone. It will come to you soon enough—aye, soon enough.

CHAPTER V.

Very rapidly the winter passed away, and one morning early in March, Mag went down to the cottage with the news that Madam Conway was intending to start immediately for England, where she had business which would probably detain her until fall.

"Oh, won't I have fun in her absence!" she cried. "I'll visit every family in the neighborhood. Here she's kept Theo and me caged up like two wild animals, and now I am going to see a little of the world. I don't mean to study a bit, and instead of visiting you once a day, I shall come at least three times."

BRITAIN THREATENS A WAR

CRUISER WILL SHELL BLUEFIELDS IF REPORATION IS REFUSED

Little Republic Prepares for Trouble by Importing a Ship Load of Arms

Kingston, Jamaica, April 25.—It is reported here that when the British cruiser Retribution sails for Bluefields she will have orders to bombard the town if reparation from Nicaragua is not promptly forthcoming.

The Retribution, which under instructions from the Imperial Government sailed from Kingston April 11 for a Nicaraguan port in connection with the seizure of six Cayman turtle schooners and the arrest of their crews by Nicaraguan officials, returned to Port Royal from the Nicaraguan coast to-day after ascertaining that the vessels and crews had been sent to Bluefields. The captain of the Retribution accused the Nicaraguan commandant, under whose orders the schooners were seized, of piracy. There is consternation among the Nicaraguan officials over the affair.

It was necessary for the Retribution to return to Port Royal to coal, but the cruiser will sail for Bluefields Saturday next to demand the release of the prisoners and the boats and also compensation for their illegal seizure and detention.

PULLS DOWN BRITISH FLAG.

Managua, April 25.—The five tortoise shell fishing schooners captured recently while in Nicaraguan waters and taken to Bluefields had hoisted the British flag on one of the small islands off Cape Gracias-a-Dioos, Nicaragua. The fishermen claim they were encouraged to do so by British colonial employes.

The British representative here is quoted as saying in regard to the announced arrival of a British man-of-war at Bluefields that she is going there on a friendly visit to investigate certain events.

NICARAGUA PREPARES FOR WAR

The Nicaraguan steamer Ometepe, from Havana, has arrived in Nicaraguan waters with a consignment of war munitions, purchased in Cuba. She is said to bring 5,000 Remington rifles.

It is rumored that another conference will take place shortly at Amapala, in the Gulf of Fonseca, between the presidents of Honduras, Nicaragua and San Salvador.

WILL FLOCK TO TORONTO

The Toronto Fire Will Put Up Wages of Many Trades

On Saturday a prominent contractor told the Times that little new building would be done in Peterborough this season beyond what has already been undertaken, owing to the fact that carpenters, masons, bricklayers, plumbers, etc., would flock to Toronto when the work of rebuilding the burnt district would begin.

If this is true there will be a scarcity of men here, as well as in other towns and cities throughout Ontario which will naturally mean an increase in wages. While this is good for the tradesmen, it is bad for the community, as it will stiffen rents and increase the troubles of housekeepers.

In Toronto the situation amongst those whose premises were destroyed has become desperate. An illustration of how at least one property owner was prepared to take advantage of the necessities of merchants who suffered in the fire was afforded the Globe by a well known wholesale man. He desired to rent a flat which had hitherto been renting for $20 a month. The owner unblushingly asked him a rental of $130 a month, and while he was considering this offer another burned out merchant came along and took the flat for $135 a month.

THE STANDARD MINING INVESTMENT COMPANY,

FISCAL AGENTS,

C. L. ARZENO, General Manager. 603-604 Exchange Bldg., Denver, Colorado

ROLAND KIDD, Fiscal Agent, Peterborough and Lindsay.

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC OF CANADA.

The Peterborough Brokerage Company will direct and through their agents offer a limited amount of stock of

Consumers' Coal Company

Limited.

Incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $200,000 with shares at $1 each.

The officers of the Company are C. F. Bumann, President and Treasurer; George W. Butler Secretary; and C. Burrows, home office in South Dakota as required by law. Of the present capitalization, in shares of $1 each, $110,000 worth is issued, the first small allotment of this was sold at 65c per share the second small allotment at 75c per share and the balance has all been sold at par, $1.

The Consumers' Coal Company controls and owns, clear of incumbrance, a coal mine in Chenoa, Illinois, which is a first-class coal mine on the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw and the Chicago & Alton R. R. The former line crosses five different railroads running parallel to Chicago. The Mine is on a paying basis and the output is increasing from day to day. We have 22 acres under old with three distinct veins, of layers of coal which are 4½ feet thick each. The first one is at a depth of 385 feet, it is this vein which we are now mining, the second one is a depth of 500 feet and the third at 663 feet. Our main shaft runs down through all three of these veins and a hundred feet below the third, which serves as a sump, makes our shaft's total depth 863 feet. The mine is fully equipped and in good repair and working order. Our machinery engines and everything else is in duplicate so in case of a breakdown we can switch and operate without any loss of time. We have our own blacksmith shop and car shop in which we build our own cars. Our output is now hanging in the neighborhood of 300 tons per day, but I have the promise of the superintendent to increase the output to not less than 500 tons per day within two or three weeks, knowing his arrangements, I know this to be possible.

Although it should not cost more than 50c at the highest to mine coal in Illinois, yet it costs us a trifle over a dollar owing to the extensive improvements we have made in and at the mine, but as we increase the output the cost per ton of mining will decrease, as our fixed expense will be no more in mining several hundred tons per day than they are at the present time in mining one hundred tons. Up to the present time we have sold most of our output at the mouth of the shaft to the surrounding farmers and towns people and, therefore, we have no freight or cartage to pay. We receive from $2 25 to $2 50 for Mine Run and $2 75 for Lump. In that way we have made quite a handsome profit and we estimate that our average, or net earnings at the Mine up to the present time is about $500 per day and we hope to soon increase this as we increase output.

We have three yards in Chicago in which we are handling 16 different kinds of coal and we have a very substantial business and have made considerable profit each month out of which we have paid over 30 per cent in dividends last year and accumulated a surplus fund equal to the amount paid in dividends.

The reason we are selling stock at the present time is that our business has grown so extensively that it takes more money to handle the same, besides this, we are buying teams with which to handle our coal in Chicago, which will cost us about $200 each. We predict that this stock will be worth not less than $2 per share before another year is over as by that time our Mine will be producing not less than four or five hundred tons per day. We will appreciate your subscription to any amount you see fit to invest and if possible to interest some of your friends do so. I remain,

Yours very truly,

HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

LA ZACUALPA RUBBER PLANTATION COMPANY

Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of California.

La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation is situated in the best location in Mexico for the cultivation of rubber. It has been known for a great many years as a very choice strip of rubber land and subsequent experience has shown that it is equal to all that has been claimed for it. The affairs of the company are in the hands of men of undoubted integrity and high reputation as successful men of business. To those seeking a safe investment which will secure a good income for life, this proposition offers a favorable opportunity.

Shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are not capital stock of a corporation, and carry none of the responsibilities and obligations, or liability to assessment of capital stock; but represent an undivided interest in the plantation itself.

The twelve thousand acres comprising the plantation are divided into twelve thousand shares, each share representing one acre of land, and the holders of shares in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation are the actual owners of one undivided acre of land, for each share held, with a guarantee expressed upon the certificate by La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company, under its official seal, to plant two hundred or more rubber trees per acre for each share sold, and to care for same for a period of five years, and at the expiration of that time to gather the first harvest and deliver the net proceeds thereof to the shareholder.

In other words, La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company sells to each shareholder one undivided acre of land in La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation, with two hundred or more rubber trees five years old, and their profits for all time, for each share sold, and agrees to plant so that the first harvest belonging to the shareholder is the one to be gathered from La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation during the sixth year from the date of the certificate.

After the delivery of the first harvest La Zacualpa Rubber Plantation Company will care for the plantation, and harvest and market the crop for ten per cent. of the net proceeds therefrom. Out of this commission the Company agrees to pay all costs of administration, including maintenance of its home and branch offices.

This plan gives the purchaser of shares an interest of definite acreage, and his proportionate share in the total yield of rubber from the entire plantation forever, making it absolutely certain that the interest of each shareholder will receive the same careful attention, forever, making it absolutely certain, no matter how large or small, for the success of the plantation will be the mutual gain of all.

The foregoing state of facts makes it impossible for any person or persons to combine against or injure the individual interest of the smallest shareholder in the plantation, or to encumber the same, and it can be readily seen that the success of one means the success of all.

All pursuits have some money, but more time. A little money and five years of time, if applied to the cultivation of rubber, will produce large profits.

ST. LOUIS GOLD MINING COMPANY.

Property includes six full claims, with a 38 foot ore body extending across 3200 feet of this property, determined by a tunnel 500 feet and open cuts and shafts every one in ore. Why does St. Louis Gold Mining Co. offer the investor a chance for his money.

1. Do you know that its title is free and clear?
2. Do you know that the stock is actually fully paid and non assessable, therefore no liability?
3. Do you know that our capital is only $150,000?
4. Do you know that 300,000 tons of ore are in sight? This is proof that you are investing in a mine.
5. Do you know—free milling and cyaniding ores are the choicest, and sought by the experienced men in treating ores?
6. Do you know, that we can prove in black and white that our ore can be treated for $1.25 a ton and save 95 per cent. of its value.
7. Do you know that our neighbors produced last year $5,000,000.
8. Do you know that by their experience we profit, and can in one year be listed among them as a paying property.
9. Because of all these points, we rank second to no other prospect and by a continuation of development and erection of a Cyanide plant in the near future, we feel confident of success in the highest degree.
10. Now, therefore avail yourself of the opportunity to investigate before investing by addressing

A Profitable Investment

MIDWAY CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING COMPANY

There are millions of dollars in Canada seeking investment, and we therefore have much pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with the above company to sell a block of their stock in Canada. The company is officered by men of high integrity and business ability.

What the Company Owns

The Company owns 24 claims of 20 acres each, all in the name of the Midway Consolidated Gold Mining Co These claims are situated about 7 miles northwest from Sumpter, Baker county, Oregon. The entire property is free from encumbrances.

The Plant

We now have installed and in operation a hoisting plant that will do the work 1800 feet deep. We have a 125 h p Scotch Marine boiler that furnishes us ample power. A saw mill with a capacity of about 20,000 feet of lumber per day. A dynamo, bunk and boarding houses with roads cut wherever necessary. We have enough ground cleared of timber to protect the plant against forest fires Our machinery is well housed, the buildings being erected from lumber and timber cut from our own ground by our own mill. The buildings and machinery are insured for $10,000 against fire. Our entire plant is modern and strictly up to date. So far as we are equipped, we have the best plant and buildings on the Mother Lode

Work Done

We have done about 1800 feet of exploratory and assessment work on the claims about equally divided between shafts and tunnels; this is outside of our main shaft. Our main shaft is down about 180 feet This is a double compartment shaft built in the most substantial manner and intended for a permanent working shaft It requires 1500 feet of timbering for every 10 feet o. shaft. At the 160 feet level is have cut a station 10x12 feet and from this point we have run a cross-cut to the vein, 63 feet. Here we have 25 feet of ore lying in leases of various values, but we whole averaging fully $8 per ton. In view of the fact that the entire expense mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, it can readily be seen that this of remarkable and excellent showing
